PREMIER TOASTS COL. HUGHES AT D.R.A. BANQUET, OTTAWA

Premier Says no Man in Canada Has Done More in His Time for the Militia Than Col. Sam—Lemieux Favors Rifle Training in Schools.

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—The annual luncheon give by the president, Col. Sam Hughes, was a most interesting function at the D. R. A. yesterday. Among those present were Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, Hon. Frank Oliver, and Col. John Barlow, of the National Rifle Association of Great Britain.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in reply to a graceful tribute from Col. Hughes, said that while he was a man of peace, he thought the best way to prevent war was to be prepared for it. The Premier proposed the health of Col. Hughes.

"I have not always been able to agree with him," said Sir Wilfrid, "but I will say that I believe no man in his day and generation has done more for the militia of Canada than he has done."

The gallant colonel's reply was that he and the members of the D. R. A. executive believed in keeping their powder dry.

Hon. Frank Oliver congratulated the D. R. A. on the fact that for the first time on record all of the nine provinces were represented.

Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux intimated that he favored teaching rifle shooting in the public schools, and was not afraid to say so in his own province.

Good conditions favored the D.R.A. marksmen at Rockcliffe Ranges.

The Caron Cup match is for tyro teams, and the competitors showed up this year far better than usual. This challenge cup was donated by the late Hon. Sir A. P. Caron, and these is $30 added by the D. SHOOTS WIFE AND HIMSELF

Buffalo, N.Y., Aug. 26.—Harry Sommers Weems, said to be registrar of some university in Pennsylvania, shot his wife twice in the body, and then sent a bullet into his own ear while the couple were walking on Niagara square in the shadow of the McKinley monument. Weems had been on a debauch for weeks. He came here last night and telephoned for her to come from Bradford, Pa., to meet him. She says he wanted her to pawn her jewels and give him the money, but she refused.

FINDS HUSBAND AND HER BOY

Jersey City, N.J., Aug. 26.—Arthur Kent and his little son have been reunited to wife and mother after a period of five years.

Kent left home and a few days afterwards his son disappeared. It was supposed Kent had kidnapped the child, but no trace of them was to be found.

Recently Mrs. Kent learned that her husband was in Toronto, Ont. This information was given by the Canadian authorities. Two months ago, Mrs. Kent and her mother went to Toronto, but Kent was away from home. The wife returned here, while the mother remained and saw Kent. As a result they have been re-united and are now living in Toronto.

THE PRISONERS WERE TORTURED

Tangier, Aug. 26.—By the Sultan's special order, according to advices received from Fez, the prisoners captured at the defeat of El Rogin have been barbarously tortured.

The Sultan first personally questioned them, and then had them taken in procession to the gate of Rabelhamis where, in the presence of troops and populace of Fez, every prisoner had his right hand severed and the stump plunged into boiling pitch. The women had their teeth drawn, some of the leaders having their right foot amputated also. The whole operation was conducted in the most cruel manner. The British Consul has entered a formal protest against these atrocities.

Several boats have been stolen from campers of late. Boys yesterday found the skiff at Stevens' place, but he refused to give it up. When the boys returned later the boat had disappeared. Stevens was remanded till Monday for hearing. High Constable Boyle, who made the arrest, found another stolen boat at Stevens' place.

THE NEWS AS TOLD IN DESPATCHES

Oil Fire Destroys House.

Hamilton, Aug. 26.—The home of James Ferguson, Campbell avenue, Kenilworth, was destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon, and his wife and baby had a close call. The fire spread to another house.

Lord Eliot was born in 1885.

Blacksmith's Narrow Escape.

St. Catharines, Aug. 26. — What might easily have been a fatality occurred this morning, when John Carlson, blacksmith, was thrown from his rig when the horse bolted at an approaching car. Carlson landed on the car tracks a few feet in front of the wheels of the car and was almost under the fender when the car was brought to a stop. He escaped with but a few bruises to his cheek.

Cabinet Councils, which have been suspended for some time, will resume again at Ottawa next week.

UNITING THE EMPIRE THEME OF ADDRESS AT WINNIPEG

Distinguished President of Association Says B.A.A.S is Bringing the Units of the Empire Together—He Admires the Canadians.

Winnipeg, Aug. 26.—The British Association for the Advancement of Science inaugurated their gathering in Winnipeg with a big mass meeting in the Walker Theatre last night. The auditorium, seating over 2,000, was crowded with visiting scientists and citizens.

The feature of the meeting was the inaugural address of the president, Sir James Thomson. He referred to the holding of the gathering in Canada again. The association was now an Imperial one. In meeting in various parts of the oversea dominions they were doing much to draw the units of the Empire together. Sir James paid a tribute to the Canadian students, who had come under his ken at Cambridge, as having made records for themselves, and advocated very strongly the interchange of students by the universities of the Empire.

He referred to the importance of original research as a means of education and to the advantages and disadvantage as a training for work in science of the systems of education now in force in the schools and universities.

He also dealt with the light thrown by recent investigation on the nature of electricity, on the relation between matter and ether, and the part played by ether in modern physics. He also discussed some of the problems raised by the discovery of radium.

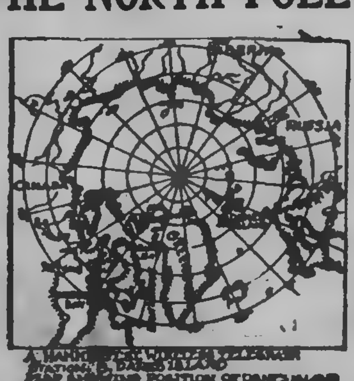
The vote of thanks was tendered by Mayor Evans, who also gave the official civic welcome, and it was seconded by Lord Strathcona.

The address of the retiring president, Dr. Francis Darwin, was made by Dr. G. Carey Foster, the former being unable to be present.

In the afternoon the various sections met and organized for the meetings of the week. To-day the sectional meetings proper started, when the various presidents gave their opening addresses.

WALTER WELLMAN'S FAILURE TO REACH THE NORTH POLE

WALTER WELLMAN



[illegible]

For four years Walter Wellman of Chicago, has been preparing for an attempt to reach the North Pole by airship.

He was at Spitzbergen in 1906 with a balloon, but postponed his trial because of the lateness of the season.

In 1907 he made a start in the airship America, but that vessel encountered a storm and was driven back and the attempt was abandoned.

Mr. Wellman left New York May 12th, of this year for Spitzenbergen. He estimated that under favorable conditions the pole could be reached from that place in from two to five days.

The capture of El Boghio, the rebellious subject of the Sultan of Morocco, has been officially announced and fetes have been organized to celebrate the event.

The body of Geo. Kent, farmer, aged 60, father of Elroy Kent, under sentence for murder at Townsend, Vt., was found in a ravine by his two young sons.

F. W. G. Haultain, ex-Premier of the Northwest Territories, would rather that the western provinces built the proposed Hudson Bay Railway, instead of the Dominion Government.

Kingston Council has appointed Robert A. Ross, of the firm of Ross & Holgate, consulting and supervising engineers, of Montreal, as the city's expert in the arbitration asked for by the Strett Railway Co., to determine the cost of power provided by the company from the city's plant. Mr. Ross will receive $75 per day and expenses.

DUTY ON HAY IS DISCUSSED

Montreal, Aug. 26.—A Washington lawyer arrived in the city yesterday morning and held a consultation with a number of hay shippers, who are seeking to recover from the United States Government excess duties on hay which they have shipped across the line during the past four years. There are over 150 claimants, and the amount involved in the neighborhood of $250,000. The duties charged were 20 per cent., as the U. S. Customs officials classed the hay as a "manufactured article," instead of the ten per cent. leviable on hay as a natural product.

One claimant has won his case in the Court of Claims at Washington.

PROBABILITIES.

Moderate to fresh westerly winds, cooler to-night and on Friday.

STILL ANOTHER EARTHQUAKE

Italy Suffers From Another Wide-spread Shock.

Siena, Italy, Aug. 26.—A heavy earthquake was felt throughout the Province of Siena at 1.29 a.m. yesterday. Practically all the houses in San Lorenzomerse were destroyed or badly damaged. Many persons were injured. The people were badly frightened, however, and rushed into the streets, where they wandered about in a state of semi-panic until they were assured that the quakes were over.

The quake was felt most severely within a radius of 20 miles from Siena. Considerable damage was done in Buonconvento. Several houses collapsed and one person was killed. Several persons were injured in Monteroni. A number of houses there also were damaged and masonry fell into the streets.

The shock was recorded in Piombino, on the coast, about 50 miles southwest of Siena, at 1.25 a.m., and there was a repetition five minutes later. The people fled from their houses in terror, but no damage has been reported.

Siena itself escaped with a severe shaking.

Felt in Florence, Too.

Rome, Aug. 26.—Earthquakes yesterday morning were recorded also in Florence, Perugia and Grosseto, but no damage was done.

A telegram from the prefect of Siena Province says the damage there is less than was at first feared. Troops and tents have been sent to Buonconvento and San Lorenzo.

HAD LEGS BROKEN WHILE STANDING

New York, Aug. 26.—When Frederick Stockholm, an engineer in the employ of the Otis Elevator Co., of Yonkers, suddenly fell beneath a desk at which he had been standing yesterday, those who thought he had fainted and had run to aid him found, to their amazement, that both his legs were broken.

At St. John's Hospital, in Yonkers, his was said to be one of those rare cases in which a person's limbs are snapped like toothpicks by the mere contraction of the muscles.

Stockholm, who is a giant in stature, was looking over some plans on the high desk and was leaning heavily on his right hand. The hand slipped off the edge of the desk, and, in making a sudden movement to regain his balance, the man came down heavily on his feet, the muscular strain breaking both right and left femurs—the former a few inches above the knee, and the latter close to the hip.

Hugh Jamieson, Gladstone, Man., was drowned near Delta.

BRUNET WAXES INDIGNANT ON THE WITNESS STAND

Patriotic French-Canadian Declares That Aldermen Voted Against Him in Spite of the Fact That He Had "Fixed" Them.

Montreal, Aug. 26.—Rodolphe Brunet, the patriotic friend of the French-Canadian, had a hard time of it yesterday before the Royal Commission. On Tuesday he was quite communicative, but yesterday information had to be dragged from him. He finally became angry, and stated that the Royal Commission was worse than the Spanish Inquisition. He was compelled, however, to answer, and finally admitted accepting commissions or rake-offs from the Lawrence firm of paving contractors and of using his "influence" with the aldermen to get their products accepted. He also furnished a list of the amounts he contributed towards the election of certain aldermen, as follows: Mr. Resther (1902), $75; Mr. Larocque, $75; Mr. Rochon, amount not specified; Mr. Houle, amount not specified; Ald. Duquette, $100 to $200; Ald. Lamoureux, $50; Ald. Sadler, carriages; Ald. J. B. A. Martin, amount not specified (several hundred dollars); Ald. Major, $300 to $400; Ald. Noe Leclaire, $200; Ald. Labrecque, $100 (recently elected for Delorimier).

In this connection Mr. Brunet had to relate two pathetic incidents: both Ald. Lamoureux and Ald. Leclaire had voted against him in spite of his subscriptions. He told Ald. Lamoureux about it, and mentioned certain qualities of gratefulness. He had also seen Ald. Leclaire, and thanked the alderman for voting against him.

"But, of course," Mr. Brunet told the commission, "I did not really thank him."

Quebec Paper Men Anxious.

Montreal, Aug. 26.—A deputation of the leading paper manufacturers of Canada waited on Premier Gouin yesterday and asked him to suspend collection of the export duty of two cents per cord on pulp wood pending an effort to come to some arrangement with the United States.

ALABAMA DRY LAW IS VERY DRASTIC

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 26.—The special session of the Alabama Legislature, which has adjourned after 22 working days, accomplished the chief purpose for which it was called by passing drastic prohibition laws and capping the laws by submitting to the people an amendment to the constitution prohibiting the sale or manufacture of intoxicants in Alabama.

The election will be held the last week in November. At least ten prohibition measures were passed. Under the new laws a person may not have liquors anywhere but in his home. Foreign corporations may not do business of any kind in Alabama if it be shown that they sell or manufacture liquors in other states.

ARE THOUSANDS OF PRISONERS

Lisbon, Aug. 26.—A despatch to The Mundo from Barcelona says that at the last meeting the Spanish Cabinet decided upon the most stringent measures against all those suspected of taking part in the recent revolutionary movement. An enormous number of arrests have been made during the last few days. Whole families, men and women, and even young children, have been taken from their homes.

Civil guards, with fixed bayonets, went to the residence of Senor Dias, a wealthy merchant, and dragged him and his wife and two children, aged 7 and 9 years, from their beds at 2 a.m. A rich banker, his wife and daughter were treated in a similar way.

The prisoners at Barcelona alone number 5,000. Seventeen hundred are confined at Montaro and 1,000 at Munresa.

Men, women, and children are packed together indiscriminately. Meanwhile flying columns of infantry and cavalry continue to scour the whole province in the search for revolutionists.

Nothing Doing.

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—A Cabinet meeting was held yesterday afternoon, but it was subsequently announced that only routine business was disposed of.

It is understood that no announcement as to Canada's naval program will be forthcoming until Sir Frederick Borden and Hon. L. P. Brodeur return from London.

NO DOGS ON BEACH AT ATLANTIC CITY

Atlantic City, N.J., Aug. 26.—Pugs and poodles and all other four-footed animals are outlawed from the beach. Mayor Stoy yesterday signed the new ordinance which provides when they may appear for their airing or bath in the surf.

The law says: "It shall be unlawful for any dog to be in the water of the Atlantic Ocean within the confines of Atlantic City between the hours of 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. The penalty is a fine."

Dogs under other ordinances are barred from the boardwalk unless held in leash. The new law was passed because of the numerous animals which shared the breakers with bathers.

There has been some protest among dog owners, but the mayor insisted that the law is necessary and will be rigidly enforced.

FIVE HOTELMEN HAVE BEEN FINED

Amherstburg, Aug. 26.—Five hotelkeepers appeared before Judge McGee yesterday. All pleaded guilty to selling liquor during prohibited hours, and were fined as follows: C. Thrasher, Union Hotel, and J. Maheau, Amherst House, each two charges, $100 and costs; W. T. Gunn, Lakeview, two charges, $200 and costs; Jerry Mailleoux, Anglo - American, one charge, $50; and Gilbert Druillard Anderson, one charge, $100 and costs.

One charge was dropped on each if they would plead guilty and save the expense of bringing 12 witnesses from Toronto.

THE FOLLY OF IT

Grain is rotting in the fields of Manitoba for lack of harvest hands What could better illustrate the faily of rushing everybody to a further and a still farther west when the near-west and the east are not half developed or supplied with cultivators of the soil. How happy we might be if money-madness had not seized our financiers, egging us as a nation on to extravagance, so that our London loans are not half-subscribed and our farms in Ontario and the east are declining in value.

SIR JOHN DEWAR

Sir John Dewar has been travelling in the United States. At a farewell banquet he said that after a thorough investigation he was literally appalled by the great development, progress and advancement of the United States. It was almost enough to anger a man, he said, when he thought of other countries with similar opportunities. Yet he said he was proud to be a Britisher. And all this in the face of the Toronto Globe, which has persistently notified Americans of their utter imbecility as tariff-tinkers, and what not. Now, let the Globe speak up to Sir John Dewar and show him that he must have been under the influence of his own spirits to have talked such stuff. The Globe says the American tariff has ruined the people, and lo! they are ruined accordingly. Selah!

A DANGEROUS STEP

The German peril, which is as much industrial as military, was the immediate cause of the calling together of the late Imperial Defence Conference at London. As La Patrie says, things happened there that Great Britain never dreamed of. That conference was a great disappointment to the people of the "old land" for the reason that the keynote of Canada's message was "Our fleet and our army must be our own." There is no desire for the unification of the empire in such bluster as that and none knows more thoroughly how to appreciate it at its true value than the home land. The French-Canadian press are jubilant and decisive. The Globe has fallen also into the backwash of Canadian independence. To insist that we must preserve our autonomy is senseless. Our autonomy is civil, not military or naval and what is threatening it? The whole objection depends plainly on a different matter. There is a section of our people who fear extinction in the unity of empire and their end and aim is to prevent it. It is a great pity but it is the simple truth. The good the late conference has done is, however, more real than apparent. It has brought this question of empire to a head. It is now the great issue before the Canadian people. Are we part and parcel of the ancient British empire, or are we merely an "ally?" An ally!

We may well ask what need Great Britain has of us as an "ally"? The thing is ridiculous and it is more. It is offensive. It is offensive to the mother country, who will elevate her eyebrows and say, probably, "Oh! well if you want it that way I can't object," and it is offensive to Canadians who cherish their allegiance to that empire which their fathers loved to dream of and their children have been taught to cherish.

OUR LOANS GO ABEGGING

The Weekly Sun

The Standard of Empire, in reviewing the recent borrowings by the Dominion Government on the London money market, states some facts which are deserving of serious consideration.

In June, 1908, this London paper says, the Dominion floated a loan of £5,000,000, bearing 3 3-4 per cent. interest, at par; in January of this year another loan of £6,000,000 was placed on the same market, at 99 1-4, although bearing the same rate of interest, viz., 3 3-4 per cent; in July last a third loan, this time of six and one-half million pounds, bearing 3 1-2 per cent, was floated at 98 1-2.

On the first loan only 50 per cent., the authority quoted says, was taken up by the public, the balance being left on the hands of the agents through whom it was offered; of the second 59 per cent. of the whole was left on the agents' hands, and of the third 45 per cent.

"During the same period," the journal already named goes on, "many other loans, offered by foreign countries and foreign industries, have been largely oversubscribed."

The Standard of Empire, it should be observed, unlike The Investor's Review, is effusively friendly to Canadian and colonial enterprises generally. Its friendliness is based, it may be said in passing, on the hope of inducing colonial Governments to come to the help of Imperial jingoes in building armaments intended to dominate the common highways of the nations. It attempts to show that Canadian credit is, despite the facts just mentioned, in such a condition as to call for congratulations. It is difficult to see wherein, on the showing made, cause for congratulation is to be found. When over half of three large Canadian Government loans, issued within a year of each other, are left on the hands of agents employed to float the same, there is prima facie evidence that something is wrong. The evidence that the "something" lies in the over-borrowing and over-spending of the Laurier Government becomes conclusive when it is seen that in the same time foreign loans, floated in the same market, have been over-subscribed.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Mr. Chipman's letter will cause many a titter and some bad language. In the language of the far, far west, it's a corker.

The sympathy of all journalists will be with M. Robillard, the editor-in-chief of La Patrie, in the loss of his 9-year-old son. Next week M. Robillard was to have been banquetted on the occasion of the completion of his 25th year in journalism.

It would be difficult to describe adequately the courage of Mrs. Battle, of Kingston, who, though unable to swim, sprang into 16 feet of water after her 2 1-2 year old child. It is a consolation to know that they were saved.

Men who make money on change are not producers. They simply make fortunes by disturbing the market, and each juggling disturbance of the market costs blood and tears to the genuine workers. A poor man-of-work is a prince and a hero in comparison.

The Peterborough Review in commenting on what The Sun said last week as to the decline in farm values, asks:—"What right has any government to drag the farming industry at the tail of the cart of progress? If the west had been allowed to develop naturally, Ontario's farms and Quebec's and Nova Scotia's would have risen in value instead fo declining as at present. By what process of would reasoning can the present slump, the present sacrifice of Ontario farmers be justified?—The Sun.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

PETERBOROUGH WOULD NOW HAVE POPULATION AMOUNTING TO NEARLY FORTY THOUSAND

If All the People Who Have Come to This City on Excursions, etc., Had Remained and Settled Here—A Conservative Estimate.

If all the people who have visited Peterborough in the last two or three months had remained here, this city would now be able to boast of a population amounting to about forty thousand. This is taking into account the many excursions, delegations, conventions, etc., which have visited this city since the summer season began. It does not include, however, the large number of outside people who have passed through here on their way to the lakes, or have only stopped over while waiting for trains. If a close tabulation of the number of people who have visited this city on excursions, etc., had been kept, however, and if these numbers had settled here, the population would now have risen to close up to forty thousand. This is, of course, by no means a correct estimate, but is thought to be at least a conservative one. When the figures are seen it is apparent that the number would likely be in excess of forty thousand, rather than below it.

So far this season between twenty and twenty-five excursions have come to this city. Toronto, Belleville, Cobourg, Lindsay, Port Hope, Orillia, Owen Sound, Oshawa, Napanee, Fenelon Falls, Haliburton, Marmora, Minden and many others have all used this city as an objective point for their excursions, and have helped to swell the population of the city for the time being.

Of the places mentioned, the cities of Toronto and Belleville sent down the largest contingents, there being about a thousand from each, on the days on which their excursions were run. Cobourg, Lindsay and Fenelon Falls also sent large crowds, averaging between eight and nine hundred for the three.

When it is considered that almost no inducement whatsoever has been offered these excursions to come here, it speaks well for the attractiveness of the city itself, when they come in such large numbers.

LOCAL PEOPLE TAKE LONG TRIP IN LAUNCHES TO LAKE SIMCOE

On Wednesday of last week Mr. and Mrs. Felix Brownscombe, with their daughter Leta and son Munro, left in their gasoline launch for a trip over the canal to Lake Simcoe. They were joined at Stony Lake by Messrs. John and Stewart Anderson, Jack Harstone and Wm. Gibson, in Mr. Anderson's launch, and the two boats travelled together. In addition to visiting the different points of interest along the canal, they stopped at Beaverton and Orillia on Lake Simcoe, and were at the latter place at the time of the Tudhope Carriage Co. fire.

While the Peterborough section of the canal is not to be despised, still the stretch down from Balsam Lake to Lake Simcoe is hard to beat, the passages through the narrow rocky gorges and wide drowned lands lending lots of variety. The channel all the way through is well buoyed wherever necessary, and the several locks and government works all along the canal are in splendid working order, and reflect great credit on Mr. J. Harris McLennan, the canal superintendent. Mr. Brownscombe and family intend stopping at their cottage for another ten days.

SMALL DOCKET AT POLICE COURT

Disorderly Awoke a Policeman and He Was Fined $5.85—Owner of Horse Fined $4.60

At the Police Court this morning Hugh was fined $2 and costs amounting in all to $5.85. His request for a few days to pay the amount in was granted to the extent of ten days.

HORSE RAN AT LARGE.

John Doig allowed his horse to wander away from his home and a citizen made a complaint at the Police Station. He was charged $4.60 by the Magistrate this morning, who stated that he did not intend to encourage people to allow their animals to be a nuisance to their neighbors.

COSTS ARE $3.35.

W. J. Tully owes $3.35 at the Police Court, the amount being the costs of a previous case which he was interested in. This was the judgment of his Worship this morning.

ADMIRAL BERESFORD

Hero of Alexandria Will Open Canadian National Exhibition

Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, who has accepted an invitation to visit Canada to open the Canadian National Exposition at Toronto, is known to fame as the great leader in the national defence movement now agitating the whole empire.

Lord Charles, who is the second son of the Marquis of Waterford, first became known to fame at the bombardment of Alexandria when he sailed the little Condor into water too shallow for "the big battleships and silenced a battery that was doing great "damage to the British fleets. "Well done, Condor" was the signal that floated from the flag-ship after the battle and the young Lord was known as "Condor Charlie," till more dignified titles crowded the name into comparative obscurity. Admiral Beresford can do other things besides fight. He has three medals for life-saving has written a Life of Nelson and several treatises on naval matters, is an all-round sporting man, and is known all over Britain as a warm-hearted Irishman.

OF INTEREST

Mr. Borden on Great Britain

(From "The London and Paris World.")

One of the most remarkable of the many notable Canadians who are visiting England this season is the official Leader of the Opposition in the Dominion Parliament, Mr. Robert Lair Borden, K.C., M.P., for his native county of Halifax, in Nova Scotia—a province which has, since the Confederation, provided Canada with two out of its seven Premiers, in the persons of the late Sir John Thompson, and the vigorous octogenarian, Sir Charles Tupper, well known in London as the predecessor of Lord Strathcona in the High Commissionership.

Mr. Borden is still a comparatively young man, and his rapid advancement to the Conservative leadership is one of the phenomena of Canadian politics. Great party chieftains like Mackenzie, Blake, Macdonald, Tupper, and Laurier served a long apprenticeship in the party ranks. They started young and grew in political stature with their opportunities. Not so with Mr. Borden, who stepped almost at a bound, from the position of senior member of an eminent firm of lawyers to that of leader of his party. It was with a view to learning something more of the details of such a career than can be found in the reference books that we sought Mr. Borden, whose first demur to being included in the series of "Celebrities at Home" gave way to an expression of satisfaction that Canada was now occupying so large a place in the minds of the Britons at home that a better knowledge of the personalities of her public men was desired.

"Up to 1896," said Mr. Borden, in speaking of his political growth, "I had never taken any active part in political affairs even in those of my own province; the business of our firm which had as former partners the late Sir John Thompson and the present Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, son of the ex-Premier, was a growing one, and the unanimous request of the local party leaders that I should seek election to the Federal Parliament as successor to my friend Mr. Stairs, who had for many years represented the constituency, came upon me as somewhat of a surprise; but I felt it a public duty to accept the nomination. I had little idea at the time that five years later in 1901, I should be called to a position which I soon found carried with it so many heavy responsibilities. Indeed, in 1905 it became necessary for me to give up the practice of my profession and remove my residence permanently to our beautiful capital city of Ottawa."

It is one of the anomalies of the British Constitution that the office of Prime Minister is unknown to the law, although he is all-powerful during his tenure of office.

In the Canadian Parliament the position of Prime Minister and that of Leader of the Opposition are recognized by law. For more than twenty years the Dominion Government has included in its Appropriation Acts an allowance for clerical assistance to the Leader of the Opposition. In 1905, when the salary of the Prime Minister was increased, a special indemnity was provided for "the member occupying the recognized position of the leader of the Opposition in the House of Commons." The amount of this special sessional allowance is the same as the salary of a Cabinet Minister.

This unique feature in the Canadian system is an experiment, as to the permanence of which there may still be doubt, in Mr. Borden's opinion. The arrangement, when suggested, received such general support throughout the country that he acquiesced in it. "Upon the whole," said Mr. Borden, "I am inclined too think that it is an improvement upon the system under which other leaders have been, to some extent, compensated for the sacrifice of professional or business income by assistance from the party funds, because it tends to operate towards the emancipation of the holder of the position from any feeling of subservience or indebtedness to cliques or individuals. As yet our leisured class is very small as compared with that in Great Britain, but it will grow with our national growth, and in time perhaps, other arrangements may be considered more appropriate—in some cases, if not in all."

In speaking of Imperial problems Mr. Borden emphasized the necessity of co-operation in matters of defence and of commerce. He quoted the words of Sir John Macdonald, who, in 1865, said, "Gradually a different colonial system is being developed, and it will become year by year less a case of dependence on our part and of over-ruling protection on the part of the Mother Country, and more a case of a healthy and cordial alliance.

"That healthy and cordial alliance," he continued earnestly, "exists to-day. Looked at in one aspect, it might be said that the British Empire is almost without organization. Its watchword to-day is co-operation rather than control, and so it will be in the future. We realize that the heart of the empire is at the moment in the British Islands. Who can foretell where it will be in fifty years?"

Alluding to the recent debate at Ottawa regarding Imperial defence, Mr. Borden said, "I considered it of the first importance that the resolution passed by our Parliament should be unanimous. The two parties have united in a common declaration as to the policy to be adopted by Canada in assuming her share of the responsibilities of defence. Much will depend upon the manner in which that policy is worked out. A safe highway for our commerce to all parts of the world will become more and more a vital necessity to us as our overseas trade expands. Every year more of our great inland agricultural population will realize that fact. Its application is obvious. As regards commercial relations, I believe that the opportunities for co-operation between the different parts of the Empire will grow in this respect, as they will in matters of national self-protection."

"In some portions of Canada," he said, "the population is quite dense, especially in the eastern provinces; but there are hundreds of millions of acres of magnificent fertile land awaiting awaiting the husbandman. The industrial development of Canada is already considerable, and undoubtedly it will greatly increase and develop; but the bulk of our population must be of the agricultural class, and it is to this class that Canada offers the greatest opportunities. Lord Grey, in his inspiring speech on Dominion Day, declared with truth, that at no distant date Canada must inevitably be the largest centre of population within the empire. Our neighbors to the south already recognize the inducements which we can offer, but it is natural that we should wish to see the British-born more alive to the prospects which are open to the settler, both in the east and in the west of Canada."

Mr. Borden is very sanguine as to the prospects of his party returning to power at no distant date; he pointed out that at the general election last year, which returned a hundred and thirty-five Liberals and Independents and eighty-six Conservatives, the popular vote showed a comparatively small Liberal majority, the actual figures being: Liberal vote, 587,661; Conservatives, 563,547; and Independents, 24,893. This Liberal majority, indeed, came almost entirely from the Province of Quebec, largely owing to the great personal popularity of Sir Wilfrid Laurier with his French-Canadian compatriots, whose numbers so greatly predominate in that province. "The last general election," he continued, "not only strengthened our party numerically, but among the thirty-seven Conservative members new to Parliamentary life, I have been glad to notice several men whom I regard as splendid acquisitions to our side, both in Council and in debate. Notwithstanding our disproportionate weakness in the constituencies of Quebec, we number many eminent French-Canadians among our supporters in that province; in four of the other provinces the Conservative party holds office, and many notable men are members of the several Cabinets."

In speaking of the political platform on which his party fought the last election, Mr. Borden remarked that one of its planks was a reform in the electoral laws and the creation of a more effective and non-partisan machinery for their enforcement. Other items in the programme of Conservative legislation are a reform in the method of electing members of the Senate with a view to making it a more useful and effective Second Chamber, without elevating it into that position of supremacy which, strangely enough, is occupied by the Senate of the United States. During the last electoral campaign Mr. Borden also strongly advocated the reform of the Civil Service and the reorganization of the methods by which the Government Intercolonial Railway is managed. In these directions the present Government has followed his lead; "but," said Mr. Borden, "our opponents, though accepting the principle we are striving for, have restricted its application in the legislation they have enacted, and the broad issue between us is still unsettled. I think, too, that the establishment of a Public Prosecutor may be a useful means of securing a better enforcement of the laws against electoral corruption." Here we may remark upon the significance of the fact that Mr. Borden did not find it necessary to make any allusion to the question of the tariff as a political issue in Canada during the last campaign. (There both parties are now agreed) upon the broad principle which is so rapidly becoming the prominent dividing issue in politics in the United Kingdom.

More serious subjects of discussion dismissed, it was instructive to listen to Mr. Borden's description of an election campaign in Canada. "Starting from Halifax on the Atlantic coast, my tour," he said, "took me through all the provinces en route to the Pacific, a distance of over four thousand miles, and I don't think I ever realised the geographical extent of our country so fully as when on reaching Victoria, I found that I was actually over a thousand miles further from my own constituency of Halifax than I am at the present moment in this room in a London hotel. During my political tour in 1907 I visited every province except Prince Edward Island, covering a distance of over fifteen thousand miles in twelve week, addressing seventy-five political meetings exclusive of speeches made to other organizations, such as our useful Canadian Clubs and various social gatherings. This tour was followed by a Parliamentary session which lasted eight months and terminated with a dissolution which involved another brief but strenuous campaign of eight weeks' duration. In the year 1904 before I removed my residence to Ottawa, my political engagements prevented me from spending more than six weeks out of the fifty-two under the roof of my own home in Halifax."

At this point the interview was terminated by the entrance of Mrs. Borden to claim her husband's company at one of those numerous social functions at which they are much sought after guests. Indeed, Mrs. Borden took the opportunity to express her regret that it was impossible to accept all the kind hospitalities tendered to them during a brief holiday which will probably include visits to Ireland and Scotland. "I really ought to feel very much at home wherever I go in the United Kingdom, for there are two parts English blood and one part each Irish and Scottish in my veins," said Mr. Borden, "and my wife, too, has ancestral associations with the dear old mother-land." Mrs. Borden is the daughter of the late Mr. T. H. Bond, a Nova Scotian merchant, and takes a deep and active interest in her husband's career, being especially well fitted to discharge tactfully those social and more or less public duties which attach to the wife of a First Minister of the Crown—a position which, in the natural course of things, it seems certain Mr. Borden will occupy at no distant date. In the earlier days of his leadership, the writer heard Mr. Borden address political meetings in Canada with a feeling that he was listening to a coming man. Seen at closer range it is not difficult to realise why it was that in his case "the office sought the man." To use a Canadian expression, Mr. Borden has "made good"; to the affections of the friends who induced him to devote his talents to political life has been added the loyalty of one great party and the esteem of all.

WHY HOT WAVES MAKE US ILL

The body can withstand extreme cold more readily than it can extreme heat before the regulating centre becomes disordered; and so, other things being equal, freezing to death is not so common in cold climates as sunstroke is in warm.

OLD RESIDENT OF CITY PASSED AWAY LAST NIGHT

Last night at Nicholls Hospital, Mrs. Edward Green, of 326 Water st. passed away after being confined in the hospital for the past four weeks, but previous to this she had been ailing for six weeks. The late Mrs. Green, who was 88 years of age, had not been enjoying the best of health for the past twelve years, having at that time slipped on an icy part of the sidewalk, breaking her hip, thereby crippling her. The deceased's maiden name was Mary Ann Mitchell, she being a daughter of the late Capt. Thos. Mitchell of township of Emily, who had charge of a company in the rebellion of 1837. On September 30th, 1858, she was married to Mr. Edward Green by the Rev. Mr. Roger, of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, and both celebrated their golden wedding last year. For over 46 years Mrs. Green lived with her husband at the late residence, Water st., and was the last representative of a large family of brothers and sisters. She was one of the oldest members of George street Methodist church, always being a faithful attendant, and was also for some years a member of the Ladies' Aid Society. Besides her husband, one son, Mr. W. F. Green, is left to mourn her loss.

The funeral will take place Friday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock, to the Little Lake cemetery. The family request that no flowers be sent.

ALD. PHELAN SAYS HE DID ONLY AS DIRECTED BY COUNCIL

Ald. Phelan told the Review to-day that the Benson avenue sidewalk had been begun where the Engineer recommended it to be laid and where the Council had ordered it to be laid. He could not disobey the orders of the Council even if he had been inclined. The history of the walk is as follows:—The work was advertised according to law and no objections coming in the Board of Works directed the Engineer to lay out the work. Mr. Hay laid it out on the inside of the trees. The Board of Works inspected the plan and ordered the sidewalk to be built as recommended. Thereupon some of the residents got a Council meeting called, the work was stopped and the men and apparatus were moved away. The Government had endorsed the Engineer's recommendation and had subscribed $200 towards the construction.

The sidewalks at the Normal School were laid out in the city plan and according to their levels as first recommended. The council met in committee last night and had a "pleasant evening" over it all, but this morning a special meeting of the council was held and the work was directed to go on inside the trees, as first recommended. Ald. Phelan, as chairman of the Board of Works, will therefore go on with the work as directed.

It is possible that an injunction will be applied for by the residents opposing this plan.

FINANCIAL DISTRICT MEETINGS TO-MORROW

The financial district meeting of the Methodist churches of Peterborough district will be held in St. James' church to-morrow. There will be two sessions, one to be held in the morning at 10.30 and the other in the afternoon. At the afternoon meeting those who wish may attend, as there will be two discussions on the need and methods of evangelistic work. The speakers will be the Rev. W. B. Rogers, B.A., of Millbrook, and Rev. Wm. Secombe, of Pontypool. The Rev. H. C. Coon, of Mark St. Methodist church is the secretary for this district, and at the meetings to-morrow Rev. Mr. Henderson, of Charlotte St. Methodist church, will act as chairman.

UP-TO-DATE ROLLER RINK TO BE STARTED AT ONCE

Peterborough is to have an up-to-date and thoroughly modern roller skating rink, and work will commence for the construction of it at once. The proprietors of this new place of amusement will be Messrs. Gemmo, McLean & Co., they having concluded arrangements with the local directors of Brock St. Rink.

The best floor available will be constructed, and it will cover the entire space which is used in the winter for ice skating and hockey purposes. The latest design in skates will be secured for the use of the patrons and everything possible will be done to make the rink popular with the lovers of roller skating in the city. The fact of the rink being equipped with the facilities necessary for the operation of a roller skating rink, the building will be available for other useful purposes, such as the holding of public meetings and social affairs. There is little doubt but that the new venture will be a success.

DELEGATES RETURN FROM FIRE CHIEFS' CONVENTION

Fire Chief Howard and Ald. Buller have returned from attending the International Fire Chiefs' convention at Grand Rapids, and the Chief states that both spent an interesting and instructive time. The exhibits and demonstrations were marvellous and point to a new era in fire fighting appliances. Probably the most talked of exhibit was a gasoline fire engine, weighing only 6,500 lbs. The demonstration shown by the manufacturers was very interesting and the fact of it only taking 10 seconds after the suction hose had been placed in the water for the stream to be sent out of the nozzle would mean considerable to the city who were fortunate in numbering it among its fire fighting equipments.

There were fifteen Canadian fire chiefs present at the convention and Chief Ten Eyck was elected Ontario vice-president of the international association. Next year the convention will be held in Syracuse, N.Y.

MILKMEN WERE FINED $10.00

At Conclusion of the Hearing of the Evidence at Police Court Yesterday Afternoon

Magistrate Dumble imposed a fine of $10.00 with costs on each of the two milkmen whose case occupied the attention of the court yesterday afternoon. Each of the defendants denied ever having put any borax in their milk, but the evidence showed that while they may not have done it intentionally, the acid was found in the milk.

The statements of one of the milkmen which were to the effect that he used borax and ammonia in the washing of the milk pails and had done so for some time, and the other milkman stating that he secured his milk from another party, was sufficient to warrant the magistrate in deciding that the correct parties were being prosecuted, and he gave the above judgment.

The names of the interested parties are withheld on this occasion as there is no doubt but that the milkmen meant to act honestly, but the case will probably have a beneficial effect in the time to come.

APPROPRIATE MOTTO ALL RIGHT

When Miss Brown painted her famous picture of a bulldog sitting on a Union Jack the motto under it was, "What We Have We'll Hold." That motto was good, but not good enough for the office of the assessors of the city of Peterborough. Something stronger was needed in the inscription. A copy of this famous painting has been hung in the office in question, by Mr. Thos. McGrath, and under it in large type is the motto:—

"What We Haven't Got We'll Get."

And many people will say "Aye, Aye," when they hear about it.

CRESSMAN'S BEDDING SALE

Unprecedented Values for The Thrifty Housewife

CRESSMAN'S Bedding Sale, which has caused so much stir and considerable favorable comment, has not abated in the least, in fact, it seems to gather momentum with each day. Of course the time has not yet come when warm bedding is appreciated, but the keen, observing housewife does not heed that, she is ever watchful for money-saving values, for she knows that summer cannot stay much longer—cool nights will soon be in evidence and warmer bedding will need to be brought forth. However, this sale is not exclusively for the direct turning over or passing out of goods; it is to advertise the fact that we are already prepared amply to meet all demands, no matter how exacting they may be. Visit Cressman's to-morrow and look over the fine range of "Comforts," etc. You are not asked to make a purchase—come and inspect.

NEW COMPANY TO BE FORMED

Reports are rife of the probability of the formation here at an early date of a citizens' disinfectant association. Scientists have agreed that anti-toxins and state laws are not sufficiently preventive, and that the public should have more opportunity of becoming immune by disinfection. If the deal goes through, baths of dilute carbolic acid, formaldehyde, etc., will be established. The city will be asked to lend the proposed company the money necessary for the venture.

THAT WATCH OF YOURS

Is in many respects similar to a railway engine. Let an engine be run without oil or cleaning and before long it will stop dead. Upon examination it will be found that the friction and wear and tear has ruined the machinery, and it is fit only for the scrap iron heap. Likewise your watch. You put it in your pocket, and while there is a kick in it, you, in your mistaken economy, do not consult the watchmaker, and consequently rob your watch of years of good service and also much of its former accuracy. The time-keeping qualities of a good watch are maintained and often improved by timely and skilful attention. If you have been one of the neglectful ones call around and see us.

STILL WANTED—A RIFLE RANGE

Still wanted—a rifle range

Some little time ago the Review, in response to general request, determined to begin a campaign for the establishment of a rifle-range at Peterborough for the benefit of those who are now going through only the form of being trained for military duties. The enormous expense of maintaining a military organization is entirely set at naught by this one omission. The men had better be without rifles than not know how to use them. If there was any money in it as in the building of railways and canals, the money-lenders would as usual easily "persuade" the Laurier Government that extensive ranges were necessary not only here, but everywhere. As it is, however, the men can get nothing. Formerly we had a rifle range and a very serviceable one. It was not perfect, but it served the purpose. But now there is positively no opportunity for riflemen to learn to shoot. That it has occasioned general expressions of wonder is itself no wonder. We must have a rifle-range. A few thousand dollars will do it. The price of a "Bessie Butler" would go a long way towards it. Give the men a chance. The Review kept hammering away at the broken promise of rural mail delivery until some slight attempt was made to redeem that promise. It will not cease demanding a rifle-range until the willing and self-sacrificing soldier has some place where he can learn to shoot. Then we shall have a banquet even if it be a little late for advertising purposes.

MERCHANTS ARE NOT SATISFIED

Dissadisfaction Exists on the Thursday Half Holiday Question

There appears to be a feeling among several of the merchants of the city who have been closing their places of business on Thursday afternoon, that there should be a better spirit shown by the other members of the Retail Merchants' Association.

There is only a comparatively small number of stores close for the half holiday during the months of July and August, and to a visitor to the city it must be quite apparent that there is a lack of harmony existing among the merchants. Still, it is only a matter for those interested in to settle themselves, and probably next year a different arrangement will be made.

OBITUARY

RUSSELL—DARK

The Toronto Star says—The home of Mr. and Mrs. John Dark, at Wicklow, was the scene of a happy gathering on Saturday, August 21st, the occasion being the marriage of their youngest daughter, Miss Rose May, to Mr. George Arnold Russell, of Toronto. The ceremony was performed at high noon by Rev. Mr. Higgs, pastor of the Methodist church. A number of guests were present from Toronto, Woodstock, Port Hope, Cobourg, and other points.

The bride, who was unattended, was given away by her father. She was daintily gowned in white silk mull trimmed with babe Irish and Valenciennes lace, and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses. The groom's gift to the bride was a pair of opera glasses inlaid with pearl.

After a wedding breakfast, which was served on the lawn, the happy couple left for Kingston and points on the St. Lawrence. The bride's travelling costume was of navy blue cloth, with black picture hat. On their return to the city Mr. and Mrs. Russell will make their home on Montrose avenue.

GROUNDS ARE IN GOOD SHAPE

The flower beds and grass in front of the new Collegiate are beginning to look very pretty. The fence which was erected some time ago, has kept the children from wandering about the grounds, with the result that they are now in perfect condition. Caretaker Hart deserves much credit for their appearance.

A LARGE CROWD ON EXCURSION

A large crowd from Campbellford passed through the city yesterday en route for Madoc. There were about 800 people on the train and it took eleven coaches to convey the crowd. There was a wait of about fifteen or twenty minutes at the local station and the excursionists took advantage of the stop-over to see a few of the local stores.

YESTERDAY WAS THE HOTTEST YET

Those who did not like the weather yesterday can have the consolation of knowing that it was the hottest day of this summer. The thermometer registered 92 in the shade, and the nearest to this high mark reached on a previous day was 88. The figures are given on the authority of Mr. Walter Peters.

First Showing of

TAILORED SUITS FOR FALL

An Authentic Portrayal of Fashionable Creations in Exquisite Garments for the Coming Season.

For months we nave been keeping a keen eye on the productions of the greatest garment manufactures and style originators both in this country and abroad. Watching for the distinctive, out-of-the-ordinary thoughts which mark the average display of ready-to-wear garments.

Been studying the style effects for Fall at close range, too. Drinking in Dame Fashions message of what is to rule in women's warables and guiding our selections of suits with first hand knowledge of your needs.

The result is the most marvelously complete and trustworthy showing of women's suits this town has ever seen. An array that is unbound in its scope, being an accurate picture of the Moyen Age and Eighteenth Century vogues which are so deservedly popular.

Productions made by Canada's leading tailors after Paris and New York's latest latest styles and including all the wanted colorings.

Every woman will find in this stock her ideal of what the new Fall Suit should be. Not only that but she will find it at a price which will make the new outfit possible. Come and see this magnificent display, you will be welcome buy or no buy.

Coming off the nine o'clock train from Keene last night, was Mr. Charles Stapleton, the well-known auctioneer, who has for so long borne the burden and the heat of the day of selling people's goods. He was returning from a sale that he had conducted for the English estate at Keene of furniture and other household goods. Not many auctioneers are attending to business at 84 o'clock in the day.

SPORTING NEWS

STRATHCONAS TO MEET THE T.A.S. ON SATURDAY

Matters took an unforeseen change with the West End team yesterday, and the management notified the secretary of the City League last night that they would be unable to have a full team to go up against the T.A.S. on Saturday and as they did not wish to disappoint the fans by playing a patched up aggregation, asked that other arrangements be made if possible. The manager of the Straths was seen, and expressed a willingness to play the Algainers on this coming Saturday instead of the following one. This is agreeable news to the members of the team as they have all had a rest during the past two weeks and will be able to go into the game in a fresher condition, and this will have the effect of allowing the team to play its best. The T.A.S. lost their first game this season to the Strathconas, and there is sure to be a big noise when the two teams come together next Saturday.

R. R. HALL CUP THE EMBLEM OF COUNTY SOCCER HONOURS

An opportunity is at hand for the exponents of association football or "soccer" to show their interest in the game, and to have the pleasure of competing for a splendid trophy. At the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition there is the prospect of a football tournament for the championship of the county of Peterborough with the R. R. Hall cup as the emblem of that honor. This competition is open to teams composed of players resident in this county, and it matters not whether they are Midland Leaguers or not, they are all welcome.

The last competition for the R. R. Hall trophy was in 1907, when it was won by the Peterborough Quakers, who at that time annexed all the silverware that came into view. In 1908 there was no contest and as the present holders are not in the football business they will not be contenders this year. In order to lift this cup there must be two entries, and there must be a competition with a deciding score. It cannot be won by default, but the team which wins it by actual contest two years in succession gains permanent possession.

Here now is a good chance for some of the faithful ones to get up a team and make a bid for something really worth while. Of course this has nothing to do with the Midland League, and hence signed players and residence rules are not under consideration, and the only requisite is that the players composing the teams are residents of this county.

Entries for this competition must be forwarded to Mr. F. J. Hall, secretary of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition, on or before September 14, and those entering should state whether they wish to play on September 17th or 18th. It has been learned from the best of authority that twelve passes to the exhibition on the afternoon of the contest will be given to each team taking part. Thus it will be seen that the management is willing to do its share and the football artists should be there with the goods. There are at least a dozen good soccer teams in this county, and if they have any desire to get fame and silverware in the form of the county championship and the R. R. trophy, the opportunity is coming their way now.

The time is September 17th or 18th.

The place is the Peterborough Exhibition grounds.

The game is football.

Every footballer is expected to do his duty.

CRICKET

There was no cricket match here today. Warkworth sent word yesterday that it would be impossible for that place to have a team here for the game. No arrangements could be made either for Campbellford to come here.

SPORTING NOTES

To-night is the appointed evening for the baseball practice. The team Bill Cinnamon is to take to Peterborough will be on hand at the ball yard to-night to receive preliminary instructions in the art of playing baseball, so as to defeat the Petes. The evenings are gettingg shorter and it is requested that the players get to the grounds early.

Steps are now being taken to bring Nat Cartmell, the American sprinter, who is still in England, with Reg Walker, to Canada. It is also probable that Walker will make the trip. At least this was the talk in certain quarters last night.—Hamilton Spectator.

It would not be at all surprising to see Frank Bardgette, the Argo rugby player, now in Brantford, and Ross Craig, last year with Dundas, on the Tiger line this year. The pair, with Pfeffer of the Intermediates, would make a pretty valuable trio to have around for that scrimmage.—Hamilton Spectator.

Bobby Kerr has suggested that a real athletic club be formed in Hamilton. Bobby says that every town in England has a club, and refers to one place with a population of 5,000, who turned out 4,000 strong to the meet where he competed. The price of admission over there is placed at a very low figure.

Art Burn, of Calgary, has been professionalized. It was discovered that he had become a "touring athlete."

Miss May Sutton, of the United States, and Mrs Hunnen, of Toronto are matched for the ladies' tennis championship of the world at Niagara on Saturday.

Lila Mitchell, daughter of a London fireman, was badly burned through her clothing catching fire from a gas stove.

LAWN BOWLING

Mr. J. E. A. Fitzgerald, who was in town Tuesday, is an enthusiastic member of the Electric City Bowling Club. In conversation with the Post he stated that his club would be pleased to arrange home and home games with the Lindsay bowlers at any time.—Lindsay Post.

Great Britain Proud of the Record Made by the Successful Contestant in 1909 Regattas.

One of the rowing events in England which arouses interest in every section of the United Kingdom, where there are oarsmen to compete on the English streams, in the annual contest for the Wingfield Sculls.

It was well rowed this year, and the winner who had succeeded in capturing other important events in England, among them the Diamond Sculls, that race which turned Great Britain upside down when an American was reckless enough to [illegible] was given as hearty a reception as an oarsman can expect to get where they take victory with a Welsh rarebit on the side.

The successful sculler is said to be one of the best who has been developed in England in recent years. A JUNIOR CITY RUGBY LEAGUE ALMOST ASSURED FOR THIS FALL

If present indications have anything to do with the matter, Rugby should flourish in this city this fall. A team to represent the city, as a whole, is assured, while a junior city league is almost certain to be organized. All of last year's team are again talking of entering, and several more are likely to be formed.

The P.C.I. will again be under the leadership of Dr. McPherson, and it is expected [illegible] up a great struggle for the championship. They have lost several good men, however, who have passed out of the school, but they will have just as strong a team as they did last year, notwithstanding that fact. The Y.M.C.A. managers have already signed most of their men, and expect to commence practising shortly after the first of September. The Y. had a husky bunch last year, but lack of practice put them on the bog.

While not much is known of the other two teams of last year's league, still the Rough Riders at least can always be depended upon to put a strong team in the field.

Annual Picnic

The seventh annual picnic of the C. G. E. Mutual Benefit Society will be held via steamer Stoney Lake to Bamboo Park on Saturday, Aug. 28. A good programme has been prepared.

WHY THE SCHOOLS REOPEN SEPT. 7TH

An Act Has Been Passed Fixing the First Tuesday in Sept.

At the last session of the Ontario Legislature an act was passed fixing the first Tuesday in September as the opening day for High schools and Collegiate Institutes throughout the province.

This year the opening date will, therefore, be September 7th.

In towns and cities it has been found impossible to get the students to attend either the High or Public schools before Labor Day, which accounts for the Act.

In Peterborough the Public schools re-open on the same date as the Collegiate Institute.

THE HOOK

One councillor was heard to remark "last evenin'" at the famous gathering of the godlets, that he had not yet made up his mind on the Benson street sidewalk. Well! Well! He also said he was open to conviction. Let him be convicted. It would be worth while turning out in force to find such a mind. It must be a wonder.

Talk is too cheap in the council. It is always bargain-day there.

The ratepayers are beginning to think that the council is too "blawsted clevah doncher know."

Yet there ARE some good men in it.

Has the Mayor lost his grip?

Three cheers for the Sewer-system! If water and other liquids are kept out of it, it will not overflow. Thank you. So Chippie says, and he ought to know. He built it under the supervision of the council. So much for high-handed ignorance.

COUNCIL DECIDES THAT WALK WILL GO ON INSIDE;

still in favor of having the walk on the outside.

Mr. Kidd said yes. He was teetotally disgusted with the way things were going on. Ald. Phelan had acted unfairly, and got a snap verdict on the question. Mr. Kidd alleged that Ald. Phelan had kept back a report from Mr. Hay on the Benson street question.

Ald. Phelan denied this vigorously.

Ald. Phelan asked Mr. Hay if he had ever interfered with his—the engineer's—work.

Mr. Hay said "never."

Ald. Morgan said that the side of the street he lived on in Ashburnham had the walk on the outside. On the other side of the street it was on the inside, and there was as much difference as between a jackass and a horse. He would vote to have the walk on Benson street on the outside, and was going to have it there if it were possible.

Ald. Metheral said he was going to vote for the sidewalk on the outside of the tree line. The residents who were paying sixty per cent. of the cost surely had some say in where it was to go.

Ald. Turner moved that the walk go on the inside of the tree line, providing that the grades are made as promised by the residents of the street, and that Mr. Pentland remove an old shed as he had stated he would.

Ald. Morgan seconded the motion.

Mr. Pentland said he would remove the shed if the walk went outside. If it went on the inside the shed could stay there will it rotted away.

Ald. Phelan moved in amendment that the sidewalk go on the inside as specified in the original motion of the Board of Works, which had been struck out by the Council.

There was no seconder.

Mayor Rush said the city engineer was often blamed for things he was not responsible for. His advice was sometimes not followed, and if the job was bad Mr. Hay was blamed for it, just the same. This was most unfair to the engineer.

When the vote was taken it stood four each way, and the Mayor voted against Ald. Turner's motion.

Adjournment then took place amid confusion, Messrs. Kidd, Pentland, Thompson, Staunton and others voicing the disgust of the Benson St. residents.

THE JUBILEE CASE AGAIN

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—I notice in last evening's Review that Mr. Jack Gilman, proprietor of the Jubilee Hotel, denies the statement made in Monday's issue regarding the refusal of meals to the young men who went down there on Sunday last. Now sir, the statement made in Monday's issue was true in every particular, as I happened to be one of the three at the table at the time. Mr. Gilman says the tables were filled when we arrived. Dinner was not served for an hour after we arrived, and we were among the first in the dining room when dinner was ready. Mr. Gilman says we would have been served had we waited long enough. We were in the dining room fully half an hour, and some who had come into the dining room fifteen minutes after we did got their meal without any waiting. He says the item does him an injustice. Did Mr. Gilman think the same way when we were sitting at the table for over half an hour and then got nothing to eat?

Yours, etc.,

A Pastoral.

The sun was rising in the west, and shed its beams on Meadowcrest, where pensive pig and sportive cow were perched upon the beechen bough. There Giles, the farmer, loosed his flocks, drove out the sheep with shouts and knocks; then "shoo'd" his hens to brooklet's brim that they might dive and bathe and swim. The lambs were climbing elms and firs, the ploughmen gathered chestnut burrs; a doctor passed on horse's back, and all the ducks called out, "Quack, quack!" A passing pedlar asked to stay all night; the horses whinnied "Neigh!" Peace hovered o'er the landscape fair; the cattle lowed and sought their lair; while sounded o'er the village smoke the bark of watchdog, elm, and oak; and he who owned these rustic scenes had sowed his biggest field with beans.

How the Trouble Began.

He had been reading the paper and occasionally repeating to her some item that seemed particularly interesting. Thus it happened he ran across an item about the invention of a machine for washing horses.

"They'll have machines for washing babies next," he suggested.

"Huh!" she exclaimed indignantly. "I'd just like to see my baby washed by a machine!"

"So would I," he returned.

He afterward explained to some one at the club that it was an exhibition of the insincerity of woman, for, while he had done absolutely nothing but agree with her, she was so displeased that he found it impossible to read his paper in comfort.

His Last Look.

A church in the north of Scotland requiring a pastor had a beadle who took an active interest in all that concerned the church. One of the candidates after the last service for the day was over stepped into the vestry to put off his gown. He thought he would have a look at the church and, meeting the worthy beadle putting things to rights, said:

"I was just taking a look at the church."

"Aye, ta' a guid look at it," said the beadle, "for it's no likely ye'll ever see't again."—Dundee Advertiser.

Fell on Him.

The schoolboys had studied the day before the first chapter of Acts, particularly the story of the election of a new apostle. The teacher began by revising yesterday's work.

"And how was Matthias chosen?" he asked.

The brightest boy, to the teacher's bewilderment, replied, "They all jumped on him and kicked him."

"Why," said the teacher, "whatever makes you say that?"

"Well, sir, you told us. You read out that 'the lot fell on Matthias.'"

Bull Killed Old Man.

Quebec, Aug. 25.—Pascal Parent, aged 72 years, of Notre Dame de Sacre Coeur, near Rimouski, was killed by a vicious bull in a field at his home on Sunday. The animal had been chained up, owing to his viciousness, but was liberated by the old man, who had gone to feed it. The victim was well-known and highly esteemed, and was mayor of the parish.

Windsor, Aug. 25.—In the police court here yesterday Russell A. Alger, a young Detroit millionaire, and son of the late R. A. Alger, ex-Secretary of War, was fined $14 for speeding his automobile 20 miles an hour on Sandwich street.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Aug. 25.—(Special.)—Owing to the continued limited demand for ocean freight space September's shipment, an easier feeling has developed in the market of late and rates to most ports have eased off about 2s 6d per head for cattle and now agents are asking 22s 6d to 25s for Liverpool, 25s to 30s for London, 22s 6d to 35s for Glasgow and 22s 6d for Manchester. At the Canadian Pacific Live Stock Market this morning the offerings were 850 cattle, 600 sheep, 700 lambs, 825 hogs and 250 calves. A feature of the trade continues to be the weak undertone to the market for cattle and prices are steadier, tending towards a lower level, which is due to the increased offerings and in consequence prices to-day scored a further decline ⅛c per lb. At this reduction, however, the demand was good, owing to the large attendance of buyers, and an active trade was done, which resulted in a good clearance being made at an early hour. There were some export buyers on the market, but as choice beeves were rather scarce no business was done in this direction. Top quality steers sold at 5c, good at 4c to 4¾c, medium at 3c to 3¾c, cows, at 2¼c to 3¼c, and bulls, at 2c per lb.

There was no important change in the condition of the market for sheep or lambs. Supplies were larger, but as the demand for local consumption was keen prices were well maintained and an active trade was done. Sheep sold at 3¾c, and lambs at 6c per lb. Calves are becoming rather scarce as usual at this period of the year and prices in consequence are advancing under good demand, with sales at from $3 to $15 each, as to size and quality.

A stronger feeling developed in the live hog situation on account of the comparatively small offerings, for which there was a keen demand from local packers and dealers and prices in consequence advanced from 10c to 15c per cwt., with sales of selected lots at $8.50 to $8.75 per cwt., weighed off the cars.

At the Montreal Stock Yards, West End Market, the supply of live stock for sale this morning consisted of 250 cattle, 400 sheep and lambs, 450 hogs and 150 calves. The demand was ample to absorb all the offerings and a good trade was done at much the same prices as quoted above.

Disastrous Ending of Flight.

Odessa, Aug. 26.—The first flight of an aeroplane in Russia occurred here Tuesday. The machine is of local manufacture, and it was piloted by an Italian named Catani. It covered four miles at a height of ten feet, but the descent was disastrous. The forepart of the machine was wrecked and Catani was picked up unconscious and badly cut.

THE SAMOAN VOLCANO.

Valleys Filled and Hills Submerged by Its Fiery Eruption.

Letters recently received from people who, journeying across the Pacific, made a stop at Samoa give some idea of the stupendous volcanic outburst that is going on in the island of Savi, German Samoa. This volcano broke out three and a half years ago, but it is so far away from the usual lines of travel across the Pacific that but little has been learned of its activity.

It has been in constant eruption the whole of that time and must have thrown out a far more enormous mass of molten matter than has any other volcano within historic times. The fiery river that flows from a great rent in the side of the mountain is eight miles wide and has buried under its lava about sixty square miles of country. The activity of the volcano and the amount of the flow are increasing. Hills 600 feet high have been submerged, and valleys as deep have been filled to their rims with molten rock.

The outflow of the volcano has been estimated to be at least 300,000 tons a minute. By the side of such a mass as that, kept up steadily for more than three years, the disgorgings of Vesuvius would be no more than a spoonful.

The incandescent river soon reaches the seashore, and the fiery flow drops over a cliff into the ocean. Huge columns of sea water spout from the impact, and immense clouds of steam rise to great heights. The trade winds carry this sea water in the form of a fine rain for miles along the coast, where it is destroying vegetation and injuring property far from the volcano itself.

The roar of the falling lava and the hissing of the water make a mighty tumult that can be heard a long distance. To the uproar is added also the noise of the explosion of huge, superheated rocks, which cover the surface of the lava flow and explode with great violence, scattering their fragments in all directions, when they strike the water.

As the island of Savi is very sparsely inhabited, even by the natives, while the white population consists of a few missionaries and traders, there has been but little damage to life or property in the neighborhood of the volcano.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Fish and Game Protection.

The first efforts to protect fish or game in America were made by Maine in 1843, when a law was passed requiring the governor of that state to appoint fish commissioners.

In 1852 these commissioners were put in control of moose and deer. This is really the beginning of the warden system in the United States. And Maine was the pioneer in game and fish protection. To this day Maine is well supplied with game, and that game pays the people of the state (an estimate on good authority) about $13,000,000 annually. The evolution which has taken place looking to fish and game protection in the New England states especially has been slowly going on for fifty years, but in the west and south, so lavishly endowed by nature with game and fish, that protection dates back to a very recent origin.—"Sport In Dixie."

Saloniki Then and Now.

One wonders if it is generally realized that the Thessalonica to whose inhabitants St. Paul addressed two of his epistles is none other than the Saloniki of today, in which the former sultan, Abdul Hamid, is now a prisoner, deprived of all the comforts of life except his own chef, a dozen or so of his harem and something like $1,000 a week pocket money.—New York Press.

COUNCIL DECIDES THAT WALK WILL GO ON INSIDE; INJUNCTION THREATENED

Benson St. Sidewalk Springs into Fame Again and Council Has a Lively Time—Ald. Phelan Comes in for Censure--Mayor Had Casting Vote--Residents of Street are up in Arms and Interesting Developments are Looked for.

If the powers that be really do be the Benson street sidewalk, north side, will go inside the tree line.

If the ratepayers can prevent it the walk will go on the outside. When Mr. R. J. Kidd left the city hall at eleven o'clock this morning, he affirmed emphatically that he would at once take out an injunction to stop the employees of the city going ahead with the work. In this he is backed by the other residents of the street, where the turmoil and part of the walk exist.

There were eight aldermen and the Mayor present at a special meeting of the council this morning. City Engineer Hay and about a dozen property owners on Benson street were also present.

The question came to a vote and this was how the aldermen voted;—

FOR OUTSIDE OF TREE LINE.

Ald. Morgan,
Ald. Metheral,
Ald. Turner,
Ald. McIntyre.

INSIDE OF TREE LINE.

Ald. Phelan,
Ald. Duncan,
Ald. Buller,
Ald. Gillespie.

It was four—four and the Mayor had the deciding vote.

"I'll stand by the report of the engineer," he said, and voted for the walk going inside the tree line.

Mr. Kidd was on his feet in a moment.

"I'll issue an injunction to stop the work," he said, with considerable heat. "As far as I'm concerned you'll never dig up my property for the sidewalk, nor will the people walk under the shade of the trees growing on my property. We're not like Ald. Phelan, who inherits his property. We've earned ours. You're going to ruin our homes if we give you the chance."

Mr. Kidd sailed into Ald. Phelan with force. He said;—

"We've nothing but thanks for the other members of the council, except Ald. Phelan. Ald. Duncan has acted like a man and the rest of you have dealt with us squarely. Ald. Phelan hasn't, and he's no more fit for the job than a bulldog is to be king of heaven."

Adjournment was coming fast and Ald. Morgan jumped into the breach and asked if there wasn't something that could be done to settle the matter amicably.

There wasn't.

"Leave the piece of walk down that has been built and put the rest of it inside the tree line," the Ashburnham Alderman suggested.

But the grating of chairs and shuffling of feet on the floor as the meeting broke up was the only answer.

To go back a little and see where the trouble started.

The Board of Works has a standing rule that all sidewalks go inside the tree line. But it is not always followed. Benson street was to have a granolithic sidewalk, and the Board of Works decided it should go inside of the tree line. The ratepayers did not want it there. The work was started and the ratepayers objected, and on May 14th the operations were stopped. At a meeting of the council a deputation of the residents presented their views, and on a close vote the council struck out the clause in the report of the Board of Works recommending that the sidewalk go on the inside. The understanding was that the Board of Works, city engineer, the Ontario Government engineer, and the residents of the street would confer and try and arrange a settlement. The Ontario Government is interested in the matter on account of the Normal School and the fact that they are contributing $200 towards the cost of the sidewalk.

The public heard nothing more about the matter till yesterday. The residents of the street say they heard nothing either. But yesterday they seen something. They saw the walk being built inside the tree line and they arose. They also acted. They got in touch with the members of the Board of Works but the members had heard nothing about the walk being built. Then there was more acting.

An impromptu meeting of the Mayor and aldermen was held in Ald. Gillespie's office and the fur flew some. There were present Mayor Rush, Ald. Phelan, chairman of the Board of Works, Ald. Gillespie, Duncan, McIntyre, Metheral, Morgan, Duffus and Buller.

Ald. Phelan was attacked because he had not notified the Board of Works that work was to be started on the Benson street walk. The machinery was moved there from Kirk street.

Ald. Phelan vigorously defended his action. He was following the principle of the Board of Works in placing the walk on the inside of the tree line. The Government was in favor of having it inside. He did not see that there was any kick coming.

A petition was signed by the majority of the members of the council asking the Mayor to call a special meeting this morning at nine o'clock to consider the matter. Those who signed the petition were Ald. McIntyre, Metheral, Duffus, Buller, Turner, Morgan and Duncan.

TO-DAY'S MEETING.

There was a preliminary mix-up at the city hall this morning—an overture leading to the main operatic stunts. The Mayor said the meeting had been called for ten o'clock, as it was impossible to have it at nine because the notices could not be sent out in time, and they were necessary to make it legal.

Ald. Metheral, Morgan, McIntyre, Turner and Gillespie, were on hand early, along with Mayor Rush, and they had to wait an hour till Ald. Phelan, Duncan and Buller turned up. The Mayor called the meeting to order and started it off mild as buttermilk, but it was soon sizzling like a gin fizz.

Ald. Phelan said that when the proposed Benson street walk was contemplated the Ontario Government was approached and agreed to contribute $200 towards defraying the costs. City Engineer Hay was instructed to make a report in favor of putting it inside the tree line. The Board of Works visited the place on their annual tour of inspection and agreed that the walk should go inside the tree line. This had been recommended to the City Council. The architect of the Normal School had been consulted and he also favored the inside. The grading and walks which were now under weigh at the Normal school were being done according to the levels of the City Engineer for the walk inside the tree line.

Ald. Phelan did not think it was fair to the city, the Board of Works, or the chairman to be abused for what had been done.

He had nothing at stake in that end of the city and anything he had done had been prompted by the best interests of the city. Anything he had done had been authorized by the Board of Works.

"I have no axes to grind," said Ald. Phelan, "and I have been doing my best to serve the city well. It's not encouraging to be abused where one is doing all in his power to render good service."

ALD. MORGAN.

Ald. Morgan started to flay Ald. Phelan, but he was cut short.

"Look here, Ald. Morgan, we've had enough of this gallery business and loud talk," said Ald. Phelan. "I came here to-day to do business."

"You've had enough of the gallery" replied Ald. Morgan.

Ald Morgan asked Mr. Thompson, a Benson st. resident, if it were true that he wanted the walk inside as Ald. Phelan had stated last night.

Mr. Thompson said it was a lie. He wanted the walk on the outside.

Ald. Phelan said he had been told that Mr. Thompson wanted it on the outside.

Ald. Turner went over the situation thoroughly and pointed out that he understood the intention was when the matter was last up to have a meeting of all interested and try and come to a settlement. This had not been done. The Benson street residents had overcame all the objections raised against having the sidewalk outside the trees, and if they would agree to grade their lawns down to the level of the walk he saw no reason why they should not have it where they wanted it.

Ald. Duncan said he had decided when the Board of Works visited the place in question that the walk should go on the inside. He was still of that opinion, but he had a protest to make. Ald. Phelan had ignored the committee shamefully all summer. He was sore about it, for there were sewers and sidewalks being built and he knew nothing about it. Ald. Duncan referred to the fact that on Monday night the Council had passed a resolution to build a sidewalk on Charlotte street, and instead of doing that Ald. Phelan had moved the machinery to Benson street, from Kirk street, which was near where the walk was to be built on Charlotte street. There had only been two or three meetings of the Board of Works all summer, when there should have been at least two a month. The members of the Board do not know what was going on.

"It's all Dutch to me," Ald. Duncan concluded.

Ald. Buller said he was in favor of having the walk on the outside if land could be secured on the other side of the street in order to have a thoroughfare that would be sufficiently wide. Unless the land had been secured from Mr. Fitzgerald he would vote to put the walk on the inside.

Ald. Turner said the city had an option on the land and its cost had been provided for in the by-law for $21,500, which had been passed.

City Engineer Hay entered at this stage and was asked how much of the walk had been laid.

"One block from Wolsley street to Aberdeen street had been finished," he said.

Ald. Gillespie asked Mr. R. J. Kidd if all the residents on the street were

$25,000 WAITING FOR OWNER

Cincinnati, Ohio.—Twenty-five thousand dollars is lying in the safe of the German Hospital, awaiting the finding of heirs to the estate of Mrs. Tindel, who died at that institution of apoplexy.

The money was in large bills, concealed in Mrs. Tindel's clothing, and was brought to light, together with her will, after her death.

Apoplexy claims hundreds of victims every year. Yet apoplexy is but an advanced stage of blood poisoning which manifests itself in headaches and backaches. Very frequently the cause is constipation.

Such a case as the above shows the importance of keeping the bowels active, the kidneys regular, the skin healthy, so that the blood will be always pure and rich.

"Fruit-a-tives"—the famous fruit liver tablets—are safe and efficient regulators for stomach, liver, bowels, kidneys and skin.

"Fruit-a-tives" are sold by all dealers at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50 or trial size, 25c.

DOCTORS EXPRESS OPINION THAT SHOCK CAUSED DEATH

Willoughby Inquest Resumed at Norwood This Afternoon—No Report Yet From Provincial Analyst—Drs. Pettigrew and Sutton Testify.

By Special Staff Correspondent.

Norwood, Ont., Aug. 26.—The important witnesses at the Willoughby inquest, which opened this afternoon at one o'clock, were Drs. Sutton and Pettigrew, who performed the post-mortem examination. As far as their examination disclosed, there was no indication of Willoughby having taken poison after the shooting of the little girl, as was rather generally suspected at the time of the tragedy. The doctors were of the opinion that his death was due to paralysis of the heart, brought on by the great excitement and agitation of the shooting, which was, from all indications, accidental. The condition of the arteries of the dead man showed "arterial sclerosis" or hardening of the arteries. Previous to his death his heart had been weak and the shock of the accidental shooting had proved too much for his heart.

Willoughby's stomach was sent to Toronto to the provincial analyst, but no report from him has been received yet. In the opinion of the doctors, however, there will not be found any traces of poison in the stomach.

Mrs. Ruttan, who was at the scene of the tragedy shortly after it happened, also testified this afternoon.

Gordon Bass, cheesemaker at Killarney factory, was the next witness. He told of seeing the two dead bodies in the room, but threw no new light on the tragedy.

Dr. Ford, of Norwood, told of Willoughby coming to him for treatment. He diagnosed his case as chronic indigestion, which would affect the heart to some extent. He did not consider Willoughby's heart trouble to be of a serious nature.

The inquest was adjourned until Tuesday, Sept. 7th, at one o'clock in the Council Chamber at Norwood. The report of the Provincial Analyst is expected by that time.

PREMIER ASQUITH GIVES OUT IMPERIAL DEFENCE SCHEME

Canada Will Build Cruisers of Bristol Class and Destroyers of River Class—Australia and New Zealand Will Contribute Indomitables.

London, Aug. 27.—Premier Asquith, imparting to the House of Commons yesterday afternoon the results of the conference on Imperial defence, held recently in London, gave a detailed account of the proposed remodelling of the Pacifict fleet, which both Australia and Canada are anxious should be of appreciable strength.

The remodelled fleet will consist of three units, the East Indies, the Australia, and the China squadrons, he said, each unit to be composed of a large armored cruiser of the Indomitable type, three cruisers of the Bristol type, six destroyers of the River class, and six submarines.

It has been arranged that New Zealand and Australia present the Empire with vessels of the Indomitable type, instead of the proffered Dreadnought, and these ships will form a part of the Pacific fleet.

Subject to the approval of the Canadian Parliament, it was agreed that Canada should make a start by building cruisers of the Bristol class and destroyers of the River class, making use of both Pacific and Atlantic ports for the construction work.

Premier Asquith stated that it had been arranged at the Imperial Defence Conference to so organise the military forces of the Crown as to preserve complete autonomy for each dominion, while allowing of assistance in the defence of the Empire by coming into one homogeneous Imperial army.

Replying to a member, Mr. Asquith said the resolutions of the conference had to be submitted to the various Governments before they were binding. The South African delegates did not feel in a position to submit the problem for naval and military defence, or approve any proposal arrived at by the conference until the Union of South Africa had been accomplished.

Mr. Asquith, after replying to a member, explained that after the main conference in the Foreign Office, a military conference took place in the War Office. At this it was recommended by them that complete control be given each dominion over the military forces raised by those dominions, and that the forces should be standardized, the formation of the unit arrangements of transport, etc., being as far as possible assimilated to those recently worked out by the British Army. The military conference entrusted to a sub-committee to work out the detailed applicaton of those recommendations, and a complete agreement was reached.

The Bristol type of cruiser, which Canada will build, establishing a shipyard for the purpose, is a second-class protected vessel, being of 4,800 tons burden, and capable of developing a speed of 25 knots an hour. Britain is at present building five such vessels herself, to be completed next year. They will have turbine engines.

The Indomitable, of which class Australia and New Zealand will contribute to the navy, was the flagship of H. R. H. the Prince of Wales, on his visit to the Quebec Tercentenary last year.

The Indomitable, with her length of 530 feet, is the longest and largest armored cruiser afloat. Her artillery is immensely powerful, she carrying eight huge 12-inch guns each 45 feet long and capable of firing an 850-pound shell twice a minute. The guns are mounted on four turrets, which are so arranged that all the eight big guns can fire on either broadside. At 500 yards, projectiles will penetrate 14 inches of strongest steel armor.

The Indomitable also carries sixteen four-inch guns to deal with torpedo boat attacks. Equipped with turbine engines, she can develop 41,000 horsepower and can exceed 24 knots an hour. Her equipment, including wireless telegraphy outfit and signalling apparatus, is of the newest design.

Two cruisers, which Great Britain will loan Canada for training purposes, will be of the Apollo type, of second-class cruiser, of 3,400 tons, and carrying eight large guns.

These ships will require re-fitting and alterations, which will be done on this side at the expense of the Canadian Government.

The officers of these ships will also be loaned to Canada, and be paid by Canada.

A representative of a leading firm of shipbuilders will shortly proceed to the Dominion to select a site for a shipyard.

Regarding the site of a shipyard on the Pacific a prominent naval expert was asked his opinion by a Canadian official and he replied: "Vancouver is more suitable than Esquimalt, though it might also be necessary to have a dock at the latter."

The Canadian Associated Press understands that the idea of having submarines on the St. Lawrence River and the Pacific Coast has been received with some favor.

Engineer's Death.

Brockville, Aug. 27.—The death occurred in the Eastern Hospital of S H. Irvine, aged 50, locomotive engineer, of Carleton Place.

During a football match at a church picnic at South Augusta, Alf Kirby was kicked in a scuffle for the ball and had his leg broken. Dr. Reid, M.P., dressed the lad's injury and accompanied him home, several miles away.

Berlin, Ont., Aug. 27.—Burglars made a good haul in four different residences on Frederick street. Ex-Mayor Becker lost a gold watch and some small change. At V. M. Berit's residence a gold watch was taken. A. Barire and J. W. Green were also losers.

RUSSELL WINS AGGREGATE

Ottawa Man Carries Off the Big Event at D.R.A.

Ottawa, Aug. 27.—Sgt. G. W. Russell, of the G.G.F.G., Ottawa, won the Grand Aggregate at the D. R. A. yesterday with the fine score of 334. Pte. Clifford, Grenadiers, Toronto, was six points behind, and a number of Western Ontario men were well up.

The marksmen were bothered yesterday by a very strong and tricky wind, so that the scores were not so high as has been the case hitherto.

A feature of yesterday was the splendid record of the Royal Grenadiers, who won the Lansdowne, Gillespie, Kirkpatrick and Gordon Highlanders' Challenge Cups—a clean sweep.

The first stage of the Governor-General's match was concluded yesterday by firing at the 600-yard range. The 200 and 500 yards were shot early in the week and the final ranges will be shot to-day.

Pte. F. Bibby, of the 77th Regt., stands at the head of the list with 102, out of a possible 105, and wins the D.R.A. silver medal for the event. The Transvaal Cup and medal, open to Canadians who served in the Boer War, and make best score in first stage, was won by Major McCrimmin, 7th Fusilier, 98. Sgt. Russell, Ottawa, was second with 101, and Sgt. D. McInnes of the 19th Alberta Mounted Rifles 3rd with 100. Others who qualified with good scores of 94 and better were: Sgt. Youhill, 6th D.C.O.A.; Capt. Forrest, 6th D.C.O.R.; Lt. Morris, 18th M.R.; Corp. Whiteborn, 10th R.G.; Maj. Elliott, 12th; Sgt. Maj. Huggins, 13th; Pte. Emslie, 48th; Pte. Taylor, 77th; Pte. Latimer, 10th R.G.; Capt. Crowe, 30th; Sgt. Sprinks, 10th R.G.; Pte. Clifford, 10th R.G.; Col. Sgt. Freeborn, 13th; Mr. McHarg, D.C.R.A.; Lt. Sgt. T. Mitchell, 13th; Sgt. Nichol, 13th; Maj. Dillon, 34th; Q.M.S. Davidson, 48th; Col. Sgt. Bowden, 38th; Major Rennie, Q.O.R.; Sgt. Guild, 30th; Captain Olmshield, 48th; Sgt. J. Phillips, 10th R.G.

COMMENT ON ADDRESS OF DR. THOMPSON

London, Aug. 27.—(C. A. P.)—Dr. Thompson's address at Winnipeg is discussed editorially by all the papers here. The Standard observes it is couched in Imperial language, his advocacy of the establishment of reciprocity between the universities being a suggestion which should do much to draw the Empire together. The News and Post comment on the renascence of physics, the latter observing that discoveries and advances in that branch of knowledge have been so rapid and dramatic that they exceed, both in importance and interest, those achieved in any other field.

ALD. GIROUX SAYS HE DID NOT KNOW

Montreal, Aug. 27.—Ald. Giroux, chairman of the roads committee, yesterday denied before the Royal Commission that he had any idea that Brunet, the middleman, would clear $50,000 on this year's paving contracts. If he had, he would have tried to get the work done cheaper.

Joachim Webster testified that he paid Brunet a rake-off simply to avoid his competition and not for his influence with council.

It was announced that the court would examine the 23 aldermen who have been voting with Ald. Giroux and who gave him his majority.

MOORS' LOSSES WERE HEAVY

Lisbon, Aug. 27.—Special despatches from Melilla, Morocco, say the fighting is general on the Moroccan coast.

The new Spanish artillery has wrought terrible havoc among the Moors, who have lost 1,000 men in the last three days. The Spanish casualties amount to 350. The Spanish column has destroyed three villages near Restinge.

A Moorish deserter, who came into the Spanish lines, declares that Spanish prisoners are being tortured and mutilated. They are then decapitated by their captors and their dead bodies flung into a hole on Mount Ouruga. This hole is a mass of decomposed corpses. Estimates place the number of Spanish prisoners at 1,000.

SUMMER HOTEL IS BURNED FIRE ON NIAGARA-ON-LAKE

Big Resort at Chautauqua Park, Valued at $25,000, is a Mass of Ruins and Guests Have Barely Time to Get Out Alive.

Niagara-on-the-Lake, Aug. 27.—The well-known summer hotel Strathcona, at Chautauqua Park, was burned to the ground yesterday afternoon shortly after 4 o'clock. Smoke was noticed coming from the basement and shortly after the whole five stories was a roaring furnace.

About forty guests barely had time to make their escape and everything was a total loss, including clothing, etc. A number of guests bathing at the time did not save enough clothing to dress with.

The hotel was owned by C. D. Warren, Ed. Gurney and Brown Bros. of Toronto, who refused $25,000 for it last week. The manager, J. Tasker, had $1,500 insurance on the contents in the Rimouski. This is only about one-half his loss.

A number of the guests who lost their all are: Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe and daughter, Mrs. Dr. Kelly, Louisville, N.Y.; Mrs. Janes and family, Buffalo; Mr. and Mrs. McKiernan, New Orleans, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. McAdams, H. G. Buckland and family, Mrs. J. McVittie and Mrs. Coombes of Toronto; Mr. Heron, wife and son, Cleveland, Ohio; and Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, Cincinnati. The latter was ill, and was with difficulty carried out.

There was no fire protection, the water pipes being too distant to be of use.

The fire is supposed to have started in the servants' quarters in the basement by the explosion of a lamp one of the girls had been using to curl her hair.

The sufferers are being housed by those who occupy the cottages near by.

CANADA MAY SOON HAVE ETHNOLOGICAL BUREAU

Scientists in Session at Winnipeg Say Empire Should Have Institutions for the Study of the Native Races—Caution is Necessary in the West.

Winnipeg, Aug. 27.—Imperial problems loomed large at yesterday's session of the British Association for the Advancement of Science. At three sections, questions of an interest to the Empire as a whole were discussed.

In the engineering section, which was attended by Lord Strathcona, Sir William White, the eminent naval designer, in his presidential address, discussed Imperial defence, and the connection between a powerful fleet and the development of mercantile shipping.

Sir William dealt with the important influence engineering has had upon the foundation and development of the colonies and dominions beyond the seas, with particular reference to Canada. He discussed at some length questions of economy in the cost of overseas transportation and of increase in speed and dimensions of ships. He also illustrated the intimate connection between a powerful fleet and the development of mercantile shipping and commerce.

In the educational section, Dr. Gray, head of Bradfield College, in his presidential address, pointed out the ignorance of many of his countrymen, even the best educated, in regard to Canada, and advocated the teaching of more geography in the English schools, and subjects bearing on the history, economics, etc., of the Empire.

In the anthropology section, Prof. John L. Myers, in his presidential address, advocated the establishment of an Imperial bureau of ethnology to study the races of the Empire. It was a dream he hoped would soon be fulfilled. What was more practical and nearer conception was a Canadian bureau, and he hinted that during the convention plans would be laid for founding one.

What kind of men is Canada making out of the raw material which Europe is feeding into God's mills on this side? This was the question that they should study. They studied grains, cattle, land, etc., but not men.

Other questions of particular interest to Western Canada were also under consideration. At a joint session of the economic and agricultural sections, papers of vital importance to the west were read. One was on "The evolution of wheat culture," by Prof. Albert Perry Brigham, secretary of the Association of American Geographers, and the other "Agricultural Development in the Northwest of Canada," by Prof. James Mavor, of Toronto University.

Prof. Brigham dealt with the migration of the wheat centre from New York westward, and the probable present centre of wheat for North America.

He thought that it would not be many years until the United States home production would be such that it could no longer export to Europe. He predicted that in a few years Canada would be shipping wheat to the Republic.

Prof. Mavor's paper went fully into the agricultural resources and developments of the west. He placed the total area in the west available for wheat culture at 17,250,000 acres, with a total production at 18 bushels per acre of 317,375,000 bushels, leaving about 232,250,000 for export. He refused, however, to assume responsibility for the figures.

He closed with an optimistic statement as to the future, and a plea for caution and care in developing the country.

"The country," he said, "needs no fantastic exaggeration or attention either to its achievements or its possibilities. What it needs at present is a cool estimate of these, and consolidation, rather than excessive expansion."

In the geological and geographical sections, J. B. Tyrrell gave a paper on the geology of Western Canada and Prof. A. B. Coleman read a paper on "The extent of the ice sheets of the great plains."

Somewhat of a sensation was created in the chemical section when the president, Prof. Armstrong, attacked methods of advertising used by some scientists.

"I thought," he said, in conclusion, "the reputation of scientists was liable to be besmirched by the way they were seeking notoriety. I know that not a few who have labored steadfastly and seriously in the old-fashioned, exact and painstaking way, have been deeply hurt by the manner in which their efforts have failed to meet with encouragement, whilst those who have thrown caution to the winds have been favored."

THE NEW YORK CHINESE MURDER MYSTERY

BOW GOOM

CHIN LEN

CAPTAIN MICHAEL J. GALVIN EXAMINING FATAL DIRK

WEAPONS OF THE LOO HOK BROTHERHOOD

DIRK WITH WHICH BOW GOOM WAS SLAIN

New York, August 27.—One of Chinatown's prettiest slave girls, Little Purse of Gold, found that in New York she could not really be kept a slave as she had known that servitude in San Francisco. Here, for the first time in her eighteen years, she was not cooped up and guarded.

She was free to walk abroad, to dress in all her pretty Eastern fancy and toddle about the courts and byways of Chinatown, unchallenged and unpunished. Just as soon as she was sure this was not all a dream, Purse of Gold fell in love on her own account.

Now she is dead with three dirk wounds through her heart. Chin Len, who calls himself her husband, is in the Tombs, held in $5,000 bail, to appear at the inquest. Len called Purse of Gold by [illegible] Chinese Galvin, of the Elizabeth street station, how he found his wife slain at two o'clock in the morning.

But Chin Len is a member of the Ong Leon Tong and of the Loo Hok brotherhood, and Captain Galvin found in the rookery nests of the Loo Hoks, in No. 22 Mott street, many dirks just like that which was stuck in the door in No. 17 Mott street, beside the body of Purse of Gold. There seems a brotherhood of knives there. In the Loo Hook rooms Capt. Galvin also found the trunk of Purse of Gold, with her pretty clothing and her gold bangles, bracelets and rings. This seemed so strange that Captain Galvin pointed at Chin Len when asked whom he suspected of killing the pretty slave girl.

WAS KILLED ON RAILWAY TRACK

North Bay, Aug. 27.—The mangled body of M. Busson, prominent citizen of St. Constan, Que., who was taking advantage of the cheap excursion rate, west, was found on the railway near Ridout, two hundred and sixteen miles west of North Bay.

Busson had a ticket for Brandon, but left the train at Ridout, where he telegraphed his wife to send him $50. She telegraphed the money, but before it arrived Busson started to walk east along the tracks.

HIS FRIENDS WILL GIVE HIM HELP

Chatham, Aug. 27.—Fritz Diehn, accused of being Eddie Quinn's accomplice in switching a Sovereign Bank clerk's valise containing several thousand dollars in Tilbury a year ago, arrived in the city last evening. Diehn was extradited from Los Angeles. Quinn was captured some six months ago and implicated Diehn.

It is said that Los Angeles sympathisers are ready to spend a large amount of money in his defence.

BILLED FOR AN INCOME TAX

Montreal, Aug. 27.—A prominent firm of Montreal exporters recently perused a demand for an income tax of $40 to be paid to the Government of New Zealand.

The tax, which is duly provided for by a New Zealand statute, is at the rate of five per cent. on the net profit of specific sales effected by the Canadian firm in the sister colony without the intervention of the resident agent there. The same impost has already attracted a good deal of attention in England, where it hits a large number of exporters.

Train Backs Into Waiting Room.

Boston, Aug. 27.—Several persons were injured, but none of them seriously, in the South Station yesterday, when a train of cars which was backing in crashed through a bumper and plunged into a waiting crowd, fortunately stopping before going very far into the broad area in front of the gates against which people were jammed.

Danger in Free Hides.

Ithaca, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Dr. James Law, until recently dean of the state college of veterinary medicine at Cornell, said yesterday that the clause in the new tariff bill which removes the duty on hides opened the door by which anthrax and other dangerous cattle diseases, fatal to man, may come into the country.

THE "KEEWATIN" IN COLLISION

Owen Sound, Aug. 27.—Fifteen hundred thousand feet of logs, belonging to the John Harrison & Sons Co., were let loose near Cabot's Head by a collision with the steamer Keewatin It was about 3 a.m. when the crew and passengers of the Keewatin were rudely jarred by a sudden shock. The steamer had run into a big raft in tow of the tug Harrison, bound for Owen Sound. She had struck almost fair in the middle, smashed the booms and generally scattered the raft—on which her officers claim there were no lights.

PANAMA EDITOR WAS KICKED TO DEATH

New York, Aug. 27.—William N. Chandler, editor of The Panama Press, was killed in Panama by Gen. Herbert O. Jeffries, who figured prominently in the Panamanian revolution, according to a special cable despatch to The World. Chandler was killed, says the despatch, by being struck on the head with the butt end of a revolver and by being violently kicked by Gen. Jeffries. The cause of the attack is said to have been an article reflecting on the sister-in-law of Jeffries.

A public issue of new cement merger stock will shortly be made by the underwriters.

John P. Sullivan, of Kingston, was working near Sault Ste. Marie. A twig struck him in the left eye, and he had to have the eye removed.

John A. Hurley, one of the best-known and most expert telegraphers in the States, was fatally injured at Hammond, Ind., while in the act of boarding a train.

J. A. Russell, for some time assistant inspector of the Customs' service for the Maritime Provinces, has been appointed tariff expert for the Finance Department, and will be transferred to Ottawa.

Among those more prominently mentioned to succeed the late Robt. Reid on the National Transcontinental Railway Commission are: W. S. Calvert, M.P., Liberal whip; Lieut.-Col. Thompson, ex-M.P., and Robert Stewart, ex-M.P.

About midnight Wednesday the store of Will Applegath, of Hamilton, King and MacNab-streets, was discovered on fire. Flames were shooting from the upper storey when the fire department arrived, but only $300 damage was done.

PROTECTION IN GT. BRITAIN

Argentina is up in arms against the continued embargo or prohibition by Great Britain of the entry of Argentina's cattle into Great Britain. For a long time Canada has been the victim of this backhanded preference. In Great Britain the result has, of course, been a great revival in the raising of cattle, and in the meat trade generally. If this is not protection what is it? The effect on Argentina and Canada is that they lose by it, and they grumble. According to the Globe, the Weekly Sun, etc., the bad effect should be observable only upon the people of Great Britain. The fact that it is not so, of course, will make little difference to these journals, as they are determined that Free Trade is always beneficial and that Protection is always a curse.

The problem of the embargo is one that they must ignore. It is a complete upset to the "universal and always" theory of the desirability of Free Trade, and one exception proves that there may be other exceptions also.

The door once being opened, never so little, the Protectionist, like Micky Free's father, will get his head and shoulders in, and then it will be necessary for those who shout Free Trade and yet live under a protective tariff to reverse their decision, or at least apply a little common sense to the case. The Patents Act, put in force last year in Great Britain, whereby patentees getting patents in Great Britain have to manufacture there, is the same thing. It is not frank, open, scientific protection, but it is all the same.

This is the way the cattle embargo works out:

(Cable to Montreal Star.)

Live cattle supplies from Canada and the United States fell from 583,624 head in 1905 to 381,786 head in 1908.

THE CONFERENCE AT LONDON

That the French-Canadians are determined to block the imperial navy idea is apparent. La Patrie is very strong on this point.

The article from La Patrie is so clear, and sums up the situation so fairly that we repeat that journal's opinion;—

"The Imperial Defense Conference has finished its labors. After a long deliberation, it has finally reached the following conclusion: 'Each colony will maintain under its control and direction a fleet proportional to its importance and its needs.' It is the confirmation of the decision of the Canadian Parliament adopted on March 29th last. Australia, having at the last moment come over to the Canadian view, no other result could be expected. WE DO NOT NEED TO SAY THAT IT IS NOT WHAT THE IMPERIAL ADMIRALTY HAD DREAMED OF (our capitals). Even in Canada, a certain number of ardent Imperialists do not disguise their disappointment. They think that Canada should have done more, and they even accuse our Government of ingratitude towards the Mother Country."

EDITORIAL NOTES

Hon. F. W. G. Haulton says that the interests of the east are against the Hudson Bay railway.

The Examiner's article on Manitoba swamps with its mild refrain of "Where did the swamps go to?" puts us in mind of that celebrated question, "Where did the money come from?"

The language of at least one of our religious exchanges continues violent and unChristian. It is true that the worst user of violent language is usually the most persistent about to avoid it. (That is one of the rules, however, that as Leibnitz said, "require breaking."

Hamilton Times.

Now it is said that a merger or combine of all the carriage manufacturing companies of Canada is being negotiated. Naturally, it is announced that the object of the combine is "to effect economies," not to raise prices.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Save 25 Bars of Soap

Ordinarily you use at least one bar of laundry soap every week—more than fifty bars in a year.

That's twice as many as you need, for Taylor's Borax Soap goes twice as far as any other soap.

Please prove this for yourself—we invite the test. Try one bar of this soap with one bar of any other. See which soap lasts the longest—learn which is the cheapest.

We know what the result will be, for we have made this same test many times over—our soap lasts twice as long.

Taylor's Soap

Don't think that all soaps are alike—there is a wonderful difference in Taylor's Borax Soap. Let us show you some of the ways in which this soap differs from others.

First we use only the purest cocoanut oil from the Isle of Ceylon. Then we boil it doubly long and mix in the borax. While boiling we run thousands of gallons of clean water through the soap which carries away all impurities.

We require twenty-one days to make a single cake. The labor of more than 200 people is needed. We crush every bar under a weight of 30 tons to press out the moisture. We put every bar through an ageing process equal to standing six months in your pantry. So you don't have to age this soap.

When finished the bar is hard and firm, so it wears much longer. The borax softens the water which also reduces the amount of soap by almost half that ordinarily required.

This pure soap is utterly harmless to the skin—it leaves the hands whiter and softer than ever before. If it is so harmless to the skin, then think how harmless it must be to the clothes.

WILL C.P.R. NEW GRAIN LINE CONNECT AT PETERBOROUGH?

The Lindsay Post says:—It is altogether likely that a new survey of the proposed C.P.R. grain route will be made between here and the main line in order to avoid the steep grade to Peterborough. In that case the railway will not touch Peterborough but will tap the main line somewhere near that city.

Mr. H. M. Killaley, of Montreal, a C.P.R. official, was in town to-day and was driven out to Emily this afternoon to look over the land. In conversation with a Post reporter this morning that gentleman stated that some of the hills between Fowler's Corners and Peterborough were 300 feet in height, and it is in order to avoid these that the route will probably be changed. The present survey brings the line through Jackson's Park into Peterborough.

The statement of the Post does not agree with private advices received in Peterborough. It is pretty nearly a sure thing that the line will come here.

THE HOOK

An airship has travelled eighty-three miles. As April Fool in the Land of Nod remarked, "Well, that's fair enough."

It has been suggested that the Benson street walk be built above the tree line in order to avoid trouble.

A Port Hope man has found the wreckage of a schooner. Wonder who was so careless as to let the glass fall!

Tomatoes are reported scarce, but the supply of lemons shows no signs of diminishing.

The mix-up over that walk on Benson street is getting worse than the jokes in the Toronto Star.

Take our advice, girls, and don't waste time on Molson's Bank clerks who are not making $1,200 per year.

A Peterborough citizen mistook some girls for gypsies. If they had been Lindsay girls we would easily understand such a thing happening.

Somewhere in this old world there may be finer weather and prettier girls, and cooler churches, and greener grass, and lovelier flowers, and better times, than in Ontario, but our name is Thomas, and we're from Missouri. Anybody who doesn't throw up his hat and cheer because he's alive in this favored land these days must have something crooked in his moral make-up somewhere.

Peterborough is distinctly out of it. No one here has invented an airship. It's up to somebody to get busy.

Hand out what people can't understand and many people will call it wisdom.

If there were no trees on Benson street there would be no tree line and all this trouble would have been avoided.

Many a woman nags at her husband till she brings him to her way of thinking or else drives him to drink.

Cold water is a great dampener, but it has no effect on the supporters of the T.A.S. ball team.

An aeroplane modelled after some of the local ball teams should be able to go higher up in the air than anything we know of.

Ald. Phelan: "I like my cement walk inside the tree line, but oh, you Kidd."

A tree is not the best place on which to hang a hammock.—Lindsay Post.

Right you are. The girl's father might be up in the tree.

Very little hay has come to town this week. Only one load Wednesday.—Lindsay Post.

Why not harvest the crop on Kent street?

A public indignation meeting will probably be held "inside the trees" on Benson street this evening, unless some insist on holding it on the outside when it will likely have to be postponed.

Laurier Won't Go West.

Ottawa, Aug. 27.—It is not at all likely that Sir Wilfrid Laurier will be able to accept the invitation of the Liberals of the prairie provinces and British Columbia to visit the west this autumn. As Parliament will meet not later than Nov. 18, and perhaps a fortnight earlier, Sir Wilfrid and his colleagues will require all the time at their disposal to make ready the sessional program.

Kingston, Aug. 27.—With a bullet wound in his head and a revolver close at his side, William Smith, aged 65, was found yesterday morning in an unconscious condition in his room at an hotel at Colebrook. I. O. F. Elections.

Brampton, Aug. 27.—The Central District High Court of the I. O. F. elected the following officers yesterday: Alex Cowan, Barrie, P.H.C.R.; John T. Scott, J.P., Caledon East, H.C.R.; Clarence Bell, Toronto, H.V.C.R.; R. J. Niddrie, M.D., Creemore, High Secretary; Alex. Stewart, Toronto, High Treasurer; Dr. S. P. Clark, Dornoch, High Physician; G. C. Albery, Meaford, High Councillor; J. D. Keachie, R. H. Cuthbert, High Auditors.

Laurier For South Africa?

Ottawa, Aug. 27.—Mr. T. R. Preston has received a letter from a prominent politician in England to the effect that the British Government is to offer Sir Wilfrid Laurier the position of first Governor-General of South Africa as a tribute to his reconciliation of races in Canada.

Sir Wilfrid, of course, refuses to discuss the rumor, and in official quarters it is reported as most unlikely he would accept, even if the offer were made.

SEVEN YOUTHS FINED $2.00 FOR STEALING PLUMS

Citizen Charged With Starting Dog Fight—Wm. Northcotte Remanded for Eight Days—A Youthful Vagrant.

Seven young boys were each fined $2 at the police court this morning by Magistrate Dumble for stealing plums from the property of Mr. Robert Redman last Sunday, while the owner was away at church. Four of the number pleaded guilty, but it turned out that the other three, who pleaded not guilty were as bad as the rest, as they waited at a nearby corner and received some of the stolen fruit.

According to the complainant, this was not the first time his orchard was entered, and he had had considerable trouble with the boys in the neighborhood.

The magistrate decided that the fine should be paid forthwith, and as only one of the boys was able to produce the amount, the rest will have to stay in the cells until their parents call and settle the bill.

STARTED A DOG FIGHT.

That he started a dog fight on George street last Wednesday was the charge registered against John Storey. He pleaded not guilty, and the evidence of a witness, who stated that he did not see Storey at the fight let him out.

The defendant was inclined to be indignant at being called to account for another's sins, but he should have been satisfied to get off as easy as he did.

ANOTHER REMAND.

Wm Northcotte was present in court again this morning, but a further remand of eight days was made in regard to his case, to await the pleasure of the Government officials who are considering deportation.

A YOUNG VAGRANT.

Frank Hamilton, a youthful vagrant, was remanded until next Monday morning, at the request of Relief Officer Miller.

RETURNS ON A VISIT AFTER QUARTER CENTURY'S ABSENCE

Mr. Martin McAuliffe is a visitor to Peterborough after an absence of 24 years. Mr. McAuliffe is the son of the late Martin McAuliffe, of Emily, and is staying at his home in Emily and with friends in this community. He left Emily 34 years ago and returned on a trip 10 years later, which is his only visit since his departure with the exception of the present one. He hardly recognizes the present thriving, live city as the Peterborough he saw when he was last here, and notes a wonderful improvement in many respects.

Mr. McAuliffe has a 320 acre farm in Kansas, just outside Acheson.

FARMERS HAVING FINE WEATHER FOR HARVESTING

"Great harvest weather," is what what one hears in the country these days. And the expression sums up the situation nicely. The tillers of the soil are as busy as bees at the present time and splendid progress is being made in harvesting the crop in Peterborough county. The oats have ripened very quickly during the past few days and the song of the binder is heard over the rolling farm land from concession to concession, and the golden grain is standing in "stooks" in field after field. A few more dry days and work will have been completed, and the spacious barns will be filled to the rafters with the products of the harvest fields.

The crop in Peterborough county, the Review learns, is on the whole well up to the average, and the farmers are well pleased with the returns.

YOUNG MAN TOOK BEAUTIFUL SPILL FROM BOAT YESTERDAY

For those who "go down to the sea in ships," it is wise sometimes to take heed of the force of gravity and not do so much "hiking." Yesterday a happy young couple went out for a short sail on Little Lake. The wind was not blowing enough gale to suit the gentleman, and in order to amuse his fair companion, he proceeded to give an exhibition of what "hiking" sprang from. Firmly imbedding his toes in the combing on one side of the boat, he leaned far out on the other side, and urged on the applause of his companion. He folded his arms on his breast and looked up peacefully at the passing clouds.

At this juncture, however, an awful thing happened—his foot slipped and crashed him headlong into the lake—Truly, 'tis a hard, hard world.

WOULD NOT WORK AND ABUSED HIS PARENTS

appeared in police court this morning, is something of an unusual nature. Although apparently well able to work, he will not for any length of time, and what little money he earns he spends in the hotels. When not working he lives with his parents, who are not overloaded with the necessities of life, and on several occasions when there has been very little to eat he has abused them and made their lives miserable. His actions have been under the eye of the authorities for some time past, but owing to the pleading of the father he had not been arrested. Last evening, however, he was placed in custody, and this morning was remanded until Monday.

VANCOUVER CHINAMAN IS TAKING IN THE FAIRS

Matthew Chan, proprietor of the City Restaurant, Vancouver, and a Chinaman who speaks very intelligible English, is in the city on a visit to Mr. Harry Hamilton, proprietor of the Dominion Cafe. He has been in Vancouver some time, but this is his first visit east. In company with Mr. Hamilton he will leave Monday for Toronto to visit the fair there, and they will then go to see the exhibition at Ottawa. The Vancouver visitor will be probably accompanied as far as Chatham by Mr. Hamilton, who will look over the ground in that town with a view to opening a restaurant there if conditions appear favorable.

Mr. Chan says there are about 15,000 or 16,000 Chinamen in Victoria and Vancouver in a great many lines of business. He says that conditions in the western city are excellent from a business standpoint.

"There are so many Chinamen in Vancouver and Victoria," said Mr. Chan, "that a Chinese consul has been chosen and is expected to arrive on the next boat from China."

ABOUT HUNDRED AND FIFTY LEFT THIS CITY TO-DAY ON EXCURSION FOR THE WEST

They Will Aid in the Threshing Operations Now Going on in That Part of the Country.—A Very Orderly and Good Humored Crowd—Absolutely No Rowdyism Displayed.

About one hundred and fifty farm laborers left this city to-day on the harvesters' excursion for the west. The train was made up at Sharbot Lake, and came through to this station early this afternoon. For awhile it looked as though a couple of more cars would have to be added, in order to accommodate the crowd, but after considerable trouble all were given seats. This is the third or fourth excursion which has run through this city on its way to the west, but the others were all intended to help in the cutting and taking in of the harvest. It is rather late for that department of the work now, however, and the laborers on the excursions for the next two or three weeks will have to content themselves with taking part in the threshing operations. The train will be joined at Toronto by several others, and they will journey, in company as far as Winnipeg, where the excursionists will be taken in charge by the various employment agencies and distributed throughout the farther west.

To the uninterested onlooker there were some funny scenes enacted before the excursion had left on its journey westward. As the huge engine came puffing up to the platform about five hundred heads were poked out of as many windows, and the owners of the said heads made various remarks, most of them directed at their fellow passengers. One chap, who had evidently got rather mixed as to directions, confided to a fellow passenger that they would all be drunk before they got as far as Port Hope.

On hearing this wild statement, a woman who was sitting in the next seat, began to inquire anxiously as to whether there was a policeman on board, and when told that a gaol car would be added at Toronto, confided to her informant that she was mighty glad of it, as her hubby was a great boy for cutting up.

Nearly every passenger had a loaf of bread or some other edibles on the seat beside him. The journey from here to Winnipeg occupies between two and three days, and, as there is some difficulty in getting food along the way, most of the excursionists had laid in a stock of the necessary before leaving on the long journey.

One portly old lady boarded the rear car carrying two children on one arm, and a kettle, a tea-pot, and a jar of marmalade in the other. A meek looking man followed close behind, and, inasmuch as he also carried considerable tinware and children, it was unanimously concluded that the couple were going to start up either a baby incubator show or a ten cent store in some western metropolis.

Such scenes were frequent, but as a whole the class of people could not have been better. All were most respectably and carefully dressed, and while there was a good deal of noise and fun going on, there was none of that rowdyism which has marred so many like excursions.

Saturday Snaps

This is the week that must close out all odd lines of Summer Suits, skirts and blouses. This week is practically the turning point of the two seasons—the summer stock must give up the space for the Fall goods, which are arriving daily, not only in all lines of women's ready-to-wears, but in piece goods, etc. For Saturday, Creasmans are offering the most beautiful lines of white and colored wash suits for women, at a ridiculously low price.

"ALL $7.50, $9.00 and $10.00 SUITS ON SALE SATURDAY AT 4.45.

This is the snap of the season and they must pass them on by Saturday or carry them over another season which is the reverse of their store policy. Women will do well to be on hand early and see these—they will not last the day. There are also many lines that will be thrown out on the counters and tables for quick clearance—they will be snaps indeed and all who come to Peterborough will more than benefit by first looking over Creasman's big "Saturday Snap" list of bargains, for to see them is to be a satisfied purchaser. Just try Creasman's.

THAT WATCH OF YOURS

Is in many respects similar to a railway engine. Let an engine be run without oil or cleaning and before long it will stop dead. Upon examination it will be found that the friction and wear and tear has ruined the machinery, and it is fit only for the scrap iron heap. Likewise your watch. You put it in your pocket, and while there is a kick in it, you, in your mistaken economy, do not consult the watchmaker, and consequently rob your watch of years of good service and also much of its former accuracy. The time-keeping qualities of a good watch are maintained and often improved by timely and skilful attention. If you have been one of the neglectful ones call around and see us.

Cobalt Company Buys Oil Wells

The Canadian Central Mines, Limited, operating in Gowganda and Montreal River districts, and the owners of the Ten Mining Properties have purchased the oil leases of the Acme Oil Company, of Detroit. These leases cover 390 acres of the most valuable oil and gas lands in Tilbury East Township. The Acme Oil Company marketed over $60,000 worth of crude oil from these properties during the past two years. The tenth well just completed on the Henry Cooper lease for the Mining Company, after being shot on Monday, the 23rd inst., started producing oil at the rate of seventy-five to one hundred barrels per day. This proves conclusively that certain parts of the Tilbury oil fields are practically inexhaustable. Active operation on the development of the Canadian Central Mines holdings is being rapidly pushed ahead. There is room for over forty more wells on the company's property, and it is their intention to start several drilling rigs at work immediately.

The directors of the company are all men of strong financial standing they are: President, Hon. J. K. Kerr, Speaker of the Dominion Senate; Vice-President, Gordon C. Edwards, of the W. C. Edwards Lumber Company, Ottawa; J. G. Torriff, Director of the Western Trust Company, and Mr. W. H. Cluff, City Auditor, of Ottawa.

Patriarche & Company are the fiscal agents for the Canadian Central Mines, with headquarters at Toronto.

At the biennial session of the High Court, Ancient Order of Foresters, at Sarnia, a tax for the extension of the order was decided upon.

SPORTING NEWS

TENNIS HAS TAKEN A JUMP INTO POPULAR FAVOR THIS YEAR

Tennis has certainly boomed around these parts this year. A couple of seasons ago there were not fifty people in the city who played the game consistently throughout the whole summer months. Now, however, there are at least two or three hundred playing the game.

The great progress of the game has been largely due to the effects of the city competition, which was introduced this year, but even without that it is likely that it would have flourished. The whole country seems to be undergoing a revival in favor of the game, and the various large newspapers are devoting columns to reports of it, which is certainly something new in this country at least.

In talking with a couple of the officers of the Tennis Association this morning the Review learned that there would very likely be a ladies' competition next year. The gentlemen's singles proved to be so successful this season that the ladies are petitioning for a ladies singles for next year.

A great deal of credit is due Mr. Harold Cluxton for his idea of co-operation.

PITTSBURG, DETROIT, ROCHESTER

Baseball dope is about as uncertain as the location of the Benson street sidewalk, but "bugs" all over the country are trying to pick the winners in the three big leagues. It is a ticklish job to call the pennant winners and the passing of the days does not make the task much easier. This is especially true in the American and Eastern leagues. In the old organisation the National, it looks as if the honors would go to Pittsburg. The Smoky City aggregation have a commanding lead and it's almost a safe bet that they will not be overhauled by the Cubs or New York.

Detroit is again forging to the front in the American league and it would not surprise many fans to see them land the bunting once more. Boston looks to be more dangerous than the Athletics and may make it very warm for the Tigers before the season is over.

In the Eastern, Rochester, Newark, Providence and Toronto all have a chance and a winner can't be picked for a few days yet. The Rochester players are going strong again and their rivals are having a hard time getting them out of first place. Ganzel's bunch are still at the top of the heap and will likely stay there unless they take a second slump.

The Toronto team is going great guns now and if it were not so late in the season, would have a fine chance for the top position. As it is they are worth watching.

AB. QUINLAN INTENDS TO LET OUT TO-MORROW

Abstainers Meet Strathconas at Riverside, at 2.30.—Dan McCabe Will Umpire and Usual Prices for Admission Will Prevail.

It looks like a big afternoon to-morrow when the Strathconas and T.A.S. meet at 2.30. Both nines will have on their strongest possible line-up for the fray and it is reported that Quinlan has stated that he will let out to-morrow afternoon as never before this season. Dan McCabe will umpire and the fans will be treated to the best game of the season. As usual, ladies will be admitted free to the grounds and the grandstand and the regular price will prevail for gentlemen. The lineup of each team will be as follows:

T. A. S.

Battery—Quionlan and McFadden.

Infielders—M. O'Brien, Flaherty, Cahill, Callaghan.

Outfielders — Doherty, W. O'Brien, Derocher.

STRATHCONAS.

The team to represent the Strathconas will be picked from the following players:

Battery—Gorham, Ferguson, Hickey and Andrews.

Infielders — Heaslip, Weatherston, Kendrey, Ray, Wettlaufer.

Outfielders — Shaw, Sheridan, Curtis Craig.

LINES ON SPORT

Kinsella, the Ottawa College sprinter, has joined the Ottawa A.A.C. The latter are making a huge effort to build up a strong track team, and with Stronach and Kinsella as the centre, expect to gather a pretty strong team together.

Art Burns, of Calgary, has been professionalized, while Walter Knox got his amateur card some time ago from a coast organisation. It would have been better for the sport if the pair had been put away long ago.—Hamilton Spectator.

In Tim O'Rourke's opinion, Jack Tait is the most graceful runner in the country, and also the best, and if the Toronto lad enjoyed a little better health he would have no trouble in setting up some good marks.

Several prominent football coaches are opposed to the headgear that has come into general use in the last few years. The leather covering is thick, and when a player is struck in the face by the hard substance it has the same effect as if he were hit with a club. The headgear with the soft padding and flexible leather is not objectionable, but the "brass knuckle" variety should rightly be chased from the gridiron. Unless restrictions are used these abuses will be carried to a dangerous point.

That Stanley Ketchel is running great chances of losing his reputation as a first-class pugilist is a growing impression among sporting men who are receiving inside information from California regarding the behavior of the Michigan Lion and his erratic manager, Willus Britt. It appears that Ketchel has done no training since he whipped Jack O'Brien in Philadelphia last May, that he was in poor physical condition when he failed to stop Papke in twenty rounds and has been living at a high rate ever since.

BILL HAWKINS IS DOING WELL

Last night's Toronto Star shows a cut of Bill Hawkins, who pitched for Peterborough last year. This clever young twirler has been doing excellent work this season, and the fact of his practicing at the present time with the Toronto Eastern League team may mean much for the future success of Hawkins.

MACLEOD TO COACH RUGBY TEAM

Former Physical Director of Local Y.M.C.A. Will Look After the Toronto Central Y.'s

There is no doubt but that the western district of the Interprovincial Rugby Union will be stronger than ever. Several new teams, in addition to those playing under the Big Four last year, will be found in the west, while Toronto and Hamilton will even have one or two more teams in their groups. The Toronto Central Y.M.C.A. team is already preparing for the coming season, their first in the game, and they intend to join the Interprovincial along with the Parkdale C. C., Aura Lee, St. Michael's College and the other teams in the Toronto groups last year. Jimmy MacLeod will handle the Central Y. bunch, and Mac is a pretty classy coach, being a Hamilton boy, who played the game in Peterborough with MacPherson, Burnham, Simpson and the other Otonabee stalwarts. Then, again, the Beach Canoe Club, of Toronto, will be one of the new Toronto teams found in the Interprovincial, and they are already preparing for a good season. Twenty teams are already in sight for the junior series of the western district.

DOC BURTON DID GREAT TWIRLING

New Liskeard, Aug. 26.—Before an immense crowd of spectators New Liskeard and Haileybury played their last league ball game here yesterday New Liskeard winning 4 to 1. Dickman, Lathers and Norman Hill, of Michigan College, and Cline of Cobalt, played with Haileybury.

Archie Burton and Cummie Scott, the Barrie battery, did the work for New Liskeard. The game was the swiftest ever played in Temiskaming, and Burton made a record, fanning out no less than eighteen batters and pitching the best game ever seen in this country. Dickman also pitched good ball, but fanned only five men.

By winning this game New Liskeard practically clinches the district championship. New Liskeard now has five wins, two loses, and one game yet to play. Haileybury has won three, lost three, and two to play. Cobalt has won one, lost four, and three to play.

TORPEDO BATTLESHIPS.

They Are the Latest Machine For Naval Warfare.

Naval architects, apparently carried away by the wonders of the Dreadnought, have recently been pinning their faith to the "all-big-gun" ship and have apparently lost sight of the fact that since the end of the Russo-Japanese war the size and power of the destroyer has rapidly increased and likewise the torpedo, the latest type being 21 inches in diameter with an effective range of 7,000 yards. Working on the lines that one torpedo well "home" is of more destructive power than a dozen big shells, pointing as an example the Russian battleship, Kniaz Suvaroff, which at Tsushima received fourteen terrible blows from the Japanese big 12-inch guns alone, and yet continued to steam and fight, the Austrian naval experts have designed a huge heavily-armored ship to carry thirty torpedo-tubes placed twelve in front of the foremost funnel, eight between the fore and midship funnels, and eight between the after-midship funnel and the aft smokestack, whilst a further couple of tubes will be placed right aft. She will also be fitted to carry a gun but little better than our 4.7 weapon, presumably for repelling torpedo-boat attack and commerce destruction. Her bulging sides and rounding decks, all heavily armored, will be constructed to throw off the heavy projectiles of her enemies whilst she is steaming into effective range, and with the speed of three knots faster than any big-gun ship afloat she will be able to out-manoeuvre them.

If constructed on the lines described in the Austrian semi-official naval paper she will present a curious appearance at sea, lying fairly low in the water, with four large funnels, three together forward and one right aft a light superstructure, and masts with only her twenty-two guns showing as her armament. Her turbines and boilers will develop 36,000 horsepower, her tonnage will be approximately 15,000 tons, and her cost is estimated at $1 500,000.

With shipbuilding for war purposes in such an active and progressive state all over the world anything seems possible, but a big armored ship relying on her speed and torpedoes for offensive power seems a product of the distant future. Yet—who knows?—as the torpedo itself caused a revolution in naval warfare, as the advent of the Dreadnought caused an upheaval in battleship construction, so may the torpedo battleship cause the world widespread fear and excitement in the near future, perhaps.

Puzzle Among Nations.

The Basque Provinces lie in the north of Spain, and although for centuries students have tried to trace the real origin of the people and find a key to their language they have failed to do so.

The race is a Catholic one, says The Cleveland Plain Dealer, and their devotion to the Catholic faith is so firm that it is commonly said the devil gave them up as a hopeless object of his sinister attentions, simply because he could never understand or master their language.

All other known tongues spoken by the sons of men have been shown to possess a common origin, traceable to the Arabic and Hermitic. But the Basque language has entirely resisted the philologist. In some aspects the vernacular shows traces of a Chinese admixture; in others it is clear that North American Indian terms are native to it. It also shows traces of barbaric languages spoken on the east coast of Africa.

The people themselves bear physiological traits found in those who speak the said tongues. The native name of Basqueland is Eskuara, and their motto is "Iruraebat," or "three in one." Nor is their political structure anything like that of any known political body, though they belong, of course, to Spain.

Past His Knowledge.

Having decreed that a woman must be polite to her husband, a learned judge immediately was accosted by one of the sex.

"Your decision might fit some cases," she admitted, "but when the husband has forgotten to mail her letters, speaks unseemly of her mother and without warning brings a friend home to dinner"—

The judge, being a learned judge indeed, had had the presence of mind to adjourn court while the questions were being formulated.

"Madam," he rejoined meekly, "I am now but a humble citizen and not entitled to an opinion."

Objection to Women Golfers.

"Farmers don't mind renting their fields to golfers, but they are strongly opposed to women."

"Why?"

"Because women golfers are always losing hairpins and hatpins and stickpins in the grass. Follow the trail of a women's foursome, and I'll guarantee you a cushionful of pins at the end of the ninth hole."

"But why do farmers mind that?"

"Because afterward, when his cattle graze in those fields, they swallow pins. Pins, I needn't tell you, are injurious to health."

Mexico's Rainy Season.

What they call the rainy season in Mexico comes only in the form of showers, which fall in the afternoon. These showers usually occur every day, but sometimes there will be two or three days of perfectly clear weather. There is no steady downpour, however, as in most tropical countries, and in Mexico the rainy season is regarded as the finest season of the year.

"Has your son had any success as a lawyer?"

"Well, no; to tell the truth, he hasn't. It begins to look as if he may have to eke out a living just practicing law."

Rifle Club For Kingston.

Kingston, Aug. 27.—A movement is on foot to organize a rifle association for civilians only, and to have weekly shoots. Such an association, if it had the required number of members, should receive support from the Government in the way of rifles and ammunition. The rifle association had a flourishing club here until eight years ago, when condemnation of the Barriefield butts deprived the club of a range, but there is a new range now.

Rice In Formosa.

In the seventeenth century a number of Chinese immigrants brought into Formosa seed rice, which they cultivated in the Chinese way, producing larger quantities and better grain than was produced by the Formosans, who had cultivated rice from early times and had produced therefrom a distilled spirit of drinking. The Formosans adopted the Chinese manner of cultivation.

Paraguay Tea.

When the yerba mate, or native tea of Paraguay, is cultivated the seeds are treated to an acid bath before planting. This softens the hard shell which surrounds the kernel of the seeds and enables them to sprout in three or four months. If planted in their natural state it requires three or four years for the seeds to germinate.

An Unfounded Rumor.

"Mrs. Muchmore told me," said Mrs. Oldcastle, "that the new minister came in his vestments when he officiated at your daughter's wedding."

"It ain't true," replied her hostess as she flung one of her ropes of pearls over the back of a ninety dollar rocking chair. "We brought him over in our automobile."

LADY HAD LAUGH AT EXPENSE OF LOCAL OPTIONIST

To be offered a glass of water and then to be asked to pay for it was the unique incident which recently occurred at Millbrook, where local option prevails. A resident of this city who is an enthusiastic local optionist, and who, it is stated, is strongly supporting the movement here, was driving towards Millbrook, but when near the village the buggy broke down and he was compelled to stop for repairs.

As one of the two ladies who accompanied him stated that she desired a drink of water the party stopped at a temperance hotel. They went to the pump but there was no vessel there from which to drink. Then a glass was called for and was brought to the pump by one of the young ladies of the temperance house. After the three had a glass of water each, they turned to go. But the young hostess apparently knew of the local option principles of the guest and she stated archly, "You must pay for your drinks." The temperance man was astonished, but though an enemy of the treating system he proffered a quarter and handed it to his benefactress, who immediately disappeared into the house. Now the local optionist began to think that 5 cents a glass was sufficient for water, so he followed the young lady to the door asking for his change.

"Yes, there is 10 cents over," said the keeper of the hostelry, "but you can't get that. You may have its value in cigarettes or cigars if you like."

But he didn't. Instead he resumed his journey.

PROF. ELIOT AND RELIGION OF THE FUTURE; AN ANALYSIS

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—Professor Elliot, or any other man or woman, who is setting out to start a new religion, would do well to take the advice of Tallyrand, "Get yourself crucified and rise again the third day from the dead."

A leading Congregationalist has laid down his dogma, that Catholicism equals obedience and affirms the opposite to that to be freedom. The first assertion is right. Catholicism, which may be briefly expressed by the little word 'all'—'Christ died for all'—is, according to the Scriptures, obedience 'Obedience to faith,' Rom. IV. 6. 'The faith once for all delivered to the saints' Jude, V. 3.

But the opposite is not freedom, but lawlessness. St. Peter says of those who have forsaken the right road and followed in the way of Balaam that 'while they promise liberty they themselves are the servants of corruption.' II. Peter, 2 v. 15-19. There must be authority in religion, as in every other department of life, if, by religion is meant certain knowledge of God and of a hereafter. To renounce all such authority is to become simply an anarchist. And in earthly affairs submission to authority is necessary for the security of life and property, and the general welfare of the community. The opposite to this is not wholesome freedom but anarchy.

They, who in their lofty pretensions to superior wisdom and profound insight into the most abstruse problems of science and theology, cooly assume that the old theories are as certainly right are themselves exhibiting the same spirit of dogmatism for which they blame the disciples of the old faith.

We are told in dogmatic assertions that:—

1. The new religion will not be based upon authority. 'Now I want to know, in this connection, what is the practical difference between authority and evidence. If one were to inform the merchants of Peterborough that a trading bank in Toronto, naming it, had failed and the managers skipped out with all the cash he could [illegible], the informant would be required to give his "authority" for that statement, and would he not get himself into serious trouble if he neglected or was unable to do so.

2. "The present generation is ready to be led, not driven." Oh, indeed, is that so. How about the Doukhobors. Were they driven or led into the wilderness in the depth of winter with only their slumber robes to cover them. These are uneducated, it may be said. Then how about the multitudes that follow Mrs. Eddy. Many no doubt at the present time are ready to be led like the Athenians of old. Now all the Athenians and strangers sojourning there, spent their time in nothing else, but either to tell or to hear some new thing (Acts 17, v. 21). How about the old Empires and civilisations and philosophies Babylonia, Assyria, Egypt, Greece and Rome, countries that had attained a high state of education and learning. What are they now? Nothing to be seen, but heaps of rubbish, broken columns and mutilated statues. They were educated in the wisdom of men, they progressed in that wisdom up to a certain point, and then began to decline and sink into utter oblivion. They were without God and without Christ; and that will be the fate of any new religion, that attempts to rival or destroy the religion of Christ, or deny this eternal Godhead. We all know that the Christian religion is not racial or tribal, but for all the world and for all creatures.

One of the greatest, if not the greatest testimony, to the truth of the Christian religion, is the resurrection of the body of Christ. St. Paul says, "If Christ be not raised, then is our preaching vain, and your faith also is vain." If the Jewish and heathen enemies of the Gospel, could have produced that body, the apostles and their teaching would have been at once refuted, and the world would have heard nothing of Christianity. Another circumstance in this connection is worthy of mention. Though there are, what are claimed to be, relics of the Cross, the Crown of Thorns, the seamless robe of Christ, and portions of the bodies of saints and martyrs, no one has ever heard of relics that are alleged to be portions of the body of Christ. We know from history, that both in Palestine and Egypt, it was the custom to embalm the dead and lay them in caves and sepulchres. The actual bodies of several Egyptian kings who died 4,000 years ago, have been found and identified, and these bodies are to be seen in museums. Our challenge then to all infidels and founders of new religions is Produce the Body of Jesus Christ.

A pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mrs. Stiner, 52 Aylmer street, on Monday night, when Miss Nettie O'Neil entertained a number of her friends and fellow employees of the armature dept. of the Canadian General Electric Company.

Miss O'Neil, who is leaving for Schenectady, N.Y., was presented with an address and signet ring, as an evidence of the esteem in which she is held by her friends, and all expressed regret at her departure from their midst.

TESTED COWS

Exhibition time will see some of the finest looking cows on the fair grounds that the admiring public could possibly wish to see. Sleek appearance, general thriftiness and show condition will be appraised, conformity to type will be judged, and point by point various characteristics will be valued. Excellent as they may be, these cows on exhibition must submit to a further examination before the ordinary factory patron is prepared to award them first place in his estimation. He will ask, and rightly so, can this cow give a large yield of milk and butter fat at a low cost? He cannot afford to accept just a two days' high record; he needs a cow that will attend strictly to business, the business of making money for him, three hundred days in the year. The one vital point for him to ascertain is, does it pay me to keep this cow? Is her profit sufficiently large? To this end he keeps records of each individual cow in the herd, records of feed consumed, and milk and fat produced, so that no doubt may lurk in his mind as to each cow's capacity. Cow Testing Associations make this as easy as possible at a minimum expense; the dairy division, Ottawa, bears the cost of testing, and supplies blank forms free. Several hundred cows in July had over 850 lbs. milk and 28 lbs. fat to their credit. Many individual records total 5,000 lbs. milk this season, while a few choice specimens are already up to 7,000 and 8,000 lbs. milk, and 280 lbs. butter fat.

A Corner In Autographs.

Mascagni, the Italian composer, does not speak foreign languages, so he usually travels with a secretary, who helps him out in this respect. When in Vienna he was struck with the immense number of autographs which were requested of him every morning by his secretary. Sheet after sheet was laid before him until he was thoroughly tired. One day, taking up a newspaper, he caught sight of his own name and with languid curiosity asked a friend to translate. It was an advertisement and ran as follows: "Maestro Mascagni, in consequence of the immense number of autographs asked of him, has decided to sell them for a florin each, the proceeds going to a charitable institution in Vienna. Please inclose florin in demand."

He computed that his secretary made upward of a thousand florins by this transaction.

Antiquity of Tin.

We find that brass, and consequently tin, existed in Tyre, the great seaport town of the Phoenicians, on the coast of Syria, about 1,000 B.C. They are frequently referred to in all works relating to tin or to Cornwall. The Phoenicians were merchants and carried on an important trade from the ports of Tyre and Sidon. These cities rivaled each other in magnitude, fame and antiquity.

FAMOUS EXPLORER'S STORIES

Extraordinary Experience of Dr. Sven Hedin In the Land of Mystery.

The famous Swedish explorer, Dr. Sven Hedin, who has recently returned from Asia, tells of his singular experiences during the three years since he left Stockholm for the far east, in most interesting manner. He spent no less than 25 months in the hitherto unexplored regions of Thibet.

Many of the lamas, ~~or priests~~, Dr. Hedin says, voluntarily shut themselves off from the world. They go into separate grottoes, the entrances to which are closed against them for the rest of their lives, and there, in solitude and absolute darkness, they spend their days. The reason for this awful martyrdom is the lama's belief that it insures his being reborn, after death, into a very happy existence. He has no communication whatever with the outside world, and the other priests of the temple send in his food by means of a long pole with a bowl attached to one end. When the food and drink contained in the bowl are withdrawn in an untouched condition the inmate of the grotto is known to be dead.

Thibet is a land of superstitious and strange beliefs. In one part there is a sacred mountain called Kailas, 13 pilgrimages around which are believed to purge one of every sin. Many pilgrims to the mountain prefer, however, to go down upon all fours, and crawl around it in zig-zag fashion, breathing a prayer every time they reach one side or the other of the track, because one journey performed in this manner is believed to have as much virtue as the 13 wanderings on foot.

When Dr. Sven Hedin was prevented from entering the unexplored region from the south, he determined to get in from the north, and, to put the authorities off the scent, set out in the direction of Pekin, with 40 ponies and 12 men. Subsequently, the caravan was turned west.

"Soon after this," said the doctor, "I had my worst experience. Traveling to the east of the Karakorum Pass, we came upon a river, which followed so erratic a course that we were compelled to cross it 21 times. The cold was intense, and the roads were strewn with the carcasses of ponies and sheep. In two hours' ride we counted 62 dead ponies."

After several weeks, when many miles to the south, Dr. Sven Hedin disguised himself in native costume, and blacked his face every morning with Indian ink. One morning eight or ten natives came up and entered the tent of the caravan leader. They had been sent by the authorities to examine the caravan, and were to escort all its occupants to the governor of the province, unless a written statement was given to the effect that they had nothing to do with the European who was known to have entered the country. Dr. Hedin thought it would be too serious a cheat to give any such statement. So he went alone to the council of chiefs and electrified the assembly by calmly announcing:

"I'm the man you are looking for."

He resolutely declined to return the way he had come, and explained that there was a law in his own country that no one should walk in his own footprints. "The Thibetans," he says, "found this quite a reasonable law, and I was finally permitted to take one of the courses I wanted to take, provided I was escorted by 10 soldiers on horseback."

A Startling Illusion.

Eugene Henard, who attained fame with his palace of illusions at the Paris exposition in 1900, has just completed a similar but larger piece of eccentric architecture for exhibition in that city. The impression made upon the person who enters the mirror walled space is that there are 64,000 electric lamps burning. The hall is hexagonal in shape, and standing in its centre one sees six halls of equal size and beyond these twelve more and then eighteen, and so on. The inner space is illuminated by 2,500 colored incandescent lamps, 1,800 of which are turned on at one stroke, and the one who stops to count the lamps in sight, if this could be accomplished, would find 64,800. To add to the illusion the pillars marking the six corners revolve on their axes, and the whole effect is startling.

A Gruesome Story.

Some years ago a young officer, seeing a funeral taking place in the vaults of Christ Church, Dublin, was induced by curiosity to enter them, and was not heard of for some time after. Later a search was made, and his remains were found picked to the bone by rats. The remains of hundreds of their bodies, however, lay around, destroyed by the young officer's sabre, which still was held clutched by his bony fingers.

Corncob Bricks.

In some parts of Europe corncobs are used for building purposes. The cobs are collected and taken to a factory, where heavy compresses crush and mold them into blocks of various sizes, just as bricks are variously molded. These blocks are bound with wire so as to make them hold together. They are then soaked in tar to make them water tight and are ready for use after this treatment.

Railway Lucidity.

The time table of a south of France railway announces: "Half-tickets for children are not issued on this line. In the case, however, of two children of one family traveling together a single ticket will be sufficient for the two. Should the family consist of one child application should be made to the booking clerk, who will issue a portion of a ticket at a moiety of the usual fare."—St. James's Gazette.

An Indo-Chinese Venice.

The royal palaces of Bangkok form a city in themselves. They consist of several hundred individual palaces, surrounded by magnificent gardens and pagodas. It is an Indo-Chinese Venice. More people live in floating homes on the Menam, "the Nile of Siam," and on many canals than in permanent buildings.

The Government is surveying the Trent Canal land limits from the lift back to Balsam Lake.

NOTED SHORT STORY WRITER.

Sarah Orne Jewett's Explanation of How She Became an Author.

Sarah Orne Jewett, who recently died at her summer home in South Berwick, Maine, was known for forty years as writer of brilliant short stories of down east country life. She was a pioneer in the field. It was she who made story lovers feel at home in the stiff down east parlors and the prim village streets trodden by the descendants of the Puritans.

Indeed, this clew not merely to her quality as a writer, but her character as a woman, is best expressed in her own explanation of how she came to write: "When I was perhaps fifteen," she said, "the first city boarders began to make their appearance near Berwick, and the way they misconstrued the country people and made game of their peculiarities fired me with indignation.—I determined to teach the world that country people were not the awkward, ignorant set those persons seemed to think. I wanted the world to know their grand, simple lives, and so far as I had a mission when I first began to write I think that was it."

Miss Jewett was a woman of charming personality. Although her early education was obtained entirely in her little country home town, it was under the best auspices, for her people were well descended and educated. To this early education and her own natural gifts were added the broadening influences of travel and association. Her intimacy with Mrs. James T. Field at an early age opened to her the doors of the most cultured society in Boston and in Europe, and therefore she was enabled to look upon the people of whom she wrote from a dual point of view.

The author's birthplace and home is a beautiful colonial house, built over 150 years ago, in the old town of South Berwick, Me. She was born in 1849. Her father, Dr. Theodore H. Jewett, was a highly educated physician and a professor in the medical department of Bowdoin College. In "A Country Doctor" is found a glimpse of their happy companionship. Indeed, it was under her wise father's supervision that she obtained most of her education. Much of her time was spent in browsing in his excellent library.

Miss Jewett's first story was accepted by The Atlantic Monthly purely on its merits when she was twenty years old. "Deephaven" was her first success. Since then she had published a long list of books. She traveled extensively.

In personal appearance Miss Jewett was tall and dignified, with a well bred grace and courtesy of manner. She had a bright and piquant face and a low, musical voice. In conversation she was bright and interesting, selecting her words with a quick discrimination. She possessed a keen wit.

A Sudden Thing.

It is generally the easiest thing in the world to drive a horse without spirit, but there is one recorded instance where a coach driver in a remote English rural district covered himself with glory for doing so. One afternoon he and his coach and four came rattling up to the hotel door like an avalanche. As the coach stopped one of the horses dropped dead.

"That was a very sudden death," remarked a bystander.

"That sudden!" coolly responded the driver. "That 'oss died at the top of the hill two miles back, sir, but I wasn't goin' to let him down till I got to the regular stoppin' place."

Answered.

A group of men were discussing politics. A young fellow joined in the conversation, but his argument did not please the others, and one of them said to him:

"Be quiet! At your age I was an ass myself."

"You are wonderfully well preserved, sir," was the immediate and crushing reply.

IT WOULD APPEAR THAT SHOCK CAUSED WILLOUGHBY'S DEATH

Report of Provincial Analyst Was Not to Hand, However, for Inquest at Norwood Yesterday—Evidence of Physicians and Other Witnesses—Mrs. Ruttan Saw Nothing in the Cup.

Partly from what is known and partly from what may be surmised with what seems a reasonable degree of safety, Thomas George Willoughby came to his death through paralysis of the heart. The inquest was resumed in the deaths of the two victims of the double tragedy which occurred in Dummer township about a mile and a half from Norwood a short time ago and which caused so much depression in the vicinity of the double fatality and created such a sensation throughout the province. The post-mortem was performed by Drs. Sutton and Pettigrew of Norwood, and they sent the stomach of the dead man to Toronto for analysis. The report of the Provincial Analyst had not been returned and therefore could not be submitted at the sitting yesterday, but from the evidence of Dr. Sutton, it is highly probable that Willoughby died from heart failure produced by the shock caused by the effect of shooting his child while handling the gun.

Nothing of a startling character was adduced yesterday and the most important testimony was that of Dr. Sutton. Mrs. Ruttan, the first person to arrive on the scene of the shooting after it had been discovered by the little six-year-old son of Willoughby also told what she knew of the affair but her evidence did not furnish anything new in connection with the case.

The inquest was held in the town hall at Norwood and there was a good-sized crowd of spectators at the hearing.

MRS. RUTTAN'S TESTIMONY.

Mrs. Ruttan said she was at the Willoughby home about 3.30 on the day of the tragedy. She knocked at the kitchen door and Willoughby responded to the knock. He seemed very much frightened and was gasping for breath. He had a tea cup in his hand and had it turned so Mrs. Ruttan could look into the cup. There did not appear to be anything in it. Willoughby told Ruttan to go into the house. The little boy, Harry, was inside the door, crying. She asked him where his mama was, and thought that perhaps she was ill and that Mr. Willoughby was taking the cup to the well to get some water for his wife. The little boy said that his mama was away at Norwood.

"Then I saw the little girl lying on the floor of the summer kitchen. She was lying with her face pointed towards the woodshed with her head on a mat. There was a hole in her dress in the neighborhood of the heart. I didn't stop to look for the wound in her body."

Willoughby came back from the barn and told witness to go for a doctor. She went to McMillan's a short distance away, and told a couple of girls there about the affair and one of them went out into the field and told the men working there.

WENT INTO THE PARLOR.

Gordon Bass lives about a mile and a half from Willoughby's farm and knew Willoughby intimately. In company with Messrs. Long and Metcalfe he was driven to the Willoughby home by Thos. McMillan.

"When we got there," said Mr. Bass in giving his evidence, "we looked back and saw Mrs. Willoughby driving up. I helped her get out of the rig in the yard. She asked me what had happened and I told her that I did not know as I had not been in the house. I saw the little boy run out of the front of the house when we were driving up and he ran back again. When we got to the gate he was looking out of the window. Mrs. Willoughby and I went into the kitchen and from there into the dining room and into the parlor and saw Willoughby and the girl stretched out there. They were both dead apparently.

The little boy was in the room where his father lay. His mother asked him what had happened and he replied 'Papa has shot Stella.'"

Mr. Bass stated that Willoughby had complained to him about suffering from stomach trouble.

WIDOW'S BROTHER TESTIFIES

Clarence Sampson, a brother of Mrs. Willoughby, was the next witness. He said he lived eight miles from his sister's home and did not get word of the affair until six o'clock that night. The witness said that his sister had told him that her husband had been to see Dr. Ford about heart trouble.

HEART TORN TO PIECES.

Dr. Sutton said he had performed a post mortem examination on the bodies of Willoughby and the girl. He was assisted by Dr. Pettigrew. The girl's death was caused by the heart being ruptured, the upper lobe of the left lung being torn and the fourth rib being fractured. The heart was ruptured by some projectile and was torn to pieces. No shots were found in the body. The wound was such that it might have been caused by a gunshot. If this were the cause the gun had apparently been held about 30 inches from the girl's body.

The fathers stomach, liver and gall bladder had been sent to Toronto for analysis. Although there was no evidence submitted to the effect it is understood that there were no traces of poison in the stomach, although the doctors who performed the post-mortem only made a superficial examination of this organ and nothing definite will be known till the Provincial Analyst's report is furnished.

There was evidence of powder on the body and clothing of the girl.

Dr. Ford said that Willoughby had come to him for treatment. He had been suffering from chronic indigestion and had no organic ailment of the heart. Willoughby's heart trouble, the doctor judged, would probably be caused from mental worry and depression. This concluded the evidence. The inquest was enlarged until Tuesday, the 7th of September, when it will be held at one o'clock in the afternoon at the Council Chamber at Norwood.

THE INSURANCE WILL BE PAID

Without Regard to the Manner or Cause of Willoughby's Death

The Norwood Register says—Certain statements have appeared in some of the daily papers which have caused considerable uneasiness among the immediate relatives and friends of the late Thomas G. Willoughby respecting his life insurance. It was not enough for the reporters of these papers to stretch their imaginations in their efforts to solve the mystery surrounding his death, but they had to pry into private affairs and cause the widow and friends unnecessary sorrow and pain by speculating on the validity of his life insurance.

The Register is pleased to be in a position to-day to place before the friends and the public a communication from the head office of the Equity Life Assurance Co., which set all doubts as to this matter at rest—

Editor "Register."
Norwood, Ont.

Dear Mr. Editor,—I have seen the statement in several of the daily papers that if the coroner's jury and the chemical analysis of the stomach prove that the unfortunate death of the late Thos. G. Willoughby was due to suicide his insurance cannot be collected.

Allow me to say that as far as the Equity Life is concerned, we are prepared to pay the claim as soon as the necessary papers are completed without regard to the manner or cause of death

Yours sincerely,
S. S. WEAVER,

PLUCKY ACT PREVENTED DROWNING YESTERDAY

Mr. John Watson, Who is Sixty Years of Age, Jumped Into River and Rescued Walter Bradshaw Who Had Fallen Into the Water at the Wharf.

The Otonabee river nearly claimed another victim yesterday about noon when Walter Bradshaw, the young son of Mrs. Alice Bradshaw, 187 Sherbrooke street, fell into the water from off the wharf, a short distance south of the C.P.R. bridge. The lad was with a companion who was fishing and both were sitting on the edge of the wharf when in some manner young Bradshaw lost his balance and fell into the river, which is very deep at this point. The cries of his companion were heard by Mr. John Watson, who was on his way to get a drink of water from a pail which was near the boys. He immediately jumped into the water and after much difficulty secured the drowning lad and brought him to land little the worse for the mishap. The act of Mr. Watson, who is in the neighborhood of 60 years of age, is worthy of recognition.

Mr. Watson resides at 478 Rubidge street.

DEATH OF ARTHUR BOLLARD AT CHEMONG IS THE CAUSE OF INTENSE EXCITEMENT

Nineteen Year Old Youth Died at Summer Cottage Yesterday Afternoon, and it is Alleged That Death Followed as the Result of Injuries Sustained in a Fight on Monday Night.

One Story is That He Was Assaulted While Returning Home From Dance in the Pavilion—Fred. Jopling, Who is Alleged to be Concerned in the Fracas, is Seriously Ill With Blood Poisoning.

Yesterday afternoon at "Jubilee Cottage," Chemong Park, Arthur Bollard, the nineteen year old son of Arthur (Alive) Bollard, the well known Toronto tobacconist, died from what is presumably the result of injuries sustained in an alleged assault upon him on Monday night after a dance at the pavilion at the park, when he was returning to the cottage. Several accounts of the affair were given to the newspaper men who made an investigation into the circumstances surrounding it last night, and although it is denied by those who claim to have been eye witnesses to the tilt between Bollard and Fred Jopling, of Bridgenorth, the generally accepted account is that Bollard was assaulted and handled in rough fashion.

There were several young men from Bridgenorth present at the time, and they deny that there was an assault and said Fred Jopling interfered on behalf of his younger brother, Harry, who had got into an altercation with Bollard as he was returning home. There had been some ill-feeling between some of the village young men and Bollard over matters of a trifling character.

Mr. C. E. McPherson, of Toronto, a brother-in-law of the late young man, tells a story, however, that will put an entirely different complexion on the matter if he is correct. He was not a witness to the trouble, which occurred on Monday night, but gave the version that Bollard stated.

Mr. McPherson said that he had been informed that when Bollard was returning to the cottage that he was pounced upon and maltreated, with Fred Jopling, the central figure in the attack. He was so severely used that he was very weak after it, it is said, and had to be assisted home. At first it was not thought that the injuries were of a very dangerous character, there being no external marks of violence and the next day Bollard was able to be around the park again. On Wednesday he was taken ill, however, and Dr. Scott, of this city, was summoned to attend him. His condition became so serious yesterday that Drs. Halliday and Greer were called into consultation by Dr. Scott yesterday afternoon, but found it impossible to do anything to save the young man, and he died about 3.30 o'clock.

County Constable A. Moore, who is working on the case, told the Review that no information had yet been laid against anyone, and could not state whether there would be any prosecution instituted. From what the constable said, however, an assault is suspected and he mentioned Fred Jopling as being suspected of being the principal offender.

Jopling is dangerously ill with blood poisoning it is reported, the poisoning having set in following an abrasion sustained by him on his hand during his encounter with Bollard. His system is seriously affected by the poisoning, and his arm is badly swollen from the hand to the shoulder.

COUNTY CONSTABLE ON HAND.

On being notified of the circumstances connected with Bollard's death Coroner Dr. Gray sent County Constable Archie Moore to Chemong to make an investigation and empannel a jury. The jurymen had to be selected from residents of the township of Smith, where the death of the young man took place. Mr. Moore arrived at Chemong at eight o'clock and was a busy man for several hours looking up men to act on the jury and getting particulars of the alleged assault on Monday night. He visited the Bollard cottage, but could only secure a partial and disconnected story of what had happened. The members of the household were almost crazed by grief and could not give a lucid account of what they knew about the sad affair.

The coroner decided to hold the inquest at Belleghem's undertaking establishment, Hunter street, at 10 o'clock on Saturday morning. Mr. Belleghem took charge of the body.

WHERE FRACAS OCCURRED.

The trouble on Monday night, in which Bollard is alleged to have received the injuries that resulted in his death, took place near Mr. Jas. Long's cottage, which is located about a hundred yards from the Chemong Hotel. The road leading from the west from the hotel turns south in front of Mr. Long's cottage. There is a wide path which passes on the north side of Mr. Long's house, running the same direction as the road west from the hotel. This path connects with the main road where the thoroughfare takes the turn to the south. The growth of trees is heavy in this vicinity.

BEEN THERE A MONTH.

The Bollard family have spent several summers at Chemong Park, and are well known there, and also in Peterborough. They moved to the Park from Toronto about a month ago, having rented "Jubilee Cottage" from Mr. Myles Hendry, of Peterborough. Arthur Bollard came from Toronto to Chemong a week ago and was spending a most enjoyable holiday. He was popular among the people at the resort and took an active part in the amusements of the young people, among whom he was well liked. The household at "Jubilee Cottage" consisted of Mrs. Bollard, mother of the young man who is dead; Mrs. W. E. McPherson, of Toronto, his sister, and Miss McCardell, of Philadelphia, a niece of Mrs. Bollard. Mr. Bollard, sr., and Mr. McPherson frequently spent the week-ends at Chemong.

FATHER PROSTRATED.

The father of the dead youth, Arthur E. Bollard, accompanied by his son-in-law, W. E. McPherson, came to Peterborough from Toronto on the C.P.R. local express, which arrives here at 7.51 p.m., and made the trip to Chemong in an automobile. They arrived there about nine o'clock, and on entering the house and seeing his son lying cold in death the father broke down completely. He cried like a child, in an agony of tearless grief, and heeded not the words of comfort that came from those gathered around. His sorrow was too deep for tears, or to be relieved of its poignancy by anything that could be said.

Mr. Bollard is about sixty years of age, and of strong physique. Strong manhood gave way, however, before the terrible realization that death in such a tragic manner had robbed him of his only son—the pride of his heart—and it was some time before the deepest anguish of his grief was past.

Mr. Bollard had been notified, early in the afternoon that his son was very low, but word had not been sent to him that the end had come.

ANOTHER VERSION.

There are several versions of the fracas on Monday night. One is that a friend of Bollard's, Harry Marks, of Toronto, was proceeding home ahead of Bollard, accompanied by a young lady. He heard the racket and turned back to see what the trouble was. It is said that he was prevented from giving his friend any assistance and it is reported that he (Marks) was rather roughly handled. People living in the vicinity are said to have heard the screaming of the young lady.

HEARD THE NOISE.

Mr. Jas. Long, whose cottage is situated near the spot where the fight took place, told the Review that he was not an eye-witness of the affair. He heard a noise near the house just after he had gone to bed, and there was a good deal of loud talking. He paid no attention to it, however, as loud talking in the park in the early part of the night is not uncommon. His son, Gordon Long, came into the house a short time afterwards and told him that there had been a fight. Mr. Long stated that he returned to bed about ten o'clock and had only been there a few minutes when he heard the disturbance.

WOULD SAY NOTHING.

Mr. Harstone, whose cottage is about a hundred yards from Mr. Long's house, was reported to have been an eye-witness of the affair on Monday night. When seen by the Review he refused to say anything at all about the matter.

"I will not discuss it at all," he said.

CAN NOT MAKE STATEMENT

Dr. Scott, when interviewed by the Review at eleven o'clock last night, refused to say anything as to the cause of the young man's death. He could not make a statement till a post mortem had been performed. The result of this would be made public at the inquest.

WAS THE ONLY SON.

Arthur C. Bollard was nineteen years of age, and is survived by his father and mother and one sister, Mrs. W. E. McPherson, of Toronto. Mrs. Bollard is a cousin of Mrs. Vincent Eastwood, of Peterborough. Arthur was a student at St. Andrew's College and was popular among a large number of friends in Toronto.

A GOOD ATHLETE.

He was one of the stars of St. Andrew's College Rugby team. On the Rugby field he was commonly known as "Dutch" Bollard. He was also a wrestler of ability and had competed in the C.A.A.U. wrestling championships at Toronto. He was also an excellent oarsman and took an active interest in sport generally.

BRIDGENORTH PEOPLE WOULD GIVE NO OPINION

Review Representative Visited Village Last Night But Little Information Could be Secured

A Review representative visited the village of Bridgenorth last night in an endeavor to secure some information of an authentic nature from several who, it was stated, were present when the altercation took place and also from disinterested parties. All the information that they would give out was that there had been a scuffle between the Jopling boys and Bollard. No reason would anybody give which would have the effect of leading up to the trouble, and there seemed to be a desire on the part of each one not to express an opinion either one way or the other. One and all appear to be much interested in the welfare of Fred Jopling, who is suffering from blood poisoning and it would appear that the villagers are inclined to stand by him in the affair, which has had such a fatal climax. Both the Jopling boys have always borne a good reputation in Bridgenorth, and Fred is well known in the city, he having played hockey at Brock street rink on many occasions, but never at any time was he known to have shown any viciousness towards an opponent.

One young man who, it is claimed, witnessed the encounter, when approached, said that he knew nothing of the affair at all, but later he was heard to remark to a companion: "Do not say anything about it at all."

It is possible that young Bollard may have unintentionally said or done something which did not please the young men of the village, and it is a well-known fact that a visitor, especially a young man who allows it to become known that he is a follower of athletics, has to be very careful lest at an unfortunate moment he raise the ire of those who are not placed in the same circumstances, but nevertheless are always willing to show what they can do in regard to feats requiring strength and endurance.

FRED JOPLING IS NOW IN THE HOSPITAL

Fred Jopling, one of the central figures in the tragedy at Bridgenorth, is in Nicholls Hospital. A newspaperman who wanted to see him this morning could not get permission.

Dr. Morgan, who is attending Jopling, stated to-day that his condition was serious, although his illness would not likely terminate fatally. The young man was brought to the hospital last night.

PETERBOROUGH MAN WHO WITNESSED THE FIGHT IS INTERVIEWED BY REVIEW

Gordon Long, of this city, son of Mr. James Long, who was a friend of Arthur Bollard's, when seen this morning by the Review, stated that according to statements made to him by Bollard, the trouble started on Monday morning. Harry Jopling with another companion, was driving through the park, when they passed Arthur Bollard, who at the time was wearing a pair of duck trousers which were bespattered with mud. Jopling made a remark about them which was heard by the wearer, and both started a heated conversation. Finally it is said Harry Jopling called Bollard a vile name and refused to apologize. That night about ten o'clock Bollard appeared to be on the lookout for young Jopling, and when the two met a short distance from the pavilion Bollard demanded that Jopling take back the statement he had made that morning. He still refused and then Bollard tried to force him to. By this time the older brother Fred, had arrived on the scene, and asked that he (Bollard) leave Harry Jopling alone. Bollard answered with the words that "he would as soon take him on as anybody else," and this led to the young men tackling each other. Bollard appeared to be having the better of the argument up to when Jopling inflicted such painful injuries to his opponent that he was compelled to quit. He was unable to walk to his home and had to be assisted by three young men, of which Mr. Long was one of the number.

ATTENDING DOCTOR THE ONLY WITNESS

At the Inquest Into the Death of Arthur Bollard—Young Man Was of Strong Physique and Death Was Peculiar—Was Seized With Vomiting and Weakness.

Nothing of a definite character was learned of the death of Arthur Bollard who died yesterday afternoon about 3.30 o'clock. The only witness at the inquest, which was opened in Belleghem's undertaking rooms this morning, was Dr. Scott, the first physician called to attend Bollard, and the doctor said the case was a very unusual one, and he had never had anything like it before in his experience.

From what is believed to be a result of the fracas in which he was involved on Monday night when returning from the dance, Bollard became very weak and sick and was troubled with stomach trouble, vomiting a great deal and passing mucous and blood. There were no evidences of external injuries on the body, however, and it puzzled Dr. Scott that Bollard should have become so low and died when his body was in a very healthy condition previous to his illness. The doctor thought a post-mortem would help to ascertain the cause of death.

Coroner Dr. Gray presided at the inquest, and County Crown Attorney R. E. Wood looked after the Crown's interests. Mr. D. O'Connell was there in private interests, but informed a Review reporter that he did not think it advisable to state what they were.

The jury empannelled was as follows:—Thomas Edgar, Nelson Blewett, Robert Scott, foreman; Robert Telford, John Archer, Wm. Faul, Alex. McGregor, Joseph Archer, James Young, Sam Stenson, Edward Archer, Thomas Graham, Robert Bell.

After the jury had viewed the body Dr. Scott was called to give evidence.

DR SCOTT'S TESTIMONY

Dr. Scott was the first witness. He was called to attend the late Arthur Bollard at Chemong Park on Thursday afternoon. The doctor found him in bed at Jubilee cottage. He had been suddenly taken ill at 8 o'clock on Thursday morning. The doctor found him suffering a good deal of pain through the abdomen, and vomiting. His temperature was 101 3-5, and his pulse was running pretty rapidly, about 144. No evidence of any other trouble was found.

Bollard stated he had been cut, but the wound did not appear serious, although the blood vessels in the region of the wound were congested. The doctor gave Bollard a hypodermic injection and that relieved him considerably. Medicine was left for Bollard to take. He was very much prostrated when the doctor was there. The doctor left, and didn't hear anything more until 7.30 the next morning. The doctor arrived at 8.10 at the park, and Bollard was very much depressed, and he could find no pulse in his wrist at all.

The doctor didn't think he would get better when he noticed his condition. Misses McDonald and Hay, two nurses at the park, were secured to attend Bollard, and Dr. Greer was called to assist Dr. Scott. When Dr. Scott left at 11.30 Bollard seemed restless but hadn't rallied to any extent. The doctor returned at 1.30 in the afternoon, accompanied by Dr Halliday, and Bollard was dying when he arrived. He died at 3.30.

Dr. Scott said he thought a post mortem examination on the body would help to ascertain the cause of death. He was not prepared to state the direct cause.

To Mr. O'Connell Dr. Scott stated that he didn't think Bollard would die when he first saw him. Bollard apparently did not think so either at the time the doctor had the conversation with him.

Coroner Gray appointed Dr. Scott to perform a post mortem examination and the jury decided that he should have an assistant.

Pending the report of the post mortem an adjournment until August 30, in the County Council chamber at 7.30 in the evening was made.

LORD BERESFORD TAKES REST WILL NOT GIVE INTERVIEWS

Toronto's Illustrious Visitor Will go to Niagara Falls Over Sunday and Will Open Exhibition on Tuesday—Ex-Governor-General's Son With Him.

Toronto, Aug. 28.—Lord Charles Beresford will spend Sunday quietly at Niagara Falls, accompanied by several prominent men and his private secretary, Hon. W. Carlton.

Immediately after his arrival in Toronto by special train from Montreal this afternoon, the ex-commander of the Channel fleet will board George H. Gooderham's yacht, Oriole II., and will be the guest of Mr. Gooderham until they return to the city on Monday morning. Others of the party will be W. K. George and M. H. Irish. The yacht will head for Niagara and will anchor there until Monday morning, when she will return to Toronto.

On Monday afternoon about 4 o'clock, Mayor Oliver will pay Lord Beresford a call in his official capacity, and later the city council will tender the admiral an address. On Monday evening he will be entertained privately by Toronto friends.

Charles Beresford

Toronto's National Exhibition will be ceremoniously opened at 3 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon.

Lord Charles will go out to the Exhibition grounds at 12.30, and take a jaunt around on a brief inspection of the various attractions at the grounds prior to touching the button at 3 o'clock, which will set the great fair humming for two weeks.

Although the admiral was greeted by a number of reporters as soon as he reached Quebec yesterday, he displayed devotion to naval ethics.

Having came to Canada especially in acceptance of an invitation to open the Toronto Exhibition, he gently but firmly, declined to be interviewed.

"The pith of my views which I came to Canada to circulate will be given in my reply to the president's address at the Exhibition," said Admiral Beresford, explaining that to do otherwise would be discourteous to the Exhibition management.

His Lordship is accompanied by Earl Dudley Carlton, a great grandson of Lord Dorchester, Ex-Governor-General of Canada, and valets. His program for his Canadian visit is by no means decided.

"I had a little time to spare and this invitation came most opportunely," he said. "I also wished to know something more of Canada and the Canadians, whom I like for their wide-awake energy."

He has not yet decided to visit the far west, but he will spend a day at least in the Cobalt country. He will also speak in Montreal on his way home. His intention is to be back in England early in October, for the great banquet that will be held in commemoration of the Battle of Trafalgar.

Mayor Hopewell, of Ottawa, will be in Toronto to-day, to personally tender an invitation to Sir Charles to visit the capital during fair week.

ONE MAN KILLED AND ONE HURT IN CROSSING ACCIDENT

Level Crossing Disaster Results in Death of Thomas Gaunt and Fractured Skull to Fred Swithenbank—Horse is Cut to Pieces by the Train.

Toronto, Aug. 28.—The level and unprotected crossing has claimed another victim.

While driving over the level crossing out of Streetsville Thomas Gaunt, aged 21, and only son of John Gaunt, of that town, was instantly killed by the C. P. R. Chicago flyer. In the rig with him were Fred Swithenbank, 11-year-old son of John Swithenbank, who received a severe fracture of the skull, and John Ward, also of Streetsville, who escaped.

The horse was almost cut to pieces and the rig was smashed into kindling wood.

By dropping out of the back of the buggy when the train was only ten feet away, Ward escaped.

The young men had hitched up Mr. Gaunt's horse and were enjoying a drive. They did not hear the train coming, and some people say that the whistle did not blow.

Before reaching the crossing the train sweeps around a sharp curve. At the junction of the track and the road is an orchard, which shuts out the view. The train was traveling at a high speed, and before the young men could realize was on top of them.

The engine struck the rig about the front wheel and Gaunt was carried down the track with the buggy and horse, while Smithenbank was thrown to one side of the track. The injured boy was brought on the train to Toronto and taken to St. Michael's Hospital, where he was still unconscious early this morning and very low. The body of young Gaunt was removed to the home of his father.

The deceased was boss weaver and Swithenbank an employe of the Oriental Textiles, Ltd., of Streetsville. John Gaunt formerly lived at West Toronto.

Coroner Lawson, of Brampton, was notified.

Saved by Lightning Rods

To Whom It May Concern:

George Hartley, agent for the Dominion Lightning Rod Co., of Dundas, Ont., erected lightning conductors on my buildings on the 11th day of June, 1909, and on the 16th day of August lightning struck the rods and was conveyed to the ground without damaging the buildings in any way. Two of the balls on the rod were burned out by the lightning. I notified Geo. Hartley, the agent at Peterborough, and he came to my place two days later and replaced the balls with new ones, and inspected the rods without any cost to me. I am satisfied that the rods are a protection and saved my barns from damage by the lightning, and I recommend them to all farmers.

ALBERTA AND VANCOUVER

"Alberta is quite willing to tie up to Vancouver. We all believe that the future of our wheat production is involved in getting it to the seaboard at the nearest and most natural point—that is, Vancouver. The convention of Albertan and British Columbian business representatives last winter was called at my instructions and we feel it was highly successful. While no immediate results are noticeable, yet we are looking to the transportation companies to take the initiative in the matter."

In these words Premier Rutherford, of Alberta, indicated not the first time, his strong belief that Vancouver held the key to the solution of the great transportation problem of this province. Mr. Rutherford has been visiting the exposition, having arrived here direct from the Irrigation Convention at Spokane, where he spent two days in company with the Hon. F. J. Fulton, Minister of Lands for British Columbia, both gentlemen having previously attended the Canadian Irrigation Convention at Lethbridge earlier in the month. Another distinguished Albertan, Lieut-Governor Bulyea, is also a visitor at the Fair.

"It is true the Dominion Government was approached with a view to securing aid in erecting great grain warehouses at Vancouver," continued Mr. Rutherford, "but we feel sure that when the transportation companies take decisive steps in the matter, there will be found grain operators who, on that assurance, will step forward and also take a hand in placing storage facilities at the disposal of the grain trade of Alberta.

"It is obvious that Vancouver, with its immense harbor facilities, better than any other point in Canada, and with that harbor open every day in the year, with no winter freeze-up, closing navigation for months, and no fogs on your coast to impede shipping, will command the transhipment of bushels of grain which Alberta is each year growing in increasing volume. Not one acre in ten is yet producing its quota of wheat, so that the immensity of the grain trade which will centre in your city as the result of the rapid development of Alberta, will make it the Liverpool of the Pacific in very truth."—Vancouver World.

We are not then, even to have the consolation of seeing the "wheel's wo wound" as the western wheat is hurried to the seaboard. It is all very fine this development of the west, Canada wants it. But why should one section of Canada be sacrificed to another—why the east to the west? The Alberta Premier's remark gives food for thought.

THE HIVING OF THE FRENCH

Most people will admit that the News makes a good point when it says that French Canada is practically closed to the discussion of Canadian questions. The News has been making a strong plea in favour of All-Canadianism. It foresees trouble in the future when French Canada and English-speaking Canada become so populous as to bring the races into constant contact and rivalry. There are, no doubt, faults on both sides, but it cannot be denied that the hiving of Canadians as French Canadians is being fostered from day to day by Le Canada, La Presse and others of the more prominent and by many of the less prominent journals wherever the French-Canadian language is spoken. There is no question of the loyalty of the French to the British Crown so long we may observe, as they have their own way. It is not so with other races. They endeavor to fuse more or less. The French will not fuse in politics, religion or any other way, and if they [illegible] on their own part they would do as the servant of the high priest did on a memorable occasion. Our Gallic friends have never become reconciled to the conquest. They discovered Canada and did a vast deal for its early as for its later development and have furnished men of the first rank in all departments of human intelligence and activity. But that is only an aggravation to them of their present situation. Great Britain is very loyal to them. She carries out the terms of the Peace of Paris with scrupulous regard, but what have we on the part of the French-Canadians? A determination to preserve their line of cleavage. That is their ungenerous response. Over and above their allegiance to political parties, which is not unevenly divided or unfairly, it is ever the war-cry of the French, "French-Canada is in danger." Now we believe that there ought to be no French-Canada and no distinction made between the races. It should all be "Canada!" But alas! the French prefer to remain in a position of perpetual compromise with the politicians always looking to the "patriot," who plays on the French horn. Do English-speaking Canadians rush together in bonded union to deny or to dominate? They do not. They invite co-operation, not reject it, and it is the contrary policy of our French brethren that is so subversive of unity and happiness. In truth Canada cannot be part of an imperial solidarity—so long as the fancied "difference of destiny" continues. If the French have their backs to the wall and are fighting for their racial existence what are they doing it for? It must be to gratify a prejudice that should have vanished long ago, and it serves a worse purpose every day it continues. This question is certainly a live one just now. The policy of separation with regard to Great Britain is being carried to great lengths. Even La Patrie rejoices that a disappointment to Great Britain developed at the conference in London that her statesmen never dreamed of. The motive is plain. If it were not made plain by what is following it is made plain by the confession of French-Canadian journals. Our Canadian barque is even now being steered into an unknown sea. The dream of Old France is being realised. She dominates at least the northern half of this continent. We are no longer what we once were. Whether it is by force of intellect or of will, the fact remains it is French-Canada against the rest. Let some true patriot arise amongst them and perhaps he will be content to be Canadian himself and to lead his friends in the same direction. Such a man would be the second conqueror of his country and the friend and leader of all without distinction.

EDITORIAL NOTES

In the pathetic acknowledgement of condolences from everywhere, M. Robidard, editor-in-chief of La Patrie, unburdens his mind in the following words:—"The child I lament was my joy and hope. In one overwhelming, unexpected moment Death has torn him from me. O, God of Kindness! How cruel sometimes, are Thy ways!"

President Taft is determined to establish postal savings-banks in the United States. He thinks it will place a heap of money at the government's disposal. If, however, the scheme is conducted as it is here, where a much lower rate of interest is paid to the depositors than the government pays to the money-lenders, not much will come of it. It will simply be a discrimination in favor of the big financiers.

Special Despatch to the Globe.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 26.—A new York special to-night says:—Wall street amidst the excitement of crumbling stock values this afternoon was regaled with a story that J. P. Morgan and J. J. Hill had practically completed all details for an arrangement with the Grand Trunk Pacific for terminal facilities at both Winnipeg and Vancouver. The story also contained the statement that Mr. Hill was now engaged in buying a controlling interest in the Grand Trunk in the London market. Railroad experts here admit that should the story prove true it would provide the Morgan-Hill interests with a first-class trunk line from Chicago to Portland, Maine, and by means of its present western connections with a complete ocean-to-ocean highway.

It would give Hill and Morgan control of the Grand Trunk Pacific from Lake Superior to the coast over grades that none of the Harriman lines could ever compete with. With ports at Montreal, Boston, and Portland, the Hill-Morgan system would have Harriman and Vanderbilt on their knees; the latter could not compete with the rates which the Hill-Morgan system would make.

So that in addition to presenting financiers with millions on the pretence of having an all-Canada road, we are stuck for the ubilding of the worst part of it, and then are to put American rivals in control of it. Wonderful statesmanship!

BROTHER TOLD BROTHER

One Suffered for Fifteen Years, the Other for Thirteen.

The convincing powers of a testimonial were never more clearly shown than in the case of Mr. Hugh Brown. A brother, Lemuel Brown, of Avondale, N.B., read in the paper about Hon. John Costigan being cured by "Fruit-a-tives." Knowing the Senator would only endorse a medicine which had cured him, Mr. Lemuel Brown tried "Fruit-a-tives." They cured him of Chronic Indigestion and Constipation, so he urged his brother to try them.

Hartland, N.B., Oct. 28th, 1907.

"Three doctors told me that I had Liver Disease and serious Stomach Trouble. My stomach was very weak. I took their medicines for thirteen years and grew worse. My brother (who was cured of terrible Indigestion by "Fruit-a-tives" after suffering for 15 years), recommended me to try these wonderful tablets. I bought half a dozen boxes and have just finished the sixth. I eat all kinds of hearty foods without distress and am greatly improved in every way. "Fruit-a-tives" also cured the Chronic Constipation which was so distressing in my case."

The Gladiator.

Do you know the origin of the word "gladiator?" We'll tell you:

Marcus Antoqus and his wife were out one day for a spin on the Adriatic, and Octavia, the mother-in-law, was there. The question arose as to what they should call the new fighters in the arena, and Octavia got so abusive about it that she slipped and fell overboard. Now, sharks were much larger in those days, and one was ready, waiting, with his mouth open. Marcus rushed to the side just-in-time to see the last of his mother-in-law. Then, being overjoyed at the kindness of the shark, he cried:

"I'm glad he ate her! I'm glad he ate her! I'm glad he ate her!"

Hence the new word for these fighters, and Marcus' first duty on getting back to Rome was to "call or see 'em," because he had a new name "for 'em."—London Scraps.

Japanese Self-Control.

The Japanese are trained to conceal unhappy feelings and only to publish to the world the record of things bright and cheerful. Of this wise discipline of self Lafcadio Hearn gives a good instance in his "Kokoro":

"I had a male servant in the house who seemed to me to be the happiest of mortals. He laughed invariably when spoken to, looked always delighted at work and appeared to know nothing of the small troubles of life. But one day I peeped at him when he thought himself quite alone, and his relaxed face startled me. It was not the face I had known. Hard lines of pain and anger appeared in it, making it seem twenty years older. I coughed quietly to announce my presence, and at once the face smoothed, softened, lighted up as if by miracle. It was a miracle, indeed, of perpetual and unselfish control."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

PETERBOROUGH SHOWS STEADY RATE OF INCREASE IN THE BUILDING LINE

Building returns for July from nineteen centres while showing a falling off in six places—the largest number of decreases recorded for any month so far this year—nevertheless registers on the whole an average gain of 13.98 per cent. Altogether the situation, as based on comparative figures supplied Construction can be regarded as being most satisfactory, as despite the set-back experienced in five Western cities and the loss noted in the case of Halifax, the gains made in other sections are of such proportions as to leave no doubt as to the substantial progress which is being made at present, and which will in all probability be made for some time to come.

The biggest loss for the month is in the case of Brandon, where a slump of 63 per cent. has been experienced. Winnipeg shows a decline of 32 per cent. Edmonton is third, with a deficit of 25 per cent.; Vancouver next, by a falling off of 13 per cent., while Regina falls by 11 per cent. to equal her amount for the corresponding period of last year.

These reversals, as affecting the West, cannot, however, be viewed with any degree of alarm, as it was only reasonable to expect, after a protracted period of unprecedented and consecutive gains, that a temporary break was bound to occur. Winnipeg, Edmonton, Vancouver, and Brandon more than doubled their amounts in the preceding month, while Regina registered an increase of 61 per cent., and, in view of this fact, and the big advances made in each case during the first five months, the loss experienced will in no way materially detract from their seasonal total. All five places, as well as Halifax, which fell back to the extent of 22 per cent., report the immediate outlook as being bright, and show unmistakable signs of an unusually active fall.

Apart from the losses mentioned, a most wholesome condition in general prevailed, in many cases the gains being equal to or better than those registered in the previous month. Victoria had an exceptionally brisk period, her gain of 250 per cent. placing her at the top of the list, while Calgary's increase of 190 per cent. shows conclusively the uninterrupted growth which this city is undergoing. Saskatoon also has evidently made substantial headway as her total of $176,315 (not including in following table), although no comparative figures were submitted, clearly indicates a month of tremendous activity.

In Ontario the advance was both steady and strong. Toronto not only had a gain of 43 per cent. but her total of $1,754,105 for permits issued shows the greatest volume of business for the month of any city in the Dominion, and Peterborough followed her gain of the preceding month, with another increase of 244 per cent., the second highest gain per cent. noted. London London advanced 114 per cent., Berlin, 108; Hamilton, 31; and Stratford 10 per cent. Fort William, which failed to submit the amount for the corresponding month of 1908, issued permits for new buildings to cost $180,235; while the month's totals for Port Arthur and Windsor were $114,260 and $33,650 respectively, and it is quite likely that both these latter places are considerably ahead of their previous figures.

Farther east, Montreal has jumped by an increase of 63 per cent., the sixth consecutive gain this year; and Sydney materially adds to her big advance in June and July by another increase of 82 per cent.

As regards fall operations, it may be said that never before at this season of the year has there been so much work in preparation in the architect's offices or in immediate prospect generally, as at the present time; and reports at hand from all sections of the country give every assurance that fall building activities this year will be without a parallel in the past annals of the Dominion.

An Imaginative Chef.

Imagination and initiative are just as valuable to a cook as they are to a poet or a statesman. Especially are they valuable to the chef of a roadhouse. No one can foretell what in the world the next diner will fancy he cannot dine without.

Gascon, the new chef at the inn, was sitting comfortably down to smoke his afternoon pipe when in rushed Isadore—Isadore, the imperturbable head waiter—his hair on end, his hands in the air.

"Tiens!" cried Gascon, springing to his feet as he scented disaster. "What is it with you, my friend?"

"The barbarian!" cried Isadore. "The barbarian! He will eat nothing but one chicken potpie!"

"But it is well, my friend," replied Gascon. "Be seated and calm yourself. We will provide monsieur with his desire. Run, Henri, quick! An apple pie! Off with the cover, out with the apple! So! Now, then, softly, the chicken saute. Pour it slowly. So! On with the cover. Have a care. So! Isadore, my friend, voila! Monsieur est servi!"

BEAUTIFUL WOMEN

Paris is Full of Them and Nearly All Use Parisian Sage

In the beauty show at the metropolis two years ago Gold Medals were awarded to five different women.

To the most beautiful woman between 20 and 25; between 25 and 30; between 30 and 35; between 35 and 40 and between 40 and 45.

A society reporter who interviewed all five women in the interest of his papers, reported that all of them had beautiful hair, and that each of the five enthusiastically attributed her luxuriant hair to Parisian Sage.

Wm. Madill sells Parisian Sage for 50 cents a large bottle. He guarantees it to cure dandruff in two weeks; to stop falling hair and itching of the scalp. It makes any woman's hair beautiful, soft and luxuriant.

WARM WEATHER DRINKS.

Cool Beverages to Offer Callers or to Use on the Table.

During the warm summer weather, says Good Housekeeping, one likes to have cool drinks ready to offer a caller or to use on the table, but the preparation takes so much time that the cool drink is not served as often as it might be if this device for making iced cocoa were known. Boil half a cup of cocoa, three-quarters of a cup of sugar and one cup of water to make a rich sirup. Put this in a jar on the ice, and it is ready to serve at a minute's notice by simply taking a large spoonful to each glass of cold milk.

This amount will last for several servings, and the delay of waiting for cocoa to cool is avoided.

Make a pint of strong black coffee and flavor with half a teaspoonful of bitter almond. Strain the coffee through a fine muslin cloth and then beat it to the boiling point in a double boiler. Add the yolks of two eggs well beaten, two tablespoonfuls of sugar and two tablespoonfuls of thick cream. Cook until it thickens into custard, then take from the fire and cool. When ready to serve pour in a pitcher and send to the table with a pint of whipped cream sweetened and chilled, a pint of shaved ice and a quart bottle of soda or other mild charged water icy cold. The coffee cup is served in tall, thin glasses. First put in shaved ice, then coffee, the charged water and lastly the whipped cream. Twice as much water is used as coffee.

DEPARTURE OF MR. GIBBON REGRETTED AT WOODSTOCK

The Woodstock Sentinel-Review of Friday says:—

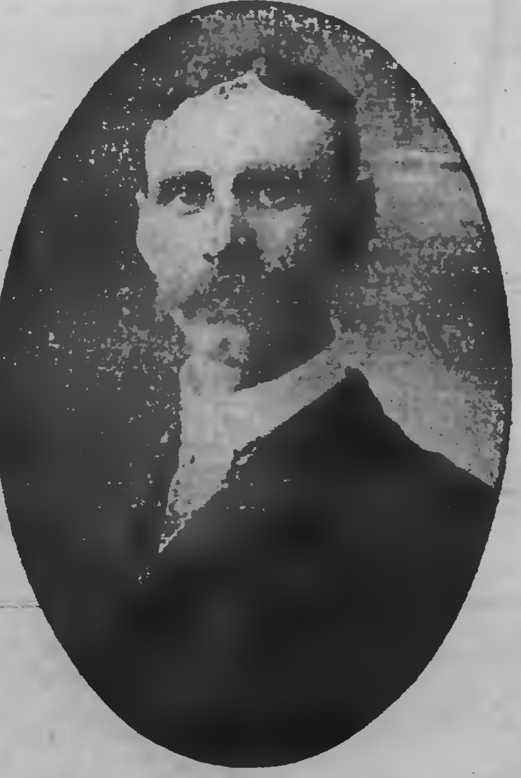
In the columns of yesterday's Sentinel-Review appeared the news of Mr. A. P. Gibbon's intended removal from the city. That Mr. Gibbon's departure will be regretted by the people of Woodstock goes without saying. Very few citizens have in so quiet a way taken the interest in public affairs, civic, mercantile and religious that has been evinced by Mr. Gibbon.

For sometime past he has been the efficient principal of the Woodstock Business College. Eight years ago he joined the teaching staff as junior commercial teacher, which position he held one year, prior to being appointed senior commercial teacher. For the last five years he has been principal of the Business College, an institution which under his guidance has grown in usefulness and importance in no small measure. The many pupils of the school will learn with regret of Mr. Gibbon's intended removal from the city. Outside of educational matters, Mr. Gibbon took a leading interest in numerous other municipal affairs. He was an alderman, and among the city fathers his opinion on all matters relative to civic institutions and legislation was regarded as shrewd and practical. He made it his business to keep in touch with everything undertaken by the city authorities, and even lent a ready hand to his share of the work whether in Council or on committee.

Mr. Gibbon's departure will mean much to the best interests of the Temperance Federation in which organization he was was a leading spirit, holding for some time past the office of secretary. His efforts in connection with the advancement of the temperance cause have won for him many friends among the party, where his lively interest will be much missed.

The North Oxford prohibition Association was another local institution in which Mr. Gibbon figured as an officer, being secretary treasurer. In lodge circles Mr. Gibbon was also prominent to a marked degree. Besides besides being an officer of King Solomon's Lodge, No. 43, A.F. and A.M, he was a member of the Woodmen of the World both of which fraternal bodies will miss him.

As treasurer of the Y.M.C.A. his undertakings in connection with the new building have been by no means small. He was also a member of the Dundas street Methodist church Quarterly Board, and assistant superintendent of the Sunday school, besides being teacher of the Bible Class in that church.



ALD. A. P. GIBBON,

Of Woodstock, Who is Opening a Business College in Peterborough

In addition to these numerous offices, Mr. Gibbon is the auditor for more than one stock company in the city.

Mr. Gibbon has disposed of his interest as principal of the Woodstock Business College to Mr. M. J. Brophy, who will be at the head of the institution during the ensuing term. Peterborough will in all probability be the future residence of Mr. Gibbon to which place he intends moving on Monday next with the object in view of the establishment there of another Business College. He has already secured options on several desirable sites, at present available in Peterborough, and it is entirely likely will sometime in the distant future erect a college. Miss Bessie Ross, a short-hand instructor of the Woodstock Business College, accompanies Mr. Gibbon to Peterborough, there to accept a similar position in the proposed new college. Best wishes for every success follow Mr. Gibbon to Peterborough.

ONLY $300 PROVIDED FOR FAIR IN THE ESTIMATES

The grant from the city to the Peterborough Industrial Fair will only be $300 this year instead of $400 as in the past. The directors asked for $500 for the 1909 exhibition. The Finance Committee met last night and will recommend to the Council a grant of $300. This is all that has been provided for in the estimates. It is the intention of the committee, however, to raise $100 from outside sources for the fair.

The committee opened tenders for the purchase of the city's debentures amounting to $91,500. Of this amount amount $70,000 is for the water commissioners and $21,500 for street extensions, etc. Tenders were received and they varied considerably, and the highest was so low that the committee did not consider them satisfactory. Therefore the sale will be delayed for a short time until the condition of the market is looked into.

The committee decided to subscribe for the Financial Post to enable the city treasurer to keep posted on the bond issues of the country.

Several parties who owe money to the city and are slow in payment will be sent letters by the city solicitor urging prompt payment.

A list of accounts were considered and passed.

FALLON SENTENCED TO SERVE TWO YEARS IN CENTRAL

William Fallon was this morning sentenced to serve two years less one day, in the Central Prison, after the evidence had been heard in connection with a charge of stealing a watch, which was preferred against the young man when he appeared before Magistrate Dumble.

It will be remembered that Fallon was some time ago arrested on a charge of having attempted to rob a citizen at Central Park. On this charge he was remanded until this morning for judgment and to receive his hearing on the charge of stealing a watch, which was taken from a pocket of his trousers at the time.

The owner of the watch, Mr. John Lee, of Mamvers, was the first witness this morning and he said that he came to this city on July 13th. He became became drunk and went to sleep. On awaking he had the watch, but afterwards went to sleep again and on awaking the second time found his watch was gone. He identified the watch produced in court as his own.

Mr. John Steele, jeweller of Millbrook, also identified the watch as the one bought by John Lee two years ago.

P. C. Newhall said he arrested Fallon on the 11th of August and found the watch in his possession. Fallon said he secured the watch from a man at Long's hotel for $2, but did not know his name.

The Magistrate in giving judgment stated that although Fallon was a young man his record was bad, and he had deliberately of his own accord, chosen a criminal life and it was necessary that he be placed where he could not defy the laws of the community.

What Would Great-grandma Say?

Your great-grandmother would have one surprise after another if she visited one of our large stores today and saw the many things now ready-made which she had to toil over at home for hours and hours. The new comforts would surely interest her. To think that you can now get one ready-made that is far warmer and lighter than the best she ever made at home is really remarkable. But such is the case, and these comforts are shown right here in our own town. They are called the Maish Laminated Cotton Down Comforts, and can be seen in all sizes and patterns.

THAT WATCH OF YOURS

Is in many respects similar to a railway engine. Let an engine be run without oil or cleaning and before long it will stop dead. Upon examination it will be found that the friction and wear and tear has ruined the machinery, and it is fit only for the scrap iron heap. Likewise your watch. You put it in your pocket, and while there is a kick in it, you, in your mistaken economy, do not consult the watchmaker, and consequently rob your watch of years of good service and also much of its former accuracy. The time-keeping qualities of a good watch are maintained and often improved by timely and skilful attention. If you have been one of the neglectful ones call around and see us.

LABOUR MOVES

The news that organised labour will move to discourage frenzied war-expenditure is good news. The creation of a Canadian navy instead of the much cheaper and more effective method of contributing a few Dreadnoughts is the most dangerous step for Canada since it became a Confederation. It means the oppression of the people by taxes for useless purposes. Militarism is, to a certain extent, honourable, and even chivalric. But when it is carried to the extent of being the instrument of the war-lords for enrichment of the money-lenders of Europe and America, it is high time for labour to bestir itself. It is safe to say that no mistake can be made in discouraging the brutality of conflict.

MET DEATH IN THE WATER

Thomas Campbell, Eighteen Years of Age, Drowned at Noon Friday—Well Known Here

Special to The Review.

Keene, Aug. 27.—The village was shocked Friday noon by the sudden death of Mr. Thomas Campbell, youngest son of Mr. William Campbell, postmaster here, from heart failure, while bathing in the river. The deceased had only been in the water a few minutes and was talking to his companions as he swam towards the wharf and proceeded to climb up on to it when he fell backwards into the water. Mr. Norman Taylor, who was in the water behind him, immediately seized him and, with the aid of Messrs. Harry Taylor and Fred Moore, pulled him onto the wharf, getting him out almost instantly. He was breathing when taken from the water, but unable to speak or move. The boys rubbed and chafed him while one of them hastily summoned Dr. McWilliams, but before the doctor arrived life was extinct.

Deceased was in his eighteenth year and had attended Peterborough Collegiate Institute for a number of years, having passed his matriculation examinations this summer, and was anticipating a university course.

He was apparently in good health previous to the accident, but was known to have a weak heart, and his constitution was not particularly robust.

The deceased is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Campbell; two brothers, Dr. James Campbell, of the staff of Toronto Asylum, and William Campbell, C.E., Angel Camp, California, and five sisters, Mrs. Robert Nelson, Otonabee; Mrs. Thos. Wigmore, Oxbow, Sask.; Misses Lidian and Agnes, at home, and Jean, Oxbow, Saskatchewan.

Arrangements have not yet been made for the funeral, pending the arrival of the father and mother of the deceased, who have been spending the summer in the west.

An important meeting of the officers of the 57th Regiment is called for this evening in the mess rooms at nine o'clock.

WEST PETERBORO' ELECTION PROTEST

The Toronto Star.

Counsel for James R. Stratton, Member of the House of Commons for West Peterborough, will move before Mr. Justice Magee and Mr. Justice McMahon for a postponement of the election trial set for September 7th. The motion will be made on September 2nd.

It will be argued for Mr. Stratton that the material is not ready for trial, and affidavits have been filed by some of those mentioned in J. H. Burnham's allegations. In these they say that they have not had time to investigate the charges made.

Judgment is still pending on Mr. Stratton's motion to commit Mr. Burnham because of the latter's refusal to attend examination. Mr. Burnham's defence was that he ought not to be examined during the long vacation except by the order of the court.

D. R. A. MATCHES END.

McInnes of Alberta Walks Off With Coveted Cup.

Ottawa, Aug. 28.—The chief features of the D. R. A. meeting, which closed yesterday, were the win again of a western man of the Governor-General's Cup, the success of the Ontario marksmen, who captured 13 out of the 18 principal prizes, and the high scores throughout the competition.

The finish of the Governor-General's Cup was most exciting. Sgt. McInnes of the Alberta Mounted Rifles and Pte. Bibby, a young shot from the 77th Regiment (Wentworth) had been running a neck-and-neck race, frequently tieing, and all along making the result doubtful. A great crowd gathered as the marksmen drew near the close of the thousand yards. At the end McInnes had only one shot to go to beat Bibby. He did so with a bullseye. His score was 135, Bibby's 134.

Sgt. McInnes is the first man to win the Governor-General's Cup twice, he being the winner in 1907. A western man, Capt. McHarg of Vancouver, won it last year.

Ontario's list of prizes includes the Walker Cup, Harold L. Borden Cup, Coates' Trophy, Gordon Highlanders' Trophy, Lansdowne Cup, Kirkpatrick Cup, London Merchants' Cup, Gillespie Cup, the Grand Aggregate Gold Medal, N. R. A. Silver Medal, and N. R. A. Bronze Medal. Six of these went to the 10th Royal Grenadiers, Toronto, and three to the 13th Regiment, Hamilton.

Hon. Charles Murphy presented the prizes yesterday afternoon, and in doing so, said that as a young Minister, he could make no promises for increasing the size of the ranges, but was in favor of doing so. The increased number of competitors this year has rendered an enlargement of the ranges necessary.

To Improve Detroit Channel.

Ottawa, Aug. 28.—The United States has applied for permission to carry on extensive works on the Canadian side of the Detroit River for the purpose of deepening and straightening the channel in the vicinity of the Bois Blanc Island.

The work would require an expenditure of about two million dollars. The traffic of the United States vessels is particularly heavy at this point, which is near the Lime Kiln Crossing, where the United States has already spent a couple of million dollars in works on the channel on the Canadian side.

The application has been referred to the waterways commissioners, but it is practically certain that it will be granted.

Alexander Gerrie, an old resident of Wentworth county, died yesterday at Dundas.

Morse Back on the Job.

New York, Aug. 28.—That Charles W. Morse, the financier, recently was released from the Tombs Prison under $125,000 bail, has begun his efforts to rehabilitate his fallen fortunes was indicated to-day by the announcement that he has purchased a majority of the claims outstanding against the Metropolitan Steamship Co., which amount to $1,157,012.

Mr. Morse, who testified a month or two ago that he was absolutely without funds or property, said that the money to buy in the claims was obtained from the Morse Security Co., of Bath, Me., which concern was organized to back Mr. Morse in his attempts to re-establish himself and to save the property which he had developed before the crash of 1907. It is proposed to reorganize the Metropolitan Line by the formation of a new company.

Says She's Orville Wright Wife.

Portland, Ore., Aug. 27.—A woman here asserts that she is the wife of Orville Wright, the famous aeroplanist. She is supporting her son Lester, by doing day work and nursing and says she has heard from Wright, and has his promise to arrange for the education of the boy, who is 11 years old. The girl, who says Orville Wright married her in October, 1897, was Ada Miller, of Central City, Neb. To-day she is Mrs. J. R. Carson.

"I was only 15 when Orville married me," said Mrs. Carson. Both our parents opposed the marriage. A year later Lester was born. Then Orville left me, and his uncle told me he was dead. When I came west nine years ago I met J. R. Carson, a boyhood friend, and we were married in Vancouver. Carson and I separated, and he is now in Wyoming."

Will Operate on Harriman.

New York, Aug. 28.—Conflicting stories continue to circulate as to the ailment from which E. H. Harriman is suffering.

The arrival at Arden to-day of two tanks of oxygen and a small collapsible hospital cot was responsible for serious conjectures, but all that could be learned from the residence was that Mr. Harriman was sitting on the porch conversing with workmen. Later, an auto with three strangers arrived and rushed past the guard of newspapermen at the gate. The pressmen are on the watch day and night, intercepting everybody they can.

$25,000 Stolen From Strong Box.

Prince Rupert, Aug. 28.—With her strong-box broken into and a package containing $25,000 missing, being the pay roll designed for the canneries on the Bass River, the Boscowitz steamship Denis arrived early yesterday morning from Port Essington. She anchored in the harbor to prevent anyone leaving the ship.

Search seemed to implicate several of the crew, including the steward, fireman, and Chinese cooks, money being hidden in mattresses, loaves of bread, and various places. All but $2,500 were recovered, and the suspects are in jail.

Big Coal Docks Planned.

Port Arthur, Aug. 28.—T. W. McDermot, of Ottawa, representing Ottawa and American capitalists, is asking the city for assistance in locating a big coal dock plant to cater to the western trade. He states $50,000 would be expended in construction.

Steamer Adrift in Current.

Brockville, Aug. 28.—Shortly after entering the Narrows yesterday afternoon an eccentric strap in the engine-room of the steamer America snapped. She floated to a point near Fernbank, but no excitement prevailed, although she was crowded with nearly 500 passengers.

The mishap occurred in one of the most dangerous spots on the river, but there was no wind blowing and the boat managed to keep clear of the shoals.

Rebuilding of Tudhope Works.

Orillia, Aug. 28.—J. B. Tudhope, M. M.P., head of Tudhope & Co., whose carriage works were destroyed last Saturday, gave emphatic denial last night to a report that the firm would remove its factory to Winnipeg.

"We have no such intention," he said. "Winnipeg would be no good for manufacturing in our line. Whether we will rebuild in Orillia is not yet decided, however, and will not be for a few days. We have received a number of invitations from other towns, and, while sentiment would have us stay, still it's a matter of business."

Wireless In Fiji Islands.

TWO REMARKABLE MEN

ENGLISHMAN AND GERMAN WHO WERE FAMOUS FOR WEALTH.

Charles Morrison of Basildon Passes Away at Age of 92, Leaving Sixty Millions Which He Had Piled Up by Investing, and Died a Shabby Old Man—Ernest Nister, the Art Publisher, Was Well Liked.

Two remarkable men have just died one in England the other in Germany. The German was the better known, for his name was on millions of books sold in this country.

The Englishman was Charles Morrison of Basildon, aged 92, who is said to have left $60,000,000.

"Until his death, few people outside the City and Berkshire village had ever heard of this man of millions," says The London Chronicle. "Inheriting a million from his father, who had come down from Scotland with only a few shillings in his pocket, and who had built up this fortune as a 'general draper,' Charles Morrison, the son, had made it the business of his life to go on adding money to money, by investing here and investing there, by buying up properties of increasing value, by lending money, on safe securities, to foreign Governments and great companies at home, by watching, quietly through the years, the steady way in which money breeds money, and millions are multiplied by millions.

"With this almost incredible wealth Charles Morrison might have taken a great lead in public life; he might have become world-renowned as a great philanthropist; he might have given five, six, or even the magic eight, Dreadnoughts to the nation; he might have been a peer of the realm; he might have made or ended wars by offering or refusing loans by which war alone is possible.

"But he did none of these things. He just went about, a shabby old man, never taking a cab when he had strength to walk, unknown to those who rubbed shoulders with him, unapproached even by the professional beggars who knew nothing of his wealth, and sitting nearly all his life in his City offices, now at Basildon House, E.C., watching his money grow, and like a spider weaving a golden cobweb about him, in which at last he died.

"He bought pictures, for instance, and had several Vandykes, and a magnificent Rembrandt, and one of the greatest pictures of Jan Steen. He was also a great reader in French as well as English literature.

"But he lived a lonely life, chiefly in the City, always busy with his loans and securities and investments, and to-day the only interest the world has in the death of a man so little known to fame, was to discover how he had disposed of his wealth."

The German was Mr. Ernest Nister, the famous fine-art publisher, who died at Nuremberg recently. "The immense success of Mr. Nister's publications in this country was responsible to some extent for the outcry against the sale of so many books and pictures 'Printed in Germany'; but he was merely first in exploiting a market which had been neglected by British enterprise," says The London Daily News.

"'Even after Nister had shown the way,' said Mr. Robert Mack, who was associated with him from the beginning of his business in England, to a representative of The Daily News, 'I could not find an English printer enterprising enough to do the work, though I tried hard, because I thought it such a pity that all this printing should be done abroad.'

"Nister had a small printing business in Nuremberg when Mr. Mack first met him. 'I saw that his was a really master mind,' said Mr. Mack; 'and that he was doing beautiful work; and I found that he combined the artistic sense with commercial qualities in an unusual way.

"'At that time the "Kate Greenway" books were proving very popular, and we came to the conclusion that there were immense possibilities in the reproduction of the work of English artists on the lines that have since been followed. Nister must have made a great fortune. The exterior of his factory at Nuremberg is almost like that of a royal residence, with its gorgeous iron gates and its bronze figures. He paid about $50,000 a year to the British artists who worked for him.'

"Mr. Nister, who was not more than sixty years of age, had been in failing health for some time. His industrial genius was recognized officially by the German Government, who made him a 'Knight of Labor'—a title which is bestowed upon distinguished commercial men."

George Manville Fenn Dead.

London, Aug. 28.—The death was announced here yesterday of George Manville Fenn, the novelist. He was born in 1831.

Boys of the present, and thousands of men who were boys not so many years ago, will deplore the death of Manville Fenn. His books for juveniles were notable for the atmosphere of probability, his heroes acted and talked as real boys might do, and were not the paragons that most authors create. Neither did he have to go far afield for scenes of interest or derring-do—many of his most absorbing tales finding their locale in good old Merrie England. He was a favorite contributor to The Boys' Own Paper and other such publications.

WITH THE LATEST IMPROVEMENT.

And a Pair of Loving Hearts to Enjoy Them All.

By NELLE B. RANSOM.

[Copyright, 1909, by Associated Literary Press.]

Dorothy Allen sat on the broad, white pillared porch watching the road that wound between the trees to the village. She had watched the road a great deal during the last few days, at first with happy anticipation, but now with helpless longing.

It was bad enough in the daytime, but it was worse when it grew too dark to see who was coming along the road, for then the footsteps grew louder and louder until she was certain that they were going to turn toward the white pillared porch, only to die away again, leaving her sick with fresh disappointment.

On the previous Sunday evening the vague, beautiful something which had enveloped the whole summer, making it different from any other summer of Dorothy's life, had suddenly taken definite form. A look, a touch, a word or two, and she had found herself without a doubt that John Porter loved her and that she loved him, but he had gone away without any open declaration, and, though Dorothy had watched the road till her eyes ached, he had not returned.

"I might have known it," she said to herself disconsolately. "He is too proud and independent to ask the daughter of a rich man to marry him. Now that his work on the new electric road is finished he will go away, and I shall never see him again."

Dorothy's neighbor, twelve-year-old Gladys, came skipping across the lawn, a very perky pink bow topping her yellow tresses. She perched herself on the broad arm of Dorothy's chair.

"I've been reading such a lovely story!" she exclaimed.

"What was it about?" queried Dorothy, with languid interest.

"Oh, it was about a brave knight in shining armor," said Gladys, "and he loved a fair and noble lady who loved him in return. But she had gold and jewels and all that sort of thing, you know, and he hadn't a thing but his charger and his good sword, and so he could never, never ask her to marry him."

"Well," asked Dorothy as Gladys paused for breath, "what happened then?"

"Oh," replied Gladys, "there was nothing for the knight to do but to ride away to the wars, and the princess just sat in her tower and pined and pined till at last she died. Oh, it was perfectly lovely—so sad and sweet!"

"It seems to me," said Dorothy, almost crossly, "that it would have been much more sensible for the knight to stay and marry the lady instead of leaving her to pine and die."

"Why," cried Gladys in disgust, "that would have spoiled the whole story."

She jumped from her perch and was dancing down the steps, but turned to call back:

"Oh, say, that Mr. Porter has gone away, hasn't he? I saw him at the station Monday with a suit case in his hand. Aren't his eyes just too handsome for anything? I'm sorry he has left, aren't you?"

Then, having unwittingly destroyed Dorothy's last vestige of hope, Gladys cheerfully departed.

A gray haired man with a keen but kindly face came and stood in the doorway behind Dorothy, noting with an anxious look her drooping figure. He moved uneasily once or twice and then came out to where she was sitting.

"You ought to be playing golf this fine weather," he suggested.

"I'm rather tired of golf, father," replied Dorothy.

Mr. Allen took a turn up and down the porch.

"Has that young Porter left? I haven't seen him for several days," he asked, with a carefully careless air.

"I really don't know. Probably he has," replied the girl, sitting very straight and assuming an air even more carefully careless than that of her father.

Mr. Allen after a few more turns and anxious sidelong glances betook himself again to the house. Since the death of Dorothy's mother ten years before the bond of sympathy and understanding between him and his only child had grown unusually strong, but here was a situation which he felt in nowise competent to handle.

Left to herself, Dorothy's sprightly indifference suddenly vanished. Her hands fell listlessly into her lap, and she leaned her head wearily against the back of her chair. So he had gone without even coming to say goodby! Well, there was no use watching the road any longer.

"It's just like Gladys' story," she sighed. "The knight has gone to fight his battles, leaving the poor princess in the castle to pine alone, only, being a twentieth century princess instead of a mediaeval one, I'm afraid I can't die of love. Girls never do nowadays. I suppose that's one of the modern improvements," she continued whimsically.

An endless procession of dreary years seemed to stretch out before her. She shut her eyes, and two large tears glistened on the long dark lashes.

Some one was coming across the lawn, but the footsteps made no sound on the thick turf. When they began to ascend the steps Dorothy opened her eyes with a start, and John Porter stood before her.

There was a wonderfully tender light in his eyes and a determined expression about his mouth. How handsome he looked! How tall and strong he was! Dorothy caught her breath.

"I thought you had gone away," she managed to say.

"Only down to the junction to meet the chief engineer. He wanted to talk over my next job with me. It's a little bigger than anything I've ever undertaken before. But you didn't think I'd go without seeing you again, did you, Dorothy, after Sunday night?"

"I didn't know," murmured Dorothy, her eyes on the big buckles of her colonial slippers.

John Porter seated himself on the porch rail and looked straight at Dorothy's face.

"Dorothy," he said, "I know it's the general opinion that a man has no right to ask a girl with a rich father to marry him until he can provide for her the things she has been accustomed to having, but it seems to me that if a girl really cared for a man she could be happy with him even if she had to do without some of the things she'd been used to."

"I wonder," thought Dorothy, "if it can be possible that the hero has modern improvements too."

But she kept her eyes on the big silver buckles, and John Porter continued speaking with deliberate conviction. "And that is why I dare to tell you that you can afford to give up some of the things that money can buy and come and share with me the things that can't be bought. Will you come, Dorothy?"

"Yes," said Dorothy, meeting his look squarely at last, "I will come."

Half an hour later they remembered Dorothy's father.

"He will never allow you to marry me," cried John Porter, "a common builder of roads!"

"A rising young engineer," corrected Dorothy. "Come on. I'll manage papa."

"Papa," she announced, pushing aside the portiere with one hand and drawing her lover after her with the other, "I'm going to marry Mr. Porter."

Mr. Allen roused himself from the depth of a leather chair where he had been taking an afternoon nap, started a little at the sight of the young man and looked quizzically at his daughter.

"Your prospects for doing so certainly look a little brighter than they have for the past few days," he remarked. "Where have you been keeping yourself, Mr. Porter? Dorothy and I had about concluded that you were too busy 'doing things' to give us any attention. But, if Dorothy has made up her mind to marry you, you may as well submit first as last. Do you think you can support her?"

"Not in the style to which she has been accustomed," said John Porter. "But she is willing to dispense with luxuries."

"When I married Dorothy's mother," said Mr. Allen, "she had a little money, which I invested, and after her death I put the investment in Dorothy's name without saying anything to her about it. It's really surprising how that little sum has grown. The income from it is now quite considerable." He named a sum more than twice John Porter's salary. "I should think this, added to your present income, might provide for love in a cottage"—

"With all the modern improvements!" said Dorothy softly, with shining eyes.

The yakamik, a species of crane, is said to be one of the most intelligent birds known. The bird is used by the natives of Venezuela in the place of shepherd dogs for guarding and herding their flocks of sheep. It is said that, however far the yakamik may wander with the flocks, it never fails to find its way home at night, driving before it all the creatures intrusted to its care.

KELSEY
HEATING

¶Is your home warmed satisfactorily? If not, the chances are that it will pay you to discard the old apparatus entirely and replace it with a KELSEY.

¶The principles of hygienic heating and fuel economy are better understood now than when thousands of heaters in use were built. The KELSEY is the embodiment of the highest attainments of heating engineering.

¶The KELSEY Zig-Zag Heat Tubes of which the fire box is formed and by which greater volumes of air are warmed and FORCED to every part of the house than is possible in any other heater, saves you enough in coal bills to more than pay for the change, to say nothing of the comfort of having your house kept at just the right temperature from top to bottom all the time. Let us prove it to you.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS OF INTEREST

Aldermen Innocent.

Montreal, Aug. 28.—None of the seven aldermen examined yesterday before the Royal Commissioners, being part of the majority who have supported Ald. Giroux in the city council, would admit that they had received any advantage for their support.

Ald. Guay, Labresque, Major, Messier, Turner, Nault and Gadbois all denied they had known that the middlemen were making large profits in the city's paving contracts or that their votes had been influenced in any way.

For his trouble, expense, loss of time, etc., entailed in going from the city to St. Helen's Island via the ferry, Ald. Couture charged and received $100 in cash, and wanted $200 at first, according to his own testimony before the commission yesterday afternoon. It was paid by one Dubois, who was building a miniature railway.

A WEAK STOMACH BRINGS MISERY

Dr. William's Pink Pills Restore Despondent Sufferer to Health

Nothing is so distressing as a weak stomach—the victims of this trouble suffer from indigestion, biliousness, dizziness and frequent headaches. No food agrees with them—meal time is a time of misery; not a time of pleasure. Relief from this trouble can be found through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills—they never fail to make the weak stomach strong; to banish the distressing headaches, biliousness and dizziness. Mrs. C. S. Steeves of Hillsboro, N.B., is one of the many who have been cured through the use of these Pills. She says:—"I suffered very much from stomach trouble and would often leave the table without tasting food. I got no relief worth speaking of until I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They gradually restored my health and strength, and now I am as well as ever I was. I would earnestly recommend them to all those who suffer as I did."

It is the blood—bad blood—that is the cause of nine-tenths of the ailments from which both men and women sufefr. The blood is the life-giving fluid of the body. When the blood is bad it is bound to poison some part of the human system and thus it is that rheumatism, kidney trouble, indigestion, headaches and backaches and a host of other troubles make their appearance. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure all these troubles—and they cure them thoroughly—simply because they fill the veins with rich, red blood. The genuine Pills bearing the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" are sold by all dealers in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Hessenauer whipped up the horse and drove on.

Child Smothers.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 28.—Viola Parks, a five-year-old girl, met a shocking death while playing at hide-and-seek in her home near Clark's Lake.

The little one used an old-fashioned trunk which was up in the attic to hide in. The lid locked itself when the child lowered it over her head and she was smothered to death.

The mother is almost insane from shock.

AVIATORS COVER THEMSELVES WITH GLORY AT RHEIMS

Glenn Curtiss is Winner of the Speed Contest Defeating Bleriot by Smail Distance—Hero of the Channel Has Bad Accident.

Bethany Aviation Field, Rheims, Aug. 30.—A twilight vision of Paulhan's graceful monoplane, like a great white bird soaring above the plain so high that it seemed to rise above the distant hills and the [illegible] "golden flier" as the Curtiss machine has been dubbed, [illegible] another world's record in [illegible] prix de la Vitesse were the [illegible] glories of aviation week.

Curtiss only missed winning the lap speed contest from Bleriot by a small margin. He captured second place in that event which was over the full circuit of ten kilometres, or 6.21 miles, raising his total money winnings to 38,000 francs, besides the international cup, which goes to the Aero Club of America.

An accident removed Bleriot from yesterday's three lap speed contest. The rudder suddenly failed to respond and the machine turned completely over three times, landing with such force that the petrol tank burst and catching fire from the hot motor, enveloped the machine and pilot in flames. Before Bleriot could extricate himself he was burned about the face and hands.

The prix de la altitude 10,000 francs, to be awarded the aeroplanist attaining the highest altit[illegible] was won by Latham, who [illegible] metres ([illegible]ched a height of 155 [illegible] about 490 feet). Farman was [illegible] with 110 metres, Paulhan third and Rougier fourth.

The passenger contest was won by Farman. With two passengers he made the circuit of the course in 10 minutes, 39 seconds, and with one passenger, 9 minutes, 52 4-5 seconds, Lefebvre with one passenger completed the lap in 11 minutes, 20 4-5 secs.

The lap speed contest went to Bleriot, who covered the ten kilometres in 7 min., 47 4-5 secs.

The international cup of aviation, known also as the German-Bennett trophy, was won yesterday by Glenn H. Curtiss, the American aviator, in the fastest aerial journey of 20 kilometres (12.42) miles), ever achieved by man. His time, 15 min. 50 3-5 secs., was only 5 3-5 seconds faster than that made by Bleriot over the same course. The other two pilots who represented France, Latham and Lefebyre, finished respectively in 17 min. 47 3-5 sec. Cockburn, the Englishman, ran into a haystack as he was manoeuvring for the start.

Henry Farman, the English aviator, added to his laurels by carrying two passengers around the course.

WILL NO BE A KNOCKER

Not Here to Roast Home Government Says Beresford.

Toronto, Aug. 30.—Geo. H. Gooderham's yacht, Oriole II., which conveyed Lord Beresford to Niagara, leaving Saturday afternoon soon after the distinguished visitors arrival from Montreal, anchored off the R.C.Y.C. quarters at the island about 8 o'clock last night. Those on board were the admiral, his secretary, Hon. Dudley Carlton, Geo. H. Gooderham, W. K. George and Mark Irish. The party did not land, but Commodore Marlatt and other prominent club members visited the yacht.

The admiral, so it is said, justified his reputation as a genial, whole-souled sailor with no mean gifts as a raconteur. He was delighted with the lake voyage, entering into the speed of the trip with a hearty zest.

The civic welcome to Admiral Sir Charles Beresford at the City Hall this afternoon will be of an informal character, and, as such, will probably appeal much more to the bluff "Condor Charlie" than would stiff and severe formality.

In conversation on Saturday at Montreal with Sir George Drummond, Lord Charles said:

"I am not here to attack my own Government. That would be bad taste. Neither would you appreciate it, but I do say that in the years past our naval questions were beyond politics, but now naval officers pandor to politicians."

The admiral advocated the construction of cruisers, as against Dreadnoughts, to keep open the trade routes of the colonies.

THE POLICE HAVE A WELL KNOWN CROOK

Toronto, Aug. 30.—Lieut. R. A. Stenton of the Detroit police department and Provincial Detective Chas. Mahoney of Windsor, Ont., arrived in Toronto yesterday from California with an alleged diamond thief, swindler and generally smooth crook, in the person of "Fritzy" (Frank) Debin, alias Frank Chapman. They are taking him to Chatham on a charge of stealing a satchel containing $1,875 and some drafts from a messenger of the Sovereign Bank on December 1, 1906.

The robbery occurred on a Michigan Central train at Tilbury. The bank messenger had been in the habit of carrying his money down to Fletcher in a satchel and on this occasion the grip was "switched" and another put in its place.

LORD ROSEBERY IS WOBBLING

New York, Aug. 30.—W. T. Stead cables The American from London, Eng.: The political sensation of the week has been the announcement that Lord Rosebery, formerly the Liberal Prime Minister, has promised to address a public meeting at Glasgow to protest against the budget.

The publication of this report was speedily followed by a telegram from Lord Rosebery, which read:

"The report is premature at any rate."

I should not be surprised if this episode brings Rosebery's political career to a somewhat ignominious close. Lord Rosebery has always hated the new budget because of the land taxes. As he is a great landlord himself, he shares to the full the landlord's hatred of taxation, but he also hated the "death duties" as much and yet consented to remain as Prime Minister while his Cabinet passed the hated impost.

Stabbing at a Christening.

Montreal, Aug. 30.—Carvalle Cirbano, 118 St. Felix street, was stabbed last evening in the left breast by Antonio Malo, who had been drinking, and was making love to Cirbano's wife.

The quarrel arose at a formal gathering following a christening.

KNIGHTS OF ST. JOHN MEET IN TORONTO

Toronto, Aug. 30.—The Chapter General of America of the Order of Knights of St. John and Malta will hold their annual convention in this city on the 6th of September. About 200 delegates representing fourteen states and the Dominion of Canada will be in attendance. Reservation for the grand officers and delegates have been made at the leading hotels, and the headquarters will either be located at the Queen's or the Prince George. The first of the delegates to arrive will be the New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware and Connecticut knights, who are arriving by Lehigh Valley and Grand Trunk early next Sunday morning, and will be followed during the day by those from the western and southern states. The meetings of the chapter general are purely business ones, all parading and entertaining being prohibited by constitutional enactment. The local officers of the commanderies will meet the incoming trains and look after the reception and comfort of the visiting knights. The sessions will last three days, and be held in the chapter rooms of Beaver Commandry.

MURDER ON THE DETROIT DOCKS

Detroit, Aug. 30.—In a fight on dock, in full view from the big windows of the Wayne Casino, at the foot of Second street, Thomas McCauley, a sailor from the steamer City of Alpena, was beaten to death and his body thrown in the river at midnight Saturday. His assailant, who is described by Joseph Rybicki, the only person who saw the combatants at close range, as a slim man of medium height, dressed in a blue blouse with sailor collar, dark trousers and a sailor cap, walked calmly around the casino to Second street after the row and disappeared.

Paddle Wheel Hit Him.

Windsor, Aug. 30.—Norman Clinton, aged 17, while swimming in the river yesterday opposite the Grand Trunk slip dock, was hit on the head by a paddle wheel on a carboat, and before he could be picked up sank to the bottom and was drowned.

Young Clinton had been warned several times against going too close.

LLOYD-GEORGE IS CENSURED

London, Aug. 30.—Mr. Lloyd-George is leaving no stone unturned in his efforts to obtain support for his proposals. During the week he has given interviews to two Opposition papers, a proceeding which in itself is an extraordinary proceeding for a British Minister of his rank. To a Liberal paper he gave a copy of an important memorandum before a single member of the House of Commons could see it. This was so opposed to all traditions of Parliament that the Speaker of the House, who was appealed to, administered a grave rebuke to the Chancellor of the Exchequer, describing his conduct as a 'regrettable occurrence."

Celebrate Mass During Attack.

Melilla, Morocco, Aug. 30.—A solemn requiem mass for the repose of the souls of the large number of Spanish officers and men killed in the sanguinary battle with the Moors July 27 was dramatically celebrated yesterday morning. The altar was decorated with flowers and surrounded by four cannons, gatling guns and stacked rifles. At the moment of the elevation of the host the Moors opened a fierce fire from a distance and the guns of Fort Camelios roared a response.

Notwithstanding the attack, however, the religious ceremony was completed.

FLOOD RESULTS IN DEATH OF HUNDREDS

Floods Sweep District Around Monterey, Mexico—Four Days of Torrential Rains Swell River to Overflowing—Mackenzie and Mann's Property Badly Damaged.

Monterey, Mexico, Aug. 30.—Several hundred lives lost by drowning, thousands homeless and a property loss of millions, is the result of a terrible flood which swept over this district between one and two o'clock Sunday morning.

The swollen Santa Catrina River, due to the continued fall of rain for the past 96 hours, swept everything before it and hardly a vestige is left of what was a few days ago, a conglomeration of small huts swarming with families belonging to the poorer classes.

The flood reached its crest between one and three o'clock Saturday morning. Many families were swept to death with hardly a chance for their lives.

Victims were swept from their homes, on the tops of which many had sought shelter.

The losses are estimated at from seven to twelve million dollars.

Monterey smelter, one of the largest in Mexico, suffered loss variously estimated at from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000.

The Monterey steel plant, the only plant of its kind in the republic, which cost $10,000,000, is reported to have been damaged to the extent of from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000.

The electric light and street railway system of Monterey, modern in every respect and constructed about three years ago by a Canadian company in which MacKenzie and Mann, Toronto, are heavily interested, was damaged to the extent of approximately $1,000,000.

The Monterey water and sewerage system suffered a loss estimated at $1,000,000 or more.

In addition is the loss resulting from annihilation of approximately 5,000 huts and some structures of more pretentious appearance.

Both the electric light and street railway systems and the waterworks and drainage systems were dominated by Canadian capitalists and their loss will be keenly felt.

Many vehicles yesterday were busy carrying the effects of residents to high ground. This is especially true of American families, many of whom reside at downtown hotels. The police, rural and soldiers played a prominent part Saturday night and yesterday, guarding and caring for the city.

There is fear that a food famine will soon come. Not a train has entered the city of Monterey either from the north or south for the last 72 hours.

While semi-official reports state that up to noon yesterday 400 bodies have been recovered, there has thus far been no attempt to bury the dead. They are being placed along the banks of the river on the higher ground where they await identification. The bodies are guarded by soldiers, who escort searcher for missing friends or relatives. It is thought some arrangement will be made to-day to inter the dead.

INQUEST TO-NIGHT AT 7.30 IN COUNTY COUNCIL CHAMBER

Large Number of Witnesses Will be on Hand — Harry Jopling's Story of What Took Place on Monday Night.

The inquest touching the death of Arthur Bollard will be resumed to-night in the County Council Chamber at the Court House, at 7.30 o'clock. Seventeen witnesses have been summoned, and as many of them as possible will give evidence to-night. The result of the post-mortem will also be made known.

County Constable Archie Moore was at Chemong on Saturday afternoon, subpoenaing witnesses and endeavoring to secure additional information about the young mans death.

The remains of the late Mr. Bollard were taken to Toronto yesterday morning, and the funeral took place this afternoon. In this connection a Toronto despatch says:—

"The funeral of Arthur Bollard will take place this afternoon at two o'clock from the parent's residence, 381 Berkeley street, to Mount Pleasant cemetery. The body was brought back from Peterborough Sunday, and all yesterday a stream of the young man's schoolmates and comrades, with friends of the family viewed the remains. The room where the body lay was embowered with beautiful floral offerings."

The witnesses at the inquest to-night will include Miss Ada Minns, Messrs. Gordon Long, Victor Tully, Beake, Cullen and Harry Joplin.

Word has been sent to Chief of Police Grassette, of Toronto, to locate Herbert Marks, who with Miss Minns, are supposed to have been near by or with Bollard when the trouble occurred. Marks is known to have gone to the Alexandra Apartments, Toronto, when he left Chemong, but he has since left there and gone to Muskoka.

According to Harry Joppling, brothed of Fred Joppling, who fought Bollard, and who is now in the hospital in a serious condition from blood poisoning, the fight followed a joking remark made by Harry to Bollard, which the latter chose to interpret as an insult, and he challenged Joppling to fight it out.

"As I am only 18 years old and a little fellow, and he was a trained athlete, I said I wouldn't," said Harry Jopling, "and Bolland said he could lick me and my chum, Billy Merrill. We drove on. That night I went to a dance with my sister and saw Bollard point to me and heard him say, 'That's the guy.' I was afraid he was going to met me so went down to the village to get one of the big fellows to come up.

"After the dance we saw Bollard and three others going on ahead and Fred said, 'Let's ask him what he meant by threatening you." We left the girls behind and Fred approached Bollard and asked: 'What do you mean by hitting my little brother?' Then Bollard turned and struck me.

"Then Fred and Bollard took off their coats. Fred struck him only one blow which knocked him into the ditch. Bollard looked in bad shape as he arose.

"He then challenged my brother to a wrestling match, and the idea striking both of them as good fun, they shook hands and started in, Bollard saying that he was better in wrestling than boxing. Once Fred threw Bollard and the next time Bollard threw Fred down. At the third throw [illegible] lard was pitched into the side road where he vomited profu[illegible] several minutes. SCENE OF FATAL AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT ON THE INDIANAPOLIS MOTOR SPEEDWAY

Chicago, Ill, Aug. 29.—Motorists returning from the Indianapolis speedway are unanimous in the opinion that the promoters exercised poor judgment in staging contests before the course had been properly moulded for the speed monsters.

That the recent tragedy was due to carelessness also is the belief of motorists who have followed the long distance races.

Four of the racing pilots, Barney Oldfield, Ralph De Palma, Walter Christie and Lewis Strang, found fault with the course immediately after reaching the speedway for preliminary practice.

Each driver was entered with a car capable of attaining a speed of 100 miles an hour, but one glimpse of the ragged rock-bound oval sufficed for the drivers. Each got busy and declined to drive and take chances of losing his life.

Later Oldfield agreed to put his Benz, the heaviest of all the cars in the field, through some of the events limiting the speed to eighty-five miles an hour.

At present sentiment in Indianapolis is against the further promotion of races, especially the long drawn out struggles.

WANT TO BREAK MARRIAGE TIE

Ottawa, Aug. 30.—Notice is given of application for divorce at the coming session by the following: Arthur F. Tero of Toronto, from Adelaide Viola Tero; by John Albert Green of Cutress, Bruce County, Ont, from Sarah Emily Green; Jessie M Maxwell of Port Arthur, from Robert William Maxwell; John Green, Kingston; Mrs. Clara B. Holden, Toronto, from C. L. Holden, Chicago; Frederick J. G. McArthur, Winnipeg, from Mary A. McArthur, Forden, Sask.; Geo. R. Bittonshaw, Bowmanville, from Rosina M. M. Bittonshaw, Toronto; Hope E. M. Drinkle, from John C. Drinkle, Saskatoon.

CANADIAN A HEROIC WIRELESS OPERATOR

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 30.—Geo. C. Eccles, wireless operator on the wrecked steamer Ohio, which was wrecked off the Alaskan coast early Friday, went below with the purser to search for the quartermaster and steerage passenger when the ship started to sink, according to a wireless message received yesterday morning. He returned to his station after the search and began sending a message when the vessel made the plunge that carried it to the bottom.

Eccles was seen to leap from the wireless station, striking on his head, and it is thought that he then rolled into the water.

Eccles secured a place at Susitna, Alaska, a short time before the Ohio sailed and had handed in his resignation, but as the company was short of wireless operators he consented to make one more trip before leaving the service of the company. He was born in Almonte, Ont.

His early messages for assistance brought the vessels that rescued the others.

ONE KILLED IN WRECK

Capac, Mich., Aug. 30.—Rushing along at a rate of 60 miles an hour the Grand Trunk express, running from Chicago to Port Huron, collided with the rear end of a work train at 1 o'clock yesterday morning. The fireman, John Brush, of Battle Creek, was instantly killed and three others were injured.

The accident occurred without warning. Brush attempted to jump, but was pinned between the cab and boiler of his locomotive. James McCaren, engineer, also tried to jump, but was caught in the wreckage and loses a leg.

The other two injured were John Sturman, fireman on the engine on the work train, and D. H. Rathman, engineer.

MR. HARRIMAN IS GETTING BETTER

Arden, N.Y., Aug. 30.—"Mr. Harriman is better. You may say that Mrs. Harriman and all of us are very happy over the steady improvement in his health since he came to Arden House," said Rev. J. Holmes McGuiness, E. H. Harriman's personal chaplain, after dining with the Harriman family yesterday.

A Cleveland despatch says that Dr. Crile, the specialist summoned in haste on Friday, has wired that Mr. Harriman's condition is not serious and that an operation would not hasten nor give added assurance of his ultimate recovery. The nature of Mr. Harriman's illness is not mentioned.

Jacob Schiff, the New York banker, who conferred with Harriman Saturday, said: "Mr. Harriman is a well man."

RUSSIA'S MIMIC GERMAN WAR

St. Petersburg, Aug. 30.—War manoeuvres on a vast scale on the plains between Gatchina and Narva have occupied the Czar and the leading Russian generals the past week. The area of operations is located within a three days' infantry march of St. Petersburg and the entire scheme was remarkable for political candor.

The strategic advisers of the Czar started on the assumption that Russia was at war with Germany before the navy had been sufficiently reconstructed to defend even the upper coasts of the Gulf of Finland. German warships were assumed to have convoyed transports to Narva, where they had disembarked an invading army within a hundred miles of the capital.

ROW ENDED BY THE SHOOTING OF MAN

St. John, N.B., Aug. 30.—A shooting affray occurred yesterday afternoon in McDonald's camp, near Plaster Rock, on the line of the G.T.P., when Samuel Polley, an Italian boss, shot James Gorman, an Englishman, in the abdomen. Three doctors decided to operate with slight hopes of success.

The men, who had been drinking, got into an altercation and fought. Gorman got the better of the Italian, and the latter, retreating towards the bunk house, got a 32-calibre revolver and fired. Polley made no attempt to escape.

AUTOMOBILE RACE HAD FATAL RESULT

Brighton Beach, Aug. 30.—The record for the first nine hours of the 24-hour automobile race on the new aerodrome track was one driver killed, one very badly injured, another painfully burned and a policeman crippled, having had both legs smashed. The injuries resulted from three separate smash-ups.

Haunted and unnerved by the ever-recurring picture of the fatal disaster that she had witnessed only a few hours before, and while the scene was again vivid in her mind during her sleep, Miss Gertrude White, 20 years old, of No. 4 Manhattan street, rose from her bed and plunged through a third storey window. An hour later she died in the J. Hood Wright Hospital, muttering something about automobiles.

STRIKE SITUATION IS TENSE AT PITTSBURG

Pittsburg, Aug. 30.—Redoubling their vigilance throughout the strike district of the Pressed Steel Co. at McKees Rocks, the Pennsylvania Rocks, the Pennsylvania state troops are taking every precaution to prevent a recurrence of rioting and bloodshed. Admittedly the situation is extremely tense. Wholesale desertions of imported workmen and subsequently stories told by the men of alleged brutality accorded them inside the plant has served to create a decidedly unfavorable impression and resentment among strikers and their sympathizers.

Cards, threatening death, are being received through the mails by minor officers of the company.

On and after Sept. 1, the display of beer, liquor and free lunch signs by Michigan hotel proprietors is prohibited by state law.

John C. Latham of New York, who died recently, bequeathed $10,000 to his stenographer and $25,000 for distribution among his employes.

John Purcell, aged 32, is under arrest at Niagara Falls, N.Y., as a suspect in the murder of 17-year-old Anna Schumacher at Rochester, Aug. 7.

MONDAY, AUG. 30, 1909.

THE TORONTO STAR

The Toronto Star (Liberal) has a most excellent article on "John Bull's agents." John Bull is gruff, but honest. As the Star says, no tales of cruel graft come back such as those from [illegible] ere cottages meant for the [illegible] ropriated by the power- [illegible] tar points out, the stand[illegible] of the Briton is due to his choosing of his companions. It is not that he is snobbish, but careful. He does not care to hobnob with every rascal who sets himself up. Oiliness is not his forte. But once a friend always a friend. His friendship must, however, be founded on respect for the character of his friend. The British make mistakes, but they have no such baby standard of morals as we have. With us anything in the form of getting spells success. In Britain the taint never disappears. It is fatal to the end of time. That we in Canada have gone back tremendously since the days of our fathers is unquestioned. Had Sir Wilfred Laurier left the impress of a better code on standard of life on this country he would never need a moment to keep his memory green. He apparently, has overlooked the fact. His administration has been condemned by its own royal commissions. No man can be too sure of himself at any time, but when the air is foetid with corruption and alleged men rejoice in crookedness, while the honest man is tabooed, what can be expected. As it was at Messina so it would surely have been with us. It is not for us to throw stones at the Sicilians. Even some of our churches regard their debts as the requital of cash payments. They in many cases profess to be founded upon Christ, but who would dare commit the awful blasphemy of thus turning the temple into a money exchange in the name of the Most High. Yet it is done and is called "religion." But be not deceived, neither God nor the people are mocked.

PROF. MAVOR'S ESTIMATE

At the meeting of the British Association for the advancement of Science in Winnipeg, Prof. Mavor, of Toronto, estimated that the total land fit for cultivation in the middle west is 17,500,000 acres, that is about 100 acres each for 175,000 farms. A lot of this is taken up, already. Not a very great deal remains. This estimate will provide a rude shock to the enthusiasts who have bonded our hard-earned savings for the benefit of the great speculators and money-lenders who having exhausted prospects in the west for the present, are now talking "navy." The illimitable illimitableness of the west has been the war-cry of the man with the wanderlust for a long time. It has got on our nerves. The west is a fine country and an excellent part of Canada, but it is being overdone as a prospect which will yet result in disaster.

EDITORIAL NOTES

It is customary for some journals to insist that Sir Wilfrid has done much to bring about the union of the races in Canada. On the other hand it is doubtful if any man has so accentuated racial differences and exalted the racial hopes of his compatriots.

London, Aug. 27.—In view of the Canadian Government's decision to start a baby navy with its own cruisers and destroyers, efforts are being made to induce the leading British shipbuilders to establish yards in Canada. At least three world-famed British concerns are now considering the matter with the assurance that the Canadian Government will be willing to grant every possible tariff or other concession.—The Globe.

How inconsistent the Globe's endorsation of this evasion of the pretended policy of Free Trade. It would be impossible even to build the "baby navy" and to wean it without Protection.

The denials of the Montreal aldermen show them to be men of "high moral worth," apparently. Nevertheless the commission ordered the arrest of five of them. The law against humbug is being rigidly enforced these days.

In answer to enquiries it may be said, speaking broadly, that witnesses who tell the truth in an election case will be free from prosecution. It is for the reason that men will not out of their own mouths expose themselves to danger if they are not protected. As a reward for helping on the administration of justice by telling the truth the court exempts them from prosecution at any time. The penalty for perjury is however, a very serious one.

WEST PETERBORO' ELECTION PROTEST

Hon. J. R. Stratton's solicitors have filed a notice of motion at Osgoode Hall that on Sept. 3 they will apply before Mr. Justice McMahon and Mr. Justice Magee, who form the election court to deal with the cases in the district including West Peterborough, for a postponement of the trial of the petition of Mr. J. H. Burnham against Mr. Stratton's return to the House of Commons.

The ground of the application is that the material required for Mr. Stratton's defence is not sufficiently complete for him to go safely down to trial on Sept. 7, the date already fixed.—The Mail and Empire.

(The Toronto Star.)

Mr. James R. Stratton, M.P., filed at Osgoode Hall this morning his cross-petition against J. H. Burnham.

Mr. Stratton makes 100 specific charges against Mr. Burnham or his agent. In conclusion, Mr. Stratton says:—

"The respondent did, between Aug. 10 and 26, 1908, conspire with T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., James Kendrey, R. G. Patterson, and others, to corruptly influence certain electors who are employees or ex-employees of the Canadian General Electric Company, directly or indirectly, by giving or procuring, or promising or agreeing to give or procure places of employment in the factories of the Canadian General Electric Company, in order to induce such employees or ex-employees to vote for the said respondent."

Mr. Stratton also charges that the respondent did conspire with James Kendrey, Roland M. Waddell, Peter Gardiner, Herbert Kendry, John C. Watkins, and others, to corrupt electors by collecting a large campaign fund for purposes of bribery, paying transportation, treating, paying canvassers, and other corrupt and illegal acts, to corruptly influence the electors to vote for the respondent.

The Bride's Introduction.

They had been married only two weeks and were going to spend the evening with friends. They were to meet friends of their friends there. It was expected that there would necessarily be a show of dignity when the bridegroom and the bride arrived. All of the company were there and sitting around looking their sweetest when the bridegroom and the bride arrived. A bride always makes dignity essential.

It happened that the bridegroom was the particular friend of the host. The latter had never met the bride. She was coming into an entirely new circle. It was expected when the Newlyweds arrived that Mr. Newlywed would stammer and blush when he introduced Mrs. Newlywed as his wife. Not so for this boy. He sauntered in preceded by the dignified bride. Everybody in the parlor bristled up. But it wasn't to be a bristling affair at all. Mr. Newlywed simply swept around, caught the host by the arm and led him before the bride.

"Dave, meet the old lady," he said.

Dignity exit. Everybody laughed and got acquainted in a hurry. The good natured introduction of the host to the bride loosened up the strings of social stress. The "old lady" found herself among friends.—Indianapolis News.

Something About Moose and Deer

It is now pretty well known among hunters that the best deer hunting country in Ontario is on the line of the Canadian Northern Ontario and that hunters receive special attention. Mr. C. Price Green, Passenger Agent of the line is a hunter himself who goes right with the parties and looks after them, in fact he located most of them. This year the line will be opened north of Sellwood into the midst of the Moose Country, they are reported very thick, the Engineers say that they have never seen anything like it, the Moose season up there opens October 15th, fifteen days before the Deer. We have something special on a new place that will take three parties of deer hunters.

DUCK SHOOTING SEASON OPENS SEPTEMBER FIRST; SOME HAUNTS OF THE DUCKS

Special to the Review.

Havelock, Aug. 28.—The duck shooting season, which commences on Sept. 1st, will soon be here and those who are intending to spend part or whole of the season in quest of this member of the feathered tribe, will be picking out the best and most convenient place for the carrying out of their intentions.

Probably the best and most convenient place for duck shooting for those from Peterborough and Toronto is at the stream surrounding and north of Havelock, situated 25 miles from Peterborough and 100 miles east of Toronto.

Trent River, three miles south of Havelock, is the most convenient place for duck hunters, about three miles east of Trent Bridge, in an expansion called Mud Lake, the ducks are very plentiful, but the place is visited by large numbers, so it is most advisable to visit some of the lakes north of Havelock.

Ranging northward of Havelock is a region of forest, lake and stream, which combines picturesque scenery with good prospects for duck hunting. The streams are navigable by canoe, excepting in a few places where portages must be made.

Beginning at the south of the chain, the principal lakes are Crow, Belmont, Round, Oak, Koshabogamog, Deer, Blue, Twin, Sandy, Gull and Eagle, nearly all convenient with short streams.

Beginning at Crow Lake the ducks are fairly plentiful, but no large flocks are encountered until North River is reached. This river runs into Belmont Lake and is navigable as far up as Burnt Dams, where the Havelock electric light house is situated. Above Burnt Dams is some large coves covered by weeds, there is an excellent place to get large numbers of ducks for when the season begins, they all leave Round Lake and settle in that place.

Going farther north from Round Lake the ducks become more plentiful. You can have an excellent time at Belmont and Round Lakes and capture a large assortment of duck at minimum expense and trouble, but if you have the time, you can have a very enjoyable time by going farther and visiting some of the other lakes. The shooting in all these places is about the same as already described, the general characteristics of all these lakes are so similar as to render separate descriptions superfluous, the only thing to be kept in mind is thatthe farther north you go, the more plentiful the ducks are, and that they are found mostly in the weed beds of small streams where they think they have a chance to escape the forest on either hand.

No matter at what time of the day or night you reach Havelock you can always get the liverymen to transport you to wherever you wish. All the lakes and rivers mentioned can be reached by a drive over fair roads. Trent River only three miles distant; Round 7 miles, Belmont 5 miles, while Koch is 25 miles. If you visit Trent, Round or Belmont you can find accommodation at boarding houses situated on the banks, while if you wish to visit the northern lakes, it is more advisable to take your tent and provisions along with you so that you can move your quarters to any place you wish. If you do not like the idea of livingunder canvas, comfortable accommodation can be obtained with settlers in the vicinity of any of the above mentioned lakes.

If you take a rod and line along with you and try your luck at the artof fishing, you will be richly rewarded for in any of these lakes or rivers, a fine assortment of fish can be procured in a half day. If you use either minnow, frog, crawfish or worm bait in these waters you will find them excellent, but it is best to carry several kinds of bait, for bass are capricious fish, and while one day they would not look at a big fat, juicy dew-worm, another day they would prefer them to any other bait. Live minnow as a rule, is the most killing bait and can be easily procured.

A week spent in these regions in quest of fish and duck is sure to prove a most delightful outing.

MEDALLION PHOTO.

The Latest Whim Among Leaders of Society.

The world of fashion, ever on the hunt for something new in the line of a fad, has hit upon something original and pleasing in the portrait medallion. To have one's own portrait engraved upon a medallion, to use as a table ornament or to be worn about the person as a pendant, on a watch fob or wherever an ordinary locket might be worn, is the latest whim among leaders of society.

The notion of having one's likeness reproduced in enduring bronze or silver and in a form in which it may be carried about with no inconvenience has achieved the greatest of popularity all over Europe.

Silver is the favorite metal for this purpose among the favored daughters of fortune. The empress of Germany wears as a pendant to a bracelet a silver portrait of her lord the emperor. Other queenly members of royalty have shown that they appreciate their own likenesses more than their royal husbands' and wear somewhere upon their persons a portrait graved in silver of themselves, with sometimes the royal coat of arms worked in upon the reverse side.

However, the fad is in no case confined to this feature of self portraiture, for the designs and portraits used are as varied as the individual taste. The extremist delights in the reproduction of her own likeness in the metal. The more conservative indulges in a portrait of a husband, sweetheart or friend.

The engravers who produce these ornaments are artists of a high order.

A Hint to the Housewife.

For the careful housewife intent upon detecting adulterants in foods the following hint from the Scientific American may be acceptable. It is a test for determining the amount of copper used as coloring matter in canned peas, and, while perhaps not so simple as tasting a bit on a spoon or wetting a finger and holding in the breeze, the experiment readily may be carried out in any household fitted with a $10,000 laboratory properly equipped. Here it is:

"The quantity of copper may be determined by incinerating the vegetables, leaching the ash with nitric acid evaporating to dryness, dissolving the residue in hydrochloric acid, neutralizing the solution with ammonia, acidifying it slightly with hydrochloric acid and precipitating the copper with zinc in a vessel of platinum." Do you think you'll try it?

Professional Advice.

A mother who was a trained nurse protests against the unwisdom of women who keep their healthy children of two years, three years and even four years old strapped in baby carriages during their outings when the little things are able and eager to get out and use their legs. "The children walk indoors," she said. "Why not have them walk outdoors? It is equally good for them to exercise in the fresh air. It absolutely brings tears to my eyes sometimes to see active children old enough to toddle about kicking their little legs and beating their fists in carriages."

POLICE DOGS.

Success Attends the Use of Well-Trained, Intelligent Animals.

The use of dogs as guardians of the public welfare and in the detection and capturing of criminals in Europe is interestingly described from information gathered by Consul General Diederich, in Antwerp, and Consul Johnson, in Liege. There are in Germany nearly 500 police departments where dogs are used in the work. In France, the Common Council of Paris is earnestly discussing the advisability of spending about $2,500 a year for the development of the police-dog system.

The difficult and wonderful feats accomplished by the Belgian shepherd dog are strikingly shown. The animal is required to undergo a long, difficult training for attack, defense and scouting. Several animals which came up for civil service examination won diplomas by going through the training lessons with remarkable accuracy and intelligence. The service of the police dog includes guarding any object in the absence of its master; defense of its master when suddenly attacked; tracing individuals; making known hiding places by barking without biting; and keeping individuals at bay until the arrival of its master. If fight is attempted, the dog must attack and follow the fugitive.

When a man pretends to strike the policeman, the dog becomes savage and leaps at the throat of the aggressor. Though prevented by the muzzle from seizing such aggressor, the dog will throw himself against the chest with sufficient force to knock down the strongest man. A 50-pound dog, well trained, can easily throw a powerful man while on the run.

Police dogs are also being used at Rotterdam and in about 30 towns in Belgium. Great difficulty was experienced in selecting the animal best adapted to such service, but the Belgian shepherd dog finally was chosen. He was found to be the most intelligent, possessed of remarkable qualities of endurance, an excellent watch dog, active and courageous. It is contended that no matter how well trained police dogs may be they can be of little practical use in large cities or densely populated quarters. The best results are obtained in suburban districts where night watchmen patrol a large territory.

WEDDING BELLS

LYON—MacKENZIE.

The Manitoba Free Press says:—"A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. MacKenzie, when their daughter, Jessie Wright, was united in marriage to Mr. John N. Lyon, of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. W. Gordon, of St. Stephen's church, in the presence of the young couple's relatives and intimate friends. The bride was charmingly attired in a gown of Directoire satin and wore a wreath of lillies of the valley and carried a bouquet of cream roses. Her going away costume was of pale blue, with hat to match. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful presents, included in which were many from her former home, Galt, Ont., and also of Peterborough. Among the out-of-town guests were Murray MacKenzie, of Edmonton, brother of the bride, and Dr. Arthur Macdonald, of Yorkton. Mr. and Mrs. Lyon will reside at 730 Ida avenue.

GROUNDS OF COLLEGIATE WILL LIKELY HAVE TO BE LOWERED

The Lawn Will Likely be Lowered, in Order to Conform With the Level of That of the New Armouries.

There is some discussion going on just at present with regard to what is to be done with the grounds around the armories and Collegiate Institute. For the last two or three weeks a large gang of men have been at work reducing and levelling the grounds at the front and sides of the first-mentioned building, with the result that there is a drop of about two feet from the lawns of the Collegiate to those of the armories. This, of course, is quite undesirable, as the lawns of both buildings should be exactly the same level, if possible, all the way across the park.

On Saturday afternoon a representative of the Dominion Government waited on the members of the Board of Education and suggested that the Collegiate grounds be lowered to the level of those at the armories, the expense of such an operation to be borne by the government.

After some deliberation it was decided to leave the matter over till the Board of Education meeting on Tuesday night, when the Government architect's views will be heard, and the affair settled.

It will be remembered that the armories' foundation was lowered from the original plan.

PETERBOROUGH PEOPLE WERE PLAYING THE HOBO ROLE

Rode Twenty-Five Miles in Freight Car on the I., B. & O. Railway—Wreck on Friday Resulted in Somewhat Unusual Case,

One generally associates riding in box-cars with hobos, but such a deduction would have been incorrect in a case that happened on the Irondale, Bancroft and Ottawa railroad on Friday of last week, in which several Peterborough people figured. There are no express trains on the I.B. & O. Passenger cars are attached to the rear of the freight trains, and the rate of progress is about as rapid as that of a man with a "jag" going up a mountain. Freight is usually taken at every station, giving the passengers plenty of time to get out and view the rustic scenery of the neighborhood.

On Thursday of last week, there was an accident on the line one mile south of Gooderham. Five cars loaded with lumber on a south-bound train went off the track and the road was blocked for over twenty-four hours. Modern machinery for clearing up a wreck is about as scarce on the I.B. & O. as common sense around a Lindsay newspaper office, and all the section hands along the line were summoned to help get the cars back on the track. When a train from the north, of which were several Peterborough people came along on Friday one car was still off the track, and the men were hard at work trying to get it on the rails by using jack-screws. The engine of the wrecked train was still on the south side of the place where the track was torn up, so the passengers on the train from the north got out and walked around the wreck to where the locomotive and box-car were standing. There was no express coach, so a couple of seats were fixed up in the freight car, the passengers got on board, and rode in it to Kinmount Junction, which was twenty-five miles distant from the scene of the wreck.

No tickets are sold for the I. B. & O. railway. The conductor collects the fare from the passengers and also looks after the mails. When he collected the fares from those who were riding on the freight car he apologized for so doing. He explained, however, that the company expected him to get the money.

TWO CASES SHOW RESULT OF THE USE OF LIQUOR

Young Man's First Appearance in Court a Striking Contrast to That of Older Man Who Has Been Blacklisted.

Two cases at the police court this morning furnished an example of what the use of liquor will bring the drinker to. The first case was that of a young man who was drunk on the street Saturday, and the second that of an older man who was also intoxicated on that day. It was the younger man's first appearance in court, but the other has appeared so many times that he was some time ago placed on the blacklist so that he might be saved from the terrible consequences of his habit, in spite of himself. It would appear that such an example so clearly demonstrated would be a lesson to the young man and of such a nature that he would decide to leave liquor alone for all time to come.

Magistrate Dumble imposed a fine of $2.00 and costs, amounting in all to $5.75 in the first case, and in the second $10.00, to be paid forthwith.

The blacklister, when asked to state where he secured the liquor, said that a man by the name of Billy Turner gave him a drink from a bottle on Saturday, and shortly afterwards left for Winnipeg.

DESTROYED THE FOOD FURNISHED HIS PARENTS

Frank Hamilton was again remanded at Police Court this morning after two witnesses had given evidence relating to the case in which he is charged with being a vagrant.

License Inspector Stewart when called stated that the first he heard of the young man's actions was some time in the month of May. The father had complained to him that his son owed him for seventeen weeks' board and would not pay. One night he had arrived home in an intoxicated condition and broken a window while getting into the house. On other occasions he had destroyed the food which had been given to the mother and father by the Relief Officer. Witness said that he had spoken to the young man about his conduct and he promised to do better but later the father had told him that his son had worked for some time, but spent all the money without assisting his parents.

Mr. Finch Miller said his evidence was similar to that of the previous witness and had been furnished by the father.

The Magistrate was not in favor of acting on the evidence given, as he considered it not of a legal nature, and he ordered a remand until to-morrow morning, when if possible, the father of the defendant will be present.

REGIMENT WILL NOT GO TO BROCKVILLE, AS WAS DECIDED

The Trip to That City Has Been Called Off—Will Visit Town of Perth Instead—Typhoid Epidemic in Brockville.

Owing to the fact that an epidemic of typhoid fever has broken out in Brockville, the local regiment will not go to that city on Labor Day, as was first planned. A trip to Perth has been submitted, however, and the regiment will go there, instead of to Brockville, on the holiday.

This was decided at a meeting of the officers held on Saturday night. It was thought that owing to the outbreak of the disease in the Island City, that it would be injudicious to carry out the proposed trip and as Perth had extended an invitation, it was accepted.

A feature of the visit to Perth will be a trip down the canal to the Rideau.

The weekly drill will be held tonight, and all men who wish to go next Saturday are requested to be on hand.

GOT PIECE OF STEEL HALF AN INCH IN LENGTH IN FINGER

Sewing Machine Needle Pierced Finger and Broke Off Short, Leaving Piece in Flesh.

Mr. Finch Miller, Water street, was the victim of a rather painful injury Saturday morning. He was working at the sewing machine, in his shoe shop, when his finger was caught in the descending needle and badly lacerated. The needle entered at one side of the finger and came through at the other, and making a sharp turn at the head, left a piece of steel about half an inch long in his finger. Medical assistance was summoned and the needle extracted.

While the accident was very painful it was not serious, and Mr. Miller was not hindered from continuing his work as usual.

TWO LOCAL YOUNG MEN TAKE 400 MILE TRIP TO MUSKOKA

Left Chemong Park Two Weeks Ago and Did the Long Journey at the Rate of About Thirty Miles Per Day—A Fine Outing.

Messrs Bert Millen and T. Eardley-Wilmot have just returned after a long canoe trip up to the Muskoka Lakes. They left Chemong Park two weeks ago and paddled up through the chain of lakes reaching the Muskoka district on August 20th. Altogether the trip was of about 400 miles in length, and in order to accomplish the journey in two weeks they found it necessary to paddle between thirty and forty miles per day.

The portages, while rather frequent, were for the most part of only one hundred or two hundred yards in length, and were easily managed. There was one portage, however, which was about three miles in length, and gave considerable trouble.

On the whole the trip was a most excellent one, and the two canoeists report an unusually fine outing.

WHAT PETERBOROUGH MISSED; COULD HAVE HAD TRADE FROM NORTH COUTTRY

Haliburton, Aug. 27.—Canon Davidson, of Peterborough, preached at the English church, Sunday the 15th, and gave an excellent sermon. The Canon was much pleased with the scenery of Haliburton.

There was an excursion to Peterborough on the 16th, and about fifty people took in the trip and had an enjoyable days' outing. Previous to the building of the railway, Peterborough was our county town and our central point of business. It was Peterborough that was looked upon as the front but after the formation of the provisional county of Haliburton, and the building of the railway, Lindsay took the place of Peterborough. For some years there was talk of a direct railway from Peterborough to Haliburton, but it never materialized, but if it had, Peterborough would have retained all this north country, then termed the back country, though now there are two great railways crossing the north, and a third transcontinental line building still further on and hundreds of miles to the north.

THAT WATCH OF YOURS

Is in many respects similar to a railway engine. Let an engine be run without oil or cleaning and before long it will stop dead. Upon examination it will be found that the friction and wear and tear has ruined the machinery, and it is fit only for the scrap iron heap. Likewise your watch. You put it in your pocket, and while there is a kick in it, you, in your mistaken economy, do not consult the watchmaker, and consequently rob your watch of years of good service and also much of its former accuracy. The time-keeping qualities of a good watch are maintained and often improved by timely and skilful attention. If you have been one of the neglectful ones call around and see us.

CAPTURED TWO SNAPPING TURTLES

Guides Have Exciting Time Near Bobcaygeon — One Turtle Weighed Thirty Pounds

The N.Y.P. & O. have a pair of pets but they are not keeping them at their camp or in their sleeping tents. James Dick and Frank Aldendefer were down at Ball Lake on Monday and they were in separate boats. James espied something on the lake, and neither he nor his guide could make out what the mischief it could be. They approached it cautiously. It was alive and wiggling, and stealing towards it James prepared to hit it a crack if it showed fight. Then they found that it was a large pair of snapping turtles and the turtles also found that they were discovered and started swimming. The turtle is fairly good on the swim, too, but James and his guide caught up to them and grabbing them by the tails lifted them into the boat. Then the trouble began for James and his guide. A healthy snapping turtle, weighing thirty pounds, is not a pleasant passenger in a small boat. Two such turtles and two men are more than enough for a small boat, and when James and his guide stood up on the seats, and each with an oar, and those turtles got busy, the water started to sizzle with the heat. As for the noise, Frank Aldenderfer was half a mile away and he thought they must have got a sea-serpent on board. Pulling with all speed they came up to the scene of excitement and were intensely swallowed in a maelstrom from one of the turtles landed in their boat. Frank joined the band as a noise producer, with full steam on, boiler all ready to burst, and the noises were something awful. Finally the turtles got tired with their scrambling and upsettings and lay still. They were on exhibition in A. F. Bottum's window for a few days, and attracted general attention the names Jim and Frank being painted on the shells of each.—Bobcaygeon Independent.

OBITUARY

THE LATE MRS. R. J. WINCH.

As briefly announced on Saturday, the death occurred at the family residence, 296 Stewart street, of Mrs. Agnes Winch, wife of Mr. R. J. Winch, of this city. Mrs. Winch had been under the doctor's care for some weeks, but the end came unexpectedly and on Saturday morning she passed peacefully away. The deceased was a daughter of the late John Fife, of Otonabee township, (one of the pioneers of the country) and was married to Mr. Winch in 1856, living in Peterborough for two years, then for thirty-two years in Cobourg, returning to this city in 1890, and residing here continuously till her death.

On February 7, 1906, Mr. and Mrs. Winch celebrated their golden wedding and were the recipients of many congratulations and tokens of friendship and esteem at that time. The deceased lady was of a kind, gentle and hospitable nature, who unostentatiously did much in a charitable way, and many will long cherish her memory. A family of seven children—two sons, Mr. C. H. Winch, of Montreal, and Mr. R. V. Winch, of Vancouver, and five daughters, Mrs. Pentland, of this city; Mrs. George E. Hower and Miss May E. Winch, of Vancouver; Mrs. F. W. G. Johnson, of Montreal, and Mrs. H. H. Bradburn, of Winnipeg, survive her. In additon to these one brother, Mr. Jas. H. Fife, and one sister, Miss Rebecca Fife, of Otonabee, together with the husband, mourn her loss. The bereaved husband, mourn her loss. The deceased was a life-long Methodist and a valued member of George street church.

The funeral is announced to take place on Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock. The interment will be in Little Lake cemetery.

AGNES MORRISON.

The death occurred, on Saturday evening, about nine o'clock, of Agnes Morrison, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Patterson, Kirk street. The funeral took place at two o'clock to the Little Lake cemetery.

KEEP DOWN THE DUST

Dr. Sheard, the medical health officer, will to-morrow night send to Ottawa Mr. Richard Brown, inspector of the western district, to show the officials in that city how to oil the streets. The success of the experiment in Toronto has created interest in many other cities, and now Ottawa, which has a large mileage of roadways, will adopt the new method of keeping down the dust.—Toronto Telegram.

WILD AND WOOZY PLAYS HELPED STRATHCONAS TO LOSE GAME

Ab. Quinlan Had the Commissioners Eating Out of His Hand and the T.A.S. Won by 7-1—Gorham Was Given Poor Support.

"Ab" Quinlan, the husky heaver of the T.A.S. nine, had the hitherto heavy hitters of the Strathconas eating out of his hand on Saturday. The result was that the Commissioners had crossed the plate once when Saturday's conflict at Riverside Park was over. In the meantime the Totally Anxious Sluggers had pulled over seven and brightened their prospects for the pennant.

It wasn't exactly ideal baseball weather, as rain fell early in the afternoon and left the diamond damp and the atmosphere hazy. The batters found it difficult to get their eye on the ball, and the Strathcona fielders were affected in the same way. William Metheral, the Hughie Jennings of the Straths, who was doing the official scoring stunt, was so busy pencilling the errors of the nine he manages, that he hadn't time to do much else. Only three hits were registered off Quinlan—some say there were only two. In the last innings Shaw dropped one right in front of the plate, and although McFadden fielded it cleanly, though slowly, the big left-fielder reached first. It might have been credited as an error to the T.A.S. catcher. Curtis and Heaslip each had a single. Thirteen of Metheral's magnates fanned the atmosphere in a highly trained manner. Gorham, the hillside hero of the Strathconas, pitched good enough ball to win an ordinary game. He held the winning team to six scattered hits but while he was doing that the players supporting him piled up twelve errors, and the majority of them came when they were of material advantage to the Abstainers. Each twirler walked one man, and Gorham struck two batters with the pellet.

Some four hundred fans and fanettes were on hand to see the game and they enthused over the good points and showed a forgiving spirit towards the players who made muffs.

Dan McCabe did the umpiring and did it so well that there was no kick anywhere.

In the sixth innings the T.A.S. put two juniors in the outfield, W. O'Brien and Derocher going to the bench. Vincent Corkery played the centre field position, and Cyril Giroux took Derocher's place. The Abstainers had a safe lead at this time, and it was a good chance to give the youngsters a show.

T.A.S. went to bat first and went out in order. Ditto the Strathconas. In the second M. O'Brien singled, Quinlan went out, Craig to Heaslip, and Doherty was safe on Craig's error. O'Brien scoring and McFadden singled and scored Doherty. W. O'Brien was hit by one of Gorham's shoots. Derocher flew out to Heaslip and Callaghan put one up to Craig. Two runs for T.A.S. They added another brace in the third. Cahill was safe on Heaslip's error. Flaherty was out, Gorham to Heaslip, and M. O'Brien was safe on an error by Curtis. Sheridan made a bad heave from centre field, and Cahill scored. O'Brien was caught out at third, Andrews to Ray. Quinlan was safe on Heaslip's error, stole second and scored on Doherty's long fly to Shaw. In the sixth the T.A.S. increased their lead to seven. Doherty singled and stole second. McFadden was safe on Ray's low throw to Heaslip, the ball going to the grand stand. Doherty scored. W. O'Brien was safe on Heaslip's misplay and McFadden scored. Derocher put one at Craig that wasn't handled in time, and he was safe at first. W. O'Brien scored when Callaghan singled and Cahill flew out to Ray. Flaherty died, Gorham to Heaslip, and M. O'Brien was out, Ray to Heaslip. There was no more scoring as far as the T.A.S. were concerned.

The Strathconas were blanked till the last innings. They only had four men on bases during the previous eight innings. In the ninth Shaw beat out a bunt and stole second. Quinlan made a woozy heave to third and the ball went over near the entrance gate, Shaw scoring. Craig tried to reach home on the play, and was out, Doherty to Quinlan. Heaslip was safe on Cahill's error. Sheridan flew out to Doherty and Ray struck out, ending the game.

EXECUTIVE OF THE RUGBY TEAM MAY MEET THIS WEEK

There will likely be a meeting of the executive of the Rugby team held this week to consider important matters in connection with the game in this city for the coming season. It is necessary that all interested should make an early start, so that the proposed team or teams will receive the benefit of all practices possible.

Several athletic clubs have signified their intention of entering a team in the city league, but before doing anything definite, are waiting to see what the O.R.F.U. team intends doing.

According to the statements made by one who is interested in the organising of a team, there will be a junior and senior city league, and two teams to represent the city. He was not in favor of this proposition giving as his reason that there were not enough players in the city, and it would mean that one or more of the teams would have all the players, while the rest would be weak.

BASEBALL

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 27.—A bolt of lightning yesterday afternoon in sight of thousands of persons killed Wm. Bedford, second baseman of the Cuban Giants, champion negro team, as he threw the ball from second base to Capt. Lemuel Williams, of the same team. He was standing on one leg; the ball had just left his hand when the bolt struck him. It came with a roar and flash that blinded all. When it cleared, Bedford was stretched dead on the field. The tragedy was just before three o'clock while the team was engaged in practice prior to playing a game with the collegians who were on the benches. Not a scar was found on the body, but the shoe of the left foot was shattered. His cap was split in two and tossed twenty feet. A thin vapor came from the nostrils and mouth for a minute or more.

Mr. Sam Ray, of Peterborough, beat Mr. Wallace Jones by one point. In an all round score Sturgeon Point won by six points.—Lindsay Post.

CRICKET

The Australian cricket team in England, has a way of stalling off defeat and resting in secondary matches, which is surprising. In a late match their opponents made 560 in the first innings, but in their second innings the Kangaroos woke up and made 390 for seven wickets. The match was drawn.

GEORGE F. ORDE AT MISSONLA CONVENTION

The address of Mr. George F. Orde, formerly of Peterborough, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Orde, and son-in-law of Mr. John Carnegie, as delivered at the Missonla convention is reported in extenso in the Chicago Banker of Aug. 14th. The subject of the paper assigned to Mr. Orde by the Western Bankers' Association, was "A Banker's Moral Reputation as an Asset of the Bank."

In speaking of Minneapolis, of which Mr. Orde is a resident, he referred to development of the west generally and remarked that in addition to Montana's being a mining State it was also an agricultural one. North and South Dakota, Montana, and Minnesota, were now in a position to feed the world and their great development was evidenced by the fact that while a few years ago they had to borrow foreign capital to handle their crops, etc., they were now wholly self-dependent in that respect. Mr. Orde declared that an eminent American had said that "all successful business management depended upon a foundation of morality." It was the business of the ideal banker to "identify himself with all local affairs, avoiding selfishness." The paper was a lengthy one and elicited general praise.

C.G.E. BENEFIT SOCIETY HAD FINE OUTING

The Employees' Mutual Benefit Society of the Canadian General Electric Company held its annual excursion to Bamboo Park Saturday afternoon per steamer Stoney Lake, and a large crowd spent a very pleasant outing. The accommodation on the Stoney Lake was not sufficient to carry all those who wished to go by that means, and it was found necessary to secure 'busses, and those who were unable to get on the boat were driven to the park. A long list of sporting events were carried out, and the prizes awarded to the winners.

Bamboo Park proved to be a suitable and pleasing place for such an affair and the excursionists arrived home thoroughly pleased with the afternoon's outing.

FARM WORK PAYS WELL

Investment Concerns Are Forced to Advertise In the Northwest.

During the last few months it has become harder and harder to secure farm mortgages upon which to loan money. The farming districts recently have been actually scoured for farmers needing ready money. The situation is such that, with plenty of money available to lend on farms and no farmers in need of that money, the usual rate of 6 per cent is being pared down to 5½ and even as low as 5 per cent.

This at least is the outline of existing conditions, particularly with reference to Minnesota and the two Dakotas, given by Grant Van Sant, who has been active in securing mortgages in this connection for a farm loan concern.

Whatever the farmer may be doing with himself, he is not asking for money. He may not be spending as much at the general store; he may not be restocking his farm or replacing his machinery, but at any rate he scorns proffered loans, even at low rates. It is not thought, however, that he is neglecting to improve his plant or is foregoing the pleasure of elevating his standard of living somewhat. Such abnegation would hardly be consistent in a person with a big balance in the bank and a check book in his pocket.

The gradual development of this situation has been coming on for some time. Two or three years ago farmers needed money occasionally and gladly offered mortgages. Gradually this diminished little by little until now, except in the case of extraordinary circumstances, the worker of a farm not only is indifferent to investors, but is seeking to do a little investing on his own account.

Farm loan institutions, it is said, first worked through Minnesota offering money. Then came the two Dakotas. Now agents of these concerns are going through Montana in the unpleasant hope of finding some unfortunate possibly who wants "to mortgage the farm." Their quest has not been particularly encouraging.

As indicative of the paucity of available mortgages a happening in a well known farm loan company may be cited. An eastern investor came in and called for $100,000 in farm loans, secured by mortgages, which must be delivered within a year. Simultaneously he wrote out a check for $15,000 and asked for immediate investment. The company was able to place only $4,000 of it and now has gone to the expedient of advertising for mortgages.

Trim Small Fruit.

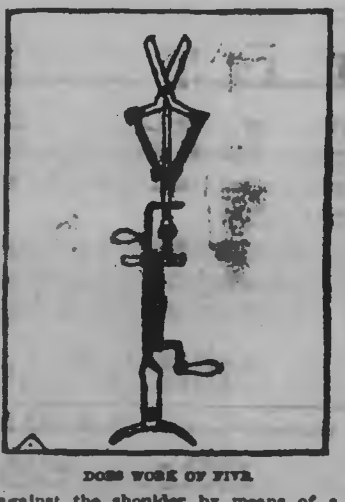
Now is a good time to trim the raspberry and blackberry fields. Not much fruit can be expected from feeble canes, and even the best canes will not give much fruit if they are too close together. Manure or fertilizer is also required. Blackberry fields have been known to give good service for years without fertilizers, but if the field is given good cultivation and well supplied with plant food the increased yield and better quality of the fruit will make some unprofitable fields pay well.

Cleaning a Well.

Before going down into a well test the purity of the air by lowering a lighted candle or lantern. If the light burns dimly or goes out the poisonous carbonic acid gas "damps" can be driven out by igniting a quantity of turpentine and sawdust or kerosene and rags in a kettle and lowering it to the surface of the water, and then later pour several bucketfuls of water into the well from the top. Test again with the lantern and note the improvement. We want our folks to be on the safe side.—Farm Journal.

Rapid Hedge Trimmer.

Among the numerous time and labor saving devices for gardeners' use the geared hedge trimmer, invented by a New York man, is one of the most interesting. With it a hedge that formerly required five hours to trim can be clipped in one hour, or one man can do the work of five. This apparatus consists of a long rod with a shoulder piece at one end and a pair of shears at the other. Along this rod is a drive wheel connecting with a rotary pinion, which operates the crank controlling the shears. The device is held against the shoulder by means of a handle in the middle. Then the drive wheel is turned, and by means of the multiple gearing it opens and closes the shears five times with each revolution, thus making the apparatus a saver of 80 per cent in either time or labor. All the operator has to do is to keep turning the wheel and moving the shears along the hedgerow where it needs clipping.



DOES WORK OF FIVE.

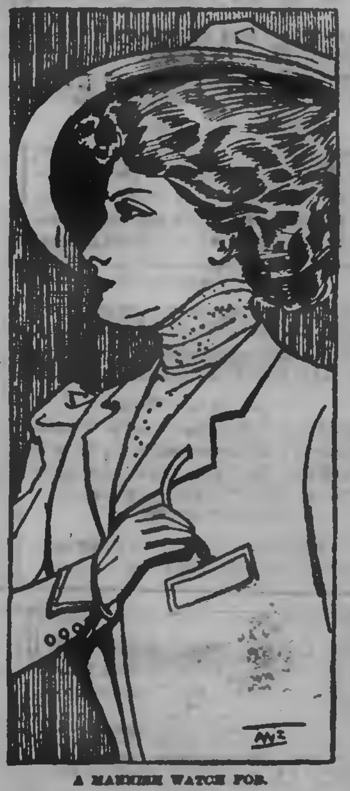
AN AUTOMOBILE FAD

Big Green Parrot Rides In Tonneau Beside Milady.

STORY OF AIRSHIP INVENTOR.

Criticism at a Picture Exhibition. What Will Happen When Famous Artists Become Dress Designers. Room Hung With Black Paper.

Dear Elsa—What on earth will women do next in the name of fashion? It seems to me, though, that the limit has been reached when a live parrot is considered a smart automobile accessory. During the winter limousines have been turned into traveling conservatories by means of bright bunches of flowers held in cut glass vases, but it now looks as if an auto aviary were the ambition of the up to date woman who drives in a motor car. La Mode's latest decree is that a big green parrot shall roam at his own sweet will about the tonneau, and a handsome car was actually seen on Broadway the only occupants of which were a stunningly gowned woman and a great green parrot. Small traveling menageries may be looked for in the future. This parrot fad reminds me of a good story. A friend of Dick's recently brought together at a dinner Wilbur Wright and some capitalists interested in airships. The feast progressed in fine style, but up to the last course Wright had said nothing about his wonderful invention. The host, losing patience with such unprofitable modesty and getting desperate, whispered to the guest of honor: "Say, Wright, get busy and talk about your aeroplanes. These people came here to form a company if you can interest them sufficiently in your venture. Out with it, man!" Wright looked calmly at his tormentor and drawled, "Don't you know that the parrot is the greatest talker and the poorest flier of the whole bird creation?" Lovely, wasn't it?



A MANNISH WATCH FOB.

The academy exhibition this season was a very interesting one, and I wish you could have enjoyed the pictures with me. You know that dressmakers are now making it a part of their business to see all the good portraits, both antique and modern, with the object of gaining inspiration for their designs. I was very much amused at the criticism overheard from one of these technical experts in dress. "Smudges," "blurred masses" and "indistinctness" were the three terrible accusations brought against the gown of a lady painted by an impressionist artist. And deep down in my heart I voted them deserved, but I didn't expose my views, for I was making the rounds with one of the "hung" men, a well known exhibitor. Another objection raised by the couturier critic and one with which all people possessed of a sense of humor will be in full accord is the absurd practice of winding wisps of chiffon or tags of tulle around the arm of fair subjects. Was it not Michelangelo who said that beauty consisted in the purgation of superfluities? And this is true no less of dress than of face and form. A piece of crushed looking chiffon or a ragged feather boa thrown carelessly over the arm is a superfluity in every sense of the word. The same critic took exception to the scarcity of trimming on the painted frocks. The very name "trimming" is suggestive of superfluities, of publicans, of sinners. It distracts the eye, it detracts from the individuality of the wearer, and it hovers perilously near vulgarity.

However, this carping critic set my "think tank," as some one expressively termed his brain, working. Why should not artists design gowns for their beautiful sitters to wear—nothing archaic or crushed, nothing sad looking or mad looking, nothing of a blankety or nightgown description? In other words, why shouldn't the fashions of the season emanate from the Academy of Design? It may be that artists are too much engrossed in capturing the personalities of their sitters to bother about their frocks. They may think that the portrayal of "grandeur and moral quality" is of infinitely more importance. So it is in a sense, but there is no getting away from the fact that clothes have a certain relation to character. I, for instance, revel in tailor mades, which probably accounts for my business acumen (?). A celebrated French novelist once wrote: "I have theories about little things—about gloves, about boots, about curls, and so forth—and I attach a great deal of importance to all this. I have discovered that there is a relation between the temperament of a woman and the whim or logic which makes her select such and such a stuff." To come back to my original proposition, artists as fashion designers, if they would do this we should probably hear less in future about the ugliness of modern styles. The term "artistic" has been too long applied to attire that is limp and languishing, to gruesome greens and jaundiced yellows. There is really no reason why a chic frock should not be artistic as well, and, if our best artists would give some thought to the matter and reproduce their ideas on canvas, fashion, instead of being, as it often is, a distorted and ugly thing, might become a synonym for grace, distinction and beauty. After this tirade I feel like a full fledged art lecturer. But, seriously, has not Charles Dana Gibson's influence been for good in the sartorial world? And what would we do in summer without a Gibson waist to play tennis in?

I must tell you about my very sporty new watch fob that I am going to use when traveling. I am so tired of timepiece bracelets and belt fobs. The new trinket is a mannish looking affair of leather—a strap, in fact—exactly like that worn by the men suspended from the coat lapel that gives the watch enough leeway to drop comfortably into an upper coat pocket. When this fob adorns my blue serge traveling coat it will give an air of smartness to the costume. I hesitated between purchasing this style rather than a leather fob which hangs from the belt in the usual fashion, but at the end has a round opening in which is incased the tiny watch, so that, while the face shows, the watch cannot drop out. The clerk explained that this fob had been especially designed for the business woman and as a real comfort "it couldn't be beaten."

I presume you will be horrified to know that I am having the living room papered in black. Funeral? Not a bit. Listen to the scheme, and you will gain some faint idea of the dainty and cameo-like finished effect. The woodwork I have had painted white, and the dull black cartridge paper on the wall is divided into four foot panels, with slender strips of white molding all around the room. Oval mirrors in white frames alternate with pictures in white frames. Orange and red cushions will be piled on the davenport, and, by the way, I've had all the upholstered furniture done in this old fashioned material. Several pieces of red and orange pottery are to be scattered about the room to give character to the dignified and otherwise cold background.

Picnic luncheons—really restaurant parties, at which each guest orders and pays for herself—are the craze of the moment. Mother thinks the idea barbarous, and one can readily understand that with her old time ideas of hospitality the notion would be repugnant to ask a person to take a meal with you and expect her to pay her share of the bill. However, in these independent times the old courteous methods are brushed aside, and nobody seems to think there is anything odd about assembling a luncheon party at which each guest orders what she likes and pays for it. No two persons in our party were eating the same things. One woman who was on a diet ate digestive biscuits and drank a glass of milk, another nuts and bananas, a third roast lamb and peas, and so on. Truly, this is a mad social world, but I am glad to live in these exciting days. Ever most sincerely yours,

MABEL.

What Money Can't Buy.

Money can't buy everything. There are no admission tickets to a sunset, you wouldn't trade the look in your boy's eyes when he greets you at night for a million dollars of anybody's money, and if you keep a well furnished mind you can go into it any time you like as you would into a child's playground and amuse yourself watching your thoughts play leapfrog with each other.

PETERBOROUGH MAN WAS MADE HAPPY IN MONTREAL SATURDAY

F. J. Goselin Had Valise Returned to Him Containing Bonds and Other Papers Worth $18,000—Had Strange Experience.

Montreal, Aug. 28.—The happiest man in Montreal to-day is Frank J. Goselin, cattle dealer, of 45 Crescent street, Peterborough.

Exactly a month ago Mr. Goselin was in Montreal, and lost a valise containing bonds and other papers worth $18,000. Last night he had that valise returned to him intact, not a paper being missing.

On July 28th Mr. Goselin left his home in Peterborough on a pilgrimage to St. Anne de Beaupre. He traveled on a special train from Peterborough and carried the $18,000 valise with him, meaning to transact some business on the way here. On his arrival here he made a chance acquaintance and dined with him. It appears that he was drugged, for he awoke the next morning in a strange room, and his clothing, with $110 in cash and the valuable valise had disappeared.

After reporting the matter to the detectives he borrowed some money from a friend and returned home. The detectives found the cabman who had driven Goselin around the night he lost the valise. He found the house where Goselin had been drugged, and discovered that the people were honest and had been keeping the bag, thinking that the owner would return for it. They had not opened it, and were unaware of its value. He received the bag from the detectives last night.

EMPLOYEES OF THE AUBURN WOOLLEN COMPANY HELD AN ENJOYABLE OUTING TO ORILLIA

Over Four Hundred Took in the Trip Saturday — Two Baseball Games Were Played and Large List of Sports Run off — The Prize Winners.

Over four hundred accompanied the annual excursion of the employees of the Auburn Woollen Company to Orillia Saturday, and the outing proved to be the most successful and enjoyable yet held. The excursionists were received by the citizens of the town in a hospitable manner, and everything done to make the outing a pleasant one. The visitors made their headquarters at Orillia Park, and in the afternoon two baseball games were played, after which a splendid programme of events were run off.

The excursionists speak highly of the courteous treatment received at the hands of the officials on the train which carried the large number to and from Orillia.

The game of baseball between the married and single employees of the mill, was won by the single men by the score of 4 to 2.

The Auburn employees' baseball team also played a friendly game with Orillia, resulting in a victory for the home team by the score of 6—10.

REV. DEAN EGAN DIED AT BARRIE

Prominent Ontario Priest Passed Away Yesterday

The death occurred at Barrie yesterday, of the Very Rev. J. J. Egan, probably one of the best known priests in Ontario, and one who was universally esteemed and respected for his unfailing courtesy, geniality, and breadth of thought. The rev. Father Egan was born in County Clare, Ireland, on 19th March, 1847. He was educated in the Diocesan College, Ennis, Ireland, and at St. Michael's College, Toronto. He pursued his studies at the Grand Seminary, Montreal, and was ordained to the priesthood in 1873. He became parish priest of Caledon, and was appointed rector of St. Paul's, Toronto, in 1880, and later of Thornhill. In 1893 he became Dean of Barrie, a position he held until the time of his demise.

Father Egan possessed a ready Irish wit, and his addresses and sermons were invariably of a brilliantly thoughtful character. His fellow-citizens of Barrie showed their appreciation of his qualities by electing him to the directorate of the Barrie Collegiate Institute, and of the Mechanics' Institute. He was the author of "What Do the Jesuits Teach?" and was a frequent contributor to the national and religious press. In 1877 he visited Rome with the famous Irish-Canadian pilgrimage of that year, and was accorded an audience with Pope Pius IX.

The funeral will take place to-morrow, at 11 a.m., to St. Mary's church, Barrie.

CAUGHT IN ACT OF TAPPING TILL

Young Man Arrested for Stealing From Mr. Dixon Jewett

The Cannington Gleaner says:—Sunday morning John Hargraves, a young man, who came to this section three or four years ago, and who made his headquarters at the Bennett House, was caught tapping Mr. W. Dixon Jewett's till. Mr. Less Cliff, county constable, took him in charge and he was locked up. Monday morning Mr. Hargraves appeared before Wm. A. Robinson, J.P., and pleaded guilty to the charge of theft. He was committed for trial, Mr. Cliff taking him to the county jail at Whitby.

TRYING TO REDUCE THE PRICE OF COAL

Out in Lindsay and Peterborough an effort is being made by the coal dealers to have a reduction made in the price of coal. The Lindsay men will ask the Railway Commission to make a reduction in their freight rates from $1.15 to $1.00.

One benefit obtained recently was that all coal is now re-weighed at the Suspension Bridge as well as at the mines and the dealers have only to pay for what coal is on the cars at the bridge. Previous to this arrangement they were compelled to pay for the coal on the cars at the mine.

Peterborough will endeavor to have their coal brought to Cobourg by the ferry, which would mean a considerable saving in freightage.

A little effort on the part of our dealers might result in a reduction which would be greatly appreciated by the public.—Port Hope Guide.

DIED

WINCH.—In this city, on the morning of Saturday, Aug. 28th, 1909, Agnes Fife, beloved wife of R. J. Winch. The funeral will take place from the family residence, 298 Stewart street on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Interment in Little Lake cemetery.

WHAT ARE THEY WORTH?

Are the eyes worth at least five hundred dollars per year to any man, woman or child? You would spend five dollars per year upon them if necessary, would you not? How much do they cost you? How much do you spend for your feet, your hats, your teeth, etc.? Some wait until they must see about their eyes and would give hundreds of dollars, but find it too late. Many parents bring their children that we may examine their eyes and see whether or not they need glasses. In childhood is the time to both remedy and prevent eye troubles. Again we ask what are your eyes worth to you and what to the child? We devote exclusive attention to the eyeglasses and artificial eyes.

LABOUR WILL ARRAY ITSELF AGAINST NEW MILITARISM

That the hand of labor will be raised against the "wave of militarism" at the great congress in Quebec on Sept. 20, and that a resolution vigorously opposing the agitation in Canada for more war-ships and bigger land forces will be drawn up by representatives of more than 100,000 workers, was the announcement of Mr. J. G. O'Donoghue, Parliamentary representative of the Trades and Labor Congress, after a visit to Sir James Whitney, this morning.

"The labor bodies in Canada and throughout America are preparing to give their heartiest support to the peace movement," said Mr O'Donoghue to The News, "to offset the military craze which recently has secured some headway. We hold that as it is the capitalists who cause wars, let them pay for them and fight in them.

"No doubt there will be measures introduced at the next Ontario Legislature by our labor representatives to secure for us what was thrown out at the last session," Mr. O'Donoghue intimated.

"A great many of the Provincial Workers' Association members in the Glace Bay district had come over to the United Mine Workers. The Congress, which will have a strong Toronto deputation, will be composed entirely of labor bodies with international affiliations."—The News.

SCIENTISTS TALK CROP

Gathering at Winnipeg Discusses the Wheat Field—Manufacturers' Association Attacked

Winnipeg, Aug. 31.—Three sections of the British Association for the Advancement of Science—chemistry, agriculture and botany—yesterday combined their forces to discuss scientific problems of supreme importance to the wheat industry.

A. E. Humphries, one of the largest English millers and president of the British Millers' Association, said the British public demanded a flour that will make a large shapely loaf of good color. Manitoba hardly filled the bill. Much yet remained to be done by the chemists in co-relating chemical qualities and baking qualities.

Prof. Hardy, who was deputed by Cambridge University to investigate the question of the strength of wheat, said that discussions on wheat strength always reminded him of a hunt for the holy grail. Wheat strength was made up of a large number of qualities, and what they were in search of was not the holy grail, but an array of archangels.

The economic section developed an animated discussion on the trade relations of the Empire. Prof. A. B. Clark, the new incumbent of the chair of political economy at Manitoba University, read a paper on "The Policy of Preferential Duties." He described the policy as economically unsound, impractical and unlikely to be ever adopted.

The Canadian Manufacturers' Association was soundly taken to task by the free trade members present. Rev. Mr. Bland declared that the policy was the embodiment of selfishness and did not represent the people of Canada.

FEARS DEATH KILLS HERSELF

Buffalo, Aug. 31.—Mrs. Anna Wilson, who with her husband, John Wilson, came from Toronto two months ago, shot herself in the abdomen at her home, No. 44 Elm street, yesterday.

The police are holding the husband, but the woman in her ante-mortem statement said she shot herself fearing that she was about to die from heart failure.

The Wilsons, who were married in Toronto eight years ago, came to this city two months ago.

$20,000 Prize for Aviators.

Paris, Aug. 31.—The "Matin," believes the time ripe for aeroplanes to leave the racetrack and make real voyages from town to town. It therefore offers a prize of 100,000 francs ($20,000), to the owner of the machine which makes the fastest time in a circuit from Paris to Dijon, Belfort, Nancy, Lille and Paris before August 31, 1910.

BEGIN TUNNEL OF 2,500 FEET

Vancouver, B.C., Aug. 31.—The Grand Trunk Pacific official party went east yesterday afternoon.

General Manager Chamberlin said yesterday that five steamers are now rushing supplies up the Skeena River to start work on the new 140 mile section of line now under contract. Work will be commenced immediately on the 2,500 foot tunnel, 19 miles from Hazelton. An aerial tramway will be installed at Kitsalas Canyon to handle goods around a dangerous section of the river.

CANADA IS BIG ENOUGH FOR C.P.R.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 31.—D. McNichol, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, made the statement here that his company has no intention of building a line to Puget Sound as long as the present tariff agreement with the Northern Pacific proves profitable. Mr. McNichol said it is the policy of his road to develop Canadian territory, and it is not their purpose to invade the United States.

ARE HARVESTING BY MOONLIGHT

Calgary, Alta., Aug. 31.—Farmers are jubilant as a result of existing weather conditions, which are unexcelled. The days are warm, with abundance of sunshine and the nights maintain a temperature that materially assists in filling out uncut grain.

Farmers commence cutting at 4 in the morning and by a relay of horses cut for hours by the light of the full moon. Seventy-five per cent. of the crop will be safely harvested inside of two days.

Acland Off to Nova Scotia.

Ottawa, Aug. 31.—The Minister of Labor has sent F. A. Acland, Deputy Minister, to Nova Scotia, with the view of reporting fully to the Minister on the present industrial situation.

While no request has been received from Glace Bay for Government intervention, Hon. Mackenzie King feels that the Government should have the fullest possible information in regard to the situation.

RESULT OF POST MORTEM WAS NOT MADE PUBLIC LAST NIGHT

When the Inquest Into the Death of Arthur Bollard Was Resumed—Adjournment Till To-day at Two o'Clock—Four Witnesses Examined.

Harry Marks Swore That He Heard Bollard Cry "Let Go!" Three Times, and "Rotten!" Twice, When Bollard and Fred. Jopling Went Down Together—Evidence of Witnesses Differs Materially on Some Points.

It was expected that the result of the post-mortem on the body of Arthur Bollard, who died at Chemong Park on Friday of last week, would be made public when the inquest was resumed last night. Such was not the case. Four witnesses were examined, and, by this time it was nearly eleven o'clock, and an adjournment was made to two o'clock this afternoon at the Court House. The witnesses examined last night were Harry Jopling, of Bridgenorth, whose brother Fred is alleged to have been one of the principals in the fight on Monday night; Charles Forsythe, a Bridgenorth young man, who was present when the fight occurred; R. W. Hartshorne, a cottager at Chemong Park, and Harry Marks, of Toronto, who was staying at the Bollard cottage, and was with Arthur Bollard on Monday night when the fight took place. Harry Jopling was on the stand an hour, R. W. Hartshorne and Charles Forsythe were in the witness box for a half hour each, and Harry Marks was examined for nearly an hour.

The inquest was to have been held in the Council Chamber at the Court House, but when the people commenced to gather it was seen that there was going to be much crowding, and a move was made to the court room. It is a spacious auditorium, having a seating capacity of 350, but it was not large enough to accommodate all those who wanted to hear the evidence. The aisles were filled and the eager listeners crowded down to the table where the lawyers and a number of newspaper reporters were sitting. The evidence was listened to with the deepest interest, although there was considerable noise in the court room on account of persons entering and going out. The case has attracted widespread interest, and people were present from many parts of the country. Over fifty were present from Bridgenorth and Chemong Park. The outside newspapers represented were the Globe, Telegram, News and Star.

Crown Attorney Wood conducted the investigation, and Mr. D. O'Connell and Mr. F. D. Kerr were also present and examined the witnesses. Coroner Dr. Gray presided.

The evidence of the witnesses varied materially on some points. It was clearly established, however, that Fred Jopling interposed when Arthur Bollard and Harry Jopling were fighting. Fred Jopling and Bollard clinched and went down together, and Bollard cried out when he was down as if he were in pain. Forsythe heard Bollard say, "dirty," and Harry Marks said he cried "Let go" three times, and "rotten" twice. After Bollard got up he and Fred Jopling agreed to have a friendly wrestle, and each got a fall.

According to Harry Marks Bollard was so weak that he had to be carried the greater part of the way home.

LIGHTS WENT OUT.

Just as the examination of Charles Forsythe was concluded the electric lights in the court room went out and it was several minutes before they came on again. In the meantime an attempt was made to light the gas, it was not in working order and the only illumination for some time was from lighted matches in various parts of the room. Just when it looked as if an adjournment would have to be made the electric lights came on again and the taking of evidence was proceeded with.

THE EVIDENCE

HARRY JOPLING.

Harry Jopling sworn, said he was from Bridgenorth. He was not acquainted with the deceased, Arthur Bollard, but he knew him by sight for three days. He first saw him on Saturday, August 21st, on the verandah of "Jubilee" cottage in the Park. He next saw him Monday morning in Bridgenorth. Bollard was coming from from the village towards the park and witness was driving a delivery waggon towards the village. Witness asked Bollard if he had been on his knees. He said this in a jocular way as Bollard's white duck trousers were soiled at the knees. Bollard stopped after he had gone about fifty yards. Witness stopped too. "He came back to me," said Jopling, "and I remained in the rig. He wanted to know if I wanted to fight with him. I said no. He wanted me to get out and fight him. Bollard said one of us was too small and he offered to take the both of us, "Bobbby" Merrill and myself. He hit me on the knees with his fist and I drove on home. He accused me of calling him names. He said I called him a vile name and I denied it.

"I next saw him again in the evening at half-past eight at the pavilion. I was dancing and I saw Bollard just outside the pavilion. I next saw him near Seidenburg's cottage about 100 yards from the hotel. This was about ten o'clock. The dance was then over.

I was with my brother Fred, and Bollard was with Miss Minns and Harry Sparks and Gordon Long were going west. We were going west too. We were behind them. I expected he was going to trim me next day and my brother wanted to know what he was going to trim me for. My brother wanted to explain that I was only a kid and that I was only joking. We were walking after them on the road.

How long did you follow them? asked Mr. Wood.

About fifty yards, was the answer.

Did you see anybody else?

No, said the witness.

My brother asked me which one was Bollard and I told him in a low tone of voice and before I could do anything Bollard had a strangle hold on me and I was down. He pounded me on the top of the head. I cried out. My brother said he was there on behalf of me. The moment I told my brother "that was him" he turned around and strangled me. I did not speak to Bollard.

He commenced pounding me on the top of the head. I tried to defend myself the best way I could. I was lying with my face down, and he had his arm around the back of my neck. My brother asked him if he were ready and he said he was. They clinched and went down. My brother struck him once. I do not know what part of the body he struck him on. I was dazed and did not see where he struck him.

What happened then? asked Mr. Wood.

Bollard just yelled and my brother let him up.

While Bollard was sitting on the ground he offered to bet five dollars that he could throw my brother. They shook hands and I shook hands with Bollard. They started to wrestle. It was a friendly wrestle. Bollard cried out only once, that was in the first clinch. They clinched the first thing. After the two friendly wrestles, each getting a fall apiece, my brother wanted to have another wrestle, and Bollard said he was done. He vomited then. My brother got the first fall and Bollard the second. We shook hands with him and bade him good night.

Charles Forsythe, Blake Cullen, Victor Tully, "Buff" McManus, and some others were present.

Witness described where the fight took place. It was on the left-hand side of the road, near Seidenberg's cottage, about one hundred yards from Hartshorne's cottage, and seventy-five yards from Jas. Long's.

Continuing, Jopling said—I don't know how Bollard got home. He was laying on the grass when we bade him good night and went home.

The witness said he hadn't spoken to Bollard at all. All he did was to point out Bollard to his brother and to mention that "that was him."

Witness heard Bollard make the remark at the pavilion that "that was the guy," pointing to witness, who was dancing with his sister. Witness sent to the village for Charles Forsythe. He didn't want to be mobbed there alone. He was under the impression that Bollard was going to trim him.

Witness had a lady with him, but he did not see her home. He met his brother at the pavilion. He also spoke to Charles Forsythe there.

Jopling was closely questioned by Mr. Wood, as to whether Bollard said anything about the unfairness of the hold that Jopling had on him when they first clinched. Witness heard no words, but he heard Bollard yell. Witness had cried out when Bollard had caught him first.

CHARLES FORSYTHE.

Charles Forsyth said he lived in Bridgenorth and had known Harry Jopling for eight years. He was a chum of witness. He remembered the night of the trouble. He was at the park. He was always around there. He was there first at eight o'clock, went home and came back again, having been sent for by Harry Jopling. Jopling wanted him to come up and see that he (Jopling) did not get hurt. Witness had been told by Harry Jopling at 6.10 that he had got into a mix-up with a fellow in the park. Witness told Jopling he would see him out if he got into trouble. Witness saw the fight on Monday night. Others there were Pete Lavelle, "Sport" Long and Blake Cullen. Long did not belong to the bunch. All but Long were friends of witness and Jopling. He did not see any one trying to prevent Marks from helping Bollard. He did not try to stop him himself. He walked around the block at Chemong after coming up from the village for pleasure. Then he ran to the pavilion. Jopling told him there that he (Jopling) had heard Bollard say he was going to give him a trimming. Witness told Jopling that he wouldn't see him hurt. Witness told Blake Cullen at the hotel that Jopling could beat the head off him for all witness cared. He wasn't going to get into trouble over Jopling. When witness arrived at scene of the fight Fred Jopling had hold of Bollard's shoulders telling him to get off his brother, Harry, who was down under Bollard. Bollard and Fred Jopling clinched and went down together.

CRIED "DIRTY."

Bollard yelled "dirty" when Fred Jopling hit him. When Bollard got up Jopling said that he had put his arm between his legs and lifted him up. Witness told about the two friendly wrestles and how Bollard was unable to continue after the second one.

To Mr. O'Connell witness said he was in Jopling's store when he was summoned to the park by the messenger

GOVERNOR-GENERAL NARROWLY ESCAPES DEATH IN THE WOODS

While Hunting Near Jervis Inlet on the West Coast, He Goes Out With Only His Dog for Companion and Wanders for Five and a Half Hours.

Victoria, B.C., Aug. 31.—Earl Grey, Governor-General of Canada, who returned here yesterday from Dawson and Skagway by the Government steamer Quadra, had a narrow escape from death when lost in the woods of Jervis Inlet for five and a half hours on Saturday last.

He was on a shooting expedition without companions, other than his dog.

He tells of nearly falling over a precipice in the darkness, before being rescued by a search party, headed by Major Clark, his orderly, and Second Officer Johnston of the Quadra, one of the many search parties sent into the woods after fires were built along the shore line to attract the attention of the lost governor.

Earl Grey was utterly exhausted when found and his clothing was badly torn.

His Excellency left the Quadra at 5.30 p.m. and went into the woods, where Lord Lascellas, the previous day, had killed a mountain goat and two deer. After penetrating some distance into the woods, he lost his way, and night came on.

When he failed to return for dinner there was intense excitement on the Quadra, and the steam whistle was kept blowing constantly, fires were built on the beach and search parties sent into the woods.

Meanwhile the earl clambered over fallen trees, fought his way through undergrowth and slid down rocks in the darkness, tearing his clothing to rags.

On one occasion he came to the edge of a precipice, feeling his way with an alpenstock, which he carried as well as a rifle. The alpenstock slipped from his hand clattered down a considerable distance below. Then he realized what a narrow escape from death he had. His dog was missing and he feared it had fallen over the precipice, but it turned up afterwards.

He turned back, and failing in the darkness to find his way, tired with his many struggles, sank down exhausted, after five and a half hours of unavailing effort.

He was so hungry and exhausted that he leaned against what he took to be a log, but it proved to be a shadow, and he tumbled into the undergrowth. At last he sank down on a flat rock to await daylight, and soon afterward saw the reflection of a fire. Then he fired his rifle and the shot was heard by a search party.

His Excellency is none the worse for his adventure.

LORD CHARLES BERESFORD HAS MANY VISITORS AT TORONTO

Hero of Alexandria Has a Busy Time of it Making Calls and Receiving and Avoiding Callers—Is Keeping Silent Regarding Navy.

Toronto, Aug. 31.—Despite the efforts of his more intimate friends to prevent him from being pestered by eager Toronto citizens anxious to shake him by the hand and have a brief chat with him, Lord Charles Beresford had a busy time of it yesterday in making calls and receiving callers, to say nothing of the public and semi-public functions he attended during the day.

And a strenuous time he is likely to have during the whole of his visit. So many people desire to have the privilege of grasping him by the hand and exchanging a few words with him, that if he acceded to all the requests of this character he would have no time to himself. Consequently many who wish to make the personal acquaintance of the hero of Alexandria will be disappointed. Lord Charles has a suite of rooms at the King Edward Hotel, which will be his headquarters until he leaves the city next Monday, and here a book is provided in which are entered all the names of visitors who call upon the gallant admiral.

Among the few callers Lord Beresford received in his suite at the King Edward yesterday morning, were Capt. Melville, Mayor Oliver and W. K. George.

Those who are acting as his "guides, philosophers and friends," during his stay in the city are having a busy time too, one of their chief and most difficult tasks being to keep forever on the alert to guard his lordship from the attacks of enthusiastic reporters who are to be found lurking in all manner of unlikely places ready to pounce upon him at any moment he may be left unguarded, and secure a coveted interview. But Lord Charles is "mum," as far as private chats with newspaper men are concerned. He firmly, but courteously refuses to say anything to the press which is of any news value. He is reserving what he has to say regarding his views on the British naval policy for his public utterances. So carefully is everything arranged to prevent anything like a forecast of what he may have to say upon this subject that his private secretary, Hon. Dudley Carleton, is practically as inaccessible to the reporters as Lord Charles himself.

However at the official opening of the exhibition this afternoon, it is expected that his lordship may unburden his mind of some reflections he has stored up during his voyage across the Atlantic, and during his short sojourn in Canada, so that those who are privileged to be present at the ceremony are likely to hear him express some views of world-wide importance.

At the luncheon at the Canadian Club on Thursday, and at the dinner at the National Club the same night, Lord Charles is expected to touch upon Imperial questions.

NUMBER OF DEAD FROM FLOOD PLACED AT FOURTEEN HUNDRED

Mexico City, Aug. 31.—A conservative estimate of the damage wrought at Monterey by the flood places the dead at fourteen hundred and the property loss at $12,000,000. The river has now gone down.

Eighteen blocks of residences were destroyed, and 15,000 persons are homeless. The water mains are useless and the city is without drinking water and as it will be impossible to resume the train service for a week the city is threatened with a food famine. Ten thousand persons are being fed on bread, coffee and soup by the municipal authorities.

Many abode structures, soaked by the rain, are falling, with some loss of life.

The greatest loss occurred when the large buildings on the south side of the river commenced to crumble and fall. Many of the houses had from 100 to 200 people on their roofs and all disappeared in the flood. In one school building 80 women and children were drowned when the walls of the building collapsed. While two priests were blessing the women and children the walls fell. Thousands of people on the north bank were unable to render aid, for the Santa Catarina was half a mile wide and flowing 20 miles an hour.

President Diaz yesterday afternoon telegraphed $30,000 to Monterey. Vice-President Coral has contributed $2,000 and Ambassador Thompson $1,000 to the fund. The fact that the Red Cross of the United States is to give aid to the sufferers has been learned here with profound satisfaction.

The National Bank officials estimate the loss in the business centre of Monterey at $5,000,000. The loss to the big smelter and industrial plants outside the city limits will amount to as much more.

It is estimated that the total losses in the whole district affected by the cyclone and floods will approximate $30,000,000.

NOTHING SERIOUS SAYS HARRIMAN

New York, Aug. 31.—E. H. Harriman has dictated a statement for the press, saying:

"My treatment abroad reduced my strength and vitality and weakened my digestion. The most expert physicians in Europe advised to have an examination by surgeons, as a matter of precaution. This has been done very carefully by Doctors Brewer and Crile, in conjunction with Dr. Walter James and Dr. Lyle, and the whole result is that they find nothing serious, and renew the advice previously obtained that I should have rest and not see many people at one time.

"If there was or should be anything serious I will let the press know, and as I have never deceived them, I ask that the press now withdraw its representatives and rely on me."

PULP MILLS SUFFER FROM NEW U.S. TARIFF

Ottawa, Aug. 31.—Because of the new U. S. tariff regulations practically prohibiting the import of print paper, the output of the J. R. Booth paper mills here will be decreased about 40 per cent., necessitating the laying off of 150 employes. The Eddy Co. market is principally in Canada.

The ruling of the United States Treasury Board against wood pulp and paper from Ontario and Quebec has given considerable concern to the Canadian Government, and will be the subject of further inquiry by them.

The export duties were put on by the Provincial Governments over which the Federal authorities have no control.

BELLEVILLE MAN TRIED TO END LIFE

Belleville, Aug. 31.—Luke Shaw, aged 30, unmarried, made an attempt to end his life by throwing himself from the footbridge into the river. He was carried down to the entrance to Victoria Park, where Joseph Bolster threw a rope around him and tried to pull him out. Shaw cut the rope with a knife, gashing himself severely at the same time. Assistance was secured, and the man was taken from the river and locked up. He is said to have been crazed with drink.

LITTLE CHILD WAS RESCUED

Toronto, Aug. 31.—Fire in the third floor of 19 Chestnut street yesterday, in apartments occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Green, caused considerable damage. Mrs. Green had gone downstairs, leaving her six-year-old son in the rooms, when smoke was noticed. F. J. Nixon and Thomas Usher sent in an alarm and then worked their way upstairs to the rescue of a 15-months-old baby of Mrs. Klein on the second floor. The firemen made quick work of the blaze. The loss includes $100 to building and $150 to contents, with $85 in bills additional. The cash was to pay some employes of Mrs. Green.

Another Harvesters' Excursion

The west is still calling for men to help garner the big crop and to supply the demand another farm laborers' excursion will be run on Friday, Sept. 3rd, from all points in Ontario. A special train will pass through Peterborough about noon.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

Burglars visited several houses at Brampton Saturday night.

Burglars climbed over the transom of a St. Catharines' hotel on Sunday while the family were on the lawn and got $15.

Judge Henderson of the County Court district of Nanaimo, B.C., has resigned after over twenty years' service. He is succeeded by C. H. Barker.

The Bishop of Birmingham has dropped his action against Canon Henson for preaching in a non-conformist chapel in defiance of his inhibition.

Grand Forks, Idaho, was destroyed by fire in an hour Sunday night. The bystanders looted the three burning saloons. Three hundred people are homeless and without food.

William Zimmer, a Lehigh Railroad detective, was shot and probably mortally hurt in a running fight with car thieves at Batavia, N.Y. Zimmer and two other detectives surprised seven burglars.

Out on the railroad track, two miles west of Ailsa Craig, Chief Constable Alex. Reith of Lucan fought a long battle with Frank Beadore, an escaped lunatic from London Hospital for the Insane.

The airship Zeppelin III. was disabled while returning from Berlin to Friedrichshafen. The forward propeller was broken, tearing two large holes in the envelope of the forward compartments. Two days will be required for repairs.

The Chicago-Record Herald says that the site of the new $1,500,000 opera house to be managed by Oscar Hammerstein of New York, has been selected in the midst of a cluster of millionaires' residences. The theatre will have a seating capacity of about 5,000.

TUESDAY, AUG. 31, 1909.

THE U. S TARIFF

The effect of the new U.S. tariff is already apparent. The Trade Review advises looking to farthest Russia for a market. What if Russia puts up her tariff?

It is possible that in the course of time it will occur to all commercial men that the best market is our home-market. When we begin to export we show that our national business has become unequalized and needs the restoration of its balance. If we export or desire to export we do others. This provokes in the end the usual clash. Logically speaking it would surely seem that the only exports ultimately possible are those who have a monopoly and vice versa. If this be true, it follows then, that our tariff should always look to our status as a well-balanced country, first. After that, any exploring it may do may serve as "velvet," as an experiment, or as a desirable exhibition of aliveness, but no more. The rest of the world does not exist as a profitable market for any nation. It cannot without lowering itself to a condition of servitude.

A WORD TO THE FRENCH

"It is a marvelous thing to see the unity here in Canada with French and British. The way to keep that up is to call yourselves all Canadians. It is only right that the French-Canadians should have their love for their language. They would not be human if otherwise. But the word Canadian sweeps away all barriers," was the enthusiastic remark of this bluff sailor, who still possesses the characteristics which earned him the compliment: "Well done, Condor!"—Lord Charles Beresford, in the Witness.

The advice of Lord Charles Beresford to the French-Canadians, as given above, ought to weigh with them. It is plain that Canada's future will be greatly marred by this insistent sectionalising of our people. A man who is too selfish to allow himself to be called a Canadian without being stamped with his particular brand, is an enemy to his country, and so far from seeking a united empire, is not even able to advocate a United Canada. The word to the French of Lord Charles will apply to us all, and it is to be hoped that in the future we shall hear less of racial diversity and more of national unity.

THE EMPRESS JOSEPHINE

It has been said that the virtuous are a different class of beings just as distinct from the unvirtuous as Nature can make them. It is also contended by some that the acquirement of virtue merely renders the acquirer conscious of his formerly sinful nature, but does not raise him to the "virtuous" class, since Virtue is virtue, not a mending of broken crockery. The unchaste can never reach the level they once have lost.

It is in connection with such ideas and opinions that one reads with little less than anger the learned review of the Empress Josephine by M. J. G. (Martin Griffin, C.M.G. Librarian of Parliament, in his "At McKinley's" column of the Montreal Gazette.) Such a revelation as the following to a reader of Josephine's life and history seems quite impossible, and yet M. J. G. is not likely to form an unjust estimate of anybody:—

"The story of Josephine has been often repeated. There was a time when the purely sentimental view was taken of her. The Emperor loved her, we know. [illegible] the Emperor, that she was a good wife; that her divorce was a cruel act; that she was an injured woman; and that the Emperor's misfortune dates from his desertion of her. This was the popular view for long. This view the Emperor Napoleon the Third embodied in his address to the Chambers when he announced his approaching marriage with Eugenie de Montijo, who, he said, "would emulate the virtues of Josephine." It was a false note to strike. In 1853 the real truth about Josephine was known to the world. To Louis Napoleon it must have been known. His passion for histrionics was greater than his sense of humor; his countrymen did not then share his apparent illusion. They knew Josephine for what she was [illegible]

What she was it is not necessary to state with perfect frankness. She was a creole, self-indulgent and vain; she was likewise poor and had two children. The society in which she moved was reckless in conduct and in that recklessness she freely shared. Before Bonaparte met her she was fully known to the Republican leaders, though her husband had been a victim to the Revolution. She accepted Bonaparte by the advice of her friends. Frenilly tells us the name of the man who provided clothes for her children for the marriage. That she had been the too intimate friend of Barras and some others is beyond dispute. Barras in his Memoirs tells some scandalous and even very shocking stories, in which we have no special reason to disbelieve, though we may think Barras a scoundrel. That the command of the army of Italy was the dower which Josephine brought to young Bonaparte, and that it was secured by the equivocal friendship of Barras, is a story which has been both asserted and denied. The latest critics tell us that it was Carnot, not Barras, who procured the appointment; but we must assume also the consent of Barras as a colleague. The virtue of gratitude Josephine does not seem to have possessed. Once married, she played fast and loose with her husband's feelings, followed him but slowly to Milan and dallied with young officers even almost under Bonaparte's eyes. During his Egyptian expedition she pursued a dissipated career; he surprised her on his return, and was with difficulty reconciled. Thereafter he showed her that she was no longer mistress of his heart. When the divorce question was raised it might easily have been procured for the usual reasons. The point decided was that there had been no legal or even canonical marriage at all. The civil marriage was irregular; the canonical marriage without witnesses was void. There has been much discussion of the question, and we have not space for discussion here.

In his exile he praised the beauty and grace of Josephine, whom for a time he certainly loved; he does not assert her goodness."

Notwithstanding this "unmasking" of Josephine many will feel that it is undeserved, and wholly undeserved. Moving in a life of social and political intrigue, she is yet, notwithstanding her meteoric rise, to be regarded as a noble type of woman. It must be remembered that Eugene Beauharnais was himself a model man, and he lavished upon his mother the love and admiration of one who knew that she deserved it. The reference to Napoleon's return from Egypt might have been stated by the reviewer differently. It was one of the most heart-stirring moments of history and well worthy of the study and admiration of those who care to look into the side-issues of life.

A TARIFF COMMISSION

The editor of Industrial Canada sends us a paper of Mr. G. M. Murray in which the latter advocates the taking of the tariff out of politics, the appointment of a commission, etc. The request presents many of the details for discussion long since settled by the Germans, who have gone through all this turmoil and have arrived at a position in relation to the tariff which is at once logical and satisfactory. They have a commission of experts who change the tariff according to the tariffs of other countries and the needs of their own. It is only necessary to send to Germany and find out how they do things there with regard to it. A long discussion in Canadian journals is a useless waste of time, in our opinion.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Hon. S. H. Blake, K.C., seems to be under the impression that the Almighty has very little to say in the government of the world.

Liquid air, which produces as it is produced at, a low temperature, is about to enter the market as a substitute for other cooling processes.

It is a sad commentary on our idea of management that the armouries should now be found to be too low. The foundation was lowered to suit us, and it has been overdone.

The price of living has gone up so under the Liberal regime that banks have now raised the minimum salary on which a clerk may get married from $1,000 to $1,200.

An Englishman wants Sir Wilfrid Laurier to be the first governor-general of the New South African Union. There are some in Canada who, for the sake of the Empire, and other things, would be willing to make the sacrifice involved in seeing him torn out of our political system.—Montreal Gazette.

The new Canadian navy idea will bring a pang to the tax-payers. We might have done our duty in a much more effective and yet cheaper way. We have nothing to thank Mr. Brodeur for. Strangely enough, the present plan has squeezed all patriotism out of our contribution.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Aug. 30.—(Special.)—At the Montreal Stock Yards West End Market the receipts of live stock for the week ending Aug. 28 were 2150 cattle, 1[illegible] sheep and lambs, 3000 hogs and 500 calves. The supply on the market this morning consisted of 1150 cattle, 700 sheep and lambs, [illegible] hogs and 250 calves. The easy feeling of the past three weeks still continues, and prices showed a further decline of fully ¼c per lb. since this day week, attributed to continued liberal supplies. There was a large attendance of buyers, and an active trade was done. Cable advices from Liverpool noted an advance of ¼c to ½c per lb. There was some demand from exporters here for top quality steers, and several lots were bought to complete shipments with. Choice steers sold at 4½c to 5c; good at 4¼c to 4½c; fair at 3½c to 4c; medium at 3¼c to 3½c; common at 2½c to 3c, and inferior at 2c to 2½c per lb. Supplies of hogs were small, and higher prices were demanded for shipments to be made later in the week. The demand was keen for what stock was on the market to-day, and sales of selected lots were made at $8.60 to $8.75 cwt., weighed off cars. Cable advices from all the leading foreign markets on Canadian bacon last week noted an advance of 1s to 2s per cwt., on account of light supplies and a good demand. The market for small meats was steady. Sheep sold at 3½c to 4c, and lambs at 6c per lb. Calves were somewhat scarce at prices ranging from $3 to $12 each, as to size and quality.

At the Canadian Pacific live stock market, receipts for week ending Aug. 28 were [illegible] cattle and 140 sheep for export account; 1800 cattle, 1250 sheep and lambs, 225 hogs and 600 calves for local consumption. Something About Moose and Deer

It is now pretty well known among hunters that the best deer hunting country in Ontario is on the line of the Canadian Northern Ontario and that hunters receive special attention. Mr. C. Price Green, Passenger Agent of the line is a hunter himself who goes right with the parties and looks after them, in fact he located most of them. This year the line will be opened north of Sellwood into the midst of the Moose Country, they are reported very thick, the Engineers say that they have never seen anything like it, the Moose season up there opens October 15th, fifteen days before the Deer. We have something special on a new place that will take three parties of deer hunters.

THE RESULT OF POST MORTEM NOT MADE PUBLIC

from Harry Jopling. Three minutes would be about the time of the first struggle between F. Jopling and Bollard.

H. JOPLING RE-CALLED.

Harry Jopling, recalled denied to Mr. Wood that he was "he was going to make a job of it before Bollard left. He did not known there was a stone thrown on Tuesday.

Mr. R. W. Hartshorne said his home was in the United States and he had a cottage at Chemong. On Monday night he said he had heard a row going on and went out to see what the trouble was. When he got to the scene of the disturbance the two Joplings, Bollard, Long and three or four others were standing round. Fred Jopling and Bollard were just getting up off the ground. Witness said to the boys that this rowing had to stop and Fred Jopling said that he wasn't going to see anybody choke his young brother. He saw the two friendly wrestles between Bollard and Jopling. At the finish Jopling said to Bollard "Well, you're a good deal better man than I am you're one of these mat boys."

Witness had told boys that he would stay there and see that there was fiar play. He did not suggest that they have a friendly wrestle.

He heard one outcry. He could not say who cried out. He did not hear what was said. The outcry did not sound like a cry of pain. Witness saw the two friendly wrestles and he did not hear any proposition about a third bout. The boys were leaving the spot when he started home. He sat on his verandah a half or three-quarters of an hour after returning to his cottage.

To Mr. O'Connell witness said the row seemed of a mild character. He thought the suggestion for a friendly wrestle came from either Bollard or Jopling. They seemed to be on friendly terms then. He only saw the two men engaged in the contest.

To Mr. Wood witness said he had heard nothing about a bet of five dollars.

Witness saw Bollard twice after Monday night, once on the club-house float and once near the hotel Wednesday night. He had not heard of witness dancing.

HARRY MARKS.

Harry Marks said his home was in Toronto and he had been spending some holidays at Chemong Park. He thought Bollard was nineteen years of age. He was staying with the Bollards at Chemong. He walked home from the dance with Arthur Bollard and Miss Ada Minns. The young lady was walking in the centre and witness was on one side and Bollard on the other. The two Joplings had followed the three of them from the hotel and were close behind them near Seidenberg's cottage. Bollard turned around and took off his coat just as Harry Jopling said "there he is," and rushed at Bollard. They clinched, and then Fred Jopling interfered and clinched with Bollard, and they went down together. Witness tried to get near the scene of the mix-up. Some of the boys pushed him away, and he did not see very clearly what happened. He heard Bollard say "let go" three times, and "rotten" twice. Jopling struck Bollard two or three times in the face. When Jopling released Bollard, the latter complained that Fred Jopling had caught him by the privates. Jopling said he only had the crotch hold on Bollard. They had two wrestles afterwards. Witness thought that somebody bet $5.00 that Jopling could throw Bollard. Witness thought Bollard got the two falls, but was not sure. He got the last one at any rate. Jopling wanted to continue, but Bollard was unable to do so. He vomited while lying on the ground. He got up and witness and Mr. Long put their arms around him and they started to walk home. After going a short distance Bollard wanted to lie down. He laid down for three or four minutes and could not walk well when he got up. The two boys then carried him home.

Witness slept with Bollard that night and he complained several times of being in pain. On Tuesday the witness and Bollard were out in a sail boat both morning and afternoon. Bollard appeared very tired, and complained frequently of being "all in." They were out in the boat again on Wednesday and Bollard appeared better in the afternoon and went to the dance at night. He danced about an hour and a quarter and then went home and went to bed early. Thursday morning he was very sick and Dr. Scott was sent for. Witness returned to Toronto Thursday noon. He did not know Bollard was seriously ill, and did not think he was going to die.

The witness told of the trouble Monday morning. He and Bollard had rented a sail boat and in fixing it up they had got the white duck trousers they were wearing dirty. Witness and Bollard met Harry Jopling driving a delivery waggon when they were returning from Bridgenorth. Jopling asked Bollard if he had been on his knees. Bollard stopped after he was about fifty feet from Jopling's wagon and asked Jopling what he meant. There were some words and Bollard asked Jopling if he wanted to fight. Bollard offered to fight Jopling and Merrill.

"Strike me and see what will happen," Jopling said.

Bollard struck Jopling on the knee with his fist and Jopling then drove on.

To Mr. O'Connell witness said he had known Bollard for about three months. He was staying at Bollard's cottage, having come there on the Tuesday before the fight occurred.

Bollard, witness said, had danced about an hour and a quarter Wednesday evening. He was in good health before Monday night.

Adjournment then took place.

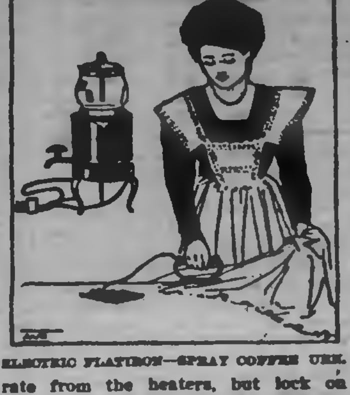
SUMMER COOKING.

Electric Inventions That Make Kitchen Work Easy.

In summer the electric range is the most labor saving and comfortable means of preparing meals yet attained. There are a number of different makes in these ranges, but all have an electric oven, a griddle, a broiler, three or four electric heaters and the proper utensils to use on them.

Each appliance is controlled separately by a switch on the front of the range and any one can be used alone or all together. The stoves take up little space in the kitchen, and the utensils are pretty enough to attract any housekeeper, no matter how unenthusiastic she may be about her work. They are of copper, double tin lined and nickel plated, and are separate from the heaters, but lock on when in use so as to make a good heating contact.



ELECTRIC FLATIRON—SPRAY COFFEE URN.

The electric oven is a special joy to the bread and cake baker, for there is no draft, and the heat is even. It is controlled by a regulating switch giving three degrees of heat.

And now that so many girls are doing up their fine lingerie shirt waists an electric flatiron is an absolute necessity wherever there is a lamp socket available, whether at home or abroad. The beauty of this iron is that you can take it to your work and are not obliged to take your work to the iron. It heats quickly and maintains a uniform temperature over the entire bottom surface while in use. The three pound iron is the best size for the traveler, the six pound size being the weight of that used for the ordinary family ironing.

The most delicious cup of coffee can be made in the electric spray coffee urn. The secret of success is explained by the fact that the dry coffee goes in a receptacle separate from the water, so arranged that the steam from the boiling water passes through the coffee and extracts its naturally delicious flavor. The steam is brought up through a central tube, where it is condensed above, then passes down through the coffee, thus insuring the best results in the quickest possible time. This is certainly a get-breakfast-quick scheme, the modus operandi being accomplished at the breakfast table, where the attachment is made by running the tubing through a small hole in the floor.

KELSEY HEATING

The Kelsey system of Heating insures a constant circulation of fresh warm air and enough of it for heat and ventilation. The Kelsey Warm Air Generator warms fresh air to a natural and heathful temperature, and forces it into every room in equal proportions.

The whole house is warm and comfortable even though a January blizzard may be howling outside. The Kelsey accomplishes these results, not only in small houses, but in the largest and finest city and country residences, and with the most economical use of fuel.

That is why 30,000 home owners who have investigated carefully have bought the Kelsey.

The ZIG ZAG Heat Tubes are responsible for the efficiency and economy, and we should like to explain all the other Kelsey advantages to you.

Tokio, Aug. 30.—The Government announces its intention to build cruisers of 36,000 tons.

A 36,000-ton cruiser would be in the class as to size with the greatest Atlantic liners, the Mauretania and Lusitania alone excepted.

BOARD RECOMMENDS THE TENDER OF ST. CATHARINES FIRM

They Agree to Construct Smith Street Bridge According to Specifications for $26,714 — Five Tenders Before the Board Last Night—City Engineer's Tender Was $29.565—Other Business Transacted.

"That this Board recommend that the tender of Begy & Company, St. Catharines for the building of the Smith street bridge be accepted with the understanding that the contractors employ as much local labor as possible."

This was the motion made by Ald. J. J. Turner after the tenders had been read by the chairman and explained at the meeting of the Board of Works held last night. The motion was unanimously carried. The amount of the tender was $26,724 and it was the cheapest of the five before the Board. Those present at the meeting were the chairman, Ald. Phelan, Mayor Rush, Ald. Duncan, Buller, McIntyre, Turner, Gillespie, Bradburn and City Engineer Hay.

As the chairman was about to open the first envelope containing a tender, Ald. Duncan asked that the specifications be read to the members of the Board, as this had not been done before and he did not know the nature of them. He held that there should have been a meeting called by the chairman and the articles thoroughly looked into. The chairman explained that the specifications had been in the City Clerk's office for some time past and each member could have seen them if he so desired. However, the chairman went over the specifications and this was followed by a short discussion.

Ald. Bradburn asked the City Engineer if he thought it were the right kind of bridge at this point and if it was superior to a steel bridge. Mr. Hay replied that he thought the structure suitable and also that it was better than one of steel. It was the first of this kind of bridge that he had drawn up the specifications for, but he had taken the trouble to get all the information possible. Ald. Buller and the chairman also stated that they had made inquiries and were informed that the proposed bridge would be all right, but Ald. Buller thought that it would be advisable to secure a first-class inspector who would see that the work was done according to the specifications.

Ald. Turner said that he endorsed the plans and had every confidence that the work would be carried out, in the best interests of the city, but asked as to what provision had been made for the laying of a water main across the bridge for the protection of the ratepayers in Auburn.

Mr. Hay answered by stating that Mr. Henderson was satisfied with the specifications and that this would be looked after. He further said that provision would be made for the laying of power or telephone lines and gas pipes if necessary. Also if the street railway decided to use the bridge there would still remain a good roadway and sidewalk.

The tenders were then read to the members, and were as follows;

Bishop Construction Co	$25,000
C. Conroy	25,765
Begy & Co., St. Catharines	22,314
Bishop & Buchanan	22,165
City Engineer (by day work)	26,565

The above figures are the tenders for the work according to the specifications. It has not been ascertained just to what depth it will be necessary to go in order to reach a proper foundations. The specifications are only from above the present level of the water and the tender of the City Engineer, which was $29,565, allowed for all work above and below this mark although he was unable to say just what the actual cost would be, below the level.

The figures of the other four tenders which would include the work below and above the water level were;

Bishop Construction Co	$29,725
E. Conroy	28,457
Begy & Co	26,724
Bishop & Buchanan	28,815

Then, according to the calculations of the City Engineer, there would be an additional cost of $1,975 for improvements such as approaches to the bridge, railways, etc. With this added to the last figures the total sum of each tender would be;

Bishop Construction Co	$31,700
E. Conroy	30,432
Begy & Co., St. Catharines	28,699
Bishop & Buchanan	30,790
City Engineer	31,540

Ald. Buller asked that when the tender is accepted, the contractor be notified to employ all the local help possible. On previous occasions this had not been done and it was not fair.

Ald. Duncan said he knew of one case in the city where two mechanics had been engaged but did not stay long on the job, although it was not the fault of the employers as far as he could ascertain. Ald. Turner and Buller were in favor of accepting the tender of the St. Catharines firm and after the former made his motion the the members carried it.

It must also have been request night for each member had something to put before the chairman. Ald. Buller mentioned the Romaine street sewer. A citizen of that street, he said, wished to make a connection with a proposed new house and wanted to know what the Council was doing in the matter. The chairman replied that the final report was not yet ready but would be very shortly and then something definite would be proceeded with.

To those who have been worrying about the street railway extension the following may be of interest. The company have until August, 1910, to extend their line to Lakefield and three years in which to build to Young's Point and Rice Lake. This was a matter explained at the meeting last night.

WILL REVOLUTIONIZE INDUSTRY; A NEW CANADIAN INVENTION

The invention is that of M. Beland, a French-Canadian. It is composed of metal cylinders turning in contrary ways. By a simple push of the hand the cylinders start and in a short time the number of revolutions per minute becomes tremendous developing a prodigious power. The facts are these; The only difficulty yet unsolved by the inventor is that of controlling it. The inventor says the force developed is due to the electricity generated by the action of the two metals turning in opposite directions. The whole apparatus is so simple and starts so easily that it may be said to be force in its simplest and therefore most wonderful conditions.

SOME NOTES FROM REV. W. KENNER, WHO IS IN THE WEST

The great harvest of the west, as far as cutting is concerned, will soon be a thing of the past, only some few acres of grain sown late will remain standing after this week, but thousands of acres of grain are on the ground, as there are not men enough to put it in stooks after the binder. The scarcity of men was never more felt than during this harvest. Twelve men were allowed to leave their work on the railway to help in the harvest field. A farmer came along who had hundreds of acres to gather in, and gave employment to them all.

The yield is not expected to be so abundant as was anticipated some time ago. The last six weeks of unusual hot weather has ripened the grain too fast. Thousands of acres that gave promise of yielding from 30 to 30 bushels will not yield but from 15 to 20 to the acre, so there will be a large falling off in quality and quantity, and there being so much grain on the ground it may be damaged before it is threshed out. If the weather continues fine it will be all right, but if a wet spell sets in it may be all wrong.

The threshing will be in full swing next week, and most all of the grain will be in the elevators by the end of September, and that will be unusually early. Then and not till then, shall we know how many millions of bushels of grain the west will produce. The crop is considered to be a good one, notwithstanding some shrinkage, and with prices good there is but little room for complaint.

(We expect to return to Peterborough the second week in September.

RESIDENTS INTEND TO TAKE ACTION AGAINST CITY

Mr R. J. Kidd informed the Review to-day that he and a number of citizens had retained Mr. R. F. McWilliams to represent them in the action they propose to enter against the city re the much-talked-of sidewalk.

Mr Kidd, who has taken part in the endeavor to get the walk built outside the tree line, stated that the writ would have been issued yesterday had his Honor Judge Huycke been in the city. The residents on the avenue are, he added, determined to fight the city to a finish and they believe their efforts will be successful. They have no reason to think otherwise. One of their claims is that the advertisement giving notice of the Council's intention to build the walk read Benson street. It appears that Benson street does not run to the Normal school, but turns off and runs north several hundred feet from the school. The thoroughfare on which the people who are putting up the fight live and which runs past the school, is registered on the plans as Benson avenue, and on this avenue there is no authority to build a walk, either by notice or petition. Therefore, it is claimed the city is wrong in trying to force a walk on a street not named in the advertisement.

THAT WATCH OF YOURS

Is in many respects similar to a railway engine. Let an engine be run without oil or cleaning and before long it will stop dead. Upon examination it will be found that the friction and wear and tear has ruined the machinery, and it is fit only for the scrap iron heap. Likewise your watch. You put it in your pocket, and while there is a kick in it, you, in your mistaken economy, do not consult the watchmaker, and consequently rob your watch of years of good service and also much of its former accuracy. The time-keeping qualities of a good watch are maintained and often improved by timely and skilful attention. If you have been one of the neglectful ones call around and see us.

IN FREE-TRADE ENGLAND

Mr. J. A. Macdonald, of The Globe, who was one of the delegates to the Imperial Press Conference, makes a gloomy and distressing report on social conditions in England. "The thing," he says, "that impressed me most, the thing that stands out as the background of every reminiscence, was the bloodless, mirthless, hopeless face of the common crowd." He declares that "the pale, sunken faces of the nameless city crowd haunt one like a weird." He says "We could not shut our eyes or steel our hearts to that Britain which is out of work, which may not even want to work, and which has long forgotten how to play."

DISEASE AND DEGENERACY.

He goes on: "The social problem everywhere is appalling almost to the point of despair. Wherever we went it forced itself upon us. The least dangerous aspect of it was that hollow-eyed procession of the homeless of London kept moving along the pavements by the police in the early dawn, waiting for the opening of the soup-kitchens. London, Sheffield, Manchester, Glasgow, Edinburgh — each had its distinctive features, but everywhere the marks were deep of disease and degeneracy in body and mind and morals."

BLOOD POISONED WORKERS.

He continues: "In some of the smaller places where the industrial percentage is large, or the occupation unhealthy—as in the Black Country or the pottery-making communities—the blood-poisoned workers present an appearance that, to unaccustomed eyes is simply ghastly. In places like Portsmouth, where we drove through the streets after viewing the greatest array of warships ever presented in the whole world's history, the human sediment that littered the doorways and lanes crowded out of mind all thought of Britain's glory. It was hard to exult over the spectacular realism of the shamfight on the shore with those haggard skeletons of life's real conflict shuffling before our eyes uncheered and uncheering on the street."
—The Toronto News.

The Mr. J. A. Macdonald above referred to is the Rev. J. A. Macdonald, formerly editor of the Westminster, and for some years editor-in-chief of The Globe. He is spoken of as a probable leader of the Ontario Opposition.

ST. JOHN'S S. S. HAD OUTING

A very pleasant day was spent on the river and at Idyl Wyld by the teachers and scholars of St. John's Sunday School yesterday. Many parents and friends of the children also took in the trip.

The Sunday school superintendent, Mr. R. J. Devey, was in charge, and was indefatigable in looking after the comfort of the crowd. He was ably assisted by other members of the teaching staff, Mrs R. J. Devey, Miss English, Miss V. Foote, Miss Gladys Roy and Messrs. Miles and Hammon.

Mr Donald Denham was in charge of the business end of the trip, and with Mr. Devey, sent off a large number of races, to the great delight of the company present.

The choir boys gave an impromptu concert aboard on the return journey, and as the Otonabee tied up to the wharf at 7 p.m. the children gave three cheers for their Sunday school, and three more for the teachers, bringing to a close a most enjoyable outing.

SENT TO MERCER FOR A TERM OF TWO YEARS

Mrs. Electa Armstrong Was Much Affected by Sentence This Morning at Police Court — Carrie Lagrow Was Dismissed and Charge Against Husband Was Not Pressed.

Mrs. Electa Armstrong, a married woman of 40, was sentenced by Magistrate Dumble at police court this morning to the Mercer reformatory for two years. Carrie Lagrow, a young woman of 19, who with Mrs. Armstrong was charged with being a prostitute, was allowed to go back to her home in Frankfort on her promise to lead a better life in the future. The husband of Mrs. Armstrong, who was charged with living on the money received by his wife, was dismissed, the Magistrate not being in favor of pressing the charge.

Mr. A. P. Poussette, K.C., was present in the interests of Carrie Lagrow.

Chief Rossel, P'Cs. Meharry and Newhall in their evidence stated that they had known Mrs. Armstrong for some time, and the general reputation held by her in the city was that of a prostitute. She had called at the police station several times to see if she could get the assistance of the police in an endeavor to get word of her husband, who was then away. There had been complaints that she kept a house of ill-fame, and the disorder at her house had always been a source of annoyance to the neighbors.

Harry Hedge, caretaker at Victoria Park, when called, stated that both women had been in the practice of coming to the park several times in the day. Her actions were those of an abandoned woman. She appeared to make a speciality of meeting men, and on one occasion with the young woman, drove off with the driver of an express rig. Ladies had made complaints to him about the conduct of the defendant and said they would not go to the park or allow their children to.

Carrie Lagrow was next asked to go in the witness box.

She said her home was in Frankfort and that she was 19 years of age. A week ago last Tuesday was the first time she had met Mrs. Armstrong, and this was at Victoria Park. Since that time she had been with her on several occasions when money was received from men.

Mrs. Armstrong asked the witness if she had not been advised by her to secure a respectable position, and the witness admitted that this was so.

Although there were many other witnesses present, they were not called to make any statements.

The Magistrate then gave the above judgment. In sentencing Mrs. Armstrong, he said that she had tried to lead the younger woman into shameful life, and that she was not a fit protector for her children, but hoped that when the two years had expired she would be a better woman.

To the young woman he gave some good advice and said he hoped that the experience of the past few weeks would be a lesson for all time to come.

WEST ENDS AND T.A.S. TO MEET NEXT SATURDAY

The West Ends are billed to meet the T.A.S. at Riverside Park Saturday afternoon and a win for the former will give the P.A.C. team a chance to play off with the Abstainers for the championship of the City League. All the players of the West End team have returned to the city and the contest should be a well-played one. The T.A.S. have been defeated by each of the other teams, and the West Enders are looking for that honor next Saturday. Both nines are sure to have a lot of rooters on hand, and the game promises to be an interesting exhibition.

The T.A.S., with Quinlan pitching at his best, are travelling at a fast pace at present, and it is worth the price of admission to see this team in action.

Like Mistress, Like Maid.

"Have you ever noticed," asked the society woman, "that a lady's maid always acquires the same voice, over the telephone at least, that her mistress has? I don't know whether it is unconscious or deliberate, but I have noticed for a long time that whenever I ring up a friend I am answered by what I think is her own voice, but when I venture to say, 'Oh, good morning, Gertrude,' behold it isn't Gertrude at all, nor Grace, nor Beatrice, but her very courteous maid. If, on the other hand, I say, 'I should like to speak to Miss Millions,' then it proves to be my dearest friend, who is, of course, chilly because I have mistaken her melodious voice for that of the maid.

"Yes, they even change their voices with a change of mistresses. No, I don't know how they do it. I suppose it is the habit of being so adaptable. I should think some of them might even graduate on to the stage and do character work."—New York Press.

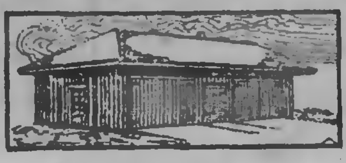
Farm and Garden

SHELTER FOR MACHINERY.

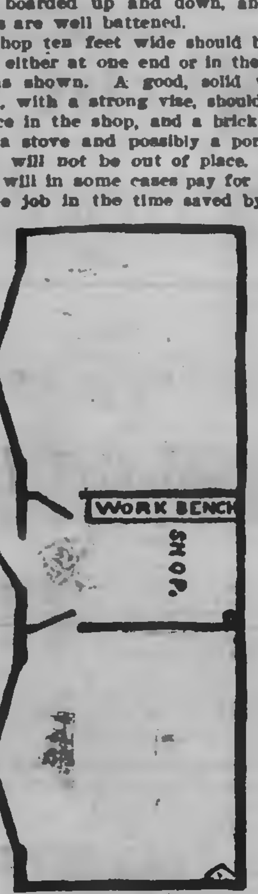
A Structure Within the Mechanical Possibilities of Any Farmer.

One of the heaviest items of expense on the modern farm is the cost of machinery, and, strange as it may seem, this is frequently the most neglected. In many parts of the country, especially on the poorer farms, one will see all kinds of farm implements exposed to the weather. A writer declares that the farmer now pays the little sum of $120,000,000 per year for farm machinery, or about 70 cents per acre. Of this vast sum it has been estimated at least one-third could be saved if the farmers would take better care of it. A structure such as shown in the illustration herewith is within the mechanical possibilities of almost any man, and the cost should not be great. Any one interested will have no trouble in figuring out a neat profit if he will spend a little time in estimating the cost of building a machine shed. The house shown in the illustrations is 16 by 50 feet and 12 feet in height. It may be covered with shingles or with any good brand of roofing felt. It is boarded up and down, and all cracks are well battened.



FRONT VIEW.

A shop ten feet wide should be located either at one end or in the center, as shown. A good, solid workbench, with a strong vise, should find a place in the shop, and a brick flue, with a stove and possibly a portable forge, will not be out of place. The forge will in some cases pay for itself on one job in the time saved by not making a trip to town. During cold and rainy weather the time may be spent in repairing the tools and in doing the many odd jobs always at hand on the farm, and the pleasure of working with bright and sharp tools must not be overlooked.



FLOOR PLAN.

A structure such as shown should have doors sixteen feet wide and not less than ten feet in height. It should be weather proof and have at least two coats of paint. A good foundation should support the same and a good floor of wood or pounded clay be provided. The building should be put up in almost any section for $3 per running foot and in many sections for less.

Fertilizers For Peaches.

Progressive peach growers in western Michigan find it profitable to use a carload of stockyard manure an acre, costing about $1 a ton, and about 1,200 pounds of bone an acre. They also make use of clover and other forage crops to gather nitrogen and increase the store of humus. Having made their soil very rich and given it intensive culture, their trees make a very vigorous growth. The bark of trunk and branches carries that dark, rich color denoting unusual health and vigor.

Sea Kale.

Sea kale should be in every garden and would be a good money maker for our commercial growers. Seed sown in the spring makes plants that will yield the next year, and a patch handled like asparagus is good for many years to come. It actually pushes up the ground in slabs after the last freeze in spring. The bleached stalks are prepared and eaten like asparagus.

Tillage of the Peach.

No tree is more sensitive to tillage than is the peach. Probably more failures in peach growing are due to neglect of tillage than to any other one cause. The most diverse views are held by different growers. One good grower will declare that the orchard should be tilled early in the season, and his neighbor will maintain that early tillage will endanger the crop.

John Cornish, of Brantford, was killed while unloading a car of iron. A bar weighing 800 pounds fell on him.

What is My Thought Like?

One of the players in this game thinks of some object—it may be a person, an animal or a thing—and each player is questioned by the "thinker," "What is my thought like?" and must make an answer, "Like a monkey," "Like a table," "Like a fish," "Like a mischievous boy," and so on. When all have answered the "thinker" tells them the object thought of. Perhaps it was a person present. Each player must then justify his reply or, failing this, pay a forfeit.

For instance, the one who said the object was like a monkey when told the name of a gentleman present as the object would reply, "I said Mr. —— was like a monkey because he is fond of nuts." The next would say, "I said Mr. —— was like a table because he is rather wooden looking." "He is like a fish because he is fond of the water," and so on.

Game of Neighbors.

In this game half the company are blindfolded and are seated with an empty chair on the right hand of each. At a given signal all the other players occupy these as mysteriously as they can and immediately begin to sing, either all to a tune played on the piano or every one by himself.

The object of the blind players is to find out, entirely by ear, who is seated on their right. Those who guess correctly are unbandaged, and their places are taken by the players whose names they guessed. The others remain blindfolded until they guess rightly. Only one guess is allowed each round.

MRS. HAVE AND MRS. HAVENOT.

The Modest Little Home That Was Happy, Though Poor.

By AGNES DILLON.

[Copyright, 1909, by Associated Literary Press.]

Mrs. Lewis Adelbert Simms paused a moment as the automobile deposited her on the walk before a flat building that, to say the least, was battered, though pathetically respectable looking.

"Dear me!" she said faintly. Then she turned sharply on the imperturbable driver. "Do you mean to say," she asked rather fretfully, "that this is 225 Rosemere court?"

"The same," said the hired driver. "Two twenty-five, please."

As Mrs. Simms opened the elaborate gold mesh purse she carried she was conscious of a bewildered surprise. Of course she had known Carrie had not married wealth, but Carrie's letters in the years during which they had not seen each other had been so cheerful! How any woman could be cheerful living on this little side street was beyond Betty Simms.

Still bewildered and holding her trailing skirts daintily, she entered the building, and another surprise met her. There was no elevator, and Mrs. Lewis Adelbert Simms was used to having elevators when she needed them. Apparently there was nothing to do but to climb, and to the fourth floor too! Each step added to her amazement.

It was impossible to picture Carrie as harassed by poverty. In their school days she had been one of the regal creatures the mere sight of whom called up visions of ermine and old lace, of lackeys and gold coin. They had all been sure Carrie would marry a millionaire. When she did marry she wrote Betty Simms, who had indeed married a millionaire, much to every one's surprise, being a small, quiet, demure little creature of no apparent brilliance, one of her characteristic letters.

"Mother is furious," Carrie wrote cheerfully, "because Tom isn't rich. I can't make her see we shall be far too busy just being happy to have the mere matter of money count. As for that, some day Tom will be rich. He has the brains!"

And this was all Tom's brains had done for Carrie in six years! When she had written Carrie she would pass through her town and wanted to look her up the prompt reply and invitation to luncheon had not mentioned those three flights of stairs. Perhaps Carrie was so used to them she had not thought. Mrs. Simms pressed the button beside the door.

There was a clatter of feet down in the inside hall and a woman's voice in laughing protest, and the door opened to precipitate a small sized avalanche of small boy and barking, woolly dog almost into the astonished arms of the caller. Behind the avalanche stood Carrie.

"Betty at last!" she cried. "Anthony, let the lady in! Take Sub away. We call the dog Substitute because he's such a ridiculous imitation of a real hearty dog."

Mrs. Simms found herself drawn by her friend across the tiny hall into the living room, and there the two took a good look at each other. Carrie, the regal Carrie, stood clad in a blue and white wash shirt waist suit that would not be injured by entry into the kitchen. Above it the old brilliant, eager face, thinner, with hints of lines and with its interested, searching brown eyes, looked down as of old on Betty Simms in her Paris wrap and her trading gown. There was a compassion in Betty's eyes that shone forth unknown to her, and Carrie laughed her old gay laugh.

"You paid at least $40 for that love of a hat, Betty," she said, "but perhaps you won't mind taking it off and laying it on my $16.50 bed."

"It's a bird of paradise," said Betty mechanically as she struggled with the hatpins. The dresser silver was the same Carrie had had at school, with no additions. The dresser scarf was only hemstitched scrim, and the bed spread, though dainty, was of a flowered silkoline that Betty knew in her soul had been picked up for a few cents a yard.

Still dazed, she followed her hostess back into the little parlor. In spite of its smallness it looked bare. Not a superfluous article adorned its walls. The mantel boasted a single ornament—a jar of quaint pottery. The books on the table, however, were plentiful. The single small rug on the waxed floor was an oriental. Through the arch the dining room table showed, weathered oak, artistic, but the cheapest of woods.

"Tell me all about yourself, Betty," her hostess was begging.

For an instant Mrs. Lewis Adelbert Simms groped for words. "Why," she laughed, a trifle ruefully, "there isn't anything to tell! I just got married, and life goes on, and there are lots of parties and dinners and things, and I always seem to be in a terrible rush, or else Lewis is, and we never have time for anything!"

"I see," said her hostess, a little quietly, her great eyes taking in the somewhat expressionless face of the other. "Will you excuse me while I put lunch on the table—unless you want to come into the kitchen with me?"

She smiled as if giving an invitation to come into the conservatory, and Betty Simms followed and, sitting on a wooden chair, watched Carrie's deft movement from cupboard to refrigerator and to the stove.

"Why," she said involuntarily, "you act as if you like doing this, Carrie Peabody!"

Carrie paused on her way to the table. "I don't mind," she said. "It's only a means to an end. He wants you to take him, Betty."

Mrs. Simms looked into the face of small Anthony clutching her gown and, lifting him up, was surprised to have him cuddle down contentedly as one used to being held and made much of.

Sub, the woolly dog, followed, and many emotions chased themselves through the head of Mrs. Simms. To her credit, not once did she think of the possible wrinkling and spoiling of her gown. When before in her life had her arms been full of woolly dog and little boy? It was a new sensation.

None of her friends seemed as intimately acquainted with their own children as Carrie was with hers. Never before at luncheon had Mrs. Simms so much as seen a child, let alone touched one. Yet somehow Anthony did not seem out of place here nor in the way. He seemed part of the household and to take his place naturally.

It was a very simple luncheon, though a dainty one, and it tasted amazingly good to the visitor, who was rather silent. She was trying to reconcile the cheerful face of Carrie Peabody with the account Carrie was giving of her life.

"It has been hard on Tom," she was saying. "The company he was with when we married failed, and that ended putting his invention through. And when he did get another place typhoid took him, you know, and it was months—well, we got through somehow. I had a few hundreds of my own saved for some emergency, and I concluded the emergency had arrived. And things have kept coming up—Tom's brother's trouble and then this small boy of ours, and with it all we've been, as I wrote you, Betty, poor—very poor."

"But," said the woman, listening, struggling to adjust the facts before her—"but you seem so happy, Carrie." There was a hint of envy in her tone.

"Why shouldn't I be?" asked the woman in the blue wash gown, Anthony on her knee. "Some time it will be better, when Tom gets a firm hold on things. And I have him and Anthony, and we all care truly about each other, and because we aren't rich enough to go outside to find distraction and amusement we've learned to depend on each other, and we're very contented a[illegible] it, Betty. We're very happy in this little cheap flat. Why, I suppose we're just as happy as you and Lewis, with all your money and what it brings into your lives."

Across the face of the listening woman there was a faraway expression that was tinged with a little bitterness. It was as if she were looking into her past and seeing many things.

"Carrie," she spoke suddenly, enviously, "I'd give all it has brought me and ever bids fair to bring me for one minute of the perfect companionship poverty has brought you and Tom. And for Anthony—yes, and for the woolly dog that loves you all."

"I'm sorry about the stairs," Carrie told her guest as she watched her depart a little later to the puffing automobile below.

"Oh," said Betty, "I never thought of them! I—I'm thinking about something else. Stairs really don't matter much, after all."

And the curve of the descent swallowed up the bird of paradise as Mrs. Lewis Adelbert Simms went back with a strange reluctance to the world of elevators and unlimited credit.

Dictionary Readers.

That the natives of Nigeria are capable of advanced forms of education is apparently proved by this little incident told by Constance Larymore in "A Resident's Wife In Nigeria:"

"My husband told me that in the course of the patrol they passed through a valley where the inhabitants of the rocks and hills above apparently made their homes in holes and caves. One member of the party idly asked what was the scientific name for cave dwellers, the word having slipped his memory for the moment. No one appeared to be able to supply the word. But then the native interpreter, plodding along behind, came up, saying: 'Pardon me, sir. Don't you mean troglodytes?'

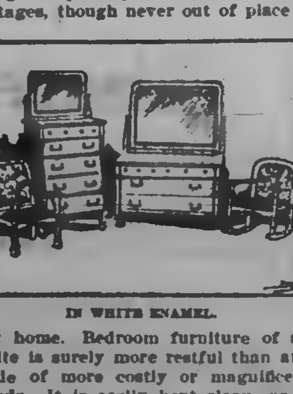
"The Englishman, amazed, asked where he had ever heard such a word, and 'George' replied placidly, 'I was reading a dictionary one day and saw it.'

"I cannot imagine myself reading a German or Italian dictionary for pleasure and storing in my mind for future use conversationally a specially unusual scientific term. I only wish I could!"

SUMMER BEDROOM SET.

White Furniture Upholstered In Chintz Attractive For Cottages.

The most attractive furniture of white enamel and flowered chintz is found in the stores these days, being designed specially for use in summer cottages, though never out of place in any home. Bedroom furniture of all white is surely more restful than any made of more costly or magnificent woods. It is easily kept clean, as it requires no polishing and needs only to be wiped off with a slightly dampened cloth.



IN WHITE ENAMEL.

Ice on the Table.

A neatly cut block of ice on the dining table in a glass or china bowl will keep flies at a distance and on a hot day will make the diners feel cooler. The rough edges can be rounded by hot water or standing in the air. A charming addition is to hollow out a trough in the ice and fill this with water and put ferns or pond lilies or flowers of some sort in it. The trough can be made by very carefully chiseling the ice with chisel and mallet or by taking an old flatiron, heating and setting it on the ice and melting out a hole. This is longer and not as exact, but easier for most women.

Vanilla Ice Cream With Pineapple.

Crush and dissolve a junket tablet in a tablespoonful of cold water. Heat a quart of milk, a cupful of double cream and a cup of sugar to about 90 degrees F. Stir in one tablespoonful of vanilla extract and the dissolved tablet. Let stand in a warm place until the mixture jellies, then let cool and freeze. Put a tablespoonful of canned grated or crushed pineapple in the bottom of a sherbert glass. Above dispose a rounding tablespoonful of the ice cream. The canned pineapple is sweet enough for general use.

CANADA'S FAMOUS MEN AND WOMEN

Gladly Testify to the Great Value of "Fruit-a-tives."

Hon. Senator Costigan (member of the Cabinets of five Premiers of Canada), says:—"Fruit-a-tives is the only medicine I ever took that did me any good for Constipation."

Mrs. J. R. Flock (widow of one of the most prominent physicians in London), writes:—"I was a constant martyr to Stomach Weakness all my life and no physician could cure me, but Fruit-a-tives gave me entire relief and I strongly recommend this medicine."

Mr. James Dingwall (Superintendent of St. Andrew's Sunday School in Williamstown, Ont., for nine years) states: "I am now over eighty years old, and I can strongly recommend Fruit-a-tives for Bladder and Kidney Trouble and Chronic Constipation."

Mr. H. Marchessault (High Constable of Quebec), testifies:—"I suffered for ten years with Severe Pain in the Back. Nothing did me any good until I tried Fruit-a-tives."

Mr. W. J. McComb (the leading merchant of Trenton, Ont.), writes:—"I was a martyr to Headaches—consulted doctors — wore glasses — without the slightest relief. Then I took Fruit-a-tives and this remedy cured me."

This is the kind of evidence that convinces. Dealers everywhere have "Fruit-a-tives." 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c. Sent postpaid on receipt of price. Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

ENGLISH WAYS IN SPAIN.

Queen Victoria Loyal to Language and Customs of Her Own Country.

Queen Victoria of Spain, who is still Princess Ena to the English, seems unable to tear herself away from English traditions and associations. English are some of the nurses who are in charge of the Prince of the Asturias and Don Jaime, the youngest son, and very English in all their appointments are the nurseries where her two small sons spend most of their lives at present.

Yet the Spanish people do not seem to resent the Queen's loyalty to the language and customs of her own country. They are so proud of her and so proud of the two princes and princess, who is only about three weeks old, that they are quite willing she and the young King should revolutionize Spanish social life and overthrow traditions of generations past.

King Alfonso is cosmopolitan in ideas and tastes. He takes King Edward of England as his model and insists upon going about as England's *King does, unostentatiously and free*ly. He tries also to Anglicize his court and his home life and in appearance he has converted himself into as near an approach to a British citizen as it is possible for one so distinctly Latin in type as he. English suits, hats, ties, waistcoats, an English way of wearing his hair, and the long stride and vigorous outdoor air of the English gentleman—all this does the young King struggle to achieve, and in part he has succeeded. The gilded youth of Spain follow his example, so that English styles and English manners prevail in Madrid, and an English bulldog is considered the very last touch to this effort to be Anglo-Saxon, writes a correspondent.

King Alfonso remains a boy in looks and view of life, notwithstanding he is the father of three children. Spain regards him with affection tinged with respectful toleration. England, on the contrary, frankly admires him as the most romantic figure of present royalty. Queen Victoria is a devoted mother, and spends more time with her children than is usual with royal parents.

The little princes are fine boys. The Prince of the Asturias grows more English in appearance every day. He is very blonde, blue-eyed, and rosy-cheeked, and very like his golden-haired mother in features. He has also her placid temperament. Don Jaime is a direct contrast to his brother. Though only a little over a year old, he shows already a Spanish type, and has all the nervous energy and vitality of King Alfonso, of whom in appearance he is a small counterpart. The little princess is a fine healthy baby.

The older and more conservative members of the Spanish court have openly wondered if Queen Victoria will realize that Spanish princes must be brought up according to Spanish traditions, but all young Spain is heart and soul with the young Queen.

What's In a Name?

One summer a distinguished member of the French academy rented a cottage in Savoy, and when the time came for his return to Paris he went to say farewell to the owner of the cottage, a prosperous farmer's wife.

"I hope you will write your name in my album before you go," she said.

"With pleasure," he replied, and, taking a pen, he wrote his name in the book.

"Thanks," she said, "but won't you please tell me your profession, so that I can write it after your name?"

"Oh, put down 'landowner,'" he answered.

"But that isn't a profession," she said.

"Well, then, put down 'academician,'" was his answer.

This word seemed to puzzle her, and therefore he asked, with a smile, "Don't you know what an academician is?"

"Not quite," she answered, "but it's such a long word that the profession must be a splendid one."

A Chance For Shelter.

Mr. Mooney disapproved of duelling as set forth and explained by his neighbor, Mr. Baumgarten. "'Tis a haythenish, barbarious way o' conductin' a quarr'l," said Mr. Mooney, with firmness.

"It is mooch like war," said his ponderous friend, "only in war dere is more beoples dake part. It is a great difference, my friend."

"Sure there is, a big difference," said Mr. Mooney. "In war ye can lie in wait or get behind something, man!"

In Bond Head 25,000 square feet of cement walks have been laid this year.

Kussewitzky, the king of contrabass players, was recently heard in concert in Berlin. The left-hand agility and accuracy of this renowned Russian virtuoso are said to be simply astounding; his hand flies up and down the huge, unwieldly instrument with a speed and certainty that baffle description. The artist's manipulation of the bow also shows great strength and flexibility.

Peterborough.
Aug. 30, 1909.

No. 3—After entraining, officers commanding companies will remain with their respective companies for 15 minutes and will join them 15 minutes before arriving in Perth.

No passengers will be allowed to remain on special train except regularly enlisted members of the 57th Regiment in full uniform, or such as have a proper pass signed by the adjutant.

(5) Capt. McPherson and Lieut. Clark.
(6) Capt. Cluxton and Lieut. Carruthers.

Lieut. Higgins is detailed as transport officer.

The roster of duties for non-commissioned officers and men will be supplied by the Sergt. Major.

No. 5—It will be the special duty of the orderly officers to have control of the conduct of the men while in camp. They will inspect march off and dismiss all guards and other duties, attend all parades, see that the meals are good and according to contract, and assist in carrying out the daily routine of the camp.

No 6.—An advance party, consisting of the Q.M., Q.M.S. and one man per company will report at Armories on Friday, Sept. 3rd, and proceed to Perth to make camp, and other necessary arrangements for the reception of the Regiment.

A baggage party consisting of one man from each company from the Brass Band, from the Bugle Band, and from the Stretcher Section will report to Lieut. Higgins at the drill hall at 7.30 p.m. on Saturday, 4th inst.

All extra baggage must be ready and in the hall at that hour.

A party from each company and from the Brass Band consisting of a sergeant and four men, and a party from the Bugle Band and Stretcher Section consisting of a corporal and two men, will be detailed and report at the Q. No. 7—Men will provide themselves with towels, brushes, soap and other necessities for cleaning purposes. Rifle oil may be procured from the regimental stores. Company kitboxes must be in drill hall ready to be shipped at 7 p.m. on Saturday, September 4th, 1909.

No 8—All men must appear at all parades, and when walking out must be tidy and clean. Faces must be shaved, hair cut, buckles and buttons well polished, and belts clean. All will wear black leather boots well shined.

No 11—An after order concerning daily routine camp regulations and guards will be issued in camp on the morning of arrival, Sept. 5th.

No. 12—N. C. O.'s and men are requested to conduct themselves while in Perth so as to reflect credit on their city and on their regiment, and it is confidently hoped that nothing will occur on this occasion which will detract from the good reputation which the regiment has heretofore enjoyed while on its annual outing.

No 13—Color Sergt. W. H. Roberts, No 3 Co., is hereby detailed as acting Regimental Sergt. Major until further orders.

By order,
F. B. CLEGG, Major.

SEVEN CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH

Roman Catholic Orphan Home Destroyed In Brooklynn

Special to the Review.

New York, Aug. 31.—The bodies of seven children were found early to-day in the ruins of St. Malachis' home, a Roman Catholic institution in Brooklyn for the summer care of orphans which was destroyed by fire. They were huddled together in one room on the second floor having been overlooked in the struggle to escape. The little bodies were burned beyond recognition. The firemen and police are continuing the search and it is expected more bodies will be found. There were 600 children in the building when the fire broke out.

PROBABLE MERGER OF STEEL PLANTS

Special to the Review.

Hamilton, Aug. 31.—A merger of all the Canadian steel plants is said to be planned by the companies concerned this step being due to the fact that the Dominion Government bounties cease next year. Officials of the Hamilton Steel and Iron Co. refuse to confirm the story, but a prominent financial man declared the scheme is almost matured.

EXPENSIVE WORK AT COBALT

Special to the Review.

Cobalt, Aug. 31.—Sixteen convictions against liquor law infringers at Cobalt, Elk Lake and Gowganda have just been scored by the Provincial License Department. The total of fines was $1,150. The ways of smuggling the illicit liquor into the mining camps were ingenious, gasoline and oil cases being generally employed. Two hundred barrels of beer destined for Elk Lake and labelled gasoline have been seized and at Matheson and Latchford many cases of whiskey.

JUDGE MAGEE GIVES JUDGEMENT

Special to the Review.

Mr. Justice Magee gave judgment to-day on points reserved by him on motion by Mr. Stratton for disclosure of names of detectives, sources of information and reports of petitioner.

Judge McGee holds that petitioner need not give the names, disclose the reports or tell the amount paid for detectives, as these points not in issue, with costs in the cause. Also directs petitioner to attend on two days' notice for examination, but holds it does not appear that he agreed to attend in vacation.

MOONLIGHT EXCURSION

Under Auspices of Y.W.C.A. Was Well Attended

One of the most pleasant and most successful moonlight excursions run out of Peterborough this season was the one run by the Y.W.C.A., per steamer Otonabee last night. The boat left the Wolfe street wharf at 8 o'clock with a good crowd on board and stopped at the street railway wharf where another crowd was taken on. The proceeds were in aid of the public reading room and the library at the Y.W.C.A., and as a result of the excursion a good sum is available for that purpose. The young ladies in charge of the trip are to be commended for the excellent arrangements made and for the excellent entertainment provided. Among other things the following programme was run off, and was thoroughly appreciated—

Chairman—Rev. Mr. Henderson.
Instrumental—Miss Gumpricht.
Solo—Mr. E. V. Morphet.
Recitation—Mrs. Bartclay.
Instrumental Duet — Miss Lillian Noble and Mr. J. W. Dickson.

COUNTER-CHECK NEXT MERGER

Special to the Review.

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 31.—It is announced to-day that a merger of all companies in Canada engaged in the manufacture of counter checkbooks has been completed, and will go into effect to-morrow. The Carter-Crumme Co., of this city, absorbs the three other Canadian companies which make counter check-books.

Thomas Campbell, of Keene suddenly collapsed and died after bathing.

THE MARCH-OUT

The men of the 57th Regiment had a march-out last night, prior to their departure for Perth. They are a fine soldierly-looking lot of men, whose bearing and conduct will compare favorably with that of any regiment in Canada. The alignment which makes or mars the appearance of men on the march was especially good. In Perth they will find a hearty welcome and a most attractive town. The Review wishes them a pleasant outing.

ARMED BANDITS HOLD UP TRAIN

On Pennsylvania Railway and Secured $5,000

Special to the Review.

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 31.—Armed bandits held up express train No. 39, on the Pennsylvania railway, in Lewiston Narrows, fifty-two miles west of here to-day. Mgr. Poffenberger, of Harrisburg, is reported to be dying from a gun shot wound inflicted by the robbers. The robbers, soon madly passed through the cars leaving one man at the head of each coach heavily armed, and threatening to kill the first one that made a move to draw a deadly weapon, when they ordered all to throw up their hands, and holding a big open mouthed bag, a man passed through each car going through the pockets of the passengers with expert hands. The bandits' booty is estimated at $5,000. The crew was utterly helpless throughout the entire proceedings.

WEDDING BELLS

TOUCHBORNE—STAUNTON

A very quiet wedding was solemnized this morning at St. John's Anglican church, when Miss Margaret Jane, daughter of Mr. W. A. Staunton, 20 Benson Avenue, was united in marriage to Mr. Samuel Frederick Touchborne, of "Pinehurst," Cavan, Ont., Rev. Canon Davidson officiating. The bride wore her travelling dress of white braided linen, with natty felt hat with black trimming.

The groom's gift to the bride was an amathyst and pearl brooch.

Mr. and Mrs. Touchborne left on the 8.25 train for the Muskoka Lakes. On their return they will reside at "Pinehurst," Cavan.

The Attorney-General of British Columbia is being urged to prosecute the wholesale combines.

WHAT ARE THEY WORTH?

Are the eyes worth at least five hundred dollars per year to any man, woman or child? You would spend five dollars per year upon them if necessary, would you not? How much do they cost you? How much do you spend for your feet, your hats, your teeth, etc.? Some wait until they must see about their eyes and would give hundreds of dollars, but find it too late. Many parents bring their children that we may examine their eyes and see whether or not they need glasses. In childhood is the time to both remedy and prevent eye troubles. Again we ask what are your eyes worth to you and what to the child? We devote exclusive attention to the fitting of eyeglasses and artificial eyes.

TRAIN ROBBER HAD POOR LUCK

Held Up Train and Only Got $100 in Pennies

Pittsburg, Sept. 1.—Train No. 39, the Pittsburg and Northern Express, on the Pennsylvania road, was held up near Levistown early yesterday morning.

Then the sharp explosion of a dynamite cap on the track was heard and the train was brought to a standstill. A masked man stepped out of the bushes along the tracks and covered the engine with a revolver. Threatening them, the highwayman moved along to the baggage car, but could not open it. He then went to the express car and compelled the messenger to open the door. The safe in the car contained $25,000 in money and bullion. The robber coolly called to the fireman of the train for help and the robber, still wearing his mask, gathered up some bags of money and, with the fireman in the lead, and also carrying bags of coin, started up the mountain side.

Three hundred yards of the incline he ordered the fireman back to his train. At this juncture several passengers came on the scene and encouraged the trainmen to offer resistance. The robber opened fire, sending a bullet through the head of the conductor. He then grabbed a bag of money and fled to the mountains, leaving practically all his booty where the fireman had deposited it for him. Not more than $100 in pennies was taken.

Bloodhounds have been placed on the trail and a posse is in pursuit.

THE MINERS WORKING ARE MAKING MONEY

Glace Bay, N.S., Sept. 1.—Eighty-six eviction cases were set down for trial before Judge Finlayson yesterday and thirty-four additional cases for Friday.

As an indication of what the men who are now at work in the mines of the Dominion Coal Co. think of the strike conditions, two miners who were asked about it said:

"Here is our pay checks for the last fortnight, $104 each. Two men can now make as much as four men could earn previous to the strike, and the reason is not far to seek. The men working get their coal taken more readily. The company can get fully as large an output as was obtained in the days before the strike, with but seventy-five per cent. of the men then employed. We who are working don't want to see the strike end."

The estimated output of the Dominion Coal Co. for Monday was 7,191 tons, of which 4,435 tons was hoisted from the pits.

ENTERS SUIT TO RECOVER BRIBE

Montreal, Sept. 1.—The first legal action as a result of the exposure made at the royal commission has been entered by Henri Dubois, who last week testified before the royal commission that he had had to pay the sum of $100 in his efforts to secure a permit to install a miniature railroad on St. Helen's Island.

The defendants named are Ald. Major and Couture. Before the commission, Ald. Major swore to receiving the $100, and paying it all over to Ald. Couture. Couture, in the evidence, could only remember getting $25 or $30, and said that was his fee for time and trouble in a trip to the island.

LITTLE GIRL IS BURNED TO DEATH

London, Sept. 1.—Two-year-old Florence Conklie, the daughter of a young married couple, natives of Strathroy, living in the village of Adelaide, was burned to death yesterday.

The mother went out and left her with her four-year-old sister. They built a fire in the stove and in some manner it caught on to their dresses. The elder sister ran out of the house and managed to extinguish the fire which had caught on to her dress.

Florence was unable to get free of the fire and perished.

The house caught fire and was destroyed.

A MAGISTRATE IS ARRESTED

New York, Sept. 1.—Police Magistrate Henry T. Furlong of Brooklyn was arraigned before Justice Crane in the Supreme Court yesterday on a charge of receiving a bribe of $16.66 to influence his conduct as a magistrate. He was also charged with entering into an arrangement by which he received sums of money for obtaining bonds for prisoners who came before him as a magistrate.

The warrant was issued on a complaint of the Brooklyn Bar Association.

TOOTHACHE REMEDY WAS VERY DANGEROUS

Hamilton, Sept. 1.—What at first looked like a case of attempted suicide occurred last night when Sarah Bolton, a young woman who lives with her parents on the Waterdown road, took a dose of carbolic acid and was taken to the City Hospital in a critical condition. She was discovered in an unconscious condition in her room by her sister. They say that she had been suffering from toothache, and that she took the acid to stop the pain.

INJURIES RECEIVED IN FIGHT CONTRIBUTORY TO CAUSE OF DEATH OF A. BOLLARD

Statement of Doctors Who Performed the Post Mortem at Inquest Yesterday--Inflamation and Septic Poisoning the Direct Cause.

Adjournment till September 13th—Fred Jopling Will be Called to Witness Stand—Evidence of Miss Ada Minns and Blake Cullen Conflicts on One Point---Miss Minns Says Joplings Were the Aggressors.

Inquest adjourned till Monday, September 13th.

Doctors who performed post-mortem state "that direct cause of death of Arthur Bollard was "gastro-enteritis" with septic poisoning and that the injuries he received in the fight on Monday night were of a nature to bring on a condition of bodily weakness that would leave the system open to an attack from septic infection. It was also stated, however, that over exhaustion might lead to the same results.

The inquest into the death of Arthur Bollard was resumed yesterday afternoon, and after hearing the evidence of Miss Ada Minns, Blake Cullen, Miss Muriel Burritt, David Tully and Drs. Scott and Greer, was adjourned till Monday, September 13th. Some new light was thrown on the tragic affair, the statement of the doctors being the most important. It is understood that Fred Jopling will take the witness stand when the inquest is resumed.

THE EVIDENCE.

Miss Ada Minns deposed that she was spending the summer at Chemong Park with Mr. Hopwood. She was in Peterborough on Monday, August 30th, but returned to Chemong in the afternoon. She was at the dance in the pavilion in the park in the evening and started for home about ten o'clock accompanied by Mr. Harry Marks.

Arthur Bollard was standing outside the pavilion and they asked him if he were coming home and he accompanied them. Witness heard someone running behind them near Mr. Wolfe's cottage. She heard young Mr. Jopling saying "here he is." Witness and Harry Marks were walking together and Arthur Bollard was a step or two behind. Bollard said "yes, here I am." He took off his coat and Harry Jopling rushed at him. Others came running up and witness recognized Fred Jopling. Witness called to Fred Jopling to stop fighting, but he paid no attention to her. He must have heard her as she spoke loudly. Witness was standing about twelve feet from where the fight was going on.

"Mr. Hartshorne came reluctantly out of his cottage then," said the witness.

"Why do you say reluctantly?" asked Mr. Wood.

"Well, he seemed to come very slowly considering the circumstances."

"He told us last night he came on a trot."

"I don't think so, but I am not sure," was the answer. "I asked him to stop the fighting and he told me to stay quiet; that he would look after them. I heard Arthur Bollard say, "let go" three times and "dirty" twice. Witness was not near enough to the fight to see what happened. She did not know who was with Harry Jopling when he came running up. He was about the same height as Harry Jopling. Bollard was lying down after the crowd moved away. He had to be helped home. She did not hear any complaint about the unfairness of the bold other than Bollard's outcry.

Miss Minns told about Blake Cullen asking to see her at Mr. Hopwood's cottage on Friday morning, and of apologizing for being at the fight. He did not know anything about it till he had been sent for by Harry Jopling.

BLAKE CULLEN.

Blake Cullen said he lived at Bridgenorth and was at home on Monday night, leaving home between 9 and 9.30 o'clock to go to Chemong Park. He was at the pavilion and was sitting outside with Miss Pearl Jopling, Harry Jopling and some others. He saw Arthur Bollard at the pavilion. He was sitting near witness, and he heard him state that he was going to trim Harry Jopling next day. This remark was addressed to a person sitting beside Bollard.

Witness had been told by Miss Jopling that Bollard was going to give Harry a threshing.

Mr. Wood asked witness who was the person sitting beside Bollard to whom the remark was addressed, but witness could not say who it was. Harry Jopling was in the swing. Witness told Fred Jopling at the hotel a few minutes afterwards that Bollard was going to trim Harry. He did not look up Fred Jopling to tell him this.

Witness saw the two Joplings start to run down the road in the direction Harry Marks, Arthur Bollard and Miss Minns had gone. Witness walked after them. He started to run when he heard a noise like someone fighting ahead. He heard Harry Jopling call out that someone was choking him. When witness reached the spot Harry Jopling was down. Bollard was on top of him, and Fred Jopling had his hands on Bollard's shoulders. Bollard and Fred Jopling started to fight. Witness pushed Marks back, telling him that it was men for men now, and that no one should interfere. Bollard gave a cry, but witness could not say if it were a cry of pain. He did not hear what was said.

Bollard made for Fred Jopling first, but witness did not know what kind of holds were used. He had heard Bollard say when the friendly wrestle was proposed, that he "did not get a fair shake" the first time.

Cullen's description of the friendly wrestling was much the same as that of the other witnesses. Each had got a fall. The Joplings and Bollard had shaken hands before parting.

To Mr. Wood witness was positive that he had come to the park of his own accord on Monday night. He was not sent for. He was confronted with the evidence of Miss Minns about stating that Harry Jopling had sent for him, but he still maintained that he had not been sent for.

"I apologized to Miss Minns as any gentleman would," witness said.

Witness told about accompanying two ladies from the pavilion on Monday night. He walked with them down the road leading from the hotel and left them in front of Mr. Wolfe's cottage, being attracted by the figght going on. He excused himself when he left them.

MISS MINNS RECALLED.

Miss Ada Minns, recalled, reaffirmed that Blake Cullen had told her he had been sent for.

BOLD POLICY NEEDED SAYS LORD CHARLES BERESFORD

Admiral at Opening of Toronto Exhibition Says That Time For Talk is Past and Steps Must be Taken at Once to Secure Supremacy of the Seas.

Toronto, Sept. 1.—Fifty per cent. greater than any previous opening day was the semi-official summary of the attendance at the exhibition yesterday. Not even when Prince Louis of Battenberg was present did the crowds collect so solidly and enthusiastically as they did to welcome Lord Charles Beresford. The tangible, living evidence of a great historic tradition which the gallant admiral presents, his own personal courage and skill, and the knowledge that he holds his life in fee for the Empire to which we all belong stirred an immense enthusiasm.

Lord Charles made a brief speech at the directors' luncheon, after which the guests adjourned to the front while Admiral Beresford donned his uniform and the unveiling of the tablet to J. J. Withrow was proceeded with. After this another adjournment was had to the dairy building, where the formal opening of the exhibition was accomplished. Hon. J. J. Foy and Hon. Adam Beck were among those present who did not attend the luncheon.

Canon Cody offered prayer, basing his supplication upon the general thanksgiving. The band played "A Life on the Ocean Wave" and then yielded their seats to the crowd of ladies waiting outside.

If anyone expected to hear Lord Beresford say that Sir John Fisher was no gentleman, he was disappointed. Lord Charles' speech emphasized the necessity for protecting the trade routes of the Empire and he pointed out why a superiority of British naval force in the North Sea was not sufficient.

"There can be no doubt that in the past the British navy has had a paramount influence in keeping the peace of the world, and if that navy remains efficient and sufficient, the peace may be maintained, not only to the benefit of the British Empire, but also to the benefit of the whole universe, peace being the greatest interest that any nation can possess.

"There is no insurance for peace equal to a strong navy."

"What is wanted is a bold constructive policy, broad in its basis, Imperial in its object. The time for talking is over, the time for action has begun.

"There must be a carefully compiled, concise and practical plan for defeating the enemy's fleets if war should unfortunately be forced upon us. A complete scheme would prevent war and ensure peace.

"The question of the safety of the Empire should be put beyond any possible doubt whatever.

"Our supremacy at sea has been threatened in language that is unmistakable. In the near future that threat may become a reality. It is our business as an empire to see that our present position is not jeopardized in any way.

"If the result of the London conference produces an Imperial organization for war in which the whole Empire takes part, it should preserve our supremacy intact. The latest resources of the Empire have not been called upon as yet to join in an organization which, to be effective, must be based on broad, national and Imperial lines, totally devoid of personal, party or selfish motives—an Imperial defence founded on the principle of five nations, one Union Jack, one navy, one army, one throne. (Applause.)

"The heart of the Empire is absolutely dependent on the punctual and sure delivery of the water-borne food and raw material supplied by its arteries—the trade routes.

"A successful attack on the trade routes would paralyze the trade of the dominions as well as that of Great Britain.

"It therefore becomes a matter of life or death to the British Empire to remain supreme at sea. Any attempt to wrest that superiority from us must be met with a steady, reasoned and determined effort on our own part to defend what we hold. Maritime necessities are very different from maritime ambitions. Commands of the sea is a necessity for our existence as an Empire.

"The tendency of late years has been to gain complete naval supremacy in the North Sea. No doubt that would protect the heart of the Empire—the British Isles—from invasion, but complete naval supremacy on all the seas can alone secure the continuance of the British Empire as a whole. It is that fact that has lately been realized by Britons throughout the world."

Lord Charles expressed his confidence in the loyalty of Canada, indicated by repeated assistance rendered in the past to the Empire.

He concluded a speech, of which the above extracts suggest the main tendencies, by complimentary allusions to the Toronto Fair and the startling growth of Canada, concluding with the quotation:

We've sailed wherever ship may sail,
We've founded many a mighty state—
Pray God our greatness may not fail
From craven fears of growing great.

The speech was received with repeated cheers and interrupting applause.

A Boy's Suicide.

Buffalo, N.Y., Sept. 1.—Prescott C. Luce, a 15-year-old boy, committed suicide late yesterday in the bathroom of his home here. He tied his feet together, stuffed a cloth in his mouth, tying a stout string around his neck and fastening it to a hook in the wall, threw himself to his knees and strangled to death.

FIRE BREAKS OUT IN PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS TO-DAY

Immense Damage is Done—Roof of Library Crashed in, Burying Valuable Collection of Documents and Books—Sir James Whitney Headed Firefighters—Panic Reigns in Queen's Park.

Special to the Review.

Toronto, Sept. 1.—The west wing of the Parliament Buildings is burning fiercely. At two o'clock the roof crashed down upon the library, burying one of the most valuable collection of documents and books in the Province. They cannot be replaced. No lives were lost.

The damage will amount to several hundred thousand of dollars. A panic reigns throughout Queen's Park and clerks are laboring in the lower part of the building to get valuable papers into the iron clad vaults before the conflagration reaches them.

Sir James Whitney was in council when the first crash of the glass skylight came, and immediately put himself at the head of the fire fighters and courageously directed their efforts. Over the grounds hangs a pall of dense smoke, charred paper flying in clouds through the air.

Two big holes were punched through the second floor by axemen to let off the heavy mass of water. The damage from flooding is incalculable. As the fire threatened the long cases of silver and gold, the samples standing in the hall were carried out, some of them requiring fourteen men to move them.

A rough estimate of the loss to the building is $350,000, to the library $225,000, but the other losses cannot be estimated as yet. The buildings are, of course, well insured.

PROBABILITIES.

Fine and cool to-day and on Thursday, light local showers at night.

Lawns and Gardens

PROPRIETOR OF HOTEL IS FOUND WITH THROAT CUT

William Henri is Found in the Hotel With His Jugular Vein Severed---Makes Dying Statement That He Did not Commit Suicide.

Sarnia, Sept. 1.—Lying in a pool of blood, his throat so deeply gashed that the jugular vein had been severed, William Henri, proprietor of the Beach Hotel, a summer resort at Sarnia, was found dying early yesterday morning in a room in the hotel. He passed away shortly afterwards, conscious but unable to talk.

A fragment of a statement passed his lips before death, when he uttered the words, "I did not commit suicide, but he——"

The police say that the sentence was not finished, and they are in the dark as to the identity of the assailant.

That Henri was slain is their belief, from the fact that in a window of the room where the man lay a pane of glass had been broken, the broken pieces falling into the room; the aperture thus created being large enough to admit the body of a man.

It is stated that Henri, during the day drew his money from a bank, saying that he was about to close the hotel for the season and take his family to Point Edward. In his pockets were only $15 in bills, which were blood-stained, and there were also blood-stains on a spectacle case which he used as a pocketbook.

When found he was lying on the floor with a rug drawn over his head. He leaves a wife and two sons.

The police are working on the theory that Henri took his own life.

TWO WERE HURT AT TORONTO FAIR

Toronto, Sept. 1.—A shower of stones, resulting from the explosion of a "fowgusse" or embankment mine, spread panic among hundreds of spectators drawn to the lake front to witness the demonstration of how ships and land forces may be blown into the air in times of gun war.

A number of persons narrowly missed being hit by the flying missiles, some of them as large as a man's doubled fist, while two individuals received slight injuries. One, Clarence Kenney, 159 Pembroke street, was struck on the side by a fragment of wood, and the other, name unknown, received a falling stone on the head. Both were treated at the emergency hospital.

"Too much realism," was the general verdict, and Dr. Orr has decided that, for the future, the quantity of gunpowder used will be reduced. So thunderous were the detonations that several windows in the manufacturers' building were shattered and nearby buildings trembled.

TOUCH OF FROST REPORTED IN WEST

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 1.—Monday night was full moon, and incidentally it was the coldest night of this season in Winnipeg, the mercury dropping to 34 and white frost covering the ground.

No frost has appeared through the province west, with the single exception of Pierson, Manitoba, where four degrees were recorded.

Quite 75 per cent. of spring wheat is now beyond damage from anything but very heavy frosts, say eight or ten degrees.

Much of the oat crop, however, is very late, and it will be a miracle if a good deal of this is cut for anything but feed.

ASKS PUBLIC TO FORGIVE HIS WIFE

Uniontown, Pa., Sept. 1.—A pathetic appeal for public forgiveness of his wife, who eloped nine months ago with a younger man and has just returned, was made yesterday by W. J. Stone, a millionaire operator of this city.

Mr. Stone has restored her to her old place in his affections and confidence. He was bitterly disappointed, therefore, when yesterday her friends and acquaintances in and out of local society, snubbed her and refused to speak to her.

DISCOVERS A CANCER CURE

Aurora, Ill., Sept. 1.—Dr. Thos. J. Allen, the Aurora educator and monodiet advocate, who gained much notoriety by living sixty days on peanuts, announces that he has discovered a cure for cancer. He says cancers come from indigestion and that monodiets will work a cure. Dr. Allen says that by alternating monodiets he means potatoes alone for three days, peanuts alone for a number of days, grapes alone for a number of days, and so on. Dr. Allen says he has demonstrated the success of his cancer cure.

HUSBAND AND WIFE ON "INDIAN LIST"

Kingston, Sept. 1.—Joseph Smith and his wife, a young couple, both on the "Indian" list, are under arrest for drunkenness. They have five children, who may be taken away. The husband says his wife brought the liquor to the house, and he was tempted, and she claims a neighbor bought the liquor for her. The "Indian" list is a great farce here, as a person can go to Portsmouth, outside the city limits, and get it. Five "Indians" were in the Police Court yesterday.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

Johnston's large pulp mill at Chateaugay, N.Y., has been burned; loss $50,000.

Henry Otis, aged 20, was struck by a racing auto at Lowell, Mass., during a fog and killed.

Lord Strathcona was in Vancouver and Victoria yesterday and was given civic and Board of Trade addresses.

The summer house of Raymond Hitchcock, the actor, in Great Neck, Long Island, was totally destroyed by fire; loss $30,000.

New York engineers have been engaged to draw plans for the proposed $4,000,000 light and power plant on the St. Lawrence River.

Five weeks' drought in Kansas was broken here by a two-inch rain. Reports are general of a downpour extending into Northern Oklahoma.

John W. Gates, the financier, happening to meet in Seattle the minister who married him forty years ago, gave him a check for $1,000 as an addition to the original fee of $5.

Engineer Walter D. White, for fifty years in the service of the Northern Pacific Railroad, was instantly killed and ten persons were injured, when the train ran into a work train while rounding a curve.

The delegation of Japanese merchants who will shortly visit the United States will not come to Canada. The trip will be entirely under American auspices and will be confined to the Pacific coast.

IN FREE-TRADE ENGLAND

The article from the News embodying quotations from the report of the editor-in-chief of the Globe, Mr. Macdonald, delegate to the London Conference, on page 5 of yesterday's issue, we continue in this page to-day. Protection serves a good purpose even if it does not improve the condition of all. Free trade fails by sacrificing the workers.

Mr. Macdonald adds: Sheffield staggered all the delegates. Its residential districts and its neighboring hills are good to see. It is a hive of industry. Its name the world over is a warrant of good steel. But its human specimens! The conditions of the poor may, perhaps, be worse in other industrial centres in England, but certainly no delegate to the Imperial Press Conference had ever seen the like in any white country overseas or ever imagined it possible within the limits of human nature."

THE MARKS ON THEM ALL.

He says again: "What struck every observant delegate was the utter blankness of the faces that looked up at us from the pavement, or down on us from the windows, with scarcely enough capacity for human interest to wonder who we were or what we wanted. Block after block it was the same. Never a sign of humor. Never even a sign of human envy. Stooped shoulders, hollow chests, ash-colored faces, lightless eyes, and, ghastliest of all, loose-set mouths with bloodless gums, and only here and there a useful tooth. Literally hundreds of women between seventeen and seventy crowded close to our motor cars that day, and the marks were on them all. Those toothless mouths of men and women and children told the story. One touch of disease made that whole crowd kin. "What do you think of it?" asked a London reporter of a Canadian editor. 'It's hell,' said the Canadian. And his companion from Australia could not suggest any other fitting word." Finally Mr. Macdonald says: "How long will a great nation go on breeding weaklings? How long will such a nation remain great? And how long will it be safe for Canada to admit the human output of Britain's drink-cursed slums?"

A DISTRESSING PICTURE.

This is an awful picture. It is seldom that any hand has struck such a blow at the British people. No doubt it is struck in all good faith. Probably there is only too much truth in the picture that Mr. Macdonald paints. We should like it less, however, if it was drawn by a foreigner. These conditions, remember, have developed under the free trade system which Mr Macdonald and his political allies glorify for the Mother Country, but resolutely refuse to establish in Canada. The industries of Great Britain were reared under protection. But it was the manufacturers of Britain who ultimately destroyed the protectionist system."—The News.

BREAD WITHOUT FLOUR

Bread without flour, but not without grain, seems to be the gift of the immediate future. Roughly speaking this would mean that the prices of the loaf will be cut in two, at first. After the money-makers, contortionists and stock-gamblers get their hands on the situation it will be a feeder to their pockets, while the consumer will be no better off than before. Invention has served little purpose in providing cheap comfort for the toiler. He pays all he can and usually much more than he should for the necessaries of life. The money-kings of industrialism include food and food-products in their domain. They rejoice particularly in a corner in wheat—in the toiler's loaf. Stock and grain gambling is the meanest form of meanness since it toys with the toilers' grim hold on life. Some day it will be made legally what it is morally, a crime. [illegible] proposed process of making bread direct from grain is interesting.

"Numerous ways of preparing the wheat grain for food without grinding it into flour, are now in vogue, but the product is in all cases a so-called cereal of the "breakfast-food" variety, and does not take the place of bread. There are, however, little used methods of preparing bread from the grain without previous grinding; and the improvements on those recently introduced by two French inventors bid fair to make the resulting article of food familiar and popular. If this method becomes common, we shall hereafter, instead of buying flour, purchase wheat in the grain, soak it, and run it through a machine, from which it will issue as dough ready to be baked into bread. Whether the millers will approve of this flourless bread is another and a somewhat interesting question. Mr. Henri Blin, who describes this new process in La Nature, Paris, July 24, writes as follows;

"To transform, all at once, and without intermediary, the grains of wheat into a substantial and healthful bread, would seem to be the ideal desideratum. But the practical solution of this interesting problem meets with serious mechanical difficulties, such as the complete trituration of the bran, the beating of the starch when treated in the dry state, and, above all, the routine and powerful interests of the flour trade."

A process intended to bring about the desired result, we are told, was devised some time ago by a Frenchman named Sezille, but it has not been successful in that his apparatus was not able to effect simultaneously the grinding of the wheat, the pulverisation of the bran, and the kneading of the dough, with or without admixture of yeast and salt, with the water necessary to do this work in the closed space of one and the same machine. This very thing has now been accomplished by a process invented by Messrs. Desgoffe and Georges. Says the writer;

"These various functions, in spite of their lack of similarity are practically united by the use of a special breadmaker called an "antispire" whose use concentrates the work of the mill, of the bolter, and of kneading, in a light apparatus that may be operated by hand for small quantities of the product, or by any kind of motor with power proportionate to the desired output."

This machine, or "panificator" the writer goes on to say, we omit his detailed description, consists, as may be seen from the illustrations, of a large screw turning loosely in a case on whose inner surface is also a screw thread running in the opposite direction. Between the main threads on the cylinder are smaller threads, and the depth of the groove between the main threads grows progressively smaller from one end to the other so that it will hold the entire wheat grain, as it enters the machine, but at the exit will accommodate only the pulverised wheat. The grain is introduced through a funnel at one end of the machine which may be mounted either horizontally or vertically. We read;

"To bring about direct panification on the Desgoffe-Georges process, the wheat must be previously prepared; it is washed in much water to remove impurities, after which it is poured into another receptacle having twice the capacity necessary to hold it in its dry state. About a pint of water to a pound of wheat is added; with tepid water, six hours is sufficient to soak the grain so that it swells to double its volume. As soon as the grain has been soaked through it may be panified; it is then mixt with the necessary quantity of yeast and salt, or this mixture need not be made until the wheat has been passed through the machine.

"Thus prepared the wheat is poured into the funnel of the panificator whence it penetrates automatically into the body of the machine, passing through a distributor whose output is regulated proportionately to the power available.

"From the distributor, the wheat falls between the threads of the moving screw and those of the fixt contrary screw, which crush simultaneously the envelop and the body of the grain, making of them a homogeneous mixture, which, just before leaving the machine, already forms a smooth paste, but the work of kneading is terminated by the operation of a glider formed of two parallel surfaces whose distance apart is regulable. These surfaces are channeled in opposite directions; one is movable and is the extremity of the screw itself while the other is fixed to the contrary screw and has a central hole through which the dough escapes in the form of a continuous roll.

"To prevent all heating of the mass during the work, and to maintain the proper degree of moisture, a current of water is sent through the interior of the machine.

"The dough, on issuing from the machine, is put into baskets, which are covered with woollen cloth and allowed to stand in a warm place. As soon as it begins to rise it is divided into long loaves and placed on wooden tables covered with warm cloth, until the moment when it is put into the oven. The latter, after the bread has been introduced, is sealed with clay.

"After baking 40 to 45 minutes, according to the degree of heat, the form of the loaves, and their size, they are removed and then a brush, slightly moistened, is passed over the smoking top of each loaf, to give to the crust an aspect more agreeable to the eye.

"Bread obtained by this process contains a succession of holes whose size increases as they approach the crust, which is very thin. The odor given off is very agreeable and much more pronounced than that of ordinary baker's bread.

"The Desgoffe-and-Georges process would appear to combine all the advantages of the direct panification of wheat—the amount of bread made from 100 pounds of ordinary wheat treated by this process is 150 pounds, 180 in the state of dough. The inconvenience of bran in the dough is done away with by reducing the whole grain to a homogeneous mass.

"This method enables us to obtain a dough containing the wheat in its entirety, and consequently a so-called natural, total, or rational bread." —Translation made for the Literary Digest.

The foreign investment stage is hard to single out, because the activities which place a country in this stage are likely to run side by side with those which are in the second. The best illustration of this is to be found in this country, where numberless corporation managers are from time to time collecting vast amounts of cash for interest payments which they must annually make to the Europeans who hold the stocks of American railways, street railways, breweries and manufacturing enterprises. —Dun's Review.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. WEST PETERBORO' ELECTION PROTEST

Mr. Justice Magee delivered judgment this morning, in which he refuses to commit Mr. J. H. Burnham for contempt of court in refusing to answer certain questions in his examination for discovery in the West Peterborough election case. The motion for commitment was made last July. There was also a motion made for an order that he attend for further examination during the vacation. This he refused to do, but said he would attend voluntarily after the vacation. The judgment handed out this morning orders him to appear within two days, but as the vacation closes to-day, this practically means that Mr. Burnham wins out on this point also.

The questions which the judge holds Burnham needn't answer were: The names of the detectives employed by Mr. Burnham; copies of their reports; and the amounts paid to them.

His Lordship, however, states that as the charges made cover such a large amount of ground, Mr. Burnham should provide further particulars regarding the names of persons to whom bribes are alleged to have been given, the amount of the bribes and the dates. Where he is unable to provide these, he is to file an affidavit to this effect.—The Toronto News.

With regard to the statement in the above that Mr. Burnham refused to attend on further examination in vacation, it should read "without an order of the court," since the petitioner's lawyer, Mr. Moore, K.C., was of opinion that the statute positively required such an order without which the examination might be required to be gone over again. Mr. Moore's contention was that the statute's words, "Shall not be held in long vacation except by order of the court or judge," were explicit.

It is now pretty well known among hunters that the best deer hunting country in Ontario is on the line of the Canadian Northern Ontario and that hunters receive special attention. Mr. C. Price Green, Passenger Agent of the line is a hunter himself who goes right with the parties and looks after them, in fact he located most of them. This year the line will be opened north of Sellwood into the midst of the Moose Country, they are reported very thick, the Engineers say that they have never seen anything like it, the Moose season up there opens October 15th, fifteen days before the Deer. We have something special on a new place that will take three parties of deer hunters.

Here is a New Kind of Soap

You are now using some soap and naturally think it is good. But here is a kind that is different from any you know—one that has taken us 43 years to perfect.

Try one cake and compare it with what you now use. We welcome such a test as this for we know in advance the result. You will never go back to the other kind. Here is a soap made from vegetable oil pure enough to use on your table. We pay far more for this in France than we might pay. So we get only the best.

Cocoanut oil from the isle of Ceylon is brought over 12,000 miles and mixed with the olive oil. Then both are boiled doubly long.

After this we mill them by our own special process. We have scoured the best factories of England, France and Austria for almost half a century to perfect this process. We have combined the best ideas of foreign lands with our own improvements to attain perfection.

When milled, the soap falls like flakes of snow into enormous bins and is then crushed under a weight of 30 tons to press out the moisture. Then it passes through granite rollers and comes out in miles of silky ribbon.

After being dried eight times it is pressed into cakes and is simply perfect soap. It lathers into a rich creamy foam and wears as thin as a wafer. It leaves the skin rosy and pink like an infant's. So we call it Infants' Delight.

The perfume is dainty and pure—it suggests only the delicate scent of the roses. Use one cake today and see what a wonderful difference there can be in soap.

How to Shampoo

Place a pint of warm water on the stove and shave up a cake of Infants' Delight. Let it simmer until the soap is dissolved. Then pour into a wide jar to cool into jelly. Clean the hair with a brush, wet it with warm water, and rub the soap jelly into the scalp thoroughly. Rinse off the thick lather and dry the hair by rubbing and fanning with a towel. This will leave the hair soft, shiny and lustrous.

POLITICAL FREEDOM HAS MADE GREAT FORWARD STRIDES IN AUSTRIA

Wonderful Progress Along This Line in the Last Twenty Years — Samuel Gompers Tells About Social Reforms—What a Visit to Pilsen Revealed.

Special Correspondence of the Review from Samuel Gompers.

Copyright, 1909, by P. S. Ridsdale.

Vienna, Aug. 12.—The most interesting event of my journey during the last week was a visit to Pilsen. The name of this town brings a smile to the American connoisseur in light liquid refreshment, but I shall hereafter during my life remember Pilsen, not for its beer, but for the quickening into life of a great people's movement that has supplanted the conventional methods of both institutional philantrophy and old established political parties in helping the masses. From Berlin I travelled to Dresden and then to Prague, devoting two days to each city.

It came about unexpectedly, that visit to Pilsen, through my being thrown much into the company of a labor member of the Austrian Reichstag in Prague. A word as to his personality and life story will serve to illustrate the social changes which are nowadays so rapidly succeeding one another in Austria. In Prague, on the day of my arrival, a conference was being held by the Bohemian social democratic members of the Reichstag at the labor headquarters for the province. They made me and my party welcome and showed us about the city, which with its suburbs has now a population of more than 100,000. Of course, the public developments due to the efforts of organized labor took up most of my attention. If I do not dwell upon such features as the newly acquired headquarters, an immense three-storey double building, each wing more than a hundred feet in length, situated in the heart of the town, or the large printing office in another part of the city, it is because I have in mind the story of Herr Gustav Habermann of Pilsen, which will serve to impart to my readers what I herein seek to convey. I may say, however, that the Bohemian national trade unions and the Social Democratic party together have paid $30,000 on the headquarters, leaving a mortgage of $200,000, that it has been in their possession for two years, and that its restaurant, with a large garden, is a favorite gathering place daily for the working people, the garden serving for concerts and also for large open-air mass meetings. A visit to the suites of offices of the various national unions gave me an opportunity to see that business in each was conducted with the system of a large corporation. In fact, the secretaries, bookkeepers, typewriters, and others had much of the bearing and manner of busy disciplined public functionaries, so numerous everywhere I have been on the European continent.

On the way to Pilsen Herr Haberman, in reply to inquiries, told us his story. Twenty odd years ago he spent three years in prison. On being liberated, he went to the United States, where he worked for eight years as a wood turner, mostly in New York and Chicago. Twelve years ago he returned to Bohemia, settling in his home city, Pilsen. His term of imprisonment, spent in solitary confinement, he suffered in consequence of the publication of political sentiments. "But," he said, "the things I then said and printed and for which I was imprisoned, are now being published with impunity every day in the party and trade union papers. The last twenty years has seen the greatest progress in political liberty that Austria has ever known." Not being given work in prison, Herr Haberman studied French and English. His sentence was for four years, but as three days of good conduct counted four, he was released at the end of three years. I asked what else he had learned. He smiled and replied: "To wait." I could well imagine that during those months and years of waiting his character developed and his face gradually took on its patient kind, firm, manly expression. His seat in parliament, said he, was due largely to the vote of farmers. In one village he had received 350 out of 400 votes. Asked if he favored the social revolution, he answered that he regarded sending a man to the parliament of Austria for the same sentiments that sent him to prison twenty years before had already marked a revolution. The Social Democratic party had had very little representation in the Reichstag even six years ago, now it has 89 members out of nearly 600.

And now that they were in the House, what were they doing?

"Well," was the reply, "they were a part of the Opposition."

"Opposition to the Emperor, to establish a democracy?"

"No," he could not say the party was actively opposing the Emperor as such, "but it favored the people."

"What was the foremost measure advocated at the last session of the Reichstag by the party?"

"The old-age pension scheme."

"No government ownership of industries?"

"No."

In fact, the general work of the people's deputies, from his statements, seemed to be protesting against excessive compulsory military service and those taxes bearing heavily on the poor. He described to us, as had been done before and since by others, the difficulties of promoting legislation for the people in Austria. He could count eight languages spoken in different parts of the empire, with many dialects. The population is divided by boundaries that signify differences not only in language, but in race, history, and in cases, religion and industries. These and similar facts, known to us Americans, simply by description and seen at a great distance, evidently are high as mountains to the imperial legislator representing part of a province.

Harry Habermann gave us the statistics of land ownership in Bohemia: the story of Scotland over again, or worse! A few hundred great land owners, chiefly of the nobility tracing their possessions to a feudal ancestry, own vast areas; the number of proprietor farmers owning five acres or less, form a small percentage of the population that gain a livelihood from agriculture. But he could not say that the land question was at present really a live one in the parliament. Both the trade unions and his party in the province were to-day greatly interested in gaining autonomy for Bohemia. The unions wanted an independent existence for the people speaking the Bohemian language, with, of course, "treaties" with the other unions of Austria.

Before relating what really interested us in Pilsen, I will say that, as all visitors to the town are expected to visit the big brewery, we were taken there by our hosts representing the trade unions. The "Burgliches Braueri" is to the eye at a distance a conglomeration of immense buildings, high, circular chimneys, big brick water towers, covering many acres of grounds. We were conducted for two hours and more in and about the works by a guide who, in a sonorous voice, rolled off the stupendous statistics of the brewery's beer production with an air of reverence for the figures in themselves, and for the good Gambrinus above them all. To that guide, the culmination of all the things in the world, mighty and good, was beer. I rather felt our time was to a degree wasted in wandering down into subterranean malt rooms, thirty acres in extent, and past malt houses, beer kegs as big as freight cars that were being filled. But, it being one of the great liquid facts of this earth, we saw the show through. The crowning curiosity of it all was the original vat of the brewery, now battered and time-worn, set, as a sort of sanctified relic, on a green hillock surrounded by beds of flowers duly and historographically inscribed. These particulars, I believe, are considered the points of interest for visitors to Pilsen. But I relate them only because I have to state that wages in this famously rich brewery run on the grand average, for the 3,500 workmen, from $2.50 to $5.00 a week! We saw some of the eating places of the single men who boarded within the brewery. They were swinish. This brewery employs only unorganized workmen. An attempt was made some time ago to improve their conditions through organization. As the story goes, the manager, on receiving a committee from the men, said that their representations sounded reasonable and he would review their demands at a general meeting of the workmen. When assembled, the men were asked if many of them really were organized, and if so, to make a showing of the fact by a division—the unorganized to stand fast and the organized to move to one side. Done.

"Very well," pronounced the manager, "you union men are discharged. Pack and leave the brewery at once."

INTERESTING INFORMATION ABOUT THE TRENT RIVER

Many Campers Have Spent the Summer Along Its Bank —Fishing Has Been Unusually Good—Some Picturesque Scenery.

Special to the Review.

Havelock, Aug 27.—The fact that fifteen fishermen from Toronto and parts of the States came off the noon train on Monday, bound for one point on the Trent River, prompts your correspondent to give some information on this beautiful and picturesque river.

Although it is known best to the people of Ontario and indeed of Canada, through its prominence in being one of the principal waterways of the Trent Valley canal, nevertheless tourists and campers have become intimately acquainted with it through its good fishing qualities, the western part of it, from Rice Lake to Crow Bay being valued most by anglers and sportsmen, as this is the part where the heavy 'lunge and the largest bass are to be found in the greater number.

When the Trent leaves Rice Lake Lake it winds eastward to Hastings—a distance of six miles—where it has become much reduced in width, and flows at a moderate rate for a distance of seven miles, when Trent Bridge is reached, a small, unincorporated village, three miles directly south of Havelock, and nine miles from the town of Campbellford. The direction of the river changes more easterly here and flows for seven miles to Healey Falls, where picturesque scenery and good fishing are found combined. Below the falls the river flows much faster, passing through Campbellford and gradually turning south to Lake Ontario.

The Trent River flows at a moderate rate, quickening and slackening its pace in certain places. It is from one hundred yards to a quarter of a mile wide in some places, expanding into large bays. There are many islands in the course of the river between Trent Bridge and Healey Falls, one of which, about a mile east of the bridge, covers 400 acres.

When going to Trent via Havelock, it is not necessary to write ahead arranging for rigs and boats, as liverymen are always on hand, and five minutes after you step off your train you can have a rig ready to transport you and your luggage to your destination. After a ride of twenty minutes over a good road, Trent Bridge is reached, where several boarding houses are situated, one of which is on an island in mid-stream, on the direct road to Campbellford. On the south side is a beautiful grove, where a large number of cottages are situated. If the boarding houses or the cottages do not suit your fancy, a splendid place can be found to pitch a tent on the shaded shores, east and west of the bridge. Many find it much nicer to be away from the Bridge, as that beautiful and cool spot attracts a good many picnics, which might interfere with the comfort and fishing of the campers. Row boats or canoes can be rented by the hour, day or week. The regular price is 10c. an hour or 50c. a day. Rowers who can give you good advice as to the time and place for fishing can be engaged. Rods or trawling lines can also be hired or bought, and minnows, frogs and worms for bait can also be easily secured.

Above the village of Hastings there are some first-class places for camping and fishing during almost all the summer. At Hastings there is a lock, and below this, and as far down as Trent Bridge, is an ideal place for trawling for the lordly 'lunge, which bite freely. Below the bridge there are some fine places for still fishing, but trawling will give good results between the hours of four and seven a.m. Down the river, about a mile, there is a large expansion where a branch of the river flows around an island. This place is called 'Lunge Bay, and here just outside the weed-beds a plentiful supply of small 'lunge and black bass can be had, as they go there for the minnows, which swarm among the weeds. Going still further down the river about two miles, there is an expansion called Mud Lake, and there 'lunge from five to twenty-five pounds may be taken during the open season.

But the spot of spots for the prize black bass of all weights is below Healey Falls, where the stream widens considerably after falling thirty feet over a rocky ledger, and there in the deep fast-flowing waters the bass are found in all their glory. After leaving Healey Falls the Trent flows into Crow Bay, where fishing is very good.

Trent River is especially valued by campers from Toronto and Buffalo as being conveniently reached. Leaving Toronto in the morning, Havelock, a distance of 100 miles, is reached at noon, and before 2 o'clock you can be on the river at Trent Bridge. It takes a little longer to reach Healey Falls—nine miles from Havelock—where a large boarding house is situated. It can also be reached from Campbellford, a distance of six miles. Those who intend spending the holiday under canvas can procure supplies at Havelock, and potatoes, butter, eggs, milk, etc., can be got from farmers in the neighborhood of the camp. A half a day could be added for those who have no long to spend in search of the finny tribe by leaving Toronto at 10 o'clock the night before, and reaching Havelock at 1 a.m., where hotel accommodation may be had close at hand. By rising early you can be on the river at 5 o'clock, just in time to catch some of the large "fresh water sharks," which are out at that time in search of breakfast, and before the sun is dropping below the western horizon you will have all that is allowed you by law.

The camping season at Trent River is well advanced, and has been a very successful one, the summer resorts being crowded all the time. It attracts a good many picnics from places that are situated as far as ten miles from its bank.

The fishing all along the Trent, which has been very good all season, is beginning to fall off some, as it is also in the other lakes and rivers.

FREE RURAL MAIL DELIVERY SPREADING

About 100 free rural mail delivery routes have already been established in Canada. On some of the routes, upwards of 100 farmers now have the pleasure of having their mail delivered and collected at their doors daily.

In Prince Edward County, Ontario, rural free mail delivery is pretty well distributed, a number of routes having been established. One of the editors of Farm and Dairy had the privilege recently of driving over some of these routes. One route runs from Picton towards Demorestville, another from Picton to West Lake. Another, north from Bloomfield. The route from Picton to West Lake, although only 11 miles long, has 65 mail boxes, and more are being put up almost every week.

The sight, as one drives mile after mile and sees handsome mail boxes at almost every door, is a pleasing one. At cross roads three and four boxes may frequently be seen. As the names of the farmers are printed on their boxes it makes it easy for a stranger to find the houses of people for whom he may be looking. In some cases farmers who had to travel two and three miles for their mail, now have to step only a few feet from their front doors to get their mail every day. These benefits indicate, that at last our farmers are getting some of the advantages that they have long needed and to which they have been entitled.

FARM AND DAIRY PRAISED.

Mr. Purtelle, sr., of Bloomfield, was very enthusiastic over the free delivery service and in his praise of what Farm and Dairy did to secure its introduction in Canada. "I feel that if it had not been for Farm and Dairy," said Mr. Purtelle, "we would not be enjoying rural delivery. I remember, only last year, going to hear Hon. Sydney Fisher speak on this subject. He ran down the whole system and told the farmers who listened to him of the tremendous sum the service was costing the people of the United States. Some at least of those who heard him were appalled at the figures he gave. When, however, Farm and Dairy editor, after visiting the States, began to show the full facts of the situation, the articles and illustrations published in Farm and Dairy were so convincing that no one could successfully dispute them. I believe that these articles had a great influence in leading the Government to see that the time had come when the system must be introduced in Canada." Mr. Purtelle has been enjoying free rural delivery for some months, and claims that its benefits cannot be fully appreciated until they have been enjoyed.

Mr. Purtelle's brother, Edward Purtelle, who lives some five miles from Bloomfield, informed our editor that his wife had told him that she enjoyed rural delivery more than she did the telephone, because it brought the daily paper to their door every day, thereby enabling them to keep in touch with what was going on all over the world, and with the latest market reports. Mr. Purtelle seemed to agree with the views of his wife.

OTHER FARMERS WANT IT.

So popular is the service proving that it will only be a short time before it will have to be widely extended. For instance, the farmers on the road from Picton to West Lake get their mail delivered daily, while the farmers from Picton to East Lake, a road closely adjoining, just as thickly settled and with as good, if not better farms, have to drive two and three miles to get their mail. The result is that the farmers along the East Lake road are now agitating for the extension of the service to their district. Some of them have intimated that if Dr. Currie, their member of Parliament, does not have the service extended to their route soon, he will hear from them at the next election.—Farm and Dairy.

NATURALIST PREPARING REPORT ON WORMY BASS AND PERCH

In Waters of the Trent Valley System—Will be Ready for Next Annual Report of Department of Game and Fisheries

The Review has received the following letter from Mr. E. Tinsley, Superintendent of Game and Fisheries, Toronto, and as it is self-explanatory, comment is not needed:—

Editor Peterborough Review.

Dear Sir,—I am in receipt of the Review, dated August 23rd, on page four of which it is said that fishermen are complaining about wormy bass in the Otonabee river. I shall be glad if you will inform the readers of your paper that the Department have been investigating this complaint for the last year or two and a naturalist is now preparing a paper for next annual report on this subject. The worm is doubtless a species of Filaria and occurs in greatest abundance in perch and bass, found in the waters of Central Ontario, more especially those rivers and lakes polluted by the decayed debris from lumbering operations. It is found commonly affecting perch and bass in all the waters of the Trent Valley system, but he has not yet been seen in any taken from Lakes Ontario and Erie.

CAPTAIN MILLS AND LIEUT. HIGGINS RETURN FROM PERTH

The 57th Regiment Will Have a Fine Trip and a Cordial Welcome—What Will Transpire.

Captain Mills and Lieut. Higgins were down at Perth yesterday and found that very satisfactory arrangements could be made to take the 57th Regiment to that flourishing town on Saturday night next, to remain over Sunday and Labor Day. The officers of the 41st Regiment and the citizens of Perth generally are preparing a cordial welcome. On Sunday there will be the usual church parade, followed by a sacred concert by the 57th Regiment Band in the park, and on Monday a trip will be taken down the beautiful Rideau Lakes. In the evening a "cooks' parade" under the auspices of the 57th Regiment Bugle Band will be held. It is some years since such a parade was held and it promises to be a very entertaining number on the day's programme.

PROPERTY COMMITTEE ACCEPTS THE PLANS FOR NEW ISOLATION HOSPITAL

At a meeting last night the Property Committee accepted the plans of Architect Blackwell for a new isolation hospital, and a recommendation to go ahead with the project will be submitted at the meeting of the Council next Tuesday evening. The estimated cost of the building and equipment is close to $15,000, which is the maximum amount the Council is allowed to spend without going to the people.

Those present at the meeting were Ald. Bradburn, chairman; Mayor Rush and Aldermen Morgan, Duncan and McIntyre.

A letter was received from John Johnston asking for the privilege of using some city property on the water front to pile wood on.

It was moved by Aldermen Duncan and McIntyre, that Johnston be given a strip 80 feet wide and the depth of the property at $3 per month.—Carried.

ISOLATION HOSPITAL.

A resolution from the Medical Association was read favoring the plans for the isolation hospital. The building will cost some $12,000 with between $2,000 and $3,000 for equipment. This brings it up to the limit allowed, viz., $15,000, which is allowed by the city's special legislation. The plans provide for some 48 patients, 20 dyphtheria and 28 scarlet fever.

The aldermen went fully into the cost of maintenance. It appears that a caretaker, a cook and a matron, and a head nurse would have to be kept when necessary. Their salaries, it was estimated, would run from $1,000 to $1,200 per year. There would be mostly non-paying patients in the hospital, although this past summer there were quite a number of families who could afford to pay and who would have been glad to send their patients to the isolation hospital. There will be some revenue at all times.

It was suggested that a small building be put up. This, however, would not do, as nothing would be saved in maintenance, and there was greater danger of mixed infection.

It was moved by Ald. Morgan and seconded by Ald. Duncan, that the plans be accepted and recommended to the Council to ask authority to have the specifications prepared and tenders advertised for.—Carried.

JEWISH WEDDING WAS SOLEMNIZED LAST NIGHT

A decidedly interesting event, whereby two young people were made happy, took place last evening at six o'clock when Miss Minnie Florence, daughter of Mr. D. Florence, Simcoe street, was united in marriage to Mr. M. Fine, of Belleville. The ceremony, which was according to the Hebrew custom, was conducted by Rabbi Berkowitz, of Toronto, in the presence of guests to the number of seventy-five. The bride was attired in a handsome gown of pale blue liberty silk, trimmed with palm velvet and baby Irish lace, and wore the customary veil.

The ceremony was an interesting one especially to a number of guests of this city, who were invited. Before it can begin, it is necessary that ten gentlemen of the Hebrew religion be present. To the music of Mendelssohn's wedding march the father and mother took the groom into a room and placed him under a canopy.

The ten gentlemen, wearing their hats also entered and then the bride was brought in and stood beside her prospective husband. The mother and father then walked three times round the couple and the Rabbi commenced singing in Hebrew. Shortly afterwards he took a decanter of wine and sipped a portion, after which the glass was placed to the lips of the contracting parties. The Rabbi then sang again and at the conclusion took the glass—which held the wine, and placed it in one of the gloves of the bride. It was then given to the groom who threw it on the floor and then smashed it under his foot. The ceremony was then brought to a close by the Rabbi singing. The wedding ring was placed on the index finger of the right hand of the bride at the second joint and must be worn there for seven days, after which it is placed on the finger as is customary in this and other countries.

A most elaborate wedding repast had been prepared to which all those present partook of amid much merriment.

Mr. and Mrs. Fine will reside in Belleville in the future. The bride received many handsome and useful presents and over twenty telegrams extending congratulations, were received.

PROPERTY OWNERS HAVE TROUBLE OVER FENCE-LINE

A boundary line between the property of two Stewart street citizens furnished an interesting case at police court this morning, and one which caused much discussion between the counsels of the interested parties and the Magistrate. The case occupied over three hours, and after hearing both sides of the story His Worship reserved judgment for one week. Mr. F. D. Kerr conducted the case in the interests of the complainant, Mrs. Madden, and Mr. R. F. McWilliams for the defendant, Charles Griffin.

Both counsels argued the question as to whether the case was within the jurisdiction of the Magistrate, as it involved the question of the ownership of title. Mr. McWilliams contended it was a question to be settled by line viewers, but as this by-law is not enforced in this city, the Magistrate decided to let the case rest for a week.

THE EVIDENCE.

Mrs. Madden said she had bought the property from Robt. Tully twenty-four years ago, and had lived there up to three years ago. The defendant lived on the property to the south and a picket fence had been the dividing line of the two properties when she had secured control. The fence was re-placed by another seven years ago. A new wire fence had been erected this summer, some time in July, on the same line as the former one. Mr. Savigny was the tenant on the Griffin property when the fence was built seven years ago and he was satisfied that it was on the correct line. The fence built in July had been torn down by Mr. Griffin and another was built, but this was also removed. Defendant had asked her why she didn't put the fence on her own property. The crossing on the sidewalk had been built three or four feet north of the fence. Mr. Griffin had told her he would pay half the cost of the fence, but there had been no agreement as to the kind it was to be. She hadn't taken any steps to find out the actual line for the fence, but had been informed that in each case the correct line had been used.

Mr. Andrew Davidson said he had put up a fence for Mrs. Madden seven years ago and had been assisted by the owner of the next property. The posts of the original fence were found and the fence built according to them. Mr. Griffin had built a store on the property formerly used for a roadway by him and the result was that only a few feet remained between the store and the fence.

Mr. Griffin had admitted that he had torn down the fence built in July. A surveyor had made measurements to determine the true line and had notified him to build the fence on the site of the old one.

Mr. Wm. Savigny stated that he assented to the fence being put up seven years ago. He was then the owner of the property now occupied by the defendant. The fence had been built to his satisfaction.

Mr. John Stanger said he was the original owner of the Griffin property and he had had the picket fence which extended out to the street line, erected. This was recognized at that time as the dividing line. There had been trouble before, but this was settled. A registered plan had been made then and the line was shown on it. The house now occupied by Mr. Griffin had been built one foot and a half south of what it should have been, but the two owners of the properties had then decided on the right line of the fence.

Robt. Jones said his partner, Mr. Davidson, built the fence which was pulled down in July by Mr. Griffin, who said it was not on the line.

Mr. Davidson recalled said the fence in July had been put up a little further on Mrs. Madden's property.

Mr. Arch Davidson, who built the fence in July, said that it had been erected on a line made from the centre of the posts of the original fence and the one built seven years ago.

For the defence Mr. Griffin took the stand and stated that the surveyor told him that he was entitled to two more feet north of his property, and that when the question of the building of a fence came up between Mrs. Madden and himself, he had told her to make the necessary inquiries about the cost, etc., but she had not notified him of the result.

Cressman's $20 Suits for Women

WITH the change in the climate every woman pictures in her imagination her new outfit for the cold weather season. She may have an extravagant notion that there are no moderate priced Suits with style to them. This is where the mistake is made and made often, for we have Suits at quite modest figures that are most attractive in style and cloth. The finish too is a surprise to all who see them.

Our $20.00 Suit of French Worsted Wool is undoubtedly a winner. The cloth has an invisible stripe and comes in navy, wistaria, green and black.

The coat is made in a natty semi-fitting style, and is trimmed with black moire silk buttons and satin braid, and is lined with a fancy satin finished silicia. The skirt is made in the new "Mayon Age" effect with self trimmings.

This is an unusually pretty suit and demonstrates the latest style for the 1909 10 season. See these on display in our commodious Ready-to-wear section—2nd floor.

THAT WATCH OF YOURS

Is in many respects similar to a railway engine. Let an engine be run without oil or cleaning and before long it will stop dead. Upon examination it will be found that the friction and wear and tear has ruined the machinery, and it is fit only for the scrap iron heap. Likewise your watch. You put it in your pocket, and while there is a kick in it, you, in your mistaken economy, do not consult the watchmaker, and consequently rob your watch of years of good service and also much of its former accuracy. The time-keeping qualities of a good watch are maintained and often improved by timely and skilful attention. If you have been one of the neglectful ones call around and see us.

CONVERT IT INTO A PARK

Ald. Phelan Makes Suggestion Regarding Site of Drill Hall In Ashburnham

Ashburnham may have a park. At a meeting of Property Committee last night Ald. Morgan brought up the matter of the old drill shed in East City. He thought it might be removed, as it was no longer used. The city owned the land on which it was located, and if the building were removed the spot could be converted into a park.

The chairman will look into the matter.

THE POULTRY ASSOCIATION

Will Hold an Important Meeting Tomorrow Evening

The Peterborough Poultry Association is making arrangements for an active fall and winter. A regular meeting of the association will be held in the regular meeting place to-morrow night at eight o'clock, and it is expected that there will be a large attendance of the members. It is likely that the members of the association will exhibit extensively at the Peterborough Fair this month, and this will be one of the matters that will be taken up to-morrow evening.

SLIGHT DAMAGE TO THE RAINBOW

Mr. Simpson, one of the owners of the Rainbow said to the Review to-day that the accident in which that boat was very slightly damaged yesterday by the Otonabee was unavoidable. The Rainbow coming up stream could not turn closer in towards the bank, although its helm was put hard astarboard and the Otonabee being on that side of the river too, owing to going through the swing of the bridge, the two boats were not able to see each other and could not avoid contact. The Rainbow is in the hands of Messrs. Hickey & Co. and will be fully repaired to-night and will resume her running on Thursday morning. The amount of the damage was not more than $50.

WEDDING BELLS

THOMPSON—JONES

An interesting social event took place in the Presbyterian church at 7.30 o'clock Monday morning, when Miss Jessie May Jones, of the firm of the Misses Simpson & Jones, became the bride of Mr. A. E. Thompson, C. P.R. agent here.

Rev. P. Henderson was the officiating clergyman, and the ceremony was witnessed by quite a number of friends. The bride wore a natty travelling tailor-made suit of navy blue with hat to match, and was unattended. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson took the 8.10 express for the east, and will spend a vacation at Montreal, Quebec and the Lower St. Lawrence. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Jones, of Peterborough, Ont., and became one of Claresholm's most popular young ladies since coming here to reside last spring. Many friends join in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Thompson health and happiness and a long life.—Claresholm Review.

SCIENTISTS AT WINNIPEG DISCUSS RAT NUISANCE

Resolution is Passed Recommending That the Manitoba Government Offer a Bonus for the Extermination of Destructive Rodents.

Winnipeg, Sept. 1.—Many sections of the British Association wound up business yesterday. Thursday they all will get away in a special train for a trip to the coast.

Two resolutions of more than ordinary importance to western Canada were passed yesterday morning. One recommended that the Manitoba Government offer a bonus for the extermination of rats, and the other was in regard to the disappearance of salmon in British Columbia, the Federal authorities being asked to appoint a committee of investigation.

Prof. Shipley, head of the zoological department, thought the invasion of the province by rats was a matter of gravest importance to the wheat industry. If allowed to spread they would destroy 25 per cent. of the yield annually. Most determined steps should be taken to exterminate these pests.

As for the salmon, the scientists feared that a few years would see their complete disappearance unless steps were taken at once, and to prevent it a commission should start work immediately.

The association has decided that in future large proportions of its income shall be spent in Canada for scientific research.

SPORTING NEWS

THE ONLY BILL CINNAMON WILL HAVE A STRONG TEAM

There will be doings galore when Big Chief "Bill" Cinnamon ushers his crack nine into Riverside Park on Labor Day. The scent of the diamond has not yet ceased to lure William into action, and the good backstop of the Lindsayites promises to be there with an altogether new line of talk, and what is more important to fans, a well selected contingent of exponents of the only game. The Abstainers never had a better team than this year's representatives, and, while they like Bill and have learned to respect his prowess as a ball player, are confident of turning the trick. The practices being held this week and the Saturday game with the West Enders will suffice to put the homesters into real shape for the holiday conflict, and as no other local attractions are being held, a good crowd is expected.

SPORTING TALK

Herb Hopkins will do the mound work for the Lindsay team who will play the T.A.S. nine in Peterborough on Monday next. The long pitcher-catches (he does both) is in fair shape and has accumulated more control. With his speed he should pitch good ball.

Of course Bill Cinnamon will do the backstopping and is working his arm into shape these nights. Then Herb Workman may pay Lindsay a visit that day and go along with the boys to help out in the infield.

The Toronto ball team's record for last week is truly remarkable. The Leafs won eight out of ten games played in seven days, outscoring, outhitting, and outfielding their opponents. Montreal (one game), Jersey City (six games) and Providence (three games).

The record stands:—

	Games	R.	H.	E.
Torontos	8	50	97	11
Opponents	2	28	72	14

An average of 5 runs, 10 hits, and one error to a game is not so bad.

If the Leafs keep on going at that rate, who can tell what may happen!

FIREPROOF THROUGHOUT

Woman Falls Into Cistern.

Brantford, Sept. 1.—Mrs. Lewis, wife of the time-keeper at the Massey Harris works, had a narrow escape from drowning at her home, 164 Dalhousie street, yesterday morning. Going out into the outer kitchen she stumbled through a trap door over the cistern, and fell in. The cistern, which is eight feet deep, had a little more than five feet of water in it. By standing on tip-toe, she was able to keep her chin above water level. For an hour she remained in this perilous position calling for help. A woman at the front of the house finally heard her.

Boys Nearly Drowned.

Kincardine, Sept. 1.—Murray McCrimmon, son of Dr. McCrimmon, and Leslie Thomson, son of T. C. Thomson, barrister, Toronto, had a narrow escape on the lake here yesterday. The weather was choppy outside, and the young men went for a sail in a 20-foot dinghy. As they were making the harbor the boat upset.

Both being good swimmers, they regained the boat and drifted around in a heavy sea until taken off by the life-saving crew.

Seven Children Suffocated.

New York, Sept. 1.—Seven little children, inmates of St. Malachy's Home for Children at Rockaway Park, L.I., were suffocated in a fire which destroyed a portion of the home. There were 750 children in the institution. Most of them marched out in good order Monday night when the fire alarm was sounded.

Health Measures to Protect Czar.

Sebastopol, Sept. 1.—Extraordinary sanitary measures are being undertaken in the Crimea, in view of the approaching arrival of Emperor Nicholas and the members of the Imperial family. A special health cordon against cholera has been erected in the Yalta district.

May Ban Theatre.

Montreal, Sept. 1.—Archbishop Bruchesi says he will place the Academy of Music under the ban on account of the dancing of the famous Lois Fuller, who is coming here next week along with a Parisian stock company, should she prove offensive.

23 Months For Theft of Watch.

Cornwall, Sept. 1.—A young man named Summerville, of respectable family, was yesterday sentenced by Magistrate Davis to 23 months in Central Prison for theft of a watch from a boon companion, Hough by name.

Aged Farmer Killed.

Fergus, Sept. 1.—Wm. Singer, aged 76, was fatally hurt Monday night in his son's barn at Cumnock by the falling of a pulley.

Would Prosecute Grey.

Victoria, B.C., Sept. 1.—Victoria sportsmen, prominent among them, Henry Poley and William Lenfesty, the latter acting for local sportsmen's are reporting to the chief game warden, Bryan Williams of Vancouver, the action of Earl Grey and others of his party in killing mountain goat out of season, and without the required shooting license, and are requesting prosecution.

They maintain the example set the general public by open and flagrant violation of game laws by the King's representative is most harmful.

Don't Want Mr. Wells.

Victoria, B.C., Sept. 1.—Premier McBride and members of the Government yesterday interviewed Earl Grey. It is understood that the object of the interview was to protest against the intended appointment of W. C. Wells as Lieutenant-Governor to succeed Hon. James Dunsmuir. It is believed that as a compromise, Senator McDonald may be appointed, William Sloan, ex-M.P. being named for the vacant Senatorship.

Daring Robbery on C.P.R.

Victoria, B.C., Sept. 1.—Eighteen or twenty registered letters were stolen Monday night from the mail car attached to the C.P.R. Transcontinental Express No. 97, which reached Vancouver at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. The robbery is supposed to have occurred at Spence's Bridge, the robber crawling over the tender through the end of the car. The loss is probably not more than $500.

Famine at Monterey.

Mexico City, Sept. 1.—As the reports come in, it is seen that the situation in Monterey is more serious than was at first supposed. The city lacks food and water. The Federal Government has sent $20,000 additional to be expended for relief.

It is hoped to get a train service through to Laredo and purchase food supplies at Tampa.

Did Firebug Burn Barn?

Brantford, Sept. 1.—Fred Illett, a farmer residing on the Paris road five miles from Brantford, lost his barn and contents in a fire Monday night. The total damage is $3,000, with insurance of $2,000. There is a suspicion that someone bearing a spite against Illett may have touched a match to the straw.

A Thoughtless Druggist.

ONLY a thoughtless druggist would offer a preparation without the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher when Castoria is called for; the "delicate, faint and flickering light" that joins baby's life to its devoted parents being too sacred, to the self-respecting druggist, to be trifled with.

For over thirty years Mr. Fletcher has given, and still gives, his personal attention to the preparation of Castoria. It has won the confidence of mothers and physicians everywhere—never harmed the tiniest babe. This cannot be said of Imitations, Counterfeits and the "Just-as-good" rot.

The thoughtless druggist only offers the counterfeit because of a few pennies more profit. Any new preparation can be but an experiment, and they are experiments—mere guess work—irrespective of what their sponsors may say for them. It is experience of over thirty years, against wild and injudicious experiment.

INIURIES RECEIVED IN CHEMONG FIGHT

GORDON LONG.

Gordon Long, son of Jas. Long, said he was at Chemong on Monday night. He was going home about ten o'clock. Bollard, Marks and Miss Minns were walking about thirty feet ahead of him. He saw Harry Jopling and another fellow four by him in front of Wolfe's cottage. He did not see the start of the fight. He heard Fred say, "I'm the man you have to fight," or words to that effect. Bollard and Fred Jopling clinched and went down. He heard Bollard cry, "Let go," three times, and "dirty," twice. Fred Jopling struck Bollard once after the latter had released his holdhold after crying out. Witness saw the two friendly wrestles and assisted in taking Bollard home. He vomited on the verandah at Jubilee Cottage. He complained about Jopling having caught him unfairly.

MISS BURRITT.

Miss Muriel Burritt told of talking to Bollard at a corn roast on the lake shore on Tuesday night. Bollard had told witness that he had been roughly used in a fight. His finger had been bitten and his assailant had tried to bite his arm. He had said that it was "hard for him to keep a straight face on," as he was suffering. Witness had danced with Bollard at the pavilion on Wednesday night. She did not notice anything wrong with him.

Cross-examined by Mr. O'Connell, witness told the same story.

DAVID TULLY.

David Tully said he worked for Mr. Popham at the Park, and was going home Monday night when he came to the scene of the fight. Mr. Hartshorne was making peace between the boys. Witness saw the friendly wrestling. When the boys got up the second time Bollard said, "Fred, you pinched me hard."

Mr. O'Connell wanted to know if it was not "pitched me hard."

Witness could not swear which it was, but he thought it was "pinched me hard." Witness considered Jopling and Bollard two first-class wrestlers, and that Bollard was the better of the pair.

DR. SCOTT CALLED.

There was complete silence in the court room when Dr. Scott was called to give the report of the post-mortem. This was the evidence that had been waited for with so much interest.

RESULT OF POSTMORTEM.

Dr. Scott read the following statement of the postmortem;

Autopsy on the body of the late Arthur Bollard, of Toronto, at D. Belleghem's undertaking rooms by Drs. Scott and Greer; External appearances were those of a young man about nineteen years of age, six feet tall and about 170 pounds in weight. There was a general discoloration of body, except the scrotum, which was congested; and the penis, which contained a dark greenish spot about 1 1-2 inches in diameter. There were also three small abrasions on the inner side of right knee. There was also a skin abrasion on index finger of right hand. The brain and spinal cord were found normal on examination, as well as the lungs and heart in the chest cavity.

The abnormal cavity was opened and the stomach and upper part of the small intestine (duodenum) was found congested, swollen, and containing a dark grayish mucous fluid which was quite offensive. There was also some extravasation of bile into the tissues surrounding the gall bladder and ducts. The kidneys and other organs in the abnormal cavity were found normal. The testicles were also found normal.

In our opinion the direct and immediate cause of death was "gastro-enteritis" with septic infection.

W. D. SCOTT.
T. N. GREER.

To Mr. Wood Dr. Scott said that a severe shock to the system weakened the body and lowered its power of resistance against the attacks of bacteria, which might cause poisonous matter to form in the body. Injury to the body or severe over-exhaustion would result in a condition of lowered vitality. Taking into consideration what he knew of the case and from what he had learned of the health of the deceased before Monday night, was of opinion that the injuries he got were contributory to the cause of death of the young man. It was altogether likely that something else turned up in the meantime and Bollard's body being in a low state of vitality, was unable to withstand the attack.

To Mr. O'Connell witness said that the direct cause of Arthur Bollard's death was inflammation of the stomach and small bowel along with septic poisoning.

Dr. Greer, who assisted Dr. Scott in performing the postmortem, said he was called into consultation on the case of Arthur Bollard on Friday morning. He corroborated Dr. Scott's testimony. Severe physical pain would cause vomiting and he thought that it was severe pain that caused Bollard to vomit after the fight with Jopling on Monday night. He could not state the direct cause of the inflammation of Bollard's stomach and bowels.

To Mr. O'Connell witness said that the vomiting might have been caused by over-exhaustion. Severe injury to the knee caps would cause vomiting.

Mr. O'Connell asked if the corn Bollard had eaten at the corn roast would would have anything to do with the stomach trouble.

Dr. Greer said it might contribute towards indigestion.

Adjournment then took place to Sept. 13th.

Old Bricks Were Used

Montreal, Sept. 1.—The evidence at the royal commission yesterday showed that old bricks were occasionally used in the construction of sewers.

Levi Gignere swore that Phileas Lariviere, brother of Ald. Lariviere, ex-chairman of the roads committee, was his partner and shared the profits.

Phileas Lariviere denied that any the profits went to his brother, the alderman.

Montreal Getting Grain Trade.

Montreal, Sept. 1.—Montreal is capturing the grain export business at such a rate that the harbor board will recommend to the Government the construction of a large storage elevator for the port, to cost approximately $1,400,000. The grain handled this year so far is 12 times in excess of the same period a couple of years ago.

Customs Collections Increase.

Ottawa, Sept. 1.—During August customs collections amounted to $5,340,456, a gain of $964,411 over August, 1908.

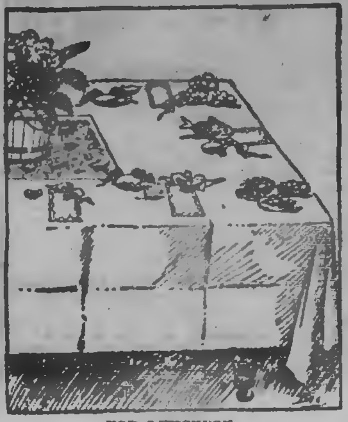
During the five months of the fiscal year ended Aug. 30 collections amounted to $23,343,610, a betterment of $5,508,418 over the corresponding period last year.

SEASHORE LUNCHEON.

Tinted Marine Photographs Make Charming Place Cards.

A lovely little luncheon motive for country or town is that of the sea and its treasures. For the centerpiece secure a child's seashore bucket, preferably of wood, with shovel. Fill the former with sand in which flower stems may be inserted. Get a square of thin board or cardboard about half a yard across to go under the bucket. Sprinkle this lightly with sand on which a few shells should be strewn. With a doll's shoe make little footprints in this. Any kind of wild flowers will be pretty for the bucket.

If possible have nice large white clam shells at each corner of the table filled with the usual relishes—nuts, radishes, candies, and so on. Small shells, especially the crinkly ones, may be placed at each cover for butter plates. For place cards have squares of rough white water color paper which might be touched around the edges with green to suggest the oceanic tints. On each one are pasted a bit of dried sea moss and a wee bow of red bebe ribbon, with, of course, the name of the guest who is to occupy the seat where the card is laid. Have as favors the red crabs, lobsters and the fish which can be secured at any candy shop filled with bonbons.



FOR LUNCHEON.

Or, if just as easy to secure, the place cards may be tinted marine, photographs with the name of the guests upon the margin and the favors little wooden buckets or woven baskets filled with shells. Necklaces made of colored stones or shells would be an attractive idea if the expense limit is not too tightly drawn.

In the way of good things to eat have the courses somewhat as follows. Too many or too heavy viands are unappetizing in June:

Muskmelons iced, with sherry flavorings; French pancakes, pineapple filling; roast or fricasseed chickens, with one or two vegetables; asparagus or deviled egg salad, frozen cherries, cake and coffee.

CHEESECLOTH CURTAINS.

Inexpensive Ways of Making Summery Looking Hangings.

Cheesecloth is the material from which is fashioned some of the most charming window draperies. Any woman who thinks that because the stuff is simple the curtains are plain has much to learn. For example, some recently hung in a beautiful living room of a big country house are barred at intervals with bands of cluny insertion an inch wide, making squares eight inches in size.

A wide band of the same lace is set around the edge and across the bottom four inches from the hem, and on the edge is a wide flat scallop of the same lace. This style is by no means inexpensive, but is suggestive of the way the material may be adapted to limited incomes.

Such hangings in small rooms where the curtains do not drop below the sill need a band of lace or insertion down the sides four inches from the hem and across the bottom, with an edge to correspond, and so are not costly and are certainly pretty.

When heavy laces are used they should be laid on flat, but lightweight ones are effective if the edge is sewed so the border will not be more than four inches wide and put on full as one would jabot lace. If these are caught back above the middle or hang straight they will be effective for summer. Most oriental effects may be obtained by a girl who is clever with her fingers by embroidering the cheesecloth in colored cottons, such as dull reds and blues, with traces of yellow—indeed, any of the so called "Indian" tones. This embroidery should be in the form of a wide band set in from the edge and is an effective but bold design. These wash admirably.

A fad of the moment that has been adopted by two girls who are planning a furnished summer house was to apply cretonne figures to the cheesecloth background. Many persons would not care for this combination, but when the two fabrics are together they are effective. The flowers could be arranged in wreaths, buttonholed on with coarse cotton the same tone as the background. The birds could be flying apparently across the window, each curtain being made to correspond perfectly with the other.

Draperies such as these are not expected to reach the floor and, as a rule, are prettier pushed back from the center if allowed to fall straight. There should be a little but not much fullness. If draped take them above the middle, as they are less stiff than when caught directly at the center.

A valance in the middle always adds to the attractiveness of windows when the center is otherwise bare. It is merely a piece, perhaps twelve inches deep, put between the two long halves. It covers the window casing and gives a trimmed effect.

WHAT CORRUPTION LEADS TO THE CONDITION OF NEW YORK

Men Engaged in White Slave Traffic the Basis of City Government — The City's Administration Costs One Third of That of the Whole of U. S.

"Law-breaking in our great cities is to an appalling extent a safe and profitable occupation" and alarmingly on the increase.

New York "is in many respects the most lawless city in the world."

New York police magistrates discharge criminals for political reasons at the dictation of political bosses.

While probably 85 per cent. of the 10,000 police are honest at heart, the force is dominated by corrupt politicians.

Tammany Hall depends upon the thousands of men engaged in the white-slave traffic to furnish a sixth of the 30,000 to 50,000 illegal votes cast in those elections.

The great majority of the city ordinances "are not made to be obeyed, but were made to be broken" so that some one could make money from the intentional or unintentional violation of insincere law."

The government of New York city costs $200,000,000 a year, an amount equalling a third of that expended in conducting the National Government; but in addition the city pays probably $100,000,000 a year in graft, blackmail and "brokerage on crime."

Such are a few of the strong statements made by Gen. Theodore A. Bingham, former Commissioner of Police for Greater New York, in an article in Hampton's Magazine.

WONDER WHO CAN BEAT THIS NORWOOD FISH STORY?

Which is Authentic in Every Respect — Same Size Lunge, Same Day, Same Place and Same People But Three Years Apart—Peculiar Death of a Hawk —Other Norwood News

Special to the Review

Norwood, Aug. 31.—Mr. R. H. Elphick, who has been spending a couple of months with his parents in town, returned to his work in Toronto on Friday.

Miss Leta Herrington, of Havelock, spent a few days in town, the guest of Miss Vida Heaston.

Miss Olive Ray, of Fort William, is spending a portion of her holidays with Miss Frances Pettigrew of town.

Mr Norman Patterson, of Toronto, is spending a few days in town with his parents before leaving for the west.

Mr. Chas. Puffer is spending this week taking in the Exhibition at Toronto.

Mr. Joe Kelly spent Saturday with his cousins of Hastings.

Miss Olive Ray spent Saturday with friends in Hastings.

Miss Carrie MacDonald, Rochester, is holidaying with her parents in town.

Mr and Mrs. K. G. Thompson spent a few days at Stony Lake last week.

Miss Maye Dinsick, of Toronto, spent a week with Miss Una Duffield at Stony Lake.

Mrs Job, Miss Alice Job and Master Clarence, of Toronto, who have been holidaying at Stony Lake, returned home on Monday.

Mr and Mrs. Wm. Robb and family, Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Tucker and son, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Richardson and Roy vacated their summer cottages at Stony Lake this week.

Mr. R. W. Waters and Miss Edith returned from Stony Lake Friday. Mr. Waters reports a curious incident in fishing that is not a fish story. Three years ago the 20th of August, Mr Waters and his daughter were fishing when as they thought, they were stuck. Pulling a little back, their trouble turned out to be a nice lunge. They pulled to a stump and finally landed their prize, it weighing 15 pounds. The 20th of August just three years after the same incident occurred, the fish being caught, landed and weighing exactly the same. Who else can recall a like experience?

The weekly half holidays are over, much to the disappointment of many. The clerks and business men have enjoyed them and they have been entirely satisfactory, with practically no inconvenience to shoppers. The last one on Wednesday of last week, took the local baseball nine to Hastings for a game but being unable to hold the fast Hastings nine, were defeated by 7 to 4. Their defeat is largely due to Prest's elegant pitching. The Hastings boys are hard to beat.

Mr A. Cameron of Berlin, paid a flying visit to our village on Monday.

Mr H. McNichol, who is working in Peterborough, is at home for a few days.

Many of our young people intend spending Labor Day at Toronto Exhibition.

Mr Joe Kelly and Miss Olive Ray attended a dance in Havelock Monday evening.

Monday morning at 11 o'clock a hawk busied itself trying to spear a sparrow on our front street. For several minutes it indulged in this sport till a quick dodge by the small bird caused the hawk to dash against a window of Mr Rabolt's store. The bird fell to the sidewalk dead. It's a wonder the plate glass was not broken, as the bird was of a good size, measuring about 36 inches across its wings and being about 20 inches from bill to tip of his tail.

Misses Margaret Hay, Stella Kerr, Eva Dunn and Messrs Barclay Robertson, D. B. Eaton, J. S. Winters and E. S. McCarthy of Campbellford, and Miss Ethel Brown of Warkworth, and Miss Bella Diamond of Toronto, who are visiting in Campbellford, drove over to our village on Wednesday of last week.

The Methodist church which for the past month and a half has been undergoing a cleaning and is being decorated was opened on Sunday. Rev. Mr. Tucker preached the morning sermon to a well-filled church, his text being "Ye are the Temple of God and Beauty and Strength are in his Sanctuary." Mrs. A. Finlay rendered a solo in a very pleasing manner. Mrs. Fry and Miss Ida Andrews sang a very pretty duet. In the evening Rev. Mr. Stevenson called off the service in the Presbyterian church and preached to a united congregation. Every seat was taken. The text was "Holding Forth the Word of Life." Miss Blanche Pearce gave a solo as one of the anthems while Miss Robson's solo and a mixed quartette were enjoyed by all. The choir, which was assisted by several members of the Presbyterian choir, rendered special music, which was a credit to them. A collection was taken to defray an expenditure of $1,000, utilized in the interior of the church. $25 was raised this way, while $780 was made up by subscriptions. The Sunday school contributed nearly $100 besides. No trouble is looked for in clearing the entire debt from the church.

Mr and Mrs. J. Graham and Miss Graham of Hastings, spent Monday in town.

Misses Alice Bennington, Pearl Brown and Mae Baxter of Havelock, visited Miss Mabel Laing, on Monday.

Miss Eda Johnston, of Peterborough, visited her parents here on Sunday.

Night School opens in the Gibbon Business College on Tuesday evening Sept 7th. A call solicited from those who are interested — College over the Royal Bank in the Peterboro Club rooms.

AEROPLANING INTERESTS THE SMALL BOYS

The Review received a telephone message at noon to-day to the effect that a flying machine was in operation on Gilmour street. Inquiry showed that the machine had not yet reached the flying stage, although that is the ambition of the boys who have been working on it. Those in charge of it were Cecil Richardson and Gordon and Stewart Henry. The frame was mounted on three wheels, and the motive power was a piece of canvas used as a sail. Some day the boys may be aviators.

SAYS THERE WILL BE NO PROSECUTION

In the Bollard Case is Statement of the Crown Attorney

Crown Attorney R. E. Wood is credited with the following statement by a Toronto newspaperman—

"It seems to me that the two youths went into the fight with their eyes wide open and knew what they were doing. Neither of them had any idea it would prove so serious. It unfortunately did, but even if the doctors who performed the operation are firm in their opinion that the injuries received caused death, I do not think any grand jury would consider for a moment bringing in a true bill."

CRICKET

In a recent cricket match in which Surrey and Gloucester contended in a league match, an umpire gave a batsman out l.b.w., whereupon several members of the home team, according to the London Times, behaved in a most unbecoming and disorderly manner.

WELCOMED BACK THE MINISTER

Knox Church Held Reception and Social Last Evening

The congregation of Knox church held a reception and social last night to welcome back their minister, Rev Mr. Keith, who has been holidaying on the Rideau Lakes for the past three or four weeks, and to give a hearty reception to the large number of new members who have joined the church during the summer, many of them being from Scotland. There was a large turnout and the enthusiasm shown was an indication of the excellent state of the congregation. The interior of the church was beautifully decorated with flowers, and there was a good programme, as follows—

Remarks by chairman—Mr. Elliott,
Selection by choir.
Male Quartette.
Solo—Mr. Thompson.
Solo—Mr. Jas. Ambrose.
Solo—Miss Carr.
Male Quartette.
Solo—Mr. Jas. Browne.
Selection by choir.

Rev Mr. Keith made a few remarks in which he thanked the congregation for the hearty welcome. He also extended a cordial reception to the new members.

Refreshments were served by the ladies.

SPANIARDS WIN DECISIVE VICTORY

Special to the Review.

Madrid, Sept. 1.—The Spaniards have won their first decisive victory in Morocco. Word was brought here today of a five hours' battle near Arbaa, when 2,0000 Moors attacked Spanish artillery troops, but were driven off. The Spanish unlimbered their cannon and mowed down the Kabyles. The Moorish losses were extremely heavy, although the Spaniards had only three men wounded. All the buildings in range of the guns were levelled.

WHAT ARE THEY WORTH?

Are the eyes worth at least five hundred dollars per year to any man, woman or child? You would spend five dollars per year upon them if necessary, would you not? How much do they cost you? How much do you spend for your feet, your hats, your teeth, etc.? Some wait until they must see about their eyes and would give hundreds of dollars, but find it too late. Many parents bring their children that we may examine their eyes and see whether or not they need glasses. In childhood is the time to both remedy and prevent eye troubles. Again we ask what are your eyes worth to you and what to the child? We devote exclusive attention to the fitting of eyeglasses and artificial eyes.

THE NORTH POLE IS REACHED AT LAST

Dr. Fred A. Cook, of Brooklyn, Performs Oft-Tried Feat—Quiet, Unassuming Explorer, Last Heard of 13 Months Ago.

London, Sept. 2.—"Reached North Pole April 21, 1908. Discovered land far north. Return to Copenhagen by steamer Hansegede. (Sgd.) Frederick Cook."

The above despatch, dated Lerwick, Shetland Islands, and received by the observatory at Brussels, Belgium, is declared to be "surely authentic" by the officials there.

"After a prolonged fight with famine and frosts we have at last succeeded in reaching the pole. A new highway, with an interesting strip of animated nature, has been explored and big game haunts located, which will delight sportmen and extend the Eskimo horizon.

"Land has been discovered which rests earth's northernmost rocks. A triangle of 30,000 square miles has been cut out of the terrestrial unknown."

The Paris edition of The New York Herald of yesterday morning, publishes the above as part of the signed statement from Dr. Cook.

This being so, it means that an American, a surgeon of Brooklyn, N.Y., has succeeded, where Kane, Franklin, McClintock, Greeley, Andre, Nansen, Peary, Abruzzi, Wellman and all the others have failed. By a curious coincidence it is, to a day, two years later than Commander Peary reached his farthest north. Peary is even now in the Arctic again, on the same old quest, and should be heard from any day now.

DR. FRED A. COOK.

A message received at the Colonial Office from a Greenland official on board the Danish Government steamer Hansegede, which passed Lerwick at noon yesterday, said:

"We have on board the American traveler, Dr. Cook, who reached the North Pole, April 21, 1908. Dr. Cook arrived at Upernivik (the northernmost Danish settlement in Greenland, on an island off the west coast), in May of 1909, from Cape York (in the northwest part of Greenland, in Baffin Bay). The Esquimau of Cape York confirm Dr. Cook's story of his journey."

The dream of finding the North Pole has for centuries lured explorers, and daring adventurers, and whether this dream has now become a reality by the achievement of Dr. Cook, rests thus far upon the reports cable from Copenhagen, apparently through an official source.

At the same time, Dr. Cook cables a laconic message from Lerwick, Shetland Islands, where he is proceeding to Copenhagen, saying:

"Successful. Well. Address Copenhagen."

Not Altogether a Certainty.

The hopes aroused by the report from Copenhagen are thus, to some extent, qualified by Dr. Cook's message. While he says he has been "successful," there is no specific mention of having reached the Pole, and those of a skeptical turn are disposed to think that an achievement of such momentous consequence would not have been omitted by Dr. Cook if his search had been complete.

On the other hand, Copenhagen despatches are apparently definite that Dr. Cook reached the coveted goal of the pole.

Several days must now elapse before any further information is available. The Danish Government steamer Hansegede has left Lerwick, Shetland Islands, bound for Copenhagen, where she is due next Sunday.

The message was sent not to any scientific society or to any of his associates interested in his expedition, from a scientific viewpoint, but to his wife.

One assumption is that the message was sent primarily to assure his wife of his safety and not to apprise the world of his discovery.

But by chance, Mrs. Cook was not at her Brooklyn home, but spending the summer at Harpswell, Maine, so the despatch was received by Dr. R. T. Davidson, a personal friend of the explorer, who made its contents known and then flashed the good news on to Mrs. Cook.

Brief as it was the first news that she had from her intrepid husband since March 17, 1908, when he wrote from Cape Hubbard, on the edge of the polar ice sea, on the northwest side of Ellesmere Land. At that time he communicated to his companion, Rudolphe Franke, then stationed at Etah, Greenland, with supplies, to wait there until June for his return, but in the event of Dr. Cook's failure to appear to proceed to America.

Went Out With New Theory.

Dr. Cook, who was born at Calicoon Depot, Sullivan County, N.Y., in 1865, and is a resident of Brooklyn, went into the polar regions on this trip with a startling new theory as the basis for his final dash for the pole—that is, he intended to so time his advance that his journey over the great ice would fall in the winter. Radical as this may seem, great faith is expressed in it by ice men and pilots who have wintered in the great circle. Heretofore every explorer has pushed as far north as he could during the first summer, and then has established winter quarters.

A double purpose was always in view, to recuperate during the colder months for the hard dash that was to come and to wait until the moving of the ice had opened up leads to give the explorers a chance to travel by the boats. Dr. Cook has revolutionized all this and staked his life on the result. He is no inexperienced adventurer, but a cool, practical ice navigator, who has gone through many campaigns. He was surgeon and ethnologist of the first Peary expedition on the Zeta, a yacht, in 1893; organiser and commander of the expedition on the Miranda, a steamship, in 1894; surgeon, anthropologist and photographer of the Belgian Antarctic expedition of 1897-99, and surgeon to the Peary auxiliary expedition on the Erik, a steamship, in 1901.

Nothing has been heard from Dr Cook for the last eighteen months. A special committee of the Arctic Club has, however, made careful calculations upon his probable whereabouts and had reached the conclusion that Dr. Cook has discovered the pole.

EARL GREY GETS OFF

Governor Shot Nothing But His Companion Will be Fined $300--Deer Heads Seized

Vancouver, Sept. 2.—Viscount Lascelles, who accompanied Earl Grey on his northern trip, has been charged with shooting game out of season. Six deer heads have been seized and a fine of $300 will ensue.

It had been proposed also to proceed against the Governor-General, but investigation failed to show he had killed any game. His Excellency did not know that goats were included in the game unlawful to shoot. He expressed great delight at the strict enforcement of the laws protecting them and is pleased to see the laws exist.

Mayor Geddes advocated an application to the Legislature for a share of the fines collected for violations of the liquor laws.

Inspector Ayerst Visits Farm.

St. Catharines, Sept. 2.—Some developments in consequence of a disgraceful affair at the farm of William Cubitt, north of Grimsby, on Sunday, are expected as the result of a visit to the vicinity by License Inspector Ayerst.

The matter was brought to light at the time by Rev. Judson Traux of Beamsville, a clergyman, who hunted up Constables Robinson and Tufford of Beamsville. They found some 30 or 40 men carousing over five large kegs of beer. North Grimsby is a local option township.

HAD TO GIVE BRIBES TO GET THE BUSINESS

Roch Marien Testifies Before Royal Commission to Having Done Some Wholesale "Sweetening"

Montreal, Sept. 2.—Bribes amounting to about $2,000 were paid to ex-Chief Benoit of the fire department, and $5,000 in all to different aldermen and civic officials by Roch Marien, a horse dealer, according to the latter's testimony before the royal commission yesterday afternoon.

Without handing out money, Marien said, there was nothing doing around the City Hall.

He had paid so many bribes that he could scarcely remember particular cases. He had paid $600 once to be divided among five aldermen, but with the poor memory which he exhibited in the box, witness could not remember the names of any of these aldermen.

His admission about ex-Chief Benoit was only made after long probing in the witness box.

THIS BOY IS BADLY WANTED

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 2.—William S. Morton, of Detroit, and his 11-year-old son Neill, are engaged in playing hide and seek.

Neill Morton, with an elder brother, are owners of a considerable amount of real estate in the vicinity of Newmarket, Ont., left the boys by their mother. Mrs. V. L. Chaplin of Newmarket, an aunt, was appointed their guardian when Mrs. Morton died, since which time they have resided with her. Several efforts have been made by the father to obtain possession of Neill. An order of habeas corpus was obtained yesterday by Morton in the Wayne Circuit Court, Detroit, ordering Mrs. Emma Randall, with whom Neill was visiting, to produce the boy in court yesterday morning. Mrs. Randall fled with him Tuesday night to Newmarket and yesterday the court dismissed proceedings.

Morton says he will go to Newmarket and recover his son by force, if necessary.

DAMAGE AT THE PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS TOTALS $400,000

West Wing of Provincial Parliament Buildings is Gutted and Library of Over a Hundred Thousand Volumes is Irreparably Lost.

Toronto, Sept. 2.—Entailing damage of at least $400,000, less than half of which is insured, and the irreparable loss of a library of over 100,000 volumes, many of which can never be replaced, fire gutted the west wing of the Provincial Parliament buildings in the Queen's Park yesterday afternoon.

The insurance, which covers the buildings alone, stands at $750,000, in 45 companies.

The Cabinet will meet this morning to consider plans for rebuilding, which will be begun at once.

With the fire, water did much of the damage; and the cellar of the great stone pile is flooded to a depth of several feet. Outside the building shows no signs of the great conflagration save for the disorder of the usually neatly kept grounds, until you come to the west approach, when the gap where the fallen roof stood and the scarring and staining of the handsome stonework shows the track of the devastation.

The discovery of the blaze which led to the first alarm was made by a newspaperman as he was leaving the first floor of the building. The glass which covers the great light-well in the west wing of the main section crashed through. He looked up and saw smoke and flame and rushed to the telephone in the Attorney-General's Department and 'phoned to fire headquarters.

Premier Whitney, with Hon. W. J. Hanna and other Ministers, deputies and others about the building got on the job, while the others worked like Trojans in their shirtsleeves. It was this amateur salvage corps and firefighters that got out valuable pictures and records, which must have otherwise been destroyed.

When the firemen began to arrive the fire was burning fiercely at the roof over the fallen light glass, and in the wing running north and south at the extreme west of the great stone pile. Lines of hose were run up outside and in through doors and windows, and the flames did not make eny appreciable headway eastward, but burned south into the library and north into the offices in that end of the wing. This was the long stretch in this wing, and it was in this that the fiercest battle was fought.

It was not long before the flames were in possession of the library, and the priceless books were driven from the windows a shower of charred leaves. Beneath this and to the east were the papers upon which judges have been at work for two years in revising the statutes of the province, and a determined effort was made to save these, although the offices of the legal department, in which they were kept, were a drench of water poured from the upper floors, and were kept filled with blinding smoke. This effort was successful, though the papers were many of them drenched. A like fight to save the records and documents of the Railway Commission in the upper floor of the north end of the wing resulted in the preserving of those valuable papers and the greater part of the hydro-electric documents in Hon. Adam Beck's room were saved, although the offices were gutted.

Although the entire library section of the wing is gutted from the slate roof down to the first floor, the ceilings and walls of the legal department offices on the ground floor are intact, except for cracks made in the plaster by water. Above the first ceiling tons of debris, thousands of half-burnt books from the library, charred beams and warped iron piping, etc., are packed between the bare stone walls of the wing to several feet deep.

The cause of the fire in the Parliament Buildings is unknown, but yesterday three theories were current. The first was that it was caused by an electric wire, the second by spontaneous combustion in the dust that had gathered under the roof.

The third comes from Samuel Dunbar, a watchman in the buildings, who says that workmen were at work upon the roof over the members' dining room in the west wing yesterday morning, and that he told them they must be careful of a charcoal stove which they were using. This was in the section of the building where the fire started.

BRYCE AND WARD MEET

Montreal, Sept. 2.—Two distinguished visitor to Montreal yesterday were Sir Joseph Ward, Premier of New Zealand and Ambassador Bryce.

It is understood that the British Foreign Office has been attempting to locate Sir Joseph by cable for the last 48 hours, and that they eventually appealed to Ambassador Bryce to get into communication with him. They were closely closeted together at the Windsor all morning, refusing all interviews. Later on in the day they inspected the harbor with Major Stephens and Mr. C. C. Ballantyne. It is understood that yesterday's conference was for the purpose of imparting to Sir Joseph certain recommendations of the British Government in regard to New Zealand's naval policy, which the Admiralty had decided after the Premier left England.

Dundas, Sept. 2.—A reception was tendered last evening by the townspeople and military officers of the district to Col. Alex. Bertram, Bisley commandant, who arrived yesterday afternoon from England, to Private Fred Bibby, who won second place in the Governor-General's match at Ottawa, and a place on the Bisley team; and the High School Cadets, winners for good of the Pellatt trophy at the O.B.A. matches. Col. Bertram was met on his arrival by the 77th brass and bugle bands, and, with Private Bibby, was presented with an illuminated address. Private Bibby and the cadets were presented with souvenir medals.

BRIDE'S RELATIVES USED GROOM ROUGHLY

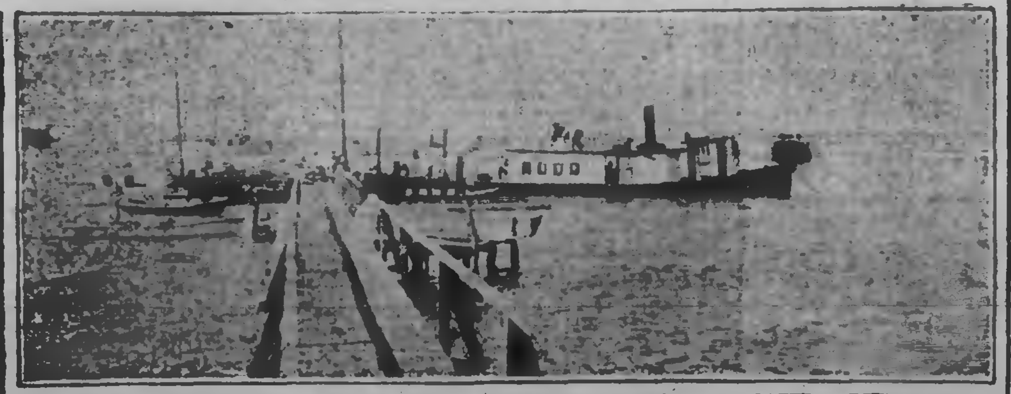
Kingston, Sept. 2.—That he was beaten, taken at 11 p.m. from a house where he was asleep in bed, pushed into a carriage, driven to the station and put on a train and given orders to return to his home in Deseronto, was the story told to Justice of the Peace Hunter in the County Court yesterday by Daniel Sophie.

Sophie, who is about 50 years of age, on July 25, married a Mrs. Corkey, aged about 70, living in Barriefield. Members of the family took objection to the match, and a row resulted.

Two sons of Mrs. Corkey and a son-in-law were charged with assault. One man had struck him in the face when he objected to leaving the house, and threatened to kill him if he refused. His story was corroborated by his wife.

The prosecution did not care to press the case, but wanted the accused bound over to keep the peace. A fine of $1 was imposed in each case, and all were bound over.

THE INN AT TARPON TEXAS



LANDING AT TARPON, TEXAS

What the Weather Bureau pronounces to be the severest and most extensive West Indian hurricane that ever swept the Gulf of Mexico struck the extreme south-western coast of Texas at the mouth of the Rio Grande River and the western coast of Mexico recently and carried destruction in its path inland.

Disconnected reports from the Mexican coast and the extreme south-western point of Texas say the wind blew more than one hundred miles an hour and the waters of the gulf were piled in tides from fifteen to twenty feet high as they broke on the shore.

Point Isabel and other small towns near the Rio Grande on the Texas side, and Matamoras, Caracol, Pesenderita, and many other towns on the Mexican coast have suffered great loss of property and perhaps loss of life by the storm.

Tarpon Beach and Brazos Island were beaten and lashed by high winds and waves. All buildings there are destroyed or badly admaged. All residents of both islands were rescued by Captain Reed, of the Life Saving Station at Brazos Island, after a hard fight, leaving the rescued on the mainland at Point Isabel, which had received no damage worthy of mention.

A telephone message from Point Isabel says that the club house and hotel on Tarpon Beach was washed across the bay and is a wreck on the mainlands. From this it is certain that all houses on the island are wrecked.

Dreadnought Is Stuck.

Bremen, Sept. 2.—An attempt to tow the new battleship Westphalen, the first of the German Dreadnoughts from the yard where she was built down the Weser, resulted yesterday in failure.

The vessel has been lifted five feet by pontoons, her draft being too great for the river, and six tugs tried to tow her as far as Norderham, where she was to take her naval complement on board.

When it was seen she could not make the trip, the Westphalen was returned to her dock.

Old Folks Entertained.

Brockville, Sept. 2.—At Glen Buell Church, ten miles from Brockville, last Sunday, the young people of the Sunday school, especially invited to be present all the aged people of the district, as well as representatives of old pioneer families removed to other districts.

A feature of the day was the presentation to Mrs. J. W. Booth of Lyon Wan of a silver cup, presented by A. E. Donovan, M.P.P., for the oldest person present. She is 90 years and two months old.

TITLED VICTIM OF AUTO WRECK

London, Sept. 2.—Jack Southwell Russell, Lord De Clifford, was killed in an automobile accident yesterday at Bamber, near Brighton. His car collided with another vehicle and turned turtle, and Lord De Clifford was killed instantly. Lord De Clifford was born in 1884. In February, 1906, he married Eva Carrington, who at one time was on the stage as one of the "Gibson Girls" in a local comedy.

Heavy Storm Around Brockville.

Brockville, Sept. 2.—During Tuesday night, and continuing for many hours, Brockville was fairly bombarded with thunder and lightning. Buildings fairly shook, but very little damage seems to have resulted in the immediate vicinity. A barn belonging to Hennessey, near Belle's Crossing, was destroyed. In the Townships of South Oxford and Wolfrid considerable damage resulted. Torrents of rain fell.

Fire at Tamworth.

Kingston, Sept. 2.—Fire broke out in the old grist mill at Tamworth yesterday, formerly the property of the Ontario Powder Co., Tweed. It had been converted into a pulp mill and fitted up with modern machinery.

Nothing was saved, not even the books. The night watchman, James Parks, barely escaped with his life. Loss $6,000.

Steamer Struck by Lightning.

Lindsay, Sept. 2.—The steamer Kathleen was burned Tuesday night at Sturgeon Point, 12 miles from here, having been struck by lightning.

The vessel was burned to the water's edge. Elliott and Moynes, the owners, were on board at the time. The vessel was valued at $3,500, and the insurance was $2,000.

STEAMER CAUGHT FIRE AT "SOO"

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 2.—A special from Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., last night, says:

Considerable excitement was caused in marine circles yesterday afternoon when a report was received that the steamer North Wind was on fire at Whitefish Point in Lake Superior. The rumor was substantiated later by advices from the lighthouse at that station, stating that the North Wind was lying at anchor there, and had been fighting a fire all night.

The North Wind and North King left here Tuesday upbound for Duluth. When Whitefish was reached both boats took shelter under the point on account of a heavy northwest gale which was blowing.

Fire broke out in the after hatch of the North Wind about 5 o'clock in the afternoon and burned fiercely for an hour, threatening to destroy the boat. It was finally gotten under control, but all through the night a careful watch was kept, as fire still smouldered among the cargo, a portion of which was jettisoned during the night.

The fire is said to have been caused by an explosion of sulphuric acid which constituted a part of the cargo.

THE HEARTLESSNESS OF FREE TRADE

The recent conference in London, England, was one of those illuminating occasions which, like the drawing aside of a screen, serve to piece before the observer the true condition of many things, especially those that have been hidden behind the flash of fashion and the glare of riches. Mr. Gompers finds the German workmen, on the other hand, well-off and well-organized. Down to the lowest class of workmen, the unskilled and the unteachable, the German is nevertheless part and parcel of a great and magnificently-organized people. A German is a German no matter of what rank or state of poverty. The mantle of Protection, civil, national, commercial and military, covers the whole nation without exception. In contrast with this is the condition of Free Trade Britain. The essence of Free Trade is the opportunity of the capitalist to get cheap labour. Cheap food, cheap labour, cheap lives. Britain is the home of this sort of thing, and while the rich have become richer, it has followed logically and naturally that the poor have become poorer. The tendency of organization and consequent protection is to better the condition of the organized. The tendency of the unorganized and unprotected is always to a worse and worse condition. The happiness of Britain contrasts in Mr Gomper's eyes with the helpfulness of Germany. It is there that the Briton's fear of Germany lay. It lies there still, and the action of the journals like the Glasgow Herald in coming over lock, stock and barrel to Protection or Tariff Reform is significant of the feeling of the people. There is one thing that must be observed in passing, however, and that is the various provisions the rich Freetrader in Great Britain has made for his own protection without extending it to the toilers. Tobacco and tea are taxed. Patents cost a prohibitive price to register in the government office. Foreign cattle, which would furnish cheap meat and, therefore, lower the price of dear farm-lands, are kept out by an "embargo." And so it goes. All these things the colonial delegates to the great conference noted, and they form the basis of some very direct replies to questions put to them regarding what they saw and what they thought of it. Protection may foster trusts, but it also fosters a better understanding for the worker. Free Trade is the breeding-ground of mergers. Mergers are trusts, and trusts are mergers. The one takes place under Protection, and the other under Free Trade. Neither plan is exempt. Free Trade cannot point its finger at Protection on that score.

THE DANGEROUS AUTOMOBILE

Recent occurrences have done much to add painful emphasis in Vancouver to the outcry which is going up all over the country against the lack of restrictions laid upon drivers of automobiles. To-day there are hundreds of school children who regard the automobile as an instrument of death. The fatal accident at Seattle in which four Vancouver ladies lost their lives, and the marvellous escape of a party of ladies fifteen miles from this city, are of the sort to bring home to the popular mind the urgent necessity of automobiling being carried on under regulations as strict as those which govern the running of trains on the railways or cars on the streets.

It is unnecessary to pause to refute the insinuation which is sometimes advanced, that it is only the "Rube," or [illegible] objects to automobiles. Some of the shrewdest, most intelligent sturdy common-sense of the country is to be found in the rural districts. Not in rural communities alone are "Rubes" to be found. The driver of an automobile who is so unsophisticated as to suppose that he will be permitted to drive his machine through city streets or on the highways, to the destruction of life and the damage of property can lay claim to all that is invidious in the title of "Rube." These are not the days in which the public will tamely submit to horse and pedestrian traffic on streets and highways being made unsafe by any person, or any group of persons, who have the money to hire, if not to purchase an automobile. The common-sense of communities must step in and protect members of the public who go automobiling, and the public whose safety, like their own, is menaced by their doing so.

In a former article in these columns we pointed to the need for chauffeurs being certified as capable, before they are allowed to assume control of a machine. We do not suppose that the reasonableness of this contention is open to question. That the danger to citizens, in autos and out of them, should be reduced to a minimum is absolutely necessary, if the attitude of the general public towards autoing is not to be the same as that of many children in an East End school to-day. Licenses issued to chauffeurs should be revocable, as is said to be the case in Great Britain. For exceeding the speed limit, the license should be cancelled for one month; for a fatal accident, due either to carelessness or incapacity, the license might be extinguished altogether. The auto as a means of locomotion is becoming too common to be disregarded by legislators. The public safety demands that the laws applying to it should be revised and made stringent and effective.—Vancouver World.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Service's new book of poems, "The Cheechaco" (tenderfoot) is like his "Songs of the "Sourdough," very unusual and very good.

Perth has the famous Tay Canal, otherwise known as Haggart's ditch. The Conservative Government was to blame for allowing it, just as the Laurier Government is to blame for the Newmarket ditch.

Mr. Robert Meighen, president of the Lake of the Woods Mining Company, estimates that the crop of the three western provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta will not exceed 106,000,000 bushels. — The Montreal Witness.

Ald. Phelan's remark that it would be well for Ashburnham to have a park is a timely reminder of an important and necessary feature of that quarter of the city's growth and comfort.

Those who have read Farm and Dairy's article on Free Rural Mail delivery, which was reprinted in the Review of yesterday, will be amused to read the words, "I remember only last year going to hear the Hon. Sidney Fisher speak on the subject. HE RAN DOWN THE WHOLE SYSTEM (Review capitals) and told the farmers who listened to him of the tremendous sum the service was costing the people of the U.S."

A REMARKABLE SITUATION.—That the executive head of the Province of Ontario should be the head of the opposition to the power policy of that government.—Toronto World.

This insinuation ought not to have been made without ample evidence to support it.

The Herald does not know of any such evidence. It does know that the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario announced, when he was elevated to that high office, that he would withdraw from all active participation in the business of the great electrical corporation of which he had been president.

If there is any justification for the World's insinuation, we agree that the situation is indeed remarkable.—Hamilton Herald.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Unchanged—Cattle Slow, Hogs Steady at Buffalo.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—London cables for cattle are firm, at 11½c to 13½c per lb. for Canadian steers, dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 10¼c to 10½c per lb.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Sept. 1.—(Special.)—An easier feeling has prevailed in the market for ocean cattle freight during the past week or ten days, and rates at some ports are 2s 6d per head lower.

A fair amount of business has been done in Liverpool space at 35s per head for small lots, and 30s has been accepted for large lines.

There is very little demand for London space, for which agents are asking 25s to 30s per head.

Glasgow space is in good demand on account of the fact that agents have decided to carry smaller numbers on the vessels, and, as shippers find that more than 600 head per week are going to that port, they are willing to book at 35s per head.

The demand for Manchester space is increasing, and engagements have been made at 30s per head.

At the Canadian Pacific live stock market this morning the offerings were 1100 cattle, 600 sheep, 650 lambs, 1300 hogs and 300 calves.

A feature of the market was the keen demand for northwest ranch cattle, of which there were about 300 head, and, as the quality of the same was rather above the average, good prices were realized for them. In carload lots the steers were sold at $4.35, and the cows at $4.50 per 100 lbs. to dealers who later in the day finally jobbed them out to the butchers at 5c to 5¼c for the steers, and at 4½c to 4¾c for the cows, per lb.

There was also a good demand for Ontario cattle, and, as supplies on the whole were not in excess of the requirements of the trade, the market was active, with a steady undertone. Choice steers sold at 5c to 5¼c; good at 4½c to 4¾c; medium at 4c to 4¼c; cows at 3c to 4¼c, and bulls at 3c to 3¾c per lb.

The market for small meats was active, there being a good demand for all lines, and, as supplies were somewhat larger than usual, buyers had no difficulty in filling their wants, and a brisk trade was done.

In lambs the feeling was weaker, on account of the increased offerings, and prices declined ¼c per lb., with sales at 5¾c, but sheep ruled steady at 3¾c per lb. Calves, with a good demand, at prices ranging from $3 to $15 each, as to size and quality.

A stronger feeling developed in the hog situation, and prices scored a further advance of 15c to 25c per 100 lbs. The supply was larger than on Monday, but the demand from packers was keen, as most of them were short of stock, and in consequence sales of selected lots were made freely at $8.75 to $9 per 100 lbs., weighed off cars.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, Sept. 1.—Cattle—Receipts, 150 head; slow; prime steers, $6.50 to $6.90.

Veals—Receipts, 50 head; active and steady.

Hogs—Receipts, 1600 head; fairly active; steady on heavy, and 10c to 15c higher on light; heavy and mixed, $8.40 to $8.50; yorkers, $8 to $8.40; pigs, $8.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 400 head; active; sheep steady; lambs 25c to 50c higher; lambs, $5.50 to $8.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Beeves—Receipts, 1700; good steers, with weight, firm; medium and common slow to 10 to 15c lower; bulls steady; cows steady to strong; steers, $4.40 to $8.65; bulls, $2.75 to $3.50; cows, $1.50 to $4. Exports, 2000 quarters of beef.

Calves—Receipts, 2217; veals generally lower; grassers steady; buttermilks easier; veals, $5 to $9.50; few choice, $9.75 to $10; throw-outs, $5; grassers and buttermilks, $2.75 to $4.50; no westerns.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 10,331; sheep steady; good and prime lambs firm; others slow, but steady; sheep, $2.50 to $4.50; few wethers, $5; culls, $2 to $2.25; lambs, $5.50 to $7.75; one car choice, $8; culls, $4 to $5.

Hogs—Receipts, 2305; market steady, at $8.15 to $8.50.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—Cattle—Receipts, 17,000; market for best steady to strong; others rather weak; steers, $5.60 to $8; cows, $3.50 to $5.35; heifers, $3.50 to $6; bulls, $3 to $5.25; calves, $3 to $9; stockers and feeders, $3.75 to $5.15.

That Embargo.

London, Sept. 2.—The Westminster Gazette says circumstances in regard to the beef supply will shortly arise which will make it undesirable to maintain the embargo against Canadian store cattle.

The C.P.R. plan a railway and traffic bridge across the Saskatchewan at Edmonton, to cost $1,420,704.

Something About Moose and Deer

It is now pretty well known among hunters that the best deer hunting country in Ontario is on the line of the Canadian Northern Ontario and that hunters receive special attention. Mr. C. Price Green, Passenger Agent of the line is a hunter himself who goes right with the parties and looks after them, in fact he located most of them. This year the line will be opened north of Sellwood into the midst of the Moose Country, they are reported very thick, the Engineers say that they have never seen anything like it, the Moose season up there opens October 15th, fifteen days before the Deer. We have something special on a new place that will take three parties of deer hunters.

LABOUR CONDITIONS AMONG HUNGARIANS

Mr. Samuel Gompers Writes—Tells of Life in the Country That Supplies Our Miners and Labourers.

Budapest, Hungary.

My fourth day in this picturesque combined ancient and modern city finds me supplied with material which, treated from different points of view, might take up quite a series of letters. From the government and the labor organizations have come statistical and other facts sufficient at once to gratify the sociologist who gains revelations from tabulated figures and to frighten away the reader whom arithmetic tires. But from tours of personal observation in the big place, now with a population of nearly a million, there have come to me much interesting information not easily adapted to the formation of economic reports.

For instance, there is the Budapest hod carriers. The picture she presents, going about her draught-horse work barefooted, climbing ladders or mounting inclined planes to the upper stories of a big new building, can hardly be represented truthfully in a photograph, to say nothing of her enumeration in a column of figures that classifies industrial workers. The soles of those broad feet of hers are as callous as the bogskin used for trunk covers, her toe-nails are blackened and torn from stubbing them against bricks and beams. She plants her legs, bared half-way to the knee, somewhat in the manner of a mule, with cautious but certain tread, as she moves along on a single plank aloft. She is bunchy about the waist; her head-cover is a 'kerchief, not over-clean, but usually of a gay color. Her features betoken nothing in particular, except an undeveloped brain; her movements are not energetic, as one might deem natural, if be is reasonable, on remembering her sex—actually, she is a woman—and her probable standard of nourishment. She is paid about as much for a week's work as a New York hod carrier earns in a day. She is here in Budapest to the number of 2,000, this total easily possible of an increase on demand. She has no trade union. According to her strength, steadiness and experience, she gets 30, 35 to 40 cents a day. She is by no means in every case a shriveled old woman; not infrequently youthful, stalwart, she looks as if she might appear comely if engaged in a feminine occupation. She handles the mortar hoe and the sand shovel unsteadily. Her "hod" is a handbarrow, which is carried by two of her species. The pair of them bear it like a bier, at a funeral, filled with dripping mortar or heavy brick, up to the man who does the work the bricklayer. Then they may return with a load of debris, to dump it in the street. I took a full score of snap-shots of this flower of Budapest's civilization — a feature somehow missed by the postcard men.

There is another woman in Budapest, not unknown in any large city, given in what, in the irony of thought lessly employed words, is called a sport. Here she is even more in evidence than her virtuous sister, the hod carrier. She walks the streets, day and night, in some quarters fairly in herds. At the cafes, which in Budapest, are numerous, gilded, brilliant with light, and rendered attractive by Hungarian gypsy bands, this woman seems to be regarded as much of a requisite among the appointments as the white cover for the table and the dress suit of the waiter. The observer of the manners and customs of the Budapest people might estimate that many thousands of her women, one day or other in their lives, had deliberately taken a choice between carrying the hod in honest rags and carrying the stigma of an outcast in flimsy finery.

This dreadful fate of its poor women is an index to Hungary's grade among nationalities. The standing of the nation, if the misery shown the traveller as typical is really so, is enough to make its patriots mourn and move its friends to pity. It is a certainty that tourist observations, the testimony of prominent men interviewed, and the statistical tables all agree in showing the Hungarian people to be hardly in the earlier stages of the great new awakening of social reform.

When the narrator of his impressions in Europe touches upon the topic of the low wages of the masses in any country he has visited, the person to whom he is speaking, especially if an Englishman or American, interrupts to remind him that money wages are no index to real earnings; the cost of living cannot be left out of the calculation. So let is glance at prices in Budapest.

There's the matter of rent, usually rated by economists as much higher in America than in Europe. For hours I was conducted through several working class quarters of the city. Such squalor, such composites of all things to be classed as dirt, such indiscriminate heaping together of human beings, I have never seen elsewhere. And their dwelling places cost the miserably poor occupants more per square foot of space than is paid by the prosperous artisan in any American city for his home, with all its accommodations. The common type of dwelling houses in Budapest, as in several Austrian and German cities I have visited, is the French flat, the apartments being ranged about an interior courtyard. In the poor working people's quarters these houses are of but one or two stories, with several courtyards one after another extending back from the street. There is one tap for water to each courtyard, which in the centre has an opening in the pavement for drainage to the sewer, or, in some districts, simply to a cesspool. In every courtyard I saw were puddles of foul water besides the muck about the drain. At one of these rookeries an energetic man, of the somewhat rare dark type of Hungarian, came forward from a poor man's cafe—a hole-in-the-wall, finished in zinc instead of the mirrors and mahogany of the fashionable public lounging resorts—and said heartily:

"Hallo! I American too; was in York t'ree year; I show you house, yaas!"

He took me through a dozen "apartments" facing in upon four courtyards. He walked into each dwelling without knocking or asking leave.

"Don't take off your hat," he said; "dese people expects nottin'. What rent tink you dey pays? Dey don't get de cheap rents of New York."

He quoted prices current in New York for small new flats. Then he indicated the rates for Budapest, his information being confirmatory of what was given me for other housings.

Examples: For one narrow dwelling room and a dark kitchen, $2 a week; two rooms and a kitchen, $3.50; room and no kitchen, $2. In cases were higher rentals. On the lower story the floors were all of stone, badly worn. The furniture in nearly every instance was "a few poor sticks." Our voluble guide told us that in this house there dwelt seventy-six families. Nearly all took lodgers. He showed us one apartment, of two narrow, badly lighted rooms, and a dark little box of a kitchen, and asked the woman who rented it how many were in her family. The reply was her man and two children. And how many lodgers? The guide thus interpreted her answer: "She has six mans, and two of the mans is womans!" This kennel-like existence, so far from being uncommon, is the everyday experience of the poverty-stricken masses in Budapest. Our party was taken to see many such "houses" as that just mentioned. The repellant scene was everywhere much the same, the best examples being a mode of living unknown to Americans and the worst a realistic picture of an earthly, up-to-date inferno. Our guide, pointing out one apartment after another, said he knew of "whole houses" in several American cities for which the rental was lower.

As to the cost of clothing we had with us a highly intelligent young man, an Hungarian labor leader, who, having spent a year and a half in America, was qualified to make comparisons. He now buys American shoes regularly, because of their comparative cheapness, their comfortable fit, and their neat appearance, though he is of course obliged to pay more for them than he would in New York. Suits of clothes and hats, he said, were of better make, and, quality considered, just as cheap in America as in Hungary. Our inquiries did not end with him, but from all sources accessible obtained the same testimony.

The general run of wages in Budapest may be inferred from these rates. Bricklayers paid by the hour and losing even part-day time through bad weather, and with four or five months' loss in winter, receive $1 to $1.20 a day; carpenters, working under the same conditions, get $1.10 to $1.50 for a day of ten hours. In the milling industry, which has the lead in Hungary, until recently the rates ran from 55 to 85 cents a day for laborers, some of them partially skilled, with the men in the more highly skilled positions getting $1.50. Under a trade agreement made in June last wages were standardized and increased by a few cents. The printers of Hungary have 95 per cent. of the men and women in their occupation organized. In Budapest the minimum union scale for day compositors calls for $7 a week. But on the average the wages reach a little more than $8.

On visiting the central offices of several trade unions in Budapest one might infer that the organized labor movement was well advanced in Hungary, though this is far from the fact. The iron workers and stonecutters have good buildings of their own with spacious suites of offices. The bricklayers are about finishing one of the largest and handsomest buildings in Budapest, situated in a fashionable neighborhood. The printers have a six-story building, Gutenberg House, which is an ornament to the city. It takes up a block front, the ground floor being occupied as stores, and contains a large meeting hall and numerous apartments for families. These trade union buildings have in each case at least three distinct suites of offices, with three sets of books. This fact arises from the attitude of the government toward the unions. The union proper, usually in a state of suspension by official order, has one set of books. The benefit societies, which make the usual payments in case of sickness, death, or out-of-work, has a second. A newspaper, which is not—officially—a part of the union, has a third set; and thereby hangs a tale. Somehow, when the members of a union in Hungary quit work in a body, the weekly payments commonly made by unions in free countries to strikers or locked out workers is made to them from the newspaper's funds! Only members of the union can subscribe for the newspaper and its subscription price is much the same as the dues of a union might be, that is, five to ten dollars a year. Surely, men have a right to subscribe to a newspaper which assures them to a certain amount in case of being jointly out of work. It may be that the union funds as benefit societies and the fund of the newspaper are invested in the fine trade union halls of Budapest. The properties are mostly, however, under heavy mortgages, drawn from the resources of capitalism.

This order is making much progress in every city and town in Canada, where camps are established, and standing as it does at the top of fraternal insurance orders in assets per $1,000 of insurance, should be much stronger in membership in the growing city of Peterborough.

Having adopted the scale of rates recommended by the government, it is on a firm and substantial basis, and having for its subject, The Cultivation of Scotland, music, history, poetry and general literature. The practice of athletic games, sports and amusements; the providing of a fund for the relief of the widows and orphans, and the burial of the dead, should appeal to those who are eligible for membership, viz., Scotchmen and men of Scotch descent, and with every brother of the local camp doing his best to help, a material increase in membership in "Clan Alpine" Camp should be the result. Mr. Morris will be here for a few weeks, and will be glad to meet anyone with a view of joining the order.

BURNING OF THE KATHLEEN; LAST OF SCUGOG FLEET

Struck by Lightning at Sturgeon Point Wharf During Big Electrical Storm—Was Well Insured.

Lindsay, Sept. 1.—The trim little steamer Kathleen, owned by Messrs. Elliott and Moynes, was struck by lightning at the lower wharf, Sturgeon Point, shortly after eight o'clock last evening, and burned to the water's edge.

All that is left to-day of the popular little boat is the hull which is sunk near where she was burned.

The steamer Kathleen had crossed the lake when a fierce electrical storm was at its height. The passengers were landed safely at the wharf and after everything was on shore Captain Elliott repaired to his cot to rest himself. Engineer Moynes was in another part of the boat, when suddenly an electric flash shot across the sky followed by a deafening report.

Those who had heard the crash of lightning, and who ventured out, state that the Kathleen was enveloped in flames in a remarkably short space of time, the fiery element engulfing it as if it had been constructed of paper.

The burning of the Kathleen means the passing away of the last of the steamboats catering to the passenger trade on local waters. A few years ago Lindsay was well supplied with passenger boats, to say nothing of the many tow boats that navigated the Scugog and adjacent waters. This was at a time when the lumber business was flourishing and the river on both sides was dotted with saw mills. Besides the building of the C.P.R. to Bobcaygeon has had its effect on steamboat navigation in so far as the tourist trade is concerned, and all that if left of the Scugog fleet is one or two tow boats.

The Kathleen was worth in the neighborhood of $5,500 and it carried insurance amounting to about $4,000.

PRICE OF MILK FOR FALL AND WINTER IS BEING DISCUSSED

With the first of September the price of milk advanced a cent a quart in many cities and towns. So far, however, there has been no advance in the price of the lacteal fluid in Peterborough. There is no combine among the milkmen here although it used to be hinted that there was such a thing. Perhaps there was in the days that are past. Now it is everybody for himself. Milk has been selling at two prices in Peterborough all summer. Early in the season some dealers reduced the price to five cents per quart, while others did not come down and charged six cents all season. It is understood that the latter will not advance the price for the winter months. It is said that some of those who only got five cents per quart during the summer are agitating for seven cents for the fall and winter months. At the present time, however, milk is being sold at two prices in the city.

OVER MILE AND A HALF OF WATER-MAINS ARE INSTALLED

The present season has been a busy one for the waterworks department. Over a mile and a half of mains have been laid and two hundred new services put in. At the last meeting of the water commissioners, Superintendent Henderson submitted the following statement of the work done up to August 31st.

Mains laid 8,236 ft.
Hydrants installed 13.
Valves put in 17.
Services installed 200.

MANUFACTURERS' COMMITTEE CONSIDERING THE PROPOSED THIRTY YEAR AGREEMENT

A meeting of the Manufacturers' Committee was held last night and a little more progress was made with the proposed agreement with the Peterborough Light and Power Company. Another meeting will be held to-night to go into the matter further.

Those present were Chairman Gillespie, Aldermen Metheral, Duffus, Turner, Duncan and Mayor Rush.

City Solicitor Hall was present and he read over the proposed agreement relating to the agreement applied for by the Peterborough Light and Power Company. It has been explained to and taken up by the committee and council in the rough, but the solicitor has put it in legal form. It is a little different from the original and will have to be passed by the solicitors for the company before the council can pass upon it.

The solicitor said he had drawn four copies of the agreement which he would like the aldermen to go through and see if they could suggest some changes or additions. He would like the committee to agree upon the matter and be satisfied that it was correct.

The committee accepted this suggestion, and took the copies of the agreement home with them, and another meeting will be held this evening.

CROWN ATTORNEY'S EMPHATIC DENIAL OF ALLEGED INTERVIEW

Crown Attorney R. E. Wood stated to the Review to-day that there was no truth whatever in the statement, credited to him by a Toronto newspaper and reproduced in the Review yesterday, to the effect that there would be no prosecution in the Bollard case. Mr. Wood says that the statement is entirely without foundation.

"I never made the statement credited to me," said Mr. Wood, "in fact I took care to say nothing whatever about this phase of the case. The article in the Toronto newspaper is purely imaginary on the part of the person who wrote it."

FAIR DIRECTORS WILL MAKE IMPROVEMENTS

The secretary of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition, Mr. F. J. A. Hall, will open an office in Denne's flour and feed store, George street, next Saturday and those desiring information in regard to the fair are invited to call there. The directors will visit the grounds this coming Saturday and decide what improvements will be made. Everything possible will be done to add to the comfort and convenience of those sending entries and for the large numbers which are expected to visit the fair, during the three days. Everything points towards a successful exhibition and those in charge are working hard and faithful. The large prize is an exceptionally good one and should command a big list of entries. The special attractions are the best obtainable and with good weather Peterborough's Fair should be the most profitable and successful yet held.

LOSS NOT AS GREAT AS WAS AT FIRST REPORTED

Special to the Review.

Toronto, Sept. 2.—After the Cabinet meeting this morning Premier Whitney stated that the west wing would be re-constructed at once. The situation is more cheerful to-day. The archives are found to be uninjured and a small portion of the library saved. The damage to the building and contents, except the library, will not exceed a hundred thousand dollars, library over a hundred and fifty thousand. There was no insurance on any provincial public buildings until 1907, when Parliament buildings and Osgoode Hall were insured. The Government is considering insurance on all the buildings in the province as a new policy.

All Saints' Choir

Three Chinamen from Halifax, N.S., arrived in the city on Tuesday night. They are the guests of some of the local Celestials.

More Chop Suey

It is reported that another Chinese restaurant is to be opened on George street. Negotiations for a stand are said to be in progress.

The holiday season having about closed, business is brightening up. As an indication, Richard Hall & Son require additional help in several departments and are advertising the positions open.

HERE'S THE NEW FALL SUITS
The formal opening is not yet but our Ready-to-wear Department is now open to the women of Peterboro and vicinity to inspect already—our stock is a credit to the store and there are still daily arrivals which swell the fashionable exhibition in our large salesrooms on the second floor. All the newest fancies and exclusive styles will be found in our display—styles that are only found here, for we have the exclusive selling for Peterboro of any lines we choose and in the better goods we handle only one garment of each style. Our prices are modest.
MILLINERY
The new stock of Millinery if fast flooding the millinery section—a perfect shower of Fall's latest fashion ideas from New York and Paris. The department is open to the public, under the direction of Miss L. Campbell, lately from New York, in the salesroom, and Miss V. M. Jewell, designer.
DRESSMAKING
Miss Wesley has again opened the Dressmaking Department with a large staff and is prepared to execute all orders received. Orders will be taken in the Dress Goods Department and will be handled in their turn. Leave your wants early and avoid the hurry and rush of the busy season.

THAT WATCH OF YOURS

Is in many respects similar to a railway engine. Let an engine be run without oil or cleaning and before long it will stop dead. Upon examination it will be found that the friction and wear and tear has ruined the machinery, and it is fit only for the scrap iron heap. Likewise your watch. You put it in your pocket, and while there is a tick in it, you, in your mistaken economy, do not consult the watchmaker, and consequently rob your watch of years of good service and also much of its former accuracy. The time-keeping qualities of a good watch are maintained and often improved by timely and skilful attention. If you have been one of the neglectful ones call around and see us.

RAILWAY TO THE POLE

Now that the North Pole has been reached and satisfactorily located a movement will be inaugurated by the Laurier Government including Mr. Pugsley and others of like note, to build a railway to it. A number of financiers, home and foreign, thinking that the credit of Canada may be perhaps a little further strained without breaking, will, it is understood, agitate for a continuation of the "splendidly enterprising spirit" of the present administration. Moreover the audacity of the proposed undertaking will, it is thought, appeal to the public imagination. It likely will. It is "reported" that good land has been found north of No Man's Land. In addition to its other advantages the polar through route will furnish an air line to somewhere else.

However, all honor to Dr. Cook, who has achieved "a physical impossibility." The martyrs who have gone before have paved the way to his success. Cook's tours will probably be on the tapis now and if the Review contest were to do over again that journey would be included in the itinerary. The only thing remaining to be found now is "who struck Bill Patterson?" The earth has few mysterious places remaining and perhaps this discovery will be the turning-point of men's minds to other things.

GENTLE TIP FOR THE MERCHANTS

Shipments of Stock Should Not be Unloaded on Sidewalks

The season of the year has now arrived when the merchants particularly on George street receive big shipments of fruit and it is found necessary to use part of the sidewalk when the goods are unloaded. There is a by-law governing cases of this sort, and those interested should govern themselves accordingly.

CARD RECEIVED FROM MR. G.A. REID

Is Visiting Western Cities-Tacoma a Brilliantly Lighted City

The Review has received a card from Mr. G. A. Reid, of this city, who left recently on a trip to the Seattle Exposition and other points. The writer is at present in Portland, Oregon, after having visited Vancouver, Victoria, Seattle, and Tacoma. In speaking of the latter place he stated that it is the most brilliantly illuminated city ever seen by him. The parks at Portland, he says, are 1,200 feet in height.

THAT SIDEWALK

(By a Benson street Resident.)

Regardless of the fact that there is trouble impending, the new sidewalk on Benson street—or avenue, if you wish—is nearing the stage of completion.

A resident of the street while walking on a part of the sidewalk which is finished, when asked how he liked it, mumbled something unintelligible. Whether they were words of praise, or otherwise, was hard to say.

The walk is really an excellent one, and is a big improvement on the previous one, which was, to say the least, very rocky.

Still there should be some protection made to ensure the safety of those who use it. At one point north of the Normal School it would make one quite dizzy to stand on the edge and look down at the earth.

Were one to fall off the injuries which would result might prove very serious indeed.

To guard against this, it might be advisable to erect a warning sign and in case of not going to this extreme, say a railing. This would make an ideal locality for the students of both sexes to take nightly observations of the stars or the moon, as the case might be.

And look at the saving it would mean. There would be no necessity of going to the expense of buying a telescope.

The city could also make a splendid toboggan slide at this point, at a small cost. Enough earth could be secured if Armour's Hill was removed from its present site, and conveyed to the sidewalk at this particular place.

The sidewalk would make an excellent platform for the tobogganists to start on their long ride. There is no scarcity of snow on this street in the winter months. If you don't believe this last statement ask the snow-plow man.

Miss McCabe will re-open her Piano classes at her studio over the Peterboro Music Co.'s Store, on Tuesday Sept. 8th.

A SPLENDID STOCK OF AXMINSTER CARPETS

For SERVICE, COLOR, DESIGN and PRICE, this Assortment is Unequalled.

It's the time of the year when you are thinking of replacing the old floor covering with the new, more modern kind. And there isn't anything in the Carpet line that possesses the good qualities of the genuine Scotch Axminsters.

Not only are the wearing qualities supreme—but the DESIGNS and COLORINGS offered by our new importations can not be excelled.

Beautiful Turkish Patterns—Rich Persian designs—and the artistic Louis XIV and Louis XVI effects in handsome color combinations—such as self-colored Rose de Barry—two-toned green with illuminated border—Oriental design on camel ground—champagne ground with chintz pattern—green ground chintz medallion design with chintz border—and several others.

The pattern you have in mind, the color and the size is among these fresh arrivals, and the prices are very reasonable.

"SHARKS" GOT HIS MONEY

Man Charged With Begging on Streets, Said He Had Lots of Money on His Arrival Here

That he was found begging on the streets was the charge Robert Carruthers was called upon to face at the Police Court this morning.

He could not remember having committed the above mentioned offence and as there is no doubt as to his past record, the Magistrate remanded him for a week to ascertain these particulars.

The defendant stated that his home was in Toronto, but lately he had been mining at Cobalt. During his visit to this city he had spent more money than had been received by him, owing to the "sharks" as he called them. Carruthers is a big, husky, looking chap and apparently able to earn a respectable living.

ANOTHER CHECK FOR FIREMEN

Peterboro' Cereal Co. Appreciate Recent Services of Firemen

Chief Howard has received the following letter, which speaks for itself:

W. A. Howard, Esq., Chief of Fire Department, City.

Dear Sir,—During your absence from the city attending the firemen's convention at Grand Rapids, we had occasion to summons the fire brigade to a fire at our mill on Simcoe street, and we wish to thank the firemen for the quick response to the call, and also for the efficient service rendered after their arrival.

Your men are apparently so well drilled that the work appears easy for them. In this you are to be commended, and we trust the firemen will be equally successful in the future.

You will please find enclosed a check for $10.00. Kindly apply this to the firemen's fund with our best wishes.

Yours truly,

MOON BLOTTED OUT VIEW OF PLANET MARS

Many Peterboro' People Watched Occultation Last Night--Clouds Interfered Somewhat

The eclipse, or occultation of Mars by the moon last night was watched with interest by many Peterborough people. The sight was a beautiful one—the moving together of the two bright luminaries, the contact, the immersion, disappearance and emersion of Mars forming a spectacle of more than passing interest. The eclipse of Mars is caused by the moon passing between the earth and the planet bearing the name of the god of war. Mars rose near the moon and disappeared from view behind the lunar disc about nine o'clock and showed up again on the farther side about an hour later. Clouds interfered with the view of the phenomenon to some extent, more particularly when the eclipse was beginning.

Rev. Dr. Marsh, of Springville, succeeded in getting two very good photographs of the occultation. In them the moon appears 2 1-4 inches in diameter, and the planet Mars about the size of a pin-head.

Mr. F. A. Acland, Deputy Minister of Labor, is now at Glace Bay to investigate the strike.

SPORTING NEWS

INTEREST INCREASING IN NEXT MONDAY'S GAME

The baseball war-cry has been sounded good and plenty in the Scugog camp and the remnants of the good team that represented Lindsay way back in the nineties, reinforced by the most promising recruits of the city league, will present a formidable appearance when they stack up against the T.A. S. on Monday. The local club has shown enterprise in bringing the Lindsay ball tossers to town and as the fans are satisfied with the article of ball being put up by the abstainers a bumper gate is expected. The locals will line up in much the same way as they have all season, while the visitors will be headed by that terror of would-be base-stealers, William Cinnamon.

OSHAWA GETTING BUSY FOR THE HOCKEY SEASON

Oshawa is a town aiming for prominence in hockey circles this winter. Its name has not been written on the hockey map—that is with any prominence—since the flood, but theyre going to make a bid for the intermediate O.H.A. silverware this winter, so it is currently told.

Now the aforesaid mug, carrying with it the championship of the intermediate series of the Ontario Hockey Association, is in the possession of the Lindsay Midgets. Naturally we are interested in what Oshawa is doing.

While everybody has been sleeping, or working, or playing baseball, golf, tennis, lacrosse or cricket during the tepid summer months, a certain management in Oshawa have been out with a dragnet gathering hockey players of renown into the fold. Then when King Winter comes Oshawa will have a hockey team, and from all indications a good one.

Two Midgets—our own champions—having been living in and around Oshawa and report says Frank Cotey and Randall will be located there for the winter. Then Lane, the Fenelon Falls man who played for the Eurekas in Toronto last winter, has packed his bag and baggage and is sunning himself along the Oshawa main street these days.

It is whispered that other famed and fast ones are being drawn in by a strong magnet and that Oshawa will break into the O.H.A. "trailing clouds of glory."—Lindsay Warder.

RUGBY

It is said that J. B. McArthur, the well-known half-back, who has been playing with T.A.A.C. the last few years, has retired from the game for good. He could not be induced to play more than two games last year, one against the Argos, the other against Peterborough.

George Mara, middle wing for the same club, declared at the end of last season that he was through with the game also. "I will be in the stands rooting this year," is the way he put it.

"Pete" [illegible] may show up this fall, and if he ever gets back into his old form T.A.A.C. should come out all right; they have a lot of good youngsters to pick from, and the club is well satisfied with the prospects.

SPORTING TALK

The following is the standing of the teams in the N.L.U.:—

	Won.	Lost.	Goals For.	Goals Ag'st.
Shamrocks	7	2	67	43
Torontos	7	3	86	48
Tecumsehs	6	3	53	48
Montreal	6	3	60	47
Cornwall	4	6	42	65
Nationals	3	7	40	47
Ottawa	1	10	47	39

"Rube" Waddell, the Browns' big southpaw, hasn't been sent back to the minors, and the chances are he won't for some time to come. But it is understood that Geo Edwards has received a good raking over the coals for his poor showing in the last several weeks. Waddell has been walloped hard in his last five outs and hasn't won a game since July 25, when he trimmed the Nationals. He has failed to show any of his old-time cunning. His shoots have been straightened out for good, healthy bingles, and, in fact, his work in his last ten games has been very bogus. 'Tis said that the reason for this poor work has been Waddell's failure to keep on the straight and narrow path. 'Tis said President Hedges laid down the law to the left-hander. Hedges told him that he wouldn't stand for him to remain in the major leagues, but would see to it that he suffered the humiliation of being sent to some minor league club. The "Rube" sighed, cried, and promised to behave. He'll probably do it—for a while, at least. But just as soon as George Edwards shows a lack of interest in his work again, it is on the cards for him to be sent to the bushes.

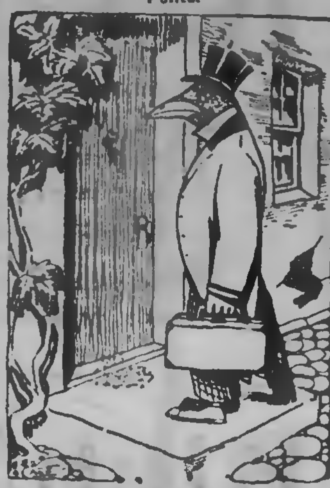
SUSPICIOUS.

He's been so very nice to me
Of late. I wonder why 'tis so.
Before whene'er we chanced to meet
He'd very seldom say "Hello!"
But now he stops to take my hand
And breathes the hope that I am well.
His manner's hard to understand.
I wonder what he has to sell.

He stopped me on the street today
And asked me if I'd like a smoke,
And many were the pleasant things
About my work that fellow spoke.
He patted me upon the back
And said that he admired me much.
I'm really quite suspicious he
Is laying plans to make a touch.

Whene'er a brother gets too kind
Or suddenly becomes polite
I've grown to think a baited hook
Is dangling near for me to bite.
I've learned some things upon this earth,
And some, indeed, were to my sorrow.
When man effusive grows, beware!
He wants to sell or wants to borrow.
—Detroit Free Press.

Polite.



Dr. Woodpecker—Dear me; I must be more careful when I knock on people's doors. I've pecked a hole in this one.—Harper's Weekly.

A Good Reason.

To justify his repeated use of the same witticism, as noted in three of his plays, J. M. Barrie says: "We Scots abhor waste. Did you never hear of the aged Saunders Carlyle, who always drank off his whisky to the last drop the instant it was poured out for him?

"'Why do you drink down your liquor in that quick, greedy way?' a stranger said to Saunders in a reproachful tone.

"'I once had one knocked over,' the old man explained."—Modern Society.

Her Idea of Farming.

Husband—Well, I went out to see that little country place we saw advertised, and I've made up my mind to buy it.

Wife—Oh, then, we'll move away from the hateful old city for good!

Husband—Yes. It's a fine place, but there's only two acres of ground and half of that is covered by a pond of water.

Wife—Say, that will be nice. We can raise pond lilies and watermelons in it.—Chicago News.

An Artful Pleader.

"Look here," said the lawyer, "I enjoy a ball game as much as anybody, but the next time you get off you mustn't tell me you are going to somebody's funeral. Nobody can have so many grandmothers and aunts and other near relations."

"Our family isn't like the general run," answered the office boy. "Father was a Mormon." — Washington Star.

Last Hope.

Mistress—What is that old paint pot doing on the corner shelf, cook?

Cook—It belongs to a man who worked here four years ago.

Mistress—You can throw it out of the window.

Cook—Please not, mistress. It is all I have to remember him by.—Meggendorfer Blatter.

Good Management.

Boss's Wife—So this is the new office boy? I suppose you behave like a little gentleman, especially if there are ladies present?

Willie—You bet! If they're homely ones the boss takes 'em in and I show 'em out, and if they're good looking I show 'em in and the boss takes 'em out.—Judge.

The Best Part of It.

Mr. Peck—This talking machine record is filled with a few remarks by Mrs. Peck.

Oldbatch — It's wonderful to think that you can hear the voice of one who is not present.

Mr. Peck—And more wonderful that I can stop it just as easily.—Answers.

Ancient Art.

"That quaint Miss Passay looks like an old portrait, doesn't she?"

"Not exactly. She reminds me more of a mural painting."

"How's that?"

"She's a perpetual wallflower."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

By Way of Diversion.

"Say," queried the summer boarder, "what can a fellow do to kill time around here?"

"Waal," drawled the old farmer, "mebby yew kin coax th' ole woman tew let yer whitewash th' chicken house."—Houston Post.

The Reason.

Miss A.—I shall never marry.

Miss B.—I shouldn't if I were you.

Miss A.—But why are you going to do it, as it is?

Miss B.—Oh, I was asked.—Cleveland Leader.

How Much Gold Can a Man Carry?

If a man of average muscular strength, a strong man and a very strong man were told they might have as much gold as they could carry a mile—

The average man might carry 100 pounds of gold a mile. He would have over $25,000 if he succeeded.

The strong man could perhaps get to the end of his mile with 150 pounds of gold. He would have about $39,750.

The very strong man could possibly struggle to the end of his mile with 200 pounds. That would give him about $53,000.

To Offset the Starch.

Eleanor's mamma disapproved of her daughter making an entire meal of potatoes, because, she explained, there was so much starch in them. One day Eleanor was putting a great deal of butter on her potatoes. Her aunt remonstrated.

Eleanor said: "I have to. Mamma says they are too stiff."

"Why, Eleanor," said that lady in surprise. "I did not say so!"

"Why, yes you did," she replied. "You said there was too much starch in them."

CANAL NOTES FROM HASTINGS

Hastings, Sept. 1.—The drill scow at the shipyard is now completed and ready for business, the testing of the drills having been completed this week. The cut at the locks is nearing completion and the concrete mixer has been placed on the ground ready for mixing the cement and gravel for the concrete face of the wharf.

The dredge up the river has dug a channel through at the rock so that boats can now go straight through at the left of the buoys. Launches should be careful to watch out for the flags in the bays along the river as the flags mark the points between which the scows are being dumped.

The tug hull has been completed at the shipyards and the place is being cleaned up and the most of the ship carpenters laid off. The tug will not be put in commission at present as her machinery and boilers are being used on other work.

THE CROPS IN FOREIGN LANDS

The Ogilvie Flour Mills Company, Limited, received the following cable advices from Broomhall Wednesday:

United Kingdom, Belgium, Holland, weather showery and unsettled, speculating mentioned.

France, East, some damp soils, yields are turning out small, general threshing results favourable.

Germany, Northwest, good many complaints wet weather, elsewhere weather favorable, much of the rye is damp, wheat irregular, oat crop good.

Russia, South, unchanged from yesterday, elsewhere weather favorable.

Roumania, semi-official report crop 74,400,000; corn will be short crop. Bulgaria crops good. Turkey in Asia and Turkey in Europe, outlook poor.

Hungary crops poor. Australia, India, outlook good. Spain private report, total crop will be about same as last year. European wheat, visible, 46,168,000 bushels.

JAPAN AND THE UNITED STATES

New York, Aug. 31.—The American, in referring to the report that the Japanese have decided to build cruisers of 36,000 tons says—"The size of the projected cruisers is so great as to amaze the universal public and to raise a question as to accuracy of the report for the great English Dreadnought is 17,500 tons displacement and super-Dreadnought is only 19,500 tons. But on the other hand, the ocean steamship Mauretania has 45,000 tons displacement, which makes it possible, and it is by no means out of line with the Japanese ambition and energy to endeavor in one leap to surpass all nations in greatness and power of its battleships.

"Whether it be mere lavish investment of scanty capital or a serious purpose of preparedness toward the inevitable and Titanic conflict with Japan's natural and formidable commercial rival in the Pacific, the fact obtrudes itself upon even the dullest intelligence that the first thing we know is that the despised nation will have as great or greater a navy than the United States. When Japan leaps to 36,000 ton battleships it is high time that America was getting a naval move on her."

SURELY NOT SOME MORE GYPSIES

Outfit Composed of People, Horses and Vehicles Passed Though City This Afternoon

A mysterious looking outfit passed through the city this afternoon about three o'clock and to some citizens it appeared as if the renowned gypsies were arriving for another visit. There were two caravans and a buggy, driven by white people. A number of men, women and children made up the party who seemed to be well stocked with horses, there being nine. Two racing rigs were attached to the caravans, but everything about the vehicles, including the occupants, was tidy and clean.

CAT TRIES TO HATCH EGGS

Shelbyville, Ind.—A rooster, owned by Mrs. John Leech, drove a sitting hen from her nest and tried the job himself. A cat ousted the rooster and is now taking the hen's place on the eggs.

The substitution of the rooster for the hen, and cat for rooster, will probably not affect the eggs.

Substitution, however, is dangerous where our health is concerned. There can be no excuse for a dealer offering something which is said to be "just as good" when "Fruit-a-tives" are asked for.

"Fruit-a-tives" have proved their great value in all cases of Indigestion and Dyspepsia, Constipation and Biliousness, and in troubles arising from disorders of the Liver, Bowels, Kidneys and skin.

They are the only remedy made of ripe fruit juices, and they tone up Liver and Kidneys, and regulate the Bowels, even more effectively than fruit itself. Thousands swear by them.

"Fruit-a-tives" are sold at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial size, 25c.—At dealers, or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

ABOUT THE NEW THIRD READER

Prose And Poetry of a High Standard of Excellence--Sells For Fourteen Cents

The new third readers which the school children are required to have, are on sale in the local bookstores for fourteen cents. It is bound and printed in a similar manner to the fourth reader. The matter contained in this reader is far different from that of the old third reader.

A poem by Carlyle, entitled "To-day," is the first selection in the book. The first verse;

So here hath been dawning
Another blue day;
Think, wilt thou let it
Slip useless away.

A selection from "The Pickwick Papers, "The Pickwick Club on the Ice," by Dickens, which was included in the old high school reader, is printed in this book. Many of the poems and prose selections are more advanced in this third reader than in the old.

Every school boy during the past score or more years knows of the battle of Blenheim and old Kaspar's difficulty in solving the questions of young Peterkin, who wanted to learn the cause of the battle.

Then old Kaspar:

"Why, that I cannot tell," said he,
"But, 'twas a famous victory."

This poem, by Southey, is included in the new readers.

Canadian authors are not overlooked and a portion of Ralph Connor's "Man From Glengarry" is included.

A white tent pitched by a glassy lake,
Well under a shady tree
Or by rippling rills from the grand old hills
Is the summer home for me.

This pretty description of a phase of Canada's life will teach the scholars a love of the land in which they dwell.

And so on, through the volume, well-selected poetry and prose intermingled. Here an extract from Mark Twain, Longfellow, Tennyson. Longfellow then tells the story of the ancient Argonauts, "Fishing," from "Tom Brown's School Days," "David and Goliath," from Holy Writ, and so forth.

The volume is concluded with Tennyson's immortal poem, "Crossing the Bar."

Sunset and evening star
And one clear call for me
And may there be no moaning of the bar
When I put out to sea.

Steel Co. Pays Dividend.

Montreal, Sept 2. The directors of the Dominion Steel & Iron Co. yesterday afternoon declared a dividend of 7 per cent. on the preferred stock payable Oct 1, to shareholders.

President Plummer, after the meeting, pointed out that the 7 per cent. dividend would be paid out of earnings, as no settlement had yet been reached with the coal company regarding the balance of the steel company's claim. There will then remain 24 per cent. still due on the preferred stock.

Was Murdered on a Wager.

Chatham, Sept. 2. [illegible] Skirving, Pere Marquette, claim agent, arrived here Tuesday, after several weeks spent in Denver after his son's death in an hospital there. It is alleged that the shooting of young Victor Skirving was the result of a wager between a man and his comrades that he could hit that fellow across the lake, meaning young Skirving.

Montreal Infant Mortality.

Montreal, Sept. 2. In the three months just passed there were 2,127 deaths, of which 1,233 were children, or 58 per cent. The figures went as high as 70 per cent. for some weeks. The highest death rate was the week of July 24, when the thermometer was 85, when of 214 deaths 153 were children.

Five Pittsburg Firemen Hurt.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 2.—Five firemen were injured, one fatally, by a fire which yesterday afternoon destroyed the transfer and storage house of J. A. Blanck, in the east end section, and spread rapidly to a number of adjoining buildings.

Some time after the fire started, the walls for the storage house fell carrying down an adjacent hotel.

The loss is estimated at $300,000.

Hamilton Theatre Burns.

Hamilton, Sept. 2.—Fire early yesterday morning swept the interior of the Savoy Theatre, on Merrick street, doing damage estimated at $30,000, and gave the city officials an anxious hour, as it was feared that the heavy strain on the waterworks pumps in their crippled capacity would cause them to break down, cutting off the water supply.

THE WHITE LADY.

Kaiser William and the Specter of the Imperial Palace.

While Kaiser William is a sincerely religious man, more so assuredly than any of his predecessors on the throne of Prussia, it is a mistake to describe him as a mystic. Indeed, superstition is foreign to his nature, so much so that he has even been known to manifest skepticism with regard to the existence of the famous White Lady, who, according to German tradition, has haunted his palace at Berlin for hundreds of years, her appearance invariably foreboding the death of a member of the reigning house. Some time ago one of the imperial footmen was summarily dismissed by order of the kaiser for having circulated a story to the effect that he had seen the dreaded specter gliding along the corridors. By a strange coincidence a young lieutenant of the guards, who happened to be on duty at the time when the servant claimed to have seen the White Lady, reported to his commanding officer on being relieved that he, too, had seen the celebrated spook. The subaltern was examined and cross examined in every possible way by his colonel, who, subsequently learning of the story of the footman, considered the matter sufficiently uncanny to feel it his duty to bring it to the notice of the kaiser. William sent for the subaltern, who entered the imperial presence even more tremblingly than when he had seen the ghost. The emperor, noticing this, asked him in kindly tones:

"What was the lady like? Was she tall or short?"

"She was tall, your majesty."

Kaiser—How was she dressed?

Lieutenant—She wore a white petticoat with a white bodice, had a white cap on her head and a long veil flowing over it all.

After a pause the emperor continued:

"Was she carrying anything?"

"Oh, yes, your majesty."

"What did she have in her right hand?"

Lieutenant—A candlestick.

Kaiser—And what was in her left hand?

Lieutenant—A box of matches.

Emperor William has a very keen sense of humor, and the idea of the White Lady, who dates from some four hundred years ago or more, promenading about the corridors of his palace carrying matches, which are an altogether modern invention, caused him to burst into roars of laughter, the young subaltern gazing at him in the meantime with open mouthed astonishment. When finally the emperor recovered his composure, he remarked kindly, but firmly:

"That will do. Don't let me hear anything more about the White Lady. And take my advice. Don't peer about in the corridors of the palace at night, for you might often see ladies there attired in white petticoats and bodices, carrying candlesticks and boxes of matches in their hands."—Metropolitan Magazine.

Says the Earth is Flat.

The Englishwoman Lady Blount has recently been conducting some new experiments in proof of her theory that the earth is flat. She asserts that instead of being a giddy ball, whirling through space at the rate of something like nineteen miles a second, it is a fixed, immovable plane, anchored to its foundations. She founds her belief upon the descriptions given in the Bible, but she also demonstrates her theories with calculations of her own. One of her proofs is a photograph taken with a photo telescopic camera, which shows a river, at the end of which a cross is clearly visible upon the screen. This cross was placed two feet above the level of the water and six miles from the photographers. If the earth were round, argues Lady Blount, the cross would have been below the line of vision, and the fact that it was clearly visible to the eye of the camera proves that the earth is flat. She belongs to a society called the "Flattists," and she edits a magazine called the Earth, the policy of which tends to support her theory.

Age of the Ocean

Of course the ocean is not as old as the earth, because it could not be formed until the surface of the globe had sufficiently cooled to retain water upon it, but it seems chimerical to try to measure the age of the sea. Nevertheless Professor Joly has undertaken the task, basing his estimate upon the ratio of the amount of sodium it contains to that annually contributed by the washings from the continents. He thus reaches the conclusion that the ocean has been in existence between 80,000,000 and 170,000,000 years. This does not seem a very definite determination; but, then, in geology estimates of time in years are extremely difficult because of the uncertainty of the elements of the calculation. The most that can be said for such results is that they are probable.

Appliances For Ocean Safety.

Last year a thousand ships or more were lost. The year before the sea took nearly the same toll. To the tourist his assurance of safety lies in the fact that it is the sailing vessel, with its dependence on the fickle wind, that largely makes up this tremendous loss. Freighting steamers, voyaging on unfamiliar coasts, nearly complete the disaster roll. But to the great liners, with their familiar routes, their well known lanes of travel, their guarded and well lighted harbors and all their appliances for safety, the manifold dangers of the ocean are only the remote possibilities that give a touch of adventure to their passage from land to land. The probabilities of disaster are trifling.—L. Frank Tooker in Century.

Miss Bremmer, an aged lady of Paris, Ont., lost $100 in cash in a fire in her boarding house.

OIL SPRINKLING WILL EFFECT LARGE SAVING AT OTTAWA

An Ottawa despatch says;—An enormous saving can be made each year by the city if the oil sprinkling system is put into effect on all the streets, according to the estimate of City Engineer Kerr. The street sprinkling with water costs $353 per mile each year. The engineer calculates that the sprinkling can be done with oil for $75 per year. This is only one-quarter the cost of water sprinkling.

A man with a 50 foot lot frontage now pays $1.50 a year as street sprinkling rates. For the oil sprinkling the ratepayers will have to pay only about forty cents a year on one lot. Thousands of dollars would thus be saved to the city and the ratepayers each year with the oil sprinkling system in general use.

It has come as a great surprise to find that the oil sprinkling will be so much cheaper when the general opinion was that it would cost much more than water.

A PLENARY INDULGENCE TO ALL WHO PRAY FOR THE EXTIRPATION OF HERESY

The following will be of interest to the Review's Roman Catholic readers. It is taken from the Catholic Register of Thursday, September 2, 1909:—

PIUS PP. X.

To all the faithful in Christ to whom these present letters come, Health and the Apostolic Benediction:

Our Venerable Brother Donatus Sbarretti, Archbishop of Ephesus, and Apostolic Delegate to Canada, having informed us that on the nineteenth and following days of the month of September the First Plenary Council of the Canadian Bishops is to be convoked in the Metropolitan church of Quebec and presided over by him; this auspicious event appears to us as worthy of the opening of the heavenly treasures confided to the Roman Pontiff by the Most High. We, therefore, agreeing to the pious wishes of those who give spiritual food to a Christian people inasmuch as becometh, by the mercy of the All-powerful God and the authority of the Blessed Apostles Peter and Paul grant and concede once to each and every one of the faithful of both sexes confided to their care, who whatever time during the Council they may elect, and having confessed their sins and strengthened themselves with the Bread of Angels visit the Metropolitan Church of Quebec which we have mentioned already or any other parish church in Canada, and there pray for the Concord of Christian Princes, the Extirpation of Heresy, the Conversion of Sinners and the Exaltation of Holy Mother Church—on that day—a Plenary Indulgence and remission of all their sins, applicable also to the Souls in Purgatory, who in the grace of God have departed this life. We also desire that a copy of these letters bearing the sign manual of some notary public and the seal of a person vested with ecclesiastical dignity, have the same authority as would be accorded to these presents if exhibited and shown.

Given at Rome, at St. Peter's, under the seal of the Fisherman, this 19th day of July, 1909, and in the sixth year of Our Pontificate.

(Signed)
R. CARD. MERRY DEL VAL,
Secretary of State.

The bride wore white satin with chiffon yoke and sleeves, trimmed with rose point lace and seed pearls. The bridesmaid was in white mull with white hat and yellow trimmings and carried golden glow, with which flower the house was also decorated. GRAND BALL WAS HELD AT APSLEY

Many Were in Attendance—Several Prizes Were Awarded

Special to the Review.

Apsley, Sept. 1.—The first grand ball of the season was held in the town Hall on Monday evening, August 23, under the auspices of the Coones brothers. As our village can boast of quite a number of juveniles, it being chiefly a local affair, a fairly good crowd was in attendance. There was a slight sprinkling of Burleighites and Anstruthorans also present. Excellent music was furnished by our ever-accommodating violinists, who are naturally endowed with a musical talent. The floor manager was in good voice, so that even a beginner could be carried along successfully by those more accustomed to tripping light fantastic. The ball was opened in the usual way by the Circassian Circle, following which came all the latest reels, quadrilles, polkas, etc.

Prizes were given for the best clog dancer, the most graceful dancer, best waltzer and the best cake walker.

As the fair sex were so beautifully dressed, all appearing in fancy costumes, the judges could not justly decide who should be considered the belle of the assembly.

OBITUARY

MRS. ALEXANDER DAWSON.

The city lost a highly-esteemed citizen yesterday when the wife of Mr. Alexander Dawson, of Ashburnham, passed away shortly after four o'clock. The late Mrs. Dawson, who was born in England, had reached the advanced age of 74 years. Besides her husband, four sons and one daughter are left to mourn her regretted death. The sons are Messrs. George, of Montreal; Herbert and Albert, of Fort William, and Henry and Edward, who reside in Manitoba. The daughter is Miss Alice Dawson, who is at present on a visit to Seattle.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

LAID AT REST

The remains of the late Mrs. R. J. Winch were laid at rest on Tuesday afternoon. The interment took place in Little Lake cemetery, the funeral being attended by a large number of sorrowing friends, among these being relatives from Winnipeg, Montreal, and elsewhere. The widespread regret occasioned by the death, and sympathy for those who would mourn for the departed, was evidenced by the many beautiful floral offerings. Rev. Mr. Henderson, pastor of Charlotte street Methodist church, assisted by Rev. Mr. Soper, of George street Methodist church, conducted services at the house and the grave. The pall-bearers were Messrs. D. W. Dumble, H. Best, B. F. Ackerman, George Webber, Joseph Batton and Mayor Rush.

WHAT ARE THEY WORTH?

Are the eyes worth at least five hundred dollars per year to any man, woman or child? You would spend five dollars per year upon them if necessary, would you not? How much do they cost you? How much do you spend for your feet, your hats, your teeth, etc.? Some wait until they must see about their eyes and would give hundreds of dollars, but find it too late. Many parents bring their children that we may examine their eyes and see whether or not they need glasses. In childhood is the time to both remedy and prevent eye troubles. Again we ask what are your eyes worth to you and what to the child? We devote exclusive attention to the fitting of eyeglasses and artificial eyes.

JUDGE FINDS NO CASE AGAINST PROMINENT MINING OFFICIAL

Charge of Having Bribed John Piche to Leave the Country to Avoid Giving Evidence Fails—Can Find no Corrupt Plan Says Judge Leask.

North Bay, Sept. 3.—Angus A. McKelvie of New Liskeard was yesterday acquitted by Judge Leask of the charge of having bribed John Piche to leave the country and not give evidence in a suit brought by the Attorney-General's Department against the Temiskaming & Hudson Bay Mining Co., affecting the title of that company.

McKelvie was vice-president of the mining company, against which several suits were pending in the spring of 1906. John Piche, who was a prospector for the company, was a material witness in a suit against Henry Thompson and the company, and plaintiff in another to recover 484 shares of stock in the company, which he had hypothecated with Thomas McCamus, a director of the company.

F. W. Scott of the records' office, Osgoode Hall, produced the papers in the suit and Inspector Rogers told of searching McKelvie's premises and finding certain checks, one of $800, dated April 12, 1906, paid to Mrs. Elizabeth Burwash, sister of Piche.

Mrs. Burwash swore her brother left the country April 13, 1906, in consequence of pending law suits in which he was interested. She told of interviews with McKelvie leading to a settlement of Piche's claims against the company, and of Piche agreeing that he would take $2,000 and 100 shares of stock and leave the country. Witness said she broached this offer to McKelvie and he compromised at $1,000 and 100 shares of stock, and she received for her brother $200 in cash and a check for $800, with 100 shares. After Piche had been away some time, he wrote her to sell the stock, but she said McKelvie had objected as Piche might bother the company after the money was gone.

John Piche told of his interview with McKelvie and of receiving money and stock. He admitted that he had sold the stock outright to the company and did not wish to go on with the case although pressed to do so by Pinkerton. The settlement he made was on condition of his not appearing as a witness in several law suits pending against the company. He stayed away three years and returned thinking the matter had dropped.

Angus McKelvie swore that he had an interview with Mrs. Burwash in regard to her brother's suit against the company for shares, and that no other suit was mentioned. He had talked the matter over with Piche at the same time and a quarrel resulted, but a settlement was made next day by Thomas McCamus, at whom the suit was directed, witness being present. Witness never arranged with Mrs. Burwash to go to Edmonton to warn Piche.

Thomas McCamus, Fergus Hutchinson (secretary of the T. & H. B. Co.), S. H. Ryan (chief despatcher T. & N.O. Railway), and D. T. K. McEwan, and A. N. Morgan, solicitors for the mining company, gave evidence discrediting portions of Mrs. Burwash's statements.

Judge Leask, in summing up the evidence, could find no corrupt plan to induce Piche to leave the country. Piche was tangled up in law suits and it was only natural that he should wish to go away, especially as he believed his lawyer wished him to swear falsely.

One strange thing was the payment of $200 to Mrs. Burwash to go to Edmonton. This had not been clearly explained, but no connection had been shown as far as McKelvie was concerned.

REPORT THAT DR. GRENFELL'S BOAT HAS BEEN WRECKED

St. John's, Nfld., Sept. 3.—The inspector-general of police has received a message from St. Anthony, saying that the steamer Prospero, Capt. Kean, has brought news of the supposed wreck of a steam yacht from New York, near the entrance to St. Anthony, Labrador.

It is supposed to be the yacht that was given Dr. Grenfell for missionary purposes.

A fishing boat hauled up a new log line and got it buoyed near the scene to mark the spot where the ship went down.

Further news is expected on the arrival of the Prospero on Friday.

The "Andrew J. McCosh," a memorial to Dr. Andrew J. McCosh of Princeton, left New York last June, to be used by Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell as an emergency hospital boat on the Labrador coast. The yawl is fitted up with an auxiliary engine, but it was the intention to have her proceed under canvas when ever it was possible.

Dr. Grenfell himself uses the yacht Strathcona for traveling. His headquarters are at St. Anthony, to which place he returned a fortnight ago, after a lecture tour in the States.

BE STRAIGHTFORWARD SAYS LORD BERESFORD

Never Mind Susceptibilities of Nations — Addressed the National Club

Toronto, Sept. 3.—Lord Charles Beresford showed a new phase of his thought about imperial defence at the National Club last night in a speech that was warmed to a singular degree by the overflowing enthusiasm of the occasion.

Facing the guest table, along the front of the gallery, were displayed the signal flags, constituting the historic message, "Well done, Condor." The floral decorations were very elaborate. Notable addresses were delivered by Sir James Whitney and Rev. J. A. Macdonald of The Globe.

Lord Charles made the following pronouncement: "I don't care a fig about the susceptibilities of other nations. If you go messing about their affairs you lose their respect and their fear. If you stand up in the ring with a man you don't say you are not going to hurt his susceptibilities. If a nation builds four warships you should build eight."

Sir James Whitney said: "Let us, as Canadians, as our acknowledgment of the new imperial conditions, register a vow to keep those conditions and everything relating to and arising out of them forever free from the corroding influences of local party politics."

J. A. Macdonald said in part: "As Canada is an integral part of the Empire she must be a positive part. It must be for the necessity from within, and not by compulsion from without, that Canadians should take this position."

AEROPLANE HAT IS THE LATEST

Chicago, Sept. 3.—The National Association of Retail Milliners has launched the aeroplane as the new style of headgear, put a ban on the peach basket and decreed the three-cornered hat of the Louis XVI. period days as the stunning bonnet for the coming winter months.

The new creation in millinery art resembles an airship in shape, having two long feathers on either end and a curved rim. Its dimensions are twenty by eighteen inches, and because of its light trimmings, it weighs considerably less than a pound.

Mr. John King, who was head chopper at the Meldrum mill for many years, has been engaged as chopper at Hendry's mill, which will be good news to the patrons of that establishment. [illegible]

INQUEST HAS BEEN OPENED AT SARNIA

Sarnia, Sept. 3.—The inquest to inquire into the cause of the death of William Hendrie, hotelman, was opened last evening, and will be resumed on Thursday night next.

Charles Kingsley said that he was the first to find Hendrie. Some time previous Hendrie had told him to keep a look out for a man named Jim, who was a former porter of his. He said that he was afraid of him.

Albert Donnelly, who was asleep in the Hendrie bedroom, said that he and Hendrie and the man Jim had been drinking. He did not know anything of the tragedy till he was aroused and told of it. Jim had gone for a bottle of liquor for Hendrie that day.

Walter Sanderson gave some sensational evidence in regard to what Hendrie said, including: "You may think that I committed suicide, but I didn't, this is no case of suicide."

Doctors Wilkinson and Henderson stated that the cut was inflicted by a sharp instrument. It was impossible to have been inflicted by the bedpost, as had been previously stated. They gave the cause of Hendrie's death as the blood clotting in the vein.

Accidentally Shot.

Kingston, Sept. 3.—By the accidental discharge of a rifle, Stanley Scales, a farmer living at Sydenham, lost his life. He was going on a duck-shooting trip and was just in the act of stepping into the boat when the gun went off, the charge penetrating his right lung. He was alone at the time and was found by neighbors. The body was partly in the boat and partly in the water. Death was instantaneous. He is survived by a wife and child. He formerly lived at Verona.

Lusitania's New Record.

New York, Sept. 3.—The Lusitania by landing her passengers in New York at 7.30 last night accomplished the first four day western passage of a transatlantic liner.

Her time from Daunts Rock to the Ambrose Channel lightship was four days 11 hours and 42 minutes.

This new record clipped more than three hours from the Lusitania's best performance heretofore.

Falls Forty Feet and Is Unhurt.

Montreal, Sept. 3.—Mildred Grant, the five-year-old daughter of Henry Grant, of this city, fell 40 feet from a balcony.

In her descent, she struck the shoulder of a neighbor below, which helped to break the fall. So far as known she sustained only a few bruises.

AVIATOR WILLARD HAS ACCIDENT IN FIRST FLIGHT AT TORONTO

After Going 300 Yards of His Proposed Voyage to Niagara Aeroplanist Encounters an Adverse Air Current And is Plunged Into the Water.

Toronto, Sept. 3.—A flight of about 300 yards was made by the aeroplane Golden Dart, at Scarboro Beach park, last night, and then she took a dive into the bay carrying her driver, C. F. Willard down to nothing worse than a cold dip. Boats were soon sent out to the rescue and Willard was taken ashore. The machine was sufficiently buoyant to keep partly above water, and was easily towed in and hauled back to the tent. The machine was slightly damaged, a few ribs being broken, and the propeller wrecked, but not beyond repair.

It was nearly dark when Willard took his seat on the biplane at 7.25 o'clock and prepared for the trial. Ever since Monday the aviators had been patiently waiting for the wind to drop and last evening when the breeze lessened somewhat Willard determined to attempt a flight. Several hundred people were present when the machine was run out on the lawn, and righted about on the speedway preparatory to the start. The engine was started at full speed, running at a rate of 1,300 revolutions a minute, which gave two men about all they could do to hold the plane in check until the order was given to release.

When released at the command of the driver the airship started along the speedway gathering momentum at every yard and after running on the three wheels, a distance of 100 yards she rose gracefully, and shot out over the lake at a rate of about 45 miles an hour. A cheer came from dozens of throats as the giant bird receded from land, her outlines growing dim in the semi-darkness, but an instant later a splash was seen, and the flight was over. The machine was not in the air longer than 10 seconds, but her performance was such as to convince the spectators that she was "sure enough" a flying machine. She rose to a distance of about 20 feet, curving gracefully and then swooped down to the water.

Willard was not discouraged by the performance, claiming that the accident was neither the fault of the machine nor his management of it. "A gust of wind caught me and bore me down," he said. The biplane usually rise about 30 feet, which gives me a chance to recover from wind drives, and I thought I was fully that high to-night, but was mistaken. When the gust of wind caught the plane the machine tilted and was carried down to the water before I had a chance to right her. We will wire to Hammondsport for another trial on Saturday."

Willard demonstrated that he is at home not only in the air but in the water as well. When the aeroplane dove into the bay nose first, Willard was thrown several feet out of his seat, in front of the machine. He promptly swam back, and climbed on top of the upper plane where he awaited a boat to take him off.

SAVED FOUR FROM WATER

Cornwall, Ont., Sept. 3.—Herbert Yates, the 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Yates, of Cornwall, has earned the Royal Humane Society medal for saving life at the peril of his own.

Yates and four boys, aged from eight to thirteen years, were in a boat. They started across the little river which runs down from the Long Sault Rapids between the islands. The rowlock of the boat broke, and the boat upset and drifted away. Mrs. E. Derosie, Mrs. F. Newman, and Mrs. Shaver, mothers of the little fellows were coming behind in a rowboat with three little girls. Yates, although only an indifferent swimmer, and burdened with his clothing, managed to bring the whole four to the mother's boat.

One little fellow, Freddie Shaver, did not recover for some time.

TYPHOID FEVER IN SILVER COUNTRY

Cobalt, Sept. 3.—A conservative estimate of the number of typhoid fever cases in Cobalt yesterday may be placed at 300, and even the town authorities credit over 180 cases, when asked about the situation.

And it is a situation that is going to become startlingly serious, in view of the fact that typhoid is developing at an increased ratio of from 10 to 15 new cases per day.

The problem before the town is growing in difficulties, and there appears to be no remedy.

Summer Hotel Scorched.

St. Thomas, Sept. 3.—Fire which started in the grate of the rotunda at Invererie, summer hotel at Port Stanley, at four o'clock yesterday morning, did $1,000 damage before it was extinguished, and guests were forced to leave their rooms in their night-clothes.

It is estimated that 600 natives have perished in the floods in south-eastern Java.

Mrs. Anna Wilson, aged 28, the Toronto woman who shot herself last Monday, died in Buffalo yesterday.

It is reported that half of the town of Camargo, on the Mexican bank of the Rio Grande, has been wiped out by a flood.

Very little rain has fallen in eastern Pennsylvania for several months past, and the drought thereby created now is in the acute stage.

There are still forty miles of the National Transcontinental Railway to be laid with rails to complete the line from Winnipeg to Fort William.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith, an aged couple of New Haven, Conn., have been robbed in Paris of $4,000 by two confidence men to whom they entrusted their money for safe keeping.

While Sir Thomas Shaughnessy early yesterday morning was asleep in his private car, The Killarney, at Ottawa, a shunting engine collided with the coach. The rear-end was badly smashed.

With the opening of the duck-shooting season a number of fatal accidents are reported. Maxwell McDonald of Glen Ewing, Sask., was killed while cleaning his gun, and Alfred P. O. Webb of Delmas, Sask., was using his gun as a club to kill some game, when he received the charge in the abdomen.

Ward Visits Laurier.

Ottawa, Sept. 3.—Sir Joseph Ward, the New Zealand Premier, called upon Sir Wilfrid Laurier yesterday. It was explained that the visit was purely a personal one.

Sir Joseph left this morning for Toronto and Niagara Falls, and on Saturday night will start for the coast en route home.

No one Government was responsible for delay in the cable negotiations, which concerned five, he said.

Two Years For Perjury.

Toronto, Sept. 3.—Soloman Altman learned the golden value of truth when in the Police Court yesterday he was sentenced to two years in Kingston Penitentiary for perjury, which he admitted having committed in a civil case. He declared that he had been offered $50 and paid $20 by Morris Levy, one of the parties to the suit, who is now before the court charged with subornation of perjury.

EXPLORER'S FRIENDS SAY HE WILL PROVE HIS CLAIMS

Dillon, Bradley and Fiala Declare That They Have Perfect Faith in Authenticity of Dr. Cook's Feat—U. S. and Canada Claim New Land.

Poughkeepsie, N.Y., Sept. 3.—Dillon Wallace, the author and explorer, whose companion Leonidas Hubbard, became lost and starved to death while exploring Labrador, said yesterday afternoon that he had implicit faith in Dr. Cook's wonderful feat. Mr. Wallace has almost completed plans for an expedition to go to the relief of Dr. Cook. In his statement he said: "I knew Dr. Cook well, as he was one of the closest friends of my youth. You may trust in his veracity. I have known him intimately since he was born. When a boy he exhibited signs of a scientific bent. When he could, he would read of explorers, and study their methods. When I left on my last expedition, on May 30, 1905, Dr. Cook led a delegation of the Arctic Club, which went to the ship to see us off."

"It is impossible that Cook could have merely found the magnetic pole, Wallace said, having noted that there was some dispute as to the point Cook reached." His course would not have permitted that. Any one who has visited this country (meaning the north), who has studied conditions there, can realize how impossible it would be for him to reach the magnetic pole from the course he took.

Another point that would lend to help discourage statements which have been made by his critics, is that Dr. Cook's route was directly to Cracker Land, ending with a swift dash to the pole, which would lie directly north. Thus he would avoid the awful eastern drift of the terrible current in the polar seas, north of Greenland. Peary undoubtedly would have accomplished what Cook has done if he had been better acquainted with the dangerous conditions confronting him in the frozen seas. Perry tried to avoid this condition by going westward, but this was his undoing."

Asked what benefits would be derived from Dr. Cook's discovery by the U.S., Wallace said:

"The great northern country is a strange land to us. The geographical situation is a matter that is of real importance to our Government. I have not the least doubt that Dr. Cook has taken a series of geographical notes which will be of the greatest value. I have seen some of his notes where sent back by him two years ago, when he was in Greenland, which describes most convincingly the situation in the frozen north. He tells of vast coal mines and other ore, which this country some day will find of the greatest value, and will be highly pleased to possess.

Had a Good Outfit.

New York, Sept. 3.—John Bradley, the financial backer of Dr. Cook, took pains to explain yesterday that the Brooklyn explorer's success in reaching the North Pole was not so much the result of chance as the opinions of several polar experts would indicate.

"This was no haphazard expedition," he said, "no intensified Arctic joy ride undertaken on nerve. We went about our preparation for this thing quietly and without brass band accompaniment, but we provided for every imaginable contingency.

"I am not going to tell what the cost was. But I will tell you this much. One single item of the equipment was 5,000 gallons of gasoline and another was two barrels of gum drops. An Esquimaux will travel thirty miles for a gum drop. His sweet tooth is the sweetest in the world.

"Cook, it is true, has as much nerve as any man in the world, but he had something besides nerve to carry him through. I am not trying to take any of the credit; but I want to say that he had the right kind of an outfit to take him there."

Corroboration Some Day.

Anthony Fiala, the Arctic explorer and commander of the Ziegler expedition of 1903-1905, agreed with Mr. Bradley in placing confidence in the reports of Dr. Cook's success.

"This will not put an end to polar expeditions," he said yesterday. "Other expeditions will push their way northward. Dr. Cook says he has discovered land in the for north. If the land is there others will find it and verify his story. If it is not there his story will be branded false."

May Be Only a Marathon Here.

Boston, Sept. 3.—That Dr. Cook's discovery of the North Pole is interesting as a sporting event only, unless he was able to bring back scientific notations, is the comment of Prof. Pickering of Harvard University.

The Coldest Yet.

Paris, Sept. 3.—Pierre Levasseur, the French geographer, was overcome with delight when informed of Dr. Cook's achievement.

"All honor to Dr. Cook," he exclaimed. "I now await other details. Do islands exist in the Arctic Ocean beyond the 86th degree, and is the pole on one of these islands? I hope we will have answers to these questions, but in any event there probably will be little occasion to change the maps of the world.

"Dr. Cook's achievement is most extraordinary. It seems that he made a journey over 300 miles on the ice, and the temperature he met, 83 degrees below zero, Fahrenheit, is the lowest ever recorded.

"We undoubtedly will be astonished when we compare Dr. Cook's records with the reckonings and assumptions of science."

Canada Owns the Land.

Ottawa, Sept. 3.—In official circles the view is taken that the discovery of the North Pole by Dr. Cook does not in any way affect Canada's claim to any new land upon which the intrepid explorer may have set his feet in the course of his wanderings. Canada has always claimed all land which lies to the eastward of Greenland and between the northern shores of the Dominion of Canada proper and the North Pole.

Our claim was strengthened when in 1906-7 Captain Bernier in the steamer Arctic went as far north as Pond's Inlet and planted the British flag on all the islands touched on the voyage. The gallant captain is at the present time engaged in a similar roving commission.

U. S. Claim Ownershop.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 3.—An authority here on international law says that the finding of the North Pole gives the United States proprietory rights.

West Indies Trades Commission.

Ottawa, Sept. 3.—The Royal Commission appointed by the Imperial Government to report upon measures that should be taken for the promotion of closer trade relations between Canada and the West Indies, will hold its first session in this city on Sept. 21.

Other sittings will be held in Halifax and St. John.

Raymond Hitchcock Free.

New York, Sept. 3.—Raymond Hitchcock, the comedian, was given a clean bill on the Criminal Court records yesterday, when the Court of General Sessions dismissed the remaining four indictments against him, charging misconduct.

THE NAVY QUESTION

The following utterance of the premier of New Zealand throws an interesting sidelight on the outcome of the British Defence Conference;—

Montreal, Sept. 1.—Hon. James Bryce, British Ambassador to Washington, and Sir Joseph Ward, Premier of New Zealand, met in conference at the Windsor Hotel this morning. The Ambassador came up from Portland last night and Sir Joseph arrived this morning from New York. Both the New Zealand Premier and the British Ambassador left this afternoon for Ottawa, where they will confer with Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

The conference related to is what is called the Webster claim. Webster was an American citizen, who married a Maori wife. After the Maori war his land was taken, he claims, and now his descendants demand £500,000 from the New Zealand Government.

At the close of his conference with Hon. James Bryce, Sir Joseph Ward Ward discussed freely the recent naval conference in London. "What we did at the conference," said Sir Joseph, "was to consolidate the forces of the Empire for naval defense. I am a strong advocate of a united Imperial navy and so were a number of the British members of the conference. But you see we had to make concessions to local influences. The Australian delegates proposed to me that we should join with them to form an Australian navy, but I refused at once to enter into such an arrangement. It would have been an enormous undertaking for us, and we would not have known what we were in for. And when all was done that we could have done, we would not have been as safe as we are with the Imperial navy behind us. In addition, our local navy, if it was a local navy, would not have been able to join in the defence of the Empire in its most vital points if there were troubles in the North Sea. I cannot express an opinion as to what Canada should do."

Thus do we see that the wholly Canadian Navy idea will militate against participation in the true defence of the empire.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Our religious exchanges use more violent or picturesque language than our ordinary secular exchanges. The secular journalists are not such bed fellows after all.

Every Orangeman knows that he is in duty bound to extend to his Roman Catholic fellow-citizen the full rights that he claims for himself. —The Sentinel.

LaPatrie say that the Canadian request for a remission of the cattle embargo is less than the burden of naval and military expense which the Mother Country wishes to place upon us!

The great loss at the Parliament Buildings in Toronto would not have occurred if wood had not been so generally used in place of iron for roof and floor supports, etc. The Mowat Government made a mistake in erecting a cheap repository for all our provincial valuables.

During a recent episcopal tour, the Rt. Rev. Bishop Fogarty, of Tipperary, Ireland, called attention to the dying out of the old Irish families. Bishop Fogarty declared it to be his belief that the cause lay mainly with parents, who blindly insisted upon living up to the old Irish custom of keeping the little properties for the eldest son.—The Catholic Register.

The yellow press which says Rome is always working stealthily and in the dark, gets an odd jolt betimes. The yellowest of them, the fair-and-square Sentinel, marvels at our honesty in saying that the Catholics of Ontario [illegible] High Schools in the bond and won't be satisfied till they get them. We are far too frank for the organ now. Some people you can never please, anyway.—The Catholic Register.

The following, no doubt, will be of interest to Lieut.-Col. J. W. Miller, Mr Joseph Jones and others:

"Impartial historians have long ago arrived at the conclusion that the reign of William of Orange would be a blur on the escutcheon of an Apache Indian. Cold facts show him to have been a savage, treacherous, stubborn, rapacious and tyrannical soldier of fortune who knew as much about free institutions and constitutional government as the average Orangeman knows about Catholic belief and practice. The scholar of to-day has to hold his nose as he writes of William of Orange and the crazed fanatics who fought under his standard at the battle of the Boyne."—The Catholic Register.

The British Government has uttered its annual refusal to remove the embargo on our cattle. It will be interesting to see what a preferential tariff government will do if one ever comes into power. The embargo is a protective device, founded upon fame pretences and maintained by hypocrisy. A protective government could take such a position without exciting criticism; but a free trade government can only do so by libelling the health of our herds. However, it is not likely to disappear. The influences behind the prohibition seem too strong for the leaders of both parties; and we might as well make up our minds to get along without the British market for live cattle.—The Montreal Star.

The new United States tariff aims to protect wild beasts. This is going a bit too far. Any theory of trade regulation or protection that has got to this pitch had better be revised. Some are in favor of an "embargo" but not of a prohibitive tariff. What is the difference?

Our net interest-paying Federal debt at the present time—that is, our net debt less the Dominion notes in circulation—is about $37 per head for a population of 7,000,000. That of the United States is $10 per head. A large proportion, seven-ninths of their interest-bearing debt is in 2 per cent. bonds, whereas our bonded debt pays higher rates. The result is that the interest charge on the Federal debt of the United States in 1908 was $21,000,000, while the interest charge on ours was $11,000,000, or over half. If we continue to augment our debt in the next few years as rapidly as we have augmented it during the last two or three, since the construction of the Government section of the new Transcontinental Railway was begun, we shall soon owe half as much as the United States, for their debt is being reduced, while our annual interest charge will considerably exceed one-half of theirs, which would be a grave enough condition of affairs.—Exchange.

After a careful analysis of the commission plan as adopted in the United States, the Municipal World says:

The plan does not insure good government. No mere system can do that. The people must be alert, interested in their city and its administration, and ready to act if their interests are not guarded. No scheme of government can take the place of these qualities on the part of citizens. But what the new plan does is to closely connect the people and the governing body; it enables the ratepayers to really choose their men, to judge their facts with a fair degree of accuracy and to hold them responsible for the kind of government given, retiring the commissioners, if necessary, or refusing approval of their laws; and this fact inspires the hope that American cities can be, after all, well administered; a new feeling that here is a plan which gives the average citizen a chance to determine who shall represent him, and afterward to decide whether he is being adequately represented. This is why commission government is spreading so rapidly and so steadily, and why the results so far obtained have been so favorable. Every student of government and every thoughtful taxpayer will soon with interest reports of the operations of this plan in other cities, debating whether its principle cannot be applied, with variations, if needed, to his own city.

NO ESCAPE

Once a very nervous chap
To cross the street did try;
An auto handed him a tap—
And sent him to the sky.

And ere he would descend again
He got an awful whack;
Somebody's whizzing aeroplane—
Just tapped him on the back.

He shot down to the lake below,
He tried to keep afloat;
Alas, he fell a victim to
A puffing motor boat.

Exporters.

George Rowntree bought about seven loads of exporters, at $5 to $5.30 per cwt. Export bulls sold from $3.75 to $4.65, and one extra quality bull sold by Maybee and Wilson, weighing 2530 lbs., at $5.40 per cwt.

Feeders and Stockers.

H. Murby reports a fair clean up in this line for the week, altho prices for medium steers and heifers are only moderate. Good, 900 to 1000 lb. steers are more readily sold, and are holding their own fairly well. Mr. Murby bought 150 head on Thursday at following quotations: Best steers, 900 to 1000 lbs., $3.50 to $4; steers, 700 to 850 lbs., $3.25 to $3.60; stockers, 500 to 700 lbs., $2.90 to $3.15; medium heifers and steers, 600 to 750 lbs., $2.50 to $2.90; common steers and heifers, $2.25 to $2.50 per cwt.

Milkers and Springers.

Eastern buyers from Montreal and other points caused a strong market for choice milkers and forward springers. Prices were unchanged ranging from $40 to $55 for medium to good, and choice cows sold from $60 to $65, but there were few of the latter kind. Common light milkers and late springers were hard to chah, prices ranging from $25 to $35 each.

Veal Calves.

There was a fair trade for veal calves of the best quality. Prices ranged from $3 to $6.50 per cwt. for the bulk, but a few new milk fed calves sold up to $7 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Receipts of sheep and lambs were heavy, especially of lambs, which caused prices to break. Lambs sold from $5 to $5.90 for the bulk, with selected lots at $6 per cwt.; sheep, ewes sold at $3.50 to $4 per cwt.; rams, $2.50 to $3 per cwt.

Hogs.

HUNTERS

Something About Moose and Deer

It is now pretty well known among hunters that the best deer hunting country in Ontario is on the line of the Canadian Northern Ontario and that hunters receive special attention. Mr. C. Price Green, Passenger Agent of the line is a hunter himself who goes right with the parties and looks after them, in fact he located most of them. This year the line will be opened north of Sellwood into the midst of the Moose Country, they are reported very thick, the Engineers say that they have never seen anything like it, the Moose season up there opens October 15th, fifteen days before the Deer. We have something special on a new place that will take three parties of deer hunters.

Linen of Snowy Whiteness

The real beauty of linen lies in its whiteness. It must come from the washing spotlessly clean. So, naturally enough, it is always rubbed twice as hard, and so wears out twice as fast.

But here is a new way to wash linen as well as other fabric—a way that saves half the rubbing and doubles the life of the garment.

This new way is the way of Taylor's Borax Soap. For no other soap saves both labor and garments as does this wonderful soap—it saves its own cost many times over.

Taylor's Soap

Here is the Taylor way: Place the white clothes in warm, soapy water and let them soak over night. Then draw them out one by one and rub them lightly with Taylor's Borax Soap. When well soaped, roll them up and lay them in the bottom of the tub under water. Let them soak in this way for half an hour. Then rub them gently on the washboard, rinse and wring them out. Hang them on a rope clothes line, for wire may put iron rust spots on the clothes.

Scalding is never necessary with this soap, for it removes the dirt by itself. The borax softens the water, so less soap is required, and also much less rubbing.

Colored clothes are washed the same, only they should not be left to soak over night; and never boiled.

Follow these simple directions and your clothes will come out fresh, clean and free from any "soapy smell." The white goods will be whiter, the colored goods brighter and the woolens softer than ever before.

Borax not only softens the water, but also softens the hands—it leaves them even whiter than ever before. Also it purifies and sweetens—it destroys every germ and prevents the possibility of contagion.

TRADE AGREEMENTS AND POLITICAL CONDITIONS

A Critical Review of the Status of Trade Unions in a European Manufacturing Centre, Budapest, Hungary—Mr. Samuel Gompers, in His Series of Articles on the Labor Situation in European Countries, Continues His Account of Investigations Made at Budapest, Hungary.

In few civilized countries are the trade unions weaker than in Hungary. There are only about one hundred thousand members, the entire population, with Croatia, being nearly twenty millions. For this there are many causes, but the immediate one is the hostility of the government as represented by a man at the head of the department which deals with labor organisations. While according to the statutes workingmen are at entire liberty to form unions, he has the power first to look into their purposes and legal standing, and he usually finds reasons to forbid their formation. In the case of established unions he harasses them by restrictions and suspensions, so that much of whatever they may do renders them liable to be dissolved. No one spoken with found any defense for the policy of this man. His name is Kossuth. His father, known as one of the revolutionists of 1848, was hailed as an apostle of liberty during his visit to America on his release from prison after his participation in the events of that year. Among the most active of the present Kossuth's opponents are the workingmen of Hungarian birth now in America. They send heavy subscriptions steadily to the "Volksstimme," the organ of the most radical of the opponents of the government.

The manner in which the administration deals with the unions, and tries to help the employing class, was shown in a recent dispute between a teamsters' union and representative of large landed proprietors. At the same time an illustration was given of how the [illegible] unionists manage to turn the oppressive laws to their own account. Some wheat teamsters having struck, the government suspended the union and took possession of its funds, declaring them to be the property of the individual members. The employers of the members not on strike, for purposes of intimidation, then locked out their men. Thereupon the latter, taking their turn at operating the law for themselves, appealed for their pro rata share of the funds, which the department paid them at the rate of so much per week as long as they applied for it. (The employers looked at the transaction dubiously, as to them it seemed simply the government's guaranteeing and administering the strike fund to the union's members. Nothing could be done to prevent the transaction and the employers gave up the fight.

The wheat mill workers' trade agreement with their employers is the result of the labors of an earnest sociologist, who is a student of the methods of American trade unions. It is a very formal contract, which provides for recognition of the union and grants its scale of wages. The present agreement, signed June 15, is drawn up for two years. It is extra-legal. Neither the employers' association nor the mill workers' union exists, to the knowledge of the government. Both sides, however, apart from their legal existence as something else, have separate trustees, a separate treasury, and a separate organization, which might possibly come together secretly for trade agreement purposes. A patriotic friend of both sides told me that this agreement, while in advance of anything the government would recognize, was also beyond the wishes of the employers and above the heads of the employees of the grist mills. On this point, one of the items in the agreement possesses its significance. It provides that the men, on coming away from their work, must not be searched in public. But they may be in private.

The limits of space oblige me to restrict myself now to a few broad statements as to Hungary bearing on the conditions of the working classes. With at least 4,000,000 men who under manhood suffrage would democratically guide the State, only 800,000 have the voting franchise. In the unorganized occupations hardly one wage-worker in fifty has any voice in deciding the course of that government which may send him to battle to be killed in its support. In the trade unions not one man in twenty has the right of the ballot. The Church and the State have not been separated in their spheres, as in the United States. The compulsory military service calls from the workingmen the bitterest of cries; those too poor to obtain a higher education must serve three years; the fortunate who have their way paid through college serve but one year. The landed proprietors, the aristocrats of the nation, rule in lawmaking. "With regard to the landed property," said one of my informants, a literary man, "we are in the conditions of France before her revolution." "With regard to child labor," said a public-spirited employer, "we are in the position of England prior to 1830." "With regard to social reform," said a radical, "Hungary is in the general condition that Germany was when Marx made his outcry against the starvation of the proletariat and tried to forecast the economic methods of a better future."

The government seems to have no clear policy for bringing the country up to modern standards. "A million Hungarians are in America," one man told us, "and their going has helped the masses but little. The millions of crowns sent home yearly by the emigrants find their way to the enrichment of the classes already having possessions, for the poor to whom the money is sent have to part with it in buying the necessaries of life."

The trade unions have now a policy, fully adopted last year, in advance of their previous ideas. They have resolved to keep the partisan political movement entirely apart from the union movement, which is to be conducted by men working at their trades. Two attempts at general strikes, the first in some respects partly successful, the second a dismal failure, have convinced the leaders of the necessity for providing well beforehand for possibly successful limited strikes. The new Hungarian trade union movement may even help the American movement. Heretofore unorganized Hungarian miners and cigarmakers have gone to the United States in large numbers as strike breakers. Efforts are now being made to organize these workers and improve their conditions at home.

In politics five parties have members in Reichstag. "All five are opposed to us," said one of the workingmen. "The Social Democratic party has not a single member. But, by some means, the working people intend to be represented, though the conditions of suffrage are worse now than [illegible] years ago." When on a train our [illegible] was passing a penitentiary this [illegible] said, pointing to it: "In that building are robbers, murderers, and socialists." Well, what American animated by the spirit of '76 would not qualify himself quickly for prison in such a country as Hungary—and do it under the name of Socialist, if necessary!

The facts which I have recorded in this letter were not obtained from some "perverted" mind, rendered so by prejudice, hatred and revenge. Most of the oral information communicated to me came from a legal practitioner of high standing in the community, a representative of an association of employers in one of the leading industries of the country. These facts were supplemented by a large employer of labor, and the foremost intelligent and trustworthy labor men of Hungary. Added to these are results of my own personal observations and of inquiries made of the workers themselves.

Perhaps an impression of existing housing conditions may be obtained from the statement of one fact. The government some time ago decided to build a number of working class tenements. Some of these houses are in course of construction. The apartments are to consist of one room and kitchen—the room about 7x10 feet, the kitchen about 5x10. The reader can imagine what the home life of the workers must now be, when the government's modern and model dwellings are to consist of such cramped, insufficient quarters.

DUCK SHOOTING

The duck hunting season has opened.

Go forth and live the strenuous life—
For just a day go out there where
Your pulse will tingle with the strife
And health and strength are in the air.
(Be careful, though, of catching cold—
Cold feet may make you very dead—
Go in warm garments wrapped and rolled.)

Fly-

ducks over-
The head!

Go like the giant men of old—
They didn't heed a little rain,
But snapped their fingers at the cold,
And seldom had an ache or pain.
(Be careful, though, and don't sit on
The ground or you will get the dread
Malaria; be careful, men.)

Fly-
are ing
ducks over-
The head!

Get out the hothouse life awhile,
Live like the men of blood; they tramped
Through dangers many and many a mile,
And in most dangerous places camped.
Wail not at being tempest-tossed,
(But come home ere the day has fled,
Or in the dark you may get lost.)

Fly-

The head!

MADE WELL AND STRONG

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Dovedale, Sask.—"I was a sufferer from female weakness—monthly periods irregular and painful and a bad discharge, backache and wretched headache, and had felt weak ever since the birth of my twins. I tried doctors but got no relief. I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and after three weeks I was feeling much better, and now I am well again."—Mrs. Bessie Bily, Dovedale, Sask., Canada.

Another Woman Cured.

Christiana, Tenn.—"I suffered from the worst form of female trouble so that at times I thought I could not live, and my nerves were in a dreadful condition. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me and made me feel like a different woman. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth its weight in gold to suffering women."—Mrs. Mary Wood, R.F.D. 3.

If you belong to that countless army of women who suffer from some form of female ills, don't hesitate to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs.

For thirty years this famous remedy has been the standard for all forms of female ills, and has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, fibroid tumors, ulceration, irregularities, backache, and nervous prostration.

WHEN WOMAN TAKES HOLD

What Man May Look Forward to in Time to Come.

Dear Mary—Well, I suppose you are working away in your stuffy office building every day and are very lonely when you get home at night without your little hubby to bring you your kimono and high heeled slippers. It is very nice down here by the sea waves, but I wish my large, brave wife could only be here to enjoy it with me. I do hope that you stay at home nights but you know there are pretty tall stories always being told about the goings on of wives in that wicked city with the frisky chorus men and guileless men stenographers when their husbands are away in the summer. Of course I have no doubts about you dear. You need have no fear of me being indiscreet at this place, for there are hardly enough grass widowers hanging around to give a man even an incipient attack of hay fever. From the rather wandering tone of your last letter I gather that you are mixing up in politics and that the Citizenesses' Union is talking of running you for a city mother next fall. Doubtless you think we poor, weak men are not well posted about these things, but I wish for my sake you would not get active in municipal affairs, because the newspapers print such rude articles about candidates who are running for office, and I shouldn't care to see my strongheart slandered.

Don't you think you might find time to run down here for a week or so during August and spend it with me, forgetting all about those awful business affairs which bore my poor little brain so? I don't like to appear complaining, and I try to be as saving as I can all the time. Couldn't you make my weekly check a little larger? I cannot see why it costs you so much to live in the city when I am away.

I am tired now, and I must press my duck trousers for the soiree tomorrow night, so good night, dearie. Your loving hubby. JOHN.

P. S.—I send you a sample, which you will please match for me. I hope you won't be testy and say mean things to me, but I was waltzing the other night with that clumsy Mrs. Heavyweight, who is now here with her family, and she stepped all over the crease in my best duck trousers and simply ruined them. I must have a new pair. Don't forget to water the plants and feed the bird. Yours, John.

Seeing the Cook.

A wealthy society woman in Washington had one of those domestic upheavals which ended in her cook leaving abruptly. Guests were expected, no one to cook the dinner, no results from telephoning, so she sallied forth in quest of emergency help. Meeting a very neat looking colored woman she stopped her and explained her dilemma, offering large money inducement. The woman listened in silence and then said:

"Where does yo' live, missus?"

Seeing a ray of hope, joyfully the lady gave her address, to be met with this reply:

"Well, yo' jess go home and look in yo' glass an' yo'll see yo' cook!"—New York Times.

SEPARATE SCHOOL BOARD DECIDE TO BUY SUPPLIES

At Meeting Held Last Night—Parents are Advised Not to Purchase Books for Their Children — Schedule of Fees Will be Put in Force.

The Separate School Board met last night and at the meeting it was decided that in future the Board would buy all the text books and supplies used by the pupils, and accordingly the contract was given to a local stationer. It is understood that a very low rate has been secured, and this will mean a big saving for the parents of the pupils, who are advised that they should not make any purchases for their children for the coming term, which opens Tuesday morning, Sept. the 7th

A schedule of fees, which the pupils will be asked to pay, as called for, are to be announced later, and the arrangement will be similar to that whichp revails in the Public schools.

MANUFACTURERS' COMMITTEE SATISFIED WITH AGREEMENT

The Manufacturers' Committee met last night and accepted the agreement as drafted by the city solicitor between the Peterborough Light and Power Co. and the city. Mr. J. H. Larmonth was present, and so far as he personally is concerned, the agreement is satisfactory. He took a copy of it and will submit it to the company's local solicitor. Then the Council must consider it, and if satisfied, they will give it two readings and submit it to the people.

The members of the Manufacturers' Committee believe that a good bargain will be made if the agreement goes through.

MACHINE TELEPHONE WILL COMMENCE WORK

On Extensive Improvements to Their Plant in Peterborough—Instruments Now in Use to be Taken Out and New Ones Installed.

The Machine Telephone Company are to completely overhaul their plant in Peterborough, and operations with this end in view will commence within the next few days. The plant at Brantford is just about completed and as soon as it is considered satisfactory in every respect, work will be started in this city. The telephones in use in Peterborough at the present time are to be taken out and in their place greatly improved instruments are to be installed. The new 'phones will be similar to those in use at Brantford. The new instruments are much smaller than the ones installed in Peterborough and possess many new features. They make the connection in less than six seconds and are giving splenddi satisfaction at Brantford.

Not only are new 'phones to be installed here but the outside plant of the company will be overhauled and everything done to place the system in Peterborough on a business basis.

Mr. W. H. Lytle has the contract for the outside electrical construction and is in the city at the present time. Mr. Lytle has gone into business for himself but still retains his connection with the Machine Telephone Company. He will have his headquarters in Peterborough and Brantford and is taking contracts for outside electrical construction, underground work, pavements, bridges, etc.

The changes in Peterborough have been contemplated for some time but work could not be started till the plant at Brantford was completed. Everythingl is now running smoothly in the Telephone city and the way is open for making the improvements here.

POULTRY ASSOCIATION HELD IMPORTANT MEETING

There was a good attendance of members at the meeting of the Peterborough Poultry Association held last night and considerable business was transacted. President Paxman was in the chair and a general discussion took place as to the prospects for the future.

The secretary was absent owing to illness which has confined him to the hospital, and Mr. Wm. Collins was appointed pro tem.

The association has decided to build some 300 extra coops for next winter's show.

Messrs. Baptie and Kelly were appointed delegates to attend the meeting of the Poultry Association in the Agricultural Building at Toronto Exhibition on September 7th.

President R. H. Leary, of the Agricultural Society, was present and addressed the meeting. The society wished to arrange for the use of the poultrymen's coops for the fall fair. This request was granted as both societies are working in harmony.

A special feature for this winter's show, which will be held from Jan. 4th to 6th, will be a $10 prize for the best dressed turkey of 1909 hatch. The prizes will be awarded as follows;—1st, $6; 2nd, $3; 3rd, $1. This is something extra special for the farmer's wife, who will no doubt take special interest in fattening one or two extra fine turkeys for this competition.

All the members are getting their prize birds in shape for exhibition at the Agricultural Fair on the 16th, 17th and 18th. The poultry exhibit will be the largest on record and the birds will be the best ever shown here.

FELL OFF WATER WAGGON AND BROKE HIS LEFT ARM

Joseph Wynne, a driver of one of the city's watering carts, had the misfortune to break his left arm in a peculiar manner this afternoon. He had just filled the waggon from the hydrant at the corner of Charlotte and Rubidge streets and as the horses started, he lost his balance and fell on the centre pole and then over one of the horses, alighting on the ground in such a manner that his arm, received the full force of the fall. The horses became frightened, but the driver had the presence of mind to jump up and soon had them quieted. A citizen passing at the time, on examining the arm, advised him to consult a physician. He immediately walked to Dr. Cameron's office and it was found that the arm was broken. Dr. Cameron attended to the injured member

GOLD WATCH LOST FOR SEVEN YEARS HAS BEEN FOUND

Fenelon Falls, Sept. 2.—While working at the sidewalk on Bond street east one day last week, Mr. Thomas Scott found a gold watch under a piece of plank, upon which one end of a stringer had been resting. There were some leaves and rubbish on top of the watch, but the plank had kept it dry, and when wound up it commenced going an has been running ever since. The steel chain on the watch was considerably rusted. Mr. John Junkin, of Verulam, lost a watch about seven years ago near where Mr. Scott found the timepiece, and afterwards identified it as his. Mr. Junkin had taken off his vest while putting up a fence, and when he went to get his vest while putting up a fence, and when he went t oget his vest the watch, which was in the pocket, was missing. How it got under the sidewalk is not known, but it is supposed that somebody took the watch and hid it there, and either could not locate it again or was afraid to come back. Mr. Junkin is, needless to say, pleased at having recovered the watch, which is a good one, and apparently none the worse for its somewhat Ripvanwinkley experience.

FOURTH DEATH IN FAMILY DURING PAST FEW MONTHS

The death of Miss Ethel S. Roberts, 496 Stewart street, will be learned with genuine regret. She passed peacefully away yesterday afternoon at 3.45 o'clock. The late Miss Roberts was twenty-three years of age, and had been ailing for some time past.

Twice with but a week and one day in the interval, has the grim reaper visited the same household, an elder sister having predeceased her on Wednesday of last week, and thrice and yet a fourth time has this grief-stricken family been called upon to mourn the loss of a beloved one within a few short months. In June of this year an elder brother passed to his rest, after a lengthy illness, outliving by but a few months his second son, a lad of about six years, whom it will be remembered, was drowned in the creek near his home.

These sad occurrences, sorrowful enough considered separately, following each other in such rapid succession, makes for the bereaved parents and remaining brothers, a sad time indeed.

The deceased young lady was of a bright and cheerful disposition, combined with a genuine Christian character, and was beloved by a large circle of friends, who will miss her cheery ways. She was a member of St. John's church, where she was a constant communicant and regular attendant at the Sunday school and Young People's Society.

She leaves to mourn her demise, besides her parents, three brothers, A. G., of Windsor; Harry, of Penetanguishene, and William H., of this city.

The funeral will take place on Saturday afternoon from St. John's church, at 2.30 to the Little Lake cemetery, the services at the home being private.

THAT WATCH OF YOURS

Is in many respects similar to a railway engine. Let an engine be run without oil or cleaning and before long it will stop dead. Upon examination it will be found that the friction and wear and tear has ruined the machinery, and it is fit only for the scrap iron heap. Likewise your watch. You put it in your pocket, and while there is a kick in it, you, in your mistaken economy, do not consult the watchmaker, and consequently rob your watch of years of good service and also much of its former accuracy. The time-keeping qualities of a good watch are maintained and often improved by timely and skilful attention. If you have been one of the neglectful ones call around and see us.

SCHOOL SHOES THAT WILL DO FULL DUTY

The school shoe proposition again confronts the parents—and a proposition it is.

To be guided by the price of a school shoe and not by its quality, means to exercise the poorest judgment possible.

Cheap school schoes are always expensive—while good shoes are always a profitable investment in the end.

Lindsay, Sept. 2.—The Model school started this morning with thirty-two students in attendance. Principal Broderick, of the Public Schools, is the teacher.

That twenty-eight of the embryo school teachers are young ladies, while but four are men seems to be an indication of the times. Men are looking for other employment, or are using the teaching profession merely as a step to another occupation.

Of the twenty-eight young ladies attending the school four are from Lindsay, and the others are from outside points.

A Curious Freak

Last Thursday Mr. Sol. Clark, of Dummer, brought to the Register what to us appears to be a very rare production in the vegetable line, in the shape of a cluster of potato vines with several well developed tubers growing about midway up the stalks. Mr. Clark afterwards handed over the vines and tubers to Mr. H. C. Duff, the local representative of the Department of Agriculture, who said that he had never seen anything like it anywhere. Some wag suggested that the scarcity of soil in that part of Dummer might be the cause of the tubers going up the stalks. Be this as it may, it appears at least to be a rather curious freak.—Norwood Register.

QUINLAN AND ROSE TO BE THE OPPOSING HEAVERS

In City League Fixture at Riverside Park To-morrow Afternoon—Two Prizes for Competition Among Players.

And now for the deciding game if won by the T.A.S., will give them the honors and the championship of the city league. Their opponents will be the West End nine, who will be on hand at Riverside Park to-morrow afternoon determined to make the Abstainers fight every inch of the way and if possible bring the contest to a finish in their favor. If they accomplish this trick it will mean that T.A.S. and the Park street aggregation will meet again. The opposing twirlers will be Ab. Quinlan and Gus Rose and as the box of cigars put up for the player who made a home run was not won last Saturday, this prize is again offered and will be given to the one lucky enough to accomplish this feat to-morrow. Another prize will be presented to the player, in uniform, of any team, who does the fastest time around the bases. There should be a bumper crowd on hand to witness the afternoon's bill of fare. The game will start at 2.30 and the usual price of admission will be in order.

MR. KERR WINS SINGLES CHAMPIONSHIP IN THE CITY TENNIS ASSOCIATION

The Peterborough city championship for the gentlemen's singles in lawn tennis was decided last evening on the splendid new court of the Peterborough Bowling Club, who are to be congratulated on their enterprise in having provided for the lovers of the premier summer pastime of lawn tennis, which has made great strides here during the last few years. The two finalists, Messrs. Kerr and Rudolph, had vanquished all comers in previous rounds. So a good game was expected and the four sets played were full of interest from start to finish.

The match was taken charge of by Mr R. J. Devey, president of St. John's A.Y.P.A. Tennis Club, and he was assisted on the lines by Mr. W. L. Richardson and Mr. Chas. Crossey. The second and third games in the first set were hotly contested, deuce being called eight times, but Mr. Kerr's experienced playing enabled him to claim the set by 6—3.

Game two in the second set had deuce called six times. In game one Rudolph secured two aces running, one in game three and gave no less than four and three aces. In game four Kerr drew away, and after being 1—3, secured the second set 6—3. The third set was startling for Rudolph ran right away, winning by 6—3. The fourth set opened by Kerr taking the first three games to love. Rudolph replied by annexing the next two, but Kerr came again, and after five deuces in the last claimed the game and winning set by 6—2.

We heartily congratulate Mr. F. D. Kerr in winning the city championship and equally commend his opponent, Mr. Rudolph, who played good tennis, and with youth on his side gave the winner many an anxious time.

Scores: 6—3, 6—3, 0—6, 6—2.

A good number of tennis enthusiasts were present, and it is safe to assume that this year's tennis has greatly improved, and the City Lawn Tennis Association is to be thanked for this improvement. Mr. F. D. Kerr played for the Golf Club, and Mr. Rudolph for St. John's A. Y. P. A. Club.

LINDSAY HOPES TO BEAT T.A.S. TEAM ON LABOR DAY

There is sure to be a bumper crowd at Riverside Park on Monday to see the T.A.S. battle with the Lindsay nine. It appears that Bill Cinnamon has been working on the quiet to take a fall out of the Abstainers, and will bring down a team that will make some people around these parts open their eyes. They will have to be good to conquer the T.A.S. boys, as the locals have been practising faithfully and will be in the game all the time. Either Quinlan or Flaherty will do the twirling, and as both are in good shape, a choice assortment of slants will be served out, no matter which one goes on the hill top.

The game is the only Labor Day attraction in the city, and it should prove a great drawing card.

LINES ON SPORT

A good district is being talked of in both the east and west in the Junior Ontario Union. Lindsay, last year's champs, will be back with a couple of good Peterborough teams. Hamilton, Petrolia and London will likely figure in the west.

The O.R.F.U. Executive will meet next Wednesday at the Iroquois Hotel. Schedules will be drawn up, entries received and a new president elected and general business transacted. It is very probable that Dr. W. A. McPherson, of Peterborough, the old Varsity champion of Casey Baldwin's championship team, will be the president.—Toronto News.

Jim Harrison, the Peterborough "ped," arrived in town to-day and issued a challenge to walk any man in Canada from five hours upwards, or he will tackle any man in Canada in a twelve hours' go-as-you-please race.—Toronto Star.

Aeneas McMillan, better known as "Reddy," who is at present in Cornwall, has received an offer to play hockey with the Pittsburg A.C. team this coming season.

Dr. B. N. Roller last night defeated Charles Olsen, lightweight champion of the world, in two straight falls in 53 and 25 minutes respectively. The bout took place in Portland, Ore.

Is the great and only Honus Wagner going back. So far this season he has only stolen thirty bases. The flying Dutchman, up to this year, generally showed the way in this respect.

Mike Donlin helped [illegible] out a drowning man from the water at Asbury Park recently, thereby getting an assist, preventing a put out, and making a hit, all at once. That's fair enough for a man out of baseball.

Yesterday Detroit won their fourteenth straight game and established a record of having taken all the games of each series with the eastern teams.

The Eel did not win the $15,000 Derby yesterday. McEwen pulled his pacer which then looked for the honors, to avoid impending danger owing to an accident. He secured third place.

The T.A.S. twirler for to-morrow's game with the West Ends had not been picked this afternoon. The Abstainers have another hard game on Monday with the Lindsay team, and the man who does the box work to-morrow will hardly go in again on Monday. Either Flaherty or Quinlan will endeavor to fool the West End sluggers to-morrow.

Harry Burridge has been playing first base for the Edmonton baseball in the last two or three games.

"Rod and Gun"

September is noted for duck hunting and the numerous sportsmen who pursue this form of sport with ardour will find their favorite recreation dealt with in ample fashion in the September issue of Rod and Gun in Canada published by [illegible] lor, at Woodstock, Ont. This healthy [illegible] receives a fine treatment in stories of duck hunting in Ontario, Manitoba and Saskatchewan, goose shooting in the West and papers on the ruffed grouse as found in British Columbia and Ontario. Light travel and holiday sketches, with fishing papers give variety and interest to the issue. Dog lovers will welcome a further paper by Mr. Clapham dealing with the Airedale terrier. Altogether no better companion for the sportsman, either at home, in camp, or on his travels, can be secured than a copy of this fine issue.

THE HOOK

These are the days when one keeps on the sunny side.

Mars is only thirty-five million miles from the earth these days, which is about the distance between the sporting editor and an automobile.

Lord Beresford seems to be about the best exhibit at the Toronto Fair.

When it comes to covering a multitude of sins charity hasn't got anything of prosperity.

Good peaches come high because the big ones are always put at the top when they are packed.

A man who goes up in the air is liable to be struck by an aeroplane these days.

It will not be necessary for Mr. Walter Wellman to make any more dashes for the pole. Thanks, Dr. Cook, for stopping him.

Evidence has been found that tobacco was cultivated in German gardens as early as 1570. And judging from the scent of some cigars we have been given, some of the old German stuff is still in use.

Grand Trunk Pacific Railway

During the past month a party of editors representing some of the most important agricultural papers in the United States have been touring Western Canada, and on reaching Winnipeg on their return trip from Edmonton over the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, wired Mr. Chas M. Hays, president of the Grand Trunk Pacific at Vancouver, who is also in the west on a tour of inspection of the new line, in company with Sir Charles Rivers Wilson, president of the Grand Trunk Railway System and party, as follows:—

"We believe that every foot of the land traversed by the road is eminently adapted to grain growing, mixed farming, or the keeping of live stock, and that it must soon develop into a region of prosperous homes. We also unite in expressing our admiration of the high character and the completeness in construction of the road and road-bed, which must soon give the road high rank among transcontinental railway systems."

The party consisted of the following:—Prof. Thomas Shaw, of the 'Orange Judd Farmer' and 'Dakota Farmer,' St. Paul, Minn.; Herbert Quick, editor of 'Farm and Fireside,' Springfield, Ohio; John Arthur Dixon, managing editor of the 'Home Life,' Chicago, Ill.; Philip Eastman, editor of Capper publications, including, 'Nebraska Farm Journal,' Omaha, Neb.; 'Missouri Valley Farmer,' Topeka, Kan.; 'Farmers' Mail and Breeze,' Topeka, Kan.; 'Topeka Capital,' Topeka, Kan.; E. E. Faville, editor 'Successful Farming,' Des Moines, Iowa; E. S. Bayard, editor 'National Stockman and Farmer,' Pittsburg, Pa.; C. P. Reynolds, editor of 'Prairie Farmer,' Chicago, Ill.

The party was accompanied by Mr. Herbert Vanderhoof, editor of 'Canada West Monthly,' Winnipeg, Man., and Mr. R. C. W. Lett, travelling passenger and colonization agent, Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, Winnipeg.

ADVANCED ETIQUETTE.

For Those Who Are in Higher Grades of Human Companionship.

What to do when your wife is giving an afternoon bridge. You are upstairs lying down in your pajamas, trying to get a few hours' rest preparatory to going out to a stag dinner. The telephone (which is the only one in the house) is located in the same room where the ladies are playing, and a message comes from your brokers that you must talk to them at once. There is no time to lose, as it is ten minutes only before the exchange closes, and you realize that unless you can get there at once you may lose your fortune.

Answer.—In this emergency rush through the room where the ladies have left all their wraps and, seizing the first long fur coat that is handy and putting on your head a Merry Widow hat, proceed calmly to answer the call. You may have some trouble in making yourself heard, but you will accomplish your purpose if you are persistent.—New York Life.

Resented the Forgetfulness.

"I've quit speaking to the man who lives next door to me," says the man with the ingrain whiskers and brussels hair.

"Have a quarrel?" asks the man with the tremulous ears.

"No. You see, he has a habit of getting up and mowing his lawn at 5 o'clock every morning."

"Well, naturally you would be"—

"It wasn't that. I say that every man has a right to cut his grass whenever he likes. But last Wednesday morning I had to be up to catch a train at 5:30, and I depended upon the sound of his lawn mower to waken me in time."

"But I don't just see"—

"That was the only morning this summer he didn't get up to mow his lawn!"—Chicago Post.

Dared Him.

Edwin Stevens, when he first made up his mind to tackle vaudeville, applied to a very gruff manager who had a strong German accent and a great deal of business on hand.

"Vell," he growled, "vat do you vant?"

"I would like to get into vaudeville," replied the candidate meekly.

"Vat do you do? Vat is your line?"

"I am a comedian, sir. I"—

"A komiker, vas?" The manager faced him fiercely. "Vell, make me laugh!"—Everybody's Magazine.

A Gentle Hint.

"Alas!" remarked young Borem, who was making an evening call. "We make good resolutions only to break them."

"Quite true," rejoined Miss De Poynter. "Now, I resolved to retire early tonight, and here it is almost 11 o'clock."

Whereupon the young man proceeded to bat out a home run.—Minneapolis Journal.

A Very Bad Element.

Willie—This paper says that people who pursue a high handed course ought to be punished. What kind of a course is that, pa?

Pa—It's the system a man plays on when he won't bet on anything less than a royal flush or four of a kind. The paper is right, my son. It is just such lukewarm sports that are killing the great American game.—Puck.

"I forgot to get those curtains my wife asked me to buy for her."

"What happened?"

"I got a punishment to fit the crime."

"What was that?"

Comforts.

"It does not require great wealth to enjoy the real comforts of life," said the ready made philosopher.

"No," answered the perspiring citizen. "I understand that Eskimos who never saw 10 cents of real money live in houses made of ice."—Washington Star.

WHAT DAME FASHION HAS DECREED IN FASHIONS FOR WOMEN'S HATS FOR SEASON

Fashionable hats for the coming season, while showing many marked differences, are yet decidedly reminiscent of the styles that prevailed during the summer. Many modifications have of course been made, and a variety of new shapes introduced, yet, if one except the extreme novelties, there is little that is positively startling in the new modes. In shapes, large and medium hats are to be worn, and practically no provision has been made for the woman to whom a small hat is essential if she is to look her best. The newest departure is the hat with the upstanding brim which rises very high in the back and dips decidedly over the face, making a return to the recently discarded band under the brim necessary in order to keep the hat from entirely shielding the eyes. The tricorne hat is being largely shown while modifications of this attractive shape are plentiful. There is a new walking hat much broader than of old and turned up rather sharply at both sides. The majority of the hats roll slightly at one side, and are very graceful if not of too exaggerated a size. Broad brimmed, rather low-crowned sailor hats are also among the autumn offerings and promise to be very popular.

Materials are rich and many. There is to be a great vogue of velvet; and moire silk, which always takes well when introduced, is to be a feature of autumn millinery. Satins and faille silks will also be much in demand, and some of the smartest walking hats will be covered with dressed leather while chamois is to play an important part in hat coverings. Plenty of felt will be worn as well as beaver, and the beaver cloth strips will be made up into very chic toques in every color. Fur toques are already being shown and touches of fur will be seen on many of the best hats. Braids, too, will be seen forming some of the large flat sailors, while patent leather, alone, or combined [illegible] will also be shown. Some of the most striking of the imported shapes are of beaver, faced with satin or velvet in a contrasting shade.

It is apparently to be largely a black and white season, and combinations of black and white are to be found in many forms. Another new range of colors are the cantelouge greens, which are on the bronze green tones. The chamois shades shading into golden browns will also be much in evidence, as will also the mustard shades ranging to a decided old gold, the latter being carried out in satin and combined with black in a variety of imported models. Greys, and tones of prunelle, are also in great favor. The new sphynx shade is to have a great vogue, and so apparently is vendange.

Trimmings show a wide range, but feathers and wings lead in popularity. Splendid ostrich feathers are shown on many of the dress hats, including willow plumes and the new sword willow plumes. Many new varieties of plumage are shown, and birds of paradise, paradise plumes, large sweep ospreys and aigettes are placed on many of the best hats. Ribbons are to be much used, even whole hats being made of them, the most popular varieties being Duchess, moires and failles. Some of the new fancy ribbons are very pretty and range from moire effects in silk or velvet to two-toned ribbons of rich quality and pressed velvet. There will be a great deal of trimming in bugle effect, worn on the handsomest hats, especially in the from of black bugle bandeau around the fashionable turbans. Steel and rhinestone ornaments in both pin and cabochon effects will be good, and ornaments in clair de lune effect will be among the most popular. Long haired fur will also be much used and will be seen in ermine, white fox and lynx especially.

Coal has gone up 10 cents a ton in New York City.

Ninety million feet of logs of the total of 115,000,000 feet cut along the Penobscot river and its tributaries this season have arrived at the Penobscot boom.

HEAVY SENTENCE FOR PERJURY

In accordance with the expressed determination of the Ontario Government to put a stop to perjury, orders were given throughout the province that penalties following it should be heavy. The following sentence will do much to prevent a repetition of it in future:—

"One of the heaviest sentences imposed in this city for perjury for a long time was handed out by Col. Denison yesterday, when he sent Soloman Altman to serve two years in Kingston Penitentiary. At the same time the magistrate had a word of condemnation for the men who paid the prisoner to swear falsely. "He appears to have been merely a tool in the hands of another," said his Worship.

When Altman came into the dock his lawyer asked permission to have him tell the story. The prisoner described how Levi came to him when he was living in Frankfort, Ont., and offered to pay him $50 for his services as a false witness in his civil action against Solway and Cohen. A cheque for that amount was deposited with a man named Morris Lavinsky, who, according to the arrangement, would hand it over after the evidence had been given. Altman was also to receive $10 per week as long as he remained in the city. He stayed in Toronto two weeks awaiting the trial but only got $20. Lavinsky tore up the cheque for $50, so that Altman never got his cash.

"I only got the twenty dollars," said Altman, repeatedly, in his broken English.

"You were very badly used, indeed," replied the magistrate, sarcastically.

"When imposing sentence, Col. Denison said that the case of perjury had been a very bad one, and a sharp example had to be made of the prisoner. "This man's idea of morality and honesty appear to be very vague, but he has apparently been the tool of a more serious offender."—Mail and Empire.

An Imaginative Chef.

Imagination and initiative are just as valuable to a cook as they are to a poet or a statesman. Especially are they valuable to the chef of a roadhouse. No one can foretell what in the world the next diner will fancy he cannot dine without.

Gascon, the new chef at the inn, was sitting comfortably down to smoke his afternoon pipe when in rushed Isadore—Isadore, the imperturbable head waiter—his hair on end, his hands in the air.

"Tiens!" cried Gascon, springing to his feet as he scented disaster. "What is it with you, my friend?"

"The barbarian!" cried Isadore. "The barbarian! He will eat nothing but one chicken potpie!"

"But it is well, my friend," replied Gascon. "Be seated and calm yourself. We will provide monsieur with his desire. Run, Henri, quick! An apple pie! Off with the cover, out with the apple! So! Now, then, softly, the chicken saute. Pour it slowly. So! On with the cover. Have a care. So! Isadore, my friend, voila! Monsieur est servi!"

Fifty Thousand at Fair.

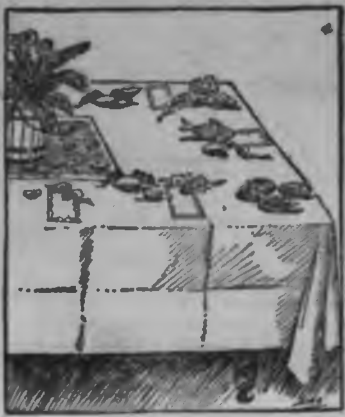
Toronto, Sept. 3.—Manufacturers' Day gave an exhibition second week aspect to the grounds, which by noon wore a decidedly animated appearance while as the afternoon progressed the throngs continued to pour in until it became apparent that all former records for the day were passed.

SEASHORE LUNCHEON.

Tinted Marine Photographs Make Charming Place Cards.

A lovely little luncheon motive for country or town is that of the sea and its treasures. For the centerpiece secure a child's seashore bucket, preferably of wood, with shovel. Fill the former with sand in which flower stems may be inserted. Get a square of thin board or cardboard about half a yard across to go under the bucket. Sprinkle this lightly with sand on which a few shells should be strewn. With a doll's shoe make little footprints in this. Any kind of wild flowers will be pretty for the bucket.

If possible have nice large white clam shells at each corner of the table filled with the usual relishes—nuts, radishes, candies, and so on. Small shells, especially the crinkly ones, may be placed at each cover for butter plates. For place cards have squares of rough white water color paper which might be touched around the edges with green to suggest the oceanic tints. On each one are pasted a bit of dried sea moss and a wee bow of red bebe ribbon, with, of course, the name of the guest who is to occupy the seat where the card is laid. Have as favors the red crabs, lobsters and the fish which can be secured at any candy shop filled with bonbons.



FOR LUNCHEON.

Or, if just as easy to secure, the place cards may be tinted marine, photographs with the name of the guests upon the margin and the favors little wooden buckets or woven baskets filled with shells. Necklaces made of colored stones or shells would be an attractive idea if the expense limit is not too tightly drawn.

In the way of good things to eat have the courses somewhat as follows. Too many or too heavy viands are unappetizing in June:

Muskmelons iced, with sherry flavorings; French pancakes, pineapple filling; roast or fricasseed chickens, with one or two vegetables; asparagus or deviled egg salad, frozen cherries, cake and coffee.

CHEESECLOTH CURTAINS.

Inexpensive Ways of Making Summery Looking Hangings.

Cheesecloth is the material from which is fashioned some of the most charming window draperies. Any woman who thinks that because the stuff is simple the curtains are plain has much to learn. For example, some recently hung in a beautiful living room of a big country house are barred at intervals with bands of cluny insertion an inch wide, making squares eight inches in size.

A wide band of the same lace is set around the edge and across the bottom four inches from the hem, and on the edge is a wide flat scallop of the same lace. This style is by no means inexpensive, but is suggestive of the way the material may be adapted to limited incomes.

Such hangings in small rooms where the curtains do not drop below the sill need a band of lace or insertion down the sides four inches from the hem and across the bottom, with an edge to correspond, and so are not costly and are certainly pretty.

When heavy laces are used they should be laid on flat, but lightweight ones are effective if the edge is sewed so the border will not be more than four inches wide and put on full as one would jabot lace. If these are caught back above the middle or hang straight they will be effective for summer. Most oriental effects may be obtained by a girl who is clever with her fingers by embroidering the cheesecloth in colored cottons, such as dull reds and blues, with traces of yellow—indeed, any of the so called "Indian" tones. This embroidery should be in the form of a wide band set in from the edge and is an effective but bold design. These wash admirably.

A fad of the moment that has been adopted by two girls who are planning a furnished summer house was to apply cretonne figures to the cheesecloth background. Many persons would not care for this combination, but when the two fabrics are together they are effective. The flowers could be arranged in wreaths, buttonholed on with coarse cotton the same tone as the background. The birds could be flying apparently across the window, each curtain being made to correspond perfectly with the other.

Draperies such as these are not expected to reach the floor and, as a rule, are prettier pushed back from the center if allowed to fall straight. There should be a little but not much fullness. If draped take them above the middle, as they are less stiff than when caught directly at the center.

A valance in the middle always adds to the attractiveness of windows when the center is otherwise bare. It is merely a piece, perhaps twelve inches deep, put between the two long halves. It covers the window casing and gives a trimmed effect.

Miss Bremmer, an aged lady, of Paris, Ont., lost $100 in cash in a fire in her boarding house.

SPORTSMEN GOT DUCKS IN A PECULIAR MANNER

Two youthful sportsmen, at least young in experience, who are at present wasting powder and shot in the vicinity of Kent's Creek, in an endeavor to secure a number of wild ducks, had an experience yesterday, which would lead one to believe that a chaperon was necessary. As this is their first attempt, it would not be fair to print their names. The facts of the affair are that the two eager aspirants were paddling a canoe in Kent's Creek, when a number of ducks were discovered, and who were blissfully ignorant that their presence there had become known. One of the canoeists had prepared his firearm for a shot and was about to pull the trigger which meant sure death to the ducks, when in an unlucky moment, probably due to the excitement of the time, the canoe was overturned and both occupants were precipitated into the water. But perserverance finally won out for after getting the boat ashore the noise of the discharge of a shot gun was heard and two fine birds fell almost at their feet. These—belonging to some other hunter—will be kept as a souvenir of the occasion.

WEST PETERBORO' ELECTION PROTEST

(The Globe)

Argument on the motion by J. R. Stratton to postpone the trial of J. H. Burnham's petition against his election for West Peterborough, took place yesterday morning before Mr Justice McMahon and Mr Justice Magee, Mr. G. H. Watson, K.C., appearing for the respondent, and Mr J. E. Jones for the petitioner. The judges directed that the trial should be postponed, and fixed it for the 27th of September. The grounds of the motion, which were uncontradicted, were that Mr Burnham had refused to attend for examination; that a motion had been made to commit him for contempt, and that upon hearing of this motion judgment was reserved and delivered only a couple of days ago, the order settling it being fixed to-day; and that a further motion was made in July for further and better particulars to be given of the several charges on which motion judgment was received and delivered only a few days ago, further particulars being directed to be furnished. These particulars are still undelivered. The short time between these two motions was urged as an additional argument for the postponement.

The above report of the respondent's motion of yesterday would not indicate, as hinted in the Examiner, that the present postponement is the result of the petitioner's refusal to be examined in vacation without an order. The recent judgment of Mr. Justice Magee, set out that Mr. Burnham need not answer the questions requiring disclosure of the names of detectives and of his sources of information, etc., and the learned judge also found that Mr. Burnham had not, so far as it appeared, agreed to appear for examination in vacation. Taken in conjunction with the above report, it may fairly be said, therefore, that the time of more than five weeks reserved by the judge for determining his judgment, after the hearing of the motion, was the probable reason for allowing the respondent the adjournment.

WHAT ARE THEY WORTH?

Are the eyes worth at least five hundred dollars per year to any man, woman or child? You would spend five dollars per year upon them if necessary, would you not? How much do they cost you? How much do you spend for your feet, your hats, your teeth, etc.? Some wait until they must see about their eyes and would give hundreds of dollars, but find it too late. Many parents bring their children that we may examine their eyes and see whether or not they need glasses. In childhood is the time to both remedy and prevent eye troubles. Again we ask what are your eyes worth to you and what to the child? We devote exclusive attention to the fitting of eyeglasses and artificial eyes.

HE HAS PROOF OF HIS FEAT TOOK MANY OBSERVATIONS

Says His Success is Due to Eskimos and Dogs That Accompanied Him, and to His Natural Living—Copenhagen en Fete.

New York, Sept. 4.—"I have ample proof that I reached the North Pole in the observations I took, which afford a certain means of checking the truth of my statements.

"I took daily observations for a whole fortnight before arriving at the pole.

"Returning, we were forced to take a more westerly route, and the first ten days I took observations daily and recorded them."

The above statement by Dr. Fred Cook to an interviewer who boarded the "Hans Egede" off Cape Skagen yesterday is emphatic enough, and should clear away the last vestige of doubt from the minds of the few who have so far announced themselves skeptical that "the last" has really "been found." Cape Skagen is about 175 miles from Copenhagen.

In the course of a hurried interview, the explorer is thus quoted.

"We reached the pole at seven o'clock in the morning. I was unable to measure the depth of the sea as I had not the necessary instruments.

"The lowest temperature recorded was 85 degrees centigrade below zero (equal to 117 degrees below, Fahrenheit).

"I ascribe my success to having employed old time methods, namely, seasoned Eskimos and dogs, and to the fact that I lived as an Eskimo.

"Although I am proud of my achievement in planting the American flag on the north pole, I look with much greater pride to the fact that I traveled more than thirty thousand square miles of hitherto unknown ground, and opened up an entirely fresh field for exploration."

The Hans Egede was met in the North Sea by the pilot steamer Polar Bear, aboard which was Capt. Amdrup, the well-known polar explorer, who was sent as a special representative of the Danish Government to welcome Dr. Cook.

As the vessels approached each other, Capt. Amdrup led the cheers for the American explorer.

Great Reception Planned.

Copenhagen, Sept 4.—The city already is gay with flags. Everywhere the stars and stripes are intertwined with Danish ensigns.

The Melchior will meet the Hans Egede twenty-five miles outside of the harbor, and if Dr. Cook approves he will be transferred to this vessel for the run to Copenhagen.

Preparations are being made to handle an enormous crowd of people at the reception.

Hundreds of telegrams from America and all parts of the world have been received at the American legation for the doctor.

His Majesty has arranged to entertain Dr. Cook at luncheon to-day, and the municipal banquet to the explorer will be given in the town hall to-night. The committee having this entertainment in hand includes representatives of the Ministry of Commerce, of the municipality, the Royal Geographical Society and the Board of Trade. Four hundred guests have been invited.

HIT BY AN AUTOMOBILE

Galt, Sept. 4.—Ernest Szowaith, a newsboy, was knocked down by Geo. Elliott's auto, and had his shoulder crushed. An electric light pole was broken in the mix-up.

The Waterloo County Women's Institute elected these officers: President, Mrs. Lackner, Hawsville; vice-president, Mrs. Cornell, Preston; secretary, Mrs. Geo. Bowman, Conestogo; executive: Mrs. Knowles, Hespeler; Mrs. Richmond, St. Jacobs; Miss Harvey, Branchton.

SUPREMACY OF THE SEAS

Winnipeg, Sept. 4.—Advanced imperialistic grounds were taken by Sir William White, the famous designer of over 560 vessels of Britain's mammoth fleet, in his speech before the Canadian Club Thursday, when he spoke of the Imperial navy. The motherland, surrounded by her grown-up children, the colonies, was the picture which he held up. That they might be united, and yet each free in the best sense of the word, a common navy was essential, for they were severed by the seas. With a navy which possessed the undisputed supremacy of the seas, the unity and greatness of the Empire would be assured for all time.

"In order to give effect to these principles," said Sir William, "there must be organized and sympathetic co-operation between the Mother Country and the dominions beyond the seas. Every part of the Empire must contribute a share to the outlay required to secure continued supremacy at sea."

SHIPS COLLIDE IN POLLOCK RIP SLUE

Chatham, Mass., Sept. 4.—The lookouts at the three U.S. life-saving stations here saw two four-masted schooners in collision in Pollock Rip Slue here early yesterday forenoon, and although one was badly damaged by the impact, both proceeded towards Boston together. The names of the craft were not known.

As near as the lookout could tell, both vessels were coming up the Slue under heavy sail, when one of them attempted to get by the other. Refusing to give up the right of way, the second schooner tacked in front of the first one, and the collision followed.

HARD TO MAN THE NAVIES

Montreal, Sept. 4.—That Canada will have to import her sailors and her marines for the proposed navy is the statement of Gen. Sir George French, best known in Canada as the organizer of the Northwest Mounted Police in 1873-6. His service embraces five continents.

He is strongly in favor of local navies for Australia and Canada, but says that wages are so high in both countries that the right kind of men will not go into the navies.

Within fifty years he says the west will swing the east, owing to the increase in population.

State-owned railways, in Australia, he says, are a success, paying 3 1-2 per cent., but that they have only been so since governed by independent commissions. When they were under the Government there was graft, and the roads all lost money.

He leaves for the Pacific coast to-day.

LATE NEWS FROM MANY LOCALITIES

The Lid On at Atlantic City.

Atlantic City, N.J., Sept. 4.—Sixty-seven warrants, charging an equal number of liquor dealers with violating the Sunday closing law were obtained yesterday by agents of the Lord's Day Alliance, and good citizenship league.

Eccles Body Goes Home.

Almonte, Ont., Sept. 3.—Mr. Arthur C. Eccles received a telegram from the United Wireless Co. at Seattle that the body of George Eccles, the hero of the steamship Ohio wreck, had been forwarded to Almonte on Wednesday.

Mr. Eccles expects the remains will arrive here late Monday night.

May Be In Toronto.

Hamilton, Sept. 3.—The mystery of the disappearance of Ethel Manning is thought to be nearing solution. The police have reason to believe that the girl went to Toronto on Tuesday last on one of the boats in company with another girl a few years her senior, and believe that the girl is still in Toronto.

Vatican Damaged.

Rome, Sept. 4.—A commission appointed by the Pope has made an investigation and reports that several of the Vatican buildings, including the Sistine Chapel, were slightly damaged by the earthquake that was experienced in Rome on the afternoon of August 31st.

Once Prominent Woman a Suicide.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 4.—A woman's body which has lain in the morgue two days unclaimed, has been identified as that of Helen Florence Dixon, former political orator and prominent actress of 20 years ago. In the early nineties when the Populist party was a power in Colorado, she was one of its leading exponents. Her death is believed to be a case of suicide caused by despondency.

A Plucky Weatherman.

Washington, Sept. 4.—While alighting from a car yesterday, Prof. Willis L. Moore, chief of the weather bureau, fell and broke his left arm.

He was conveyed to the office of a physician, where the injured member was set, and then, much to the surprise of his friends, proceeded to his own office, where he performed his customary duties.

Insurance Company Barred Out.

Albany, N.Y., Sept. 4.—The license of the German Union Fire Insurance Co. of Baltimore, to do business in this state was cancelled yesterday by Superintendent of Insurance Hotchkiss, because the company refused to permit examiners of the New York department to conduct an examination of its affairs.

Mourned by Thirty Children.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 4.—Thirty children mourn the death of their father, John W. Miller, aged 76 years, who died yesterday at the country home here, where he has been an inmate for several years. Miller was married four times. One wife survives him.

PRESS DAY AT THE FAIR

Quill-pushers Pay Visit to the Big Exhibition at Toronto

Toronto, Sept. 4.—Press Day at the exhibition attracted an unusual number of the knights of the quill, the possibility of meeting Lord Charles Beresford perhaps having its effect. A great crowd of editorial talent gathered at the directors' luncheon, and overflowed from there to a neighboring restaurant. But Lord Charles for once had slipped his cable or dragged his anchor, and did not turn up. He had been at the Ladies' Canadian Club in the morning, and in the language of Rev. Dr. Carman may have been "entangled in the draperies," but it was a great disappointment to the editorial contingent.

Geo. H. Goodesham, as president, made all the explanations he could think of and after the royal toast called on several speakers.

J. F. McKay, acting president of the Canadian Press Association, expressed the regret of the members on the death of their president, L. S. Channell, Sherbrooke, whose unremitting and self-sacrificing labors for the association were well-known. Mr. McKay noted the growing good feeling towards Toronto, and the exhibition, due so largely to the attitude of the rural press, whose references to Hogtown were now happily few in numbers.

TORONTO MAN IS MISSING

Relatives Believe That He Was Murdered in Detroit

Detroit, Sept. 4.—Believing that he has been murdered, relatives of William Desmond, aged 19, whose home is in Toronto, have asked the Detroit police for aid in solving the mystery of the young man's sudden and mystifying disappearance from his Detroit boarding-house on the evening of August 22nd. James Desmond, an elder brother with whom William roomed, says that he last saw the young man in a Detroit saloon in company with a party of five, three men and two women, about 11 o'clock on the Sunday night on which he disappeared. When he did not return home no alarm was felt, as James Desmond believed he might have gone home to Toronto, but letters from that city say that he has not been there. The missing man is described as weighing 140 pounds, and being five feet eight inches tall. When last seen he was dressed in a gray suit with a black derby hat. He was employed by the Michigan Telephone Co., where he still has quite a lot of money due him for back wages, which he failed to collect. The two Desmond brothers came to Detroit last January from Toronto, and have resided here since that time.

SPANISH FORCES NEAR MELILLA

SPANISH TROOPS IN OUTWORKS NEAR MELILLA.

LES ESPAGNOLS AU MAROC

Lisbon, Sept. 3.—Special despatches received here from Melilla, Morocco, say the fighting is general on the Moroccan coast.

The new Spanish artillery has wrought terrible havoc among the Moors, who have lost 1,000 men in the last three days. The Spanish casualties amount to 350.

A Spanish column has destroyed three villages near Restinga. A Moorish deserter who has come into the Spanish lines declares that Spanish prisoners are being horribly tortured and mutilated. They are then decapitated and their dead bodies flung into a hole on Mount Guruga.

JUDGE NOW A LABORER

Kenosha, Wis., Sept. 4.—Carrying out his determination to become an ordinary laborer, Judge Joseph Clarkson, the lawyer, whose strange actions in twice leaving his home and friends, caused a sensation, went to work yesterday as an assembler of brass beds at the plant of a local company.

The judge appeared at work in a suit of overalls, wearing an old golf cap, and carried his luncheon in a common dinner pail.

A NATIONAL ORPHANAGE

Montreal, Sept. 4.—There are now nearly 30,000 Jews in Montreal and they are making their influence felt in all walks of life.

A mass meeting of various Jewish congregations and organizations was held to take steps looking to the provision of a Jewish orphanage of a national character, which will care for the children of Jews from all parts of Canada. Appeals for funds will be made in the leading Canadian cities where there are Jews residing in any considerable numbers.

Suffragettes Fined; Will Appeal.

London, Sept. 4.—The suffragettes who were arrested Aug. 19 on Downing street in connection with the picketing of Premier Asquith's residence, were sentenced yesterday to pay fines of $10 each or spend seven days in the Bow street jail. They gave notice of appeal on the ground that all subjects of the King have the right to approach the Sovereign through his Ministers, and in endeavoring to interview the Premier they were merely exercising these rights.

A Gallery of the Dead.

Pittsburg, Sept. 4.—A "gallery of the dead" in which is kept a thorough system of photographs and measurements of every unknown person brought to the institution has been established at the county morgue here. Bertillon operators are in charge of the gallery.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

Apple buyers report an excellent crop in Ontario west of Toronto.

Russia is urging her claim to a share in the Chinese railroad loan.

The Donaldson line have ordered a fine new steamer for the St. Lawrence route.

Mrs. Macdonald, widow of Hon. John Sandfield Macdonald, died at Cornwall.

The United States has placed a duty of 40 per cent. on aeroplanes of foreign make.

The body of Woldrich, the wife-murderer, was found in a well near Stettler, Alta., where he had committed suicide after his deed.

William Hawkins, a 16-year-old Barnardo boy, confessed to setting fire to the barn of his employer, Mr. Fred Hett, on the Paris road, near Brantford.

Winnipeg telegraph companies report that the grain rush began nearly two weeks earlier than last year, having now been in swing a week, whereas last year it did not start till Sept. 9.

A sensation was sprung yesterday in the mysterious murder of Wm. Hendrie, the Wees Beach hotelkeeper, at Sarnia, when Coroner Logie ordered the remains exhumed and another examination made.

PROBABILITIES.

Sunday, strong northwest winds, clearing and cooler.

Plenty of Cars For the Grain.

Ottawa, Sept. 4.—M. J. Butler, Deputy Minister of Railways, returned yesterday from an inspection trip of the west. He believes there will be sufficient cars to handle the grain crop, and if any difficulty is encountered it will be lack of locomotives.

Germany's Deficit.

Berlin, Sept. 4.—The deficit of the Imperial Government for [illegible] was announced yesterday as amounting to [illegible].

NO FEAR FOR CAPT. BERNIER

Ottawa, Sept. 4.—The story sent out from Montreal to the effect that Government officials are worrying about Capt. Bernier, who sailed for the Far North in July, 1908, is ridiculed here. When Capt. Bernier went away he was equipped for a two years' trip, and as he has been in the Far North but a little over a year, there is no reason to believe that anything unfortunate has happened to him.

Capt. Bernier had orders to visit even more inaccessible regions than the Arctic touched in her previous trip. He had no orders to make a dash for the North Pole, and was not equipped for such a venture.

Mr. Desbarats, acting Deputy Minister of Marine and Fisheries, says that he does not expect to hear from Capt. Bernier till next summer. He is quite confident that nothing has happened to Canada's intrepid explorer.

Son Strangles Mother.

Pottsville, Pa., Sept. 4.—After killing his mother, probably a week ago, George F. Simons, 21 years old, shot and killed himself last night at the home of Violet Hartranft, to whom he had been paying attention.

The body of the mother was found in the attic of her home last night by the father. The door of the room was fastened with large screws and the crevices sealed with paraffine.

It is believed the man quarrelled with his mother about his paying attentions to the girl who has been his steady companion for the last five years.

Grenfell Safe.

St. John's, Nfld., Sept. 4.—The rumor of the loss of a New York yacht near St. Anthony is incorrect.

Dr. W. T. Grenfell, whose boat was first said to be missing, is now in Henley Harbor. All on board are well.

Shot In a Duel.

Vancouver, B.C., Sept. 4.—Junchi Abo is dead in the hospital here from bullet wounds in his side, liver, leg and hand. It is said he fought a duel with a rifle with another man near Steveston.

CHICKENS WERE PARTIAL TO A CITIZEN'S GARDEN

South End Resident Fined for Allowing His Chickens to Run at Large—Was His Second Offence.

Every since last June the large stock of poultry belonging to Frederick Rooke, has caused a great deal of damage to the garden of his neighbor, Silas Bullied. Last Saturday he was charged with allowing the chickens to run at large and was fined $1.60. Again this morning he was assessed the same amount for another offence of the same character. The defendant stated that he would appeal the judgment of the Magistrate.

The complainants' evidence was to the effect that the fowl had destroyed the greater part of his garden, and although he notified the owner of the damage being done very little attention had been paid. The defendant had built a hen-run but as there was no top on it, the chickens could easily get out and did so by using their wings. He said that he held no spite against his neighbor and all he wanted was protection for this garden.

P. C. McGarry, who served the order at the defendant's house yesterday, said that he had noticed a number of chickens at large about the premises.

The wife of the complainant corroborated the statements of her husband and was inclined to be more severe in denouncing the action of the chickens.

Alf. Mongour, who lives with Mr. Rooke, said the chickens had been placed in the runway and a wire netting prevented them from getting out, and they had not been running at large this week, according to his knowledge. He was about the house after ten o'clock in the morning. Other residents nearby owned hens and those in question might have belonged to them.

The defendant was of the opinion that it was a case of spite as he was positive that his hens had not been in the garden this week. He had placed a wire netting around the property formerly used by him as a garden and had done his best to stop the chickens from causing annoyance and damage.

The Magistrate, however, held that the defendant should have placed some netting over the top of the runway and this would probably have stopped the trouble.

THIRTEEN CHINKS GO TO JAIL

Kingston, Sept. 4.—Refusing to pay a fine of $3 and costs for non-payment of laundry tax, thirteen Chinamen last night went to jail for ten days. Their shops are now closed. They cannot do business unless a license is taken out.

Four celestials refused to obey the summons to attend court, and the police had a lively chase before they landed them. A. B. Cunningham, their counsel, is taking steps to have the bylaw passed by the City Council, increasing the tax from $5 to $50 quashed.

City Engineer Craig has been granted permission to give oil a trial on the city streets.

COBALT RAILWAY IS GOING AHEAD

Port Cobalt, Sept. 4.—R. P. Stack, managing director of the Nipissing Electric Railway, returned to town yesterday morning after a ten days' trip to the States, where he interested capital in his railway and townsite propositions.

All grading has been done on the roadbed of the electric road, contracts have been let for construction, and the rails will be on the ground by the first of next week.

It is the intention to at once lay six miles of rails. This will be done by the first of November. The line will first be built from Cobalt right through to Haileybury, and will run half way down to the lake at Port Cobalt along Lakeview avenue.

THE DEBTS OF A GUARDSMAN

London, Sept. 4.—Ernest P. Orr-Ewing, till recently a second-lieutenant in the Scots Guards, residing in Hereford Gardens, Park lane, W., and described as of the Bachelors' Club, Hamilton place, Piccadilly, has resigned his commission in the Guards, which be obtained in 1906, a month ago, in consequence of bankruptcy proceedings by a money lender.

He attributes his present position to losses by betting and gambling, interest on borrowed money, and to his expenditure having exceeded his income.

A year after he obtained his commission, it was stated, his father bought up his debts for £26,000, his difficulties having been caused by betting losses and the cost of running race horses.

He now owed about £40,000, and had no assets of present realizable value.

HORSE FELL ON BABY CARRIAGE

St. Catharines, Sept. 4.—Mrs. Gough and her young sister, Lily Hilton, aged 12 years, were wheeling a baby carriage containing two children. W. A. Brown of Thorold approached them driving a spirited horse. The animal became frightened at a trolley, and shied. It left the road, and reared upon its hind legs, coming down upon the baby carriage and completely destroying it. The two children, in some unaccountable manner, escaped injury. Mrs. Gough was also slightly bruised and shaken up. Lily Hilton was cut about the back of the head, rendering several stitches necessary.

Three Thousand Smiths Together.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 4.—Three thousand named Smith gathered in the exposition auditorium yesterday for a reunion of the Smith family, among them being many Indians and Eskimos.

Donald Smith, better known as Lord Strathcona, regarded as the richest Smith in the world, sent his regrets at inability to attend owing to illness.

Marie Dressler Bankrupt.

New York, Sept. 4.—Leila Koerber, known on the stage as Marie Dressler, yesterday filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy. She gives her liabilities as $24,898, and says her only assets consist of necessary wearing apparel worth $100. The petition is said to be the outcome of her unsuccessful theatrical venture in England.

THREATENED WITH PARALYSIS.

Peter E. Summers, of Kalamazoo, Mich., relates his experience:

"I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and excesses in early youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, wore an electric belt for three months, went to Mt. Clemens for baths, but received little benefit. While at Mt. Clemens I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the New Method Treatment and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through the nerves. I was cured mentally and physically. I have sent them many patients and will continue to do so."

THE FIRE

The cause of the recent disastrous fire, which consumed the western wing of the Provincial Parliament Buildings is believed to be a tinsmith's brazier left in the garret, where a man had been engaged in making repairs. The brazier was found. An attempt was made by a man to remove it. In fact it was removed, but not before it was photographed. Later on the Attorney-General's Department got it back again, which shows that that department is faster on its feet than usually reported to be. It is a matter of congratulation that the archives were saved. These represent the collections made by the provincial archivist, Mr Fraser, and are the material from which the authentic early history of this province will be written.

That Sir James Whitney and his Ministers did much to help in the salvage of the building is unlikely. About five minutes' work for men who are not used to it is about all that is necessary to convince them that they had better go and sit down somewhere. The flimsy character of the inner coating of the roof, etc., is a matter of surprise, but the walls are not of that character, being of great solid blocks of granite.

The beautiful lawn and flower-beds are no doubt an unbeautiful wreck, and while the gardeners may grumble at the spoiling of their winter stock, they will thank Heaven it is not worse and comfort themselves accordingly.

The firemen seem to have been good, but the water-pressure bad. Toronto is not a well-governed city, and the recent sneer at its lack of appreciation of art is well-deserved. A parade is more in its line.

PERJURY

The sending-down for two years to the penitentiary of a man who swore falsely in a comparatively unimportant case in the Toronto police court, shows how determined the bench is backed by the Ontario Government, under whose administration the crown officials are, to stamp out perjury. The way the consciences of a large portion of the public was being affected by lack of respect for a solemn oath gave but little hope for a Canada that anybody could respect. The next step would be the complete supremacy of the crooked world and the retiring into the background of all but hypocrisy and vice. The re-action, however, has begun with a vengeance. The officers of the law have taken up the matter, and it is now incumbent upon every judge to direct an immediate prosecution for perjury where he is satisfied it has been committed.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Montreal Gazette says the Toronto Parliament Buildings are "ginger-bready." They are not. The Toronto buildings are amongst the most massive in the world.

The Mail and Empire has two photographs of Dr. Cook on the front page. Under one of them is written: "Dr. Cook as he appeared on a previous polar voyage." He is represented as clad in his dress clothes. This photo was probably taken in New York. We decline to believe that he appeared before the polar bear in any such garb.

There seems to be a general idea or rather suspicion that Dr Cook "cooked" his despatches. Why should this be in his case and in nobody else's? And if the Eskimo knew the pole when they saw it, we would prefer to believe them rather than many of the more civilized (sic) people who would say anything and do anything they wanted to without the slightest regard to its verity.

In reply to an inquiry as to who institutes and follows up charges for perjury, it may be said that judges, especially election judges, are empowered and required to order the crown officer to indict a witness for perjury immediately upon their coming to the conclusion that said witness is not trying to tell the truth. The one thing that excuses a witness from prosecution is an eminent and conscientious desire to tell the whole truth.

We acknowledge the receipt of a pamphlet with several names spread over the front cover and the title page. One name is A Serious Question. Another is The New Doctrine of Provincial Rights. A third is Reasons Why the Federal Authority Should Resume Its Old Position. Provincial Powers is a fourth. There are several others. The subject-matter of this hydro-headed pamphlet has already been published in the form of letters to the organ of the electrical ring, The Financial Post, of Toronto, and is a plea for the disallowance by the Dominion Government of the act of the Ontario Legislature, which validates certain municipal contracts with the Hydro-Electric Commission.—The Hamilton Herald.

We have received a communication from the Social and Moral Reform League, accompanied by a circular for publication which sets out in all its gruesome details the horror of a certain traffic. That this traffic should be suppressed is, of course, too obvious to admit, even of statement; but to our minds it is the work of an efficient Attorney-General's Department, not that of a league depending upon the publicity of the press. If this traffic is not a work of swift and sure suppression on the part of the Criminal Department of our Government, what is it? What is that department for if it is not to protect us where we most of all need it. We are persuaded, however, that there is no need for a publicity campaign, which may do some good, but will do vastly more harm.

Two Aldermen Accused.

Regina, Sask., Sept. 4.—A Supreme Court judge will inquire into charges of malfeasance of office preferred by local newspapers against Alds. Peverett and Wilkinson, and the city clerk acting under pressure of the aldermen.

Wilkinson bought a warehouse site from the city with a reservation for a spur track across the property. He paid $700 for the property. He listed it with Ald. Peverett, as a real estate agent, who sold to Campbell Bros. and Wilson, wholesale grocers, for $2,500. The transfer was made out by the city clerk, under instructions of two aldermen, and the spur track reservation was eliminated. The city must now pay the owners of the lots $2,000 for the right to cross the property.

Winnipeg Hotel Sold.

Winnipeg, Sept. 4.—The Clarendon Hotel property at Portage avenue and Ronald streets, has changed hands. Financial negotiations were completed yesterday morning, as a result of which the property will, on Oct. 1, pass from the hands of C. Y. Gregory to George H. Nicholson. The consideration is said to be $225,000. The new proprietor is well known to the traveling public. For four years he was proprietor of the Horseshoe Inn at Hamilton, Ont. Afterwards he became a representative of a wholesale house.

Hustling the Harvesters.

Brandon, Man., Sept. 4.—With a period of perfect weather the farmers have been making remarkable progress in threshing operations, and reports from all districts are that work will be finished much earlier than was expected. If weather conditions are favorable, this season of harvesting and threshing will be one of the shortest on record, and eastern harvesters will be enabled to return home much earlier than in other years.

Apple Dinner for Taft.

Spokane, Sept. 4.—Nearly twenty thousand apples will be used for decorations at a dinner to be given to President Taft when he visit Spokane this fall. Apples will be served wherever possible on the menu, and viands will be served in the hollowed-out shells of apples. The "bumper crop" will be suggested by "bumper" of cider.

First Shipment of Wheat.

Port Arthur, Ont., Sept. 4.—The first shipment this season of new wheat from this port was taken to Sarnia yesterday afternoon by the Northern Navigation steamer Saronic. It amounted to 10,000 bushels, 5,000 each of No. 1 and No. 2 Northern.

Four Trainmen Killed.

Pittsburg, Sept. 4.—An extra freight train plowed into a gang of track laborers, killing four of the men. A dozen others narrowly escaped. The noise of the westbound passenger train drowned the warning sounded by the engineer.

HUNTERS

Something About Moose and Deer

It is now pretty well known among hunters that the best deer hunting country in Ontario is on the line of the Canadian Northern Ontario and that hunters receive special attention. Mr. C. Price Green, Passenger Agent of the line is a hunter himself who goes right with the parties and looks after them, in fact he located most of them. This year the line will be opened north of Sellwood into the midst of the Moose Country, they are reported very thick, the Engineers say that they have never seen anything like it, the Moose season up there opens October 15th, fifteen days before the Deer. We have something special on a new place that will take three parties of deer hunters.

RUSSIAN WHEAT DRIVING CANADIAN FROM BRITAIN

Montreal Produce Men Say Canadian Wheat is Too High —Poor Outlook for Farming Interests.

Mr. Justice Carruthers, the well-known grain exporter, made the statement on 'Change this morning, that what is perhaps a unique position exists in the Canadian wheat market. Prevailing high prices for our export grain has practically shut Canadian wheat for the time being out of the British Isles markets, and until present quotations in the west are considerably lowered the English consumer will satisfy the demand by purchasing this commodity from Russia and other countries.

"I can buy wheat in England," said Mr. Carruthers to the 'Witness,' "cheaper than I can lay it down in Liverpool direct from Canada, by at least two cents. This is an extraordinary state of affairs. It should make our people ponder for a moment. Export trade is very low, and the only reason I can give is that Russian wheat is just now competing with the Canadian product.

"It appears to me that the English dealers are backing away from our wheat. This, no doubt, will only last for a short time, but it is nevertheless evident."

"What is the remedy?" Mr. Carruthers was asked.

"That is easy to answer. Winnipeg wheat has evidently to come down to an export basis. Speculation is holding prices too high, and in the meantime our export grain trade is suffering. It is a peculiar condition of affairs."

LINDSAY BOY KNOWN HERE VICTIM OF A SHOOTING ACCIDENT YESTERDAY

Lindsay, Sept. 3.—A distressing shooting accident took place this afternoon about 1.30 o'clock on the river bank in the John Carew mill yard just opposite the Baker lumber mill, the victim being Master Dominick Spratt, second youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Spratt, William street.

HOW IT HAPPENED.

It seems that Dominick was engaged in loading millwood near a clump of bushes on the river shore. A short distance up the river a local citizen was in a boat looking for water fowl. He was armed with a 32 calibre rifle, and in shooting at a mud hen he either shifted his position as the bullet glanced from some object. At any rate, Dominick Spratt received the contents of the rifle.

IN THE ABDOMEN.

The unfortunate youth sank to earth with a groan and the hunter together with several of the yard men, ran to his assistance. He was suffering intense pain and was moved to a shady position near the bushes, and Dr. McAlpine was summoned.

WAS CONSCIOUS.

Poor Dominick bore his sufferings bravely and was conscious. The ambulance was summoned and the injured boy was taken to the hospital.

HEARTBROKEN PARENTS.

Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Spratt were notified of the accident, and the news almost prostrated them.

HIS INJURIES SERIOUS.

In conversation with a reporter Dr. McAlpine feared that the bullet had gone through the injured boy's stomach and that his injuries are of a serious character.

VERY POPULAR.

Dominick Spratt, the victim of the accident, is a very popular little fellow. He is a student at the Collegiate Institute and is a general favorite with his school mates. The news of the tragic accident was received with regret on all sides, and many were the expressions of hope that his injuries would not terminate fatally.

"YOU HAVE SHOT ME!"

The man, who, it is said, fired the shot, was "Jaky" Smith, who is employed on the Arthur C. When he reached the side of the injured boy, the latter said, "You have shot me instead of the bird." Smith immediately rushed to the telephone and notified Dr. McAlpine. He feels his position keenly, and is all broken up over the sad affair.

AT THE HOSPITAL.

As soon as the injured boy was removed to the hospital, Drs. McAlpine, Blanchard and White held a consultation and endeavored to locate the bullet. At the time of going to press no words was received of the result of the operation, but it was given out officially that very little hope was entertained for his recovery.

Venerable Archdeacon Casey and the members of the family were also at the hospital.

Dominick Spratt was well known to a number in Peterborough. He played with the Lindsay Collegiate Institute hockey team here last winter.

A new monument will be erected at Churchtown, Pa., to the memory of those who fought in the civil war.

NEW ANGLICAN HYMN BOOK ON THE MARKET

The long-looked-for and much-discussed "Book of Common Praise," which will be used as the hymn book of the majority of the Anglican churches throughout Canada, will be on the market in the course of a few days. The first consignment arrived in Toronto yesterday, and the large shipment completely blocked Richmond street in Toronto in front of the Oxford Press for part of the afternoon. The sale of the annotated edition will commence to-day, and it will be possible to obtain the books with the music after next Tuesday.

The book has been compiled by a committee appointed by the General Synod, and the members have been at work for several years selecting hymns for the first book issued by the Anglican Church in Canada. Much of the labor fell on Mr. J. E. Jones, one of the men who first started the movement, to have a book of praise for the Canadian Church. Every parish in the Dominion sent in a list of hymns, which were commonly used and looked upon as a necessary part of the book, and by this popular vote the foundation of the book was laid. This expression of popular opinion also made sure that no hymn would be left out which any strong section in the Church desired. The committee carefully went through many sections of sacred poetry, so that no good hymns would be overlooked, and all of the best modern hymns, such as "Crossing the Bar" and the "Recessional" were added. This collection of hymns has been endorsed by the General Synod and has met with the approval of the Church at large, with but a few dissenting voices such as the Hon. S. H. Blake and Dean Armitage, of Halifax. Most parishes will adopt it and the profits are to go to the funds of the Anglican Church.

PROVINCIAL FIRE CHIEFS

Will Hold Meeting in Toronto on September 7th

On Thursday afternoon, Fire Chief Armstrong received a letter from Chief Howard, of Peterborough, that the first meeting of the Provincial Fire Chiefs' Association, would be held in Lombard street fire hall, Toronto, on September 7th. At the annual meeting of the International Fire Chiefs' Association, at Grand Rapids, a few weeks ago, it was decided to organize a Provincial Fire Chief's Association, as an auxiliary to the International Association. Many benefits are to be derived from such an organization, and all were in favor of it.

The chairman of the fire and light committee and the mayor were also invited to the meeting, but have not decided yet whether they will attend or not.—Kingston Whig.

BABY'S GREAT DANGER DURING HOT WEATHER

More children die during the hot weather than at any other time of the year. Diarrhoea, dysentery, cholera infantum, and stomach troubles come without warning, and when a medicine is not at hand to give prompt relief, the delay may prove fatal to the child. Baby's Own Tablets should be kept in every home where there are children during the hot summer months. An occasional dose of the Tablets will prevent deadly summer complaints, or cure them if they come unexpectedly. Mrs. O. Moreau, St. Titus, Que., says:—"My baby suffered from a severe attack of cholera infantum, but after giving him Baby's Own Tablets the trouble disappeared, and he regained health splendidly." Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The earth's atmosphere becomes at only a few miles from the earth's surface too thin to support any form of animal life.

The "fixed" stars are changing their positions at an appreciable rate, according to astronomers, who say that even the most familiar constellations have changed their forms since the time of the ancients who named them.

Many astronomers are of opinion that the famous star Sixty-one Cygni, which is a double star, is a binary system—that is, that the two stars composing it revolve round their common center of gravity and move through space together.

HE MADE HIS KICK.

The Man Who Had Long Ago Bought an Eight-Day Clock.

"You don't remember, I reckon," said the sour-faced man, putting his arms on the showcase, "that I bought a clock of you twenty-five years ago?"

"I certainly do not," answered the elderly jeweler, "but I'll take your word for it if you say you did."

"Well, I did. It was twenty-five years ago last Monday."

"Remember what you paid for it?"

"Yes. I paid you $10."

"Ever had to get it repaired?"

"No."

"It's a pretty good clock, then, isn't it?"

"Oh, yes. The clock's all right, but I've found out something about it that you didn't tell me."

"So?"

"Yes. When I bought it I asked you how often I'd have to wind it. You said once a week."

"Well?"

"Well, I've just found out that it'll go eight days without winding."

"Certainly! Most clock are eight-day clocks. That's to allow for your forgetting to wind it sometimes."

"I never forget to wind it, sir. Regularly every Monday morning for twenty-five years I've wound that clock. That makes fifty-two times a year. If I had known it would go eight days I would have wound it on the eighth day, and I would have had to wind it only forty-six times a year. It takes me about two minutes to wind it up. I've wasted twelve minutes every year on the thing. See! In twenty-five years I've put in 300 minutes, or five hours, the half of man's working day, standing on a chair and winding up that blamed old clock when it didn't need winding!"

"Well," said the stupefied jeweler, "what do you want to do about it?"

"Nothing, sir. I only wanted you to know it, that's all. When you sell an eight-day clock to a man you ought to tell him it's an eight-day clock. Good day, sir!"

Straightening himself up and pulling his hat brim down in front, he turned on his heel and stalked out of the store with the air of a man with a grouch who had freed his mind.

A Good Enough Excuse.

A memorable instance of presence of mind was the adventure of a certain Desaugiers at the time of a popular uprising in Paris, when the people took possession of the Tuileries. The hero of the incident sagely acted upon the theory that a poor excuse is better than none and sometimes better than a better one would be.

He was an inquisitive person, and, regardless of the danger, he hastened to the Tuileries at midnight to see what was going on. At the gate he was stopped by two revolutionists of ominous appearance. "Why do you not wear a cockade, citizen? Where is your cockade?" they asked.

A mob gathered about him and demanded fiercely, "Citizen, where is your cockade?"

Desaugiers took off his hat, turned it around and around, looked at it on all sides and then said in a tone of mild surprise:

"Citizens, it is strange, very strange! I must have left it on my nightcap."

How to Learn.

"The best way to study nature is to go right up to it."

"I suppose so."

"Oh, I know it. I was once disposed to doubt the industry of the ant, of which so much is said."

"And you learned better?"

"I did. I had a controversy with a naturalist over the question, and I thought I had him beaten until he gave me a demonstration."

"Took you out and showed you the ants at work, did he?"

"Well, not exactly that, but he took me along on one of his scientific expeditions and then maliciously pitched my tent over an ant hill. By the time I discovered what was happening the conviction was forced upon me that ants are really and truly industrious. They are small, but they made me move, and some of them went right along with us to the next camping place."

Not to Be Cheated.

"This is a mighty dishonest world, you know," said an actor, "and it doesn't hurt to be suspicious of some people. I sympathise with the old negro who came to a watchmaker with the two hands of a clock.

"'I want yer fer to fix up dese han's. Dey ain't kept no correct time for mo' den six munfs.'

"'Well, where is the clock?' demanded the watchmaker.

"'Out to my cabin.'

"'But I must have the clock.'

"'Didn't I tell yer dar's nuffin de matter wid the clock 'ceptin de han's? An' here dey be. You jess want de clock so you kin tinker it and charge me a big price. Gimme back dem han's.'"

KELSEY
Zig-Zag Heat Tubes

Make the KELSEY WARM AIR GENERATOR the most powerful apparatus.

¶ The "Kelsey" warms fresh air by the best method; warms large volumes of air properly and forces to exposed or distant rooms; has double the weight and heating surfaces of the ordinary furnace, and utilizes all the heat to much better advantage; does not heat the cellar or waste heat up the chimney.

¶ The "Kelsey" does not warm the same air over and over like steam or hot water systems with radiators; costs less to install, and for management and repairs; and is more efficient, healthful and economical.

¶ These are a few of the reasons why the Kelsey Fresh Air System has been installed in so many of the finest class of City and Country Homes, Churches and Schools, and why it is being specified in preference to other systems.

SURPRISE IN STORE FOR GRAND OPERA HOUSE PATRONS

Painters and Decorators Have Been at Work for Two Months on Interior of the Theatre and Great Change Has Been Effected—Delightful Color Scheme.

If a thing of beauty is a joy forever, the Grand Opera House, as it now is, should long be a source of delight. For the past two months the proprietors of this popular place of amusement on George street, Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons, have had a large force of men at work on the interior of the theatre, and when a Review representative was ushered in at the stage door yesterday afternoon he hardly knew the place. The walls and ceilings have been completely re-decorated, and the change is one that will meet with favor from the patrons of the Grand when it opens next Saturday night. The walls have been painted a light green shade and are in striking contrast to the former colors which was a dark red. The ceiling is in harmony with the walls in the color scheme, and the whole effect is very beautiful and artistic. The decorations are in good taste and a delight to the eye. A big change is noticeable around the "boxes." Artistically designed canopies have been placed over them, and they have been curtained, giving each box a certain amount of privacy while not interfering in any way with the view of the stage. The canopies are painted a light blue and are prettily decorated.

Eight seats have been taken out in the front of the house—four on each side—making much more room for the orchestra. A brass rail has been placed around the orchestra pit and it will be curtained with an appropriate material. The scenery is being re-touched and everything put in first-class shape for the opening of the season. The foyer has also been re-painted and gives one a pleasing impression on entering the house.

The color scheme and decorations were designed by Mr. Reginald Turner, to whom much credit is due, as well as to the workmen who have been busy painting and decorating for the past two months.

Mr. R. J. Devey will be in charge of the orchestra, and the stage manager will be Mr. E. Crowe. The Grand opens next Saturday night with "Faust" as the attraction.

PROGRAMME FOR HOLIDAY IS NOT AN EXTENSIVE ONE

Monday is Labor Day and a public holiday. It has been made an annual public holiday by the Dominion Government at the request and in the interests and recognition of the labour class.

In many cities in the Dominion labor parades and celebrations will be held on Monday, but there will be nothing of this nature in Peterborough.

The programme for the holiday here is not an extensive one. A baseball match and an excursion to South Beach are the only events scheduled for Monday. The Lindsay baseball team will play the T.A.S. nine at Riverside Park, the game being called for three o'clock. Dan McCabe will likely umpire the contest, which promises to be an exciting one.

Court Chemong I.O.F., is holding its sixth annual excursion to South Beach and other points at the lakes. The steamer Otonabee will leave Wolfe st. wharf at 7.30 and the lift lock at 8 o'clock and Tucker's orchestra will furnish music.

The reduced railway rates will be taken advantage of by many to visit Toronto and other points, the exhibition at Toronto being the big attraction.

A large number are leaving for Rice Lake to-day to enjoy duck shooting on Monday.

CONCERNING THE PUPILS

The city schools re-open on Tuesday, Sept. 7th, when it is hoped there will be a full attendance of pupils after the long vacation.

Parents having young children whom they purpose starting at the public schools, are requested to read the following regulations of the Board;—"—"Children under 8 years of age who have not previously attended a public school, shall be admitted to the primary division only during the first two weeks of school in January, April and September."

When primary pupils come in late they retard the progress of the whole class, and it is very important that they shall start together on the first day of school.

Last year Edinburgh street was made the boundary between the Queen Alexandra, and Central schools for the pupils of the primary grades, and Dublin street for pupils in the 2nd, 3rd and 4th books. It is requested that all pupils concerned will strictly adhere to these boundaries on the opening of the schools on Tuesday.

Changes may have to be made to avoid overcrowding, but these can be determined only after the classes are organized.

SOLDIER BOYS WILL LEAVE FOR PERTH THIS EVENING

Will Entrain at C.P.R. Station Shortly After Ten o'Clock—Muster Parade at the Armouries.

Peterborough's red-coated soldier boys will leave for Perth shortly after ten o'clock to-night. They will spend Sunday and Labor Day in the pretty little town with the Scotch name on the banks of the Tay. The regiment will parade at the armouries to-night at nine o'clock. The command paymaster will be present and the muster will be called. It is important that there should be a full turnout of all ranks. After the muster parade the regiment, with both bands, Stretcher Section and Signal Corps will march to the C.P.R. station and entrain for Perth, there to go into camp for two days. The advance party, which left for Perth yesterday, will have everything in shape.

The officers of the 41st Regiment and the citizens of Perth generally are preparing a cordial welcome for the Peterborough visitors. On Sunday there will be the usual church parade, followed by a sacred concert by the 57th Regiment Band in the park, and on Monday a trip will be taken down the beautiful Rideau Lakes. In the evening "a cooks' parade," under the auspices of the 57th Regiment Bugle Band will be held. It is some years since such a parade was held, and it promises to be a very entertaining number on the programme.

The regiment will be in command of Lieut.-Col. Stevenson.

AN EXPLANATION ON THE PUBLIC SCHOOL FEES

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—With the reduction in the cost of the Public school readers have come enquiries whether the pupils' fees will not be reduced. The reduction in the cost of readers will not lessen the expense to the Board until after a year has elapsed, since all pupils, both the juniors and the seniors of each grade, will have to be supplied with new books, which means that over twice as many new books will have to be supplied this year than would have been required had the old readers been continued in use. After the expiration of a year only those pupils in the senior divisions of each grade, who will be promoted will require new readers and this will lessen the expense to the Board.

Then, too, it must be remembered that the readers are but one item of expense. Besides these, the pupils have to be supplied with arithmetics, histories, geographies, grammars, dictionaries, scribblers, exercise books, examination paper, drawing paper, brushes and paints, ink, slates, lead pencils, erasers, pens, copy books and many other articles required to carry on the work of the schools.

As soon as the income derived from the fees more than covers the expense of the supplies, a reduction in the fees will no doubt be made.

SOUTH MONAGHAN PROTESTS AGAINST SEWAGE IN RIVER

The township of South Monaghan has called a meeting of its Board of Health as a preliminary step to a general protest against the pouring of sewage into the river. The remedy suggested is filtration. Berlin and Sydenham protested successfully in similar cases. Otonabee and North Monaghan are to join ultimately with South Monaghan in taking action against the municipality of Peterborough. Residents of South Monaghan have lost numbers of cattle, and the condition of the water and the condition of the land along the river after flooding is such as to be a cause of grave danger to the cattle and to the health of the people. It is suspected that varieties of poison lurk in the sewage.

RIP! Down Comes the Shade.

Suppose you have often heard this—most of us have. Well the old shades are beginning to tear off rollers and every time they do they get another crinkle and get more or less mussed. You'll need new shades this Fall and you'll be on the look-out for the right kind. We have a very fine assortment on order to be shipped at once. These include both plain and fancy shades, oil opaque, holland etc., also the newest effects in Battenburg Centres, Battenburg edges, Swiss Applique, etc. Our shades are all mounted on the best spring rollers and are all finished well. See our showing next time you come down town. Get our ideas for the artistic treatment of your walls—they're right-up-to-now.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Review does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by its correspondents

Editor of the Review.

Sir,—Will you be so kind as to lend me a small space in your paper. I want to inform you of an accident on the 2nd of September on the Lakefield road, between locks five and six, about 8 o'clock in the morning. Foreman Gibson and three laborers were in a one-horse wagon, which got badly smashed, and the unfortunate occupants were thrown out on the road. Ratepayer of Peterborough!

I was given to understand that this rig was hired to carry the men to and from work; and I also heard that this is the third time that this old rig has fallen to pieces, but no serious injuries resulted, and the poor, unfortunate men had to walk back to Peterborough.

Yours, etc.,
REFORMER.

Peterborough, Sept. 4th, 1909.

Mr. Clarke Resigns

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—Having resigned the office of tax collector of South Monaghan after nine years in office; during that time I collected the full amount of all the taxes each and every year without any abatement in the collector's roll. I wish to thank the ratepayers of South Monaghan through your valuable paper for their courtesy and kindness to me, and their hospitality. They are a fine class of people. One and all were glad to see me visiting them once a year, and they are all good pay. They take a delight in paying their taxes. Why, Mr. Editor, one of them, his house was locked, and he had me to help him to climb in through the window to get the money to pay his taxes to me.

THAT WATCH OF YOURS

Is in many respects similar to a railway engine. Let an engine be run without oil or cleaning and before long it will stop dead. Upon examination it will be found that the friction and wear and tear has ruined the machinery, and it is fit only for the scrap iron heap. Likewise your watch. You put it in your pocket, and while there is a kick in it, you, in your mistaken economy, do not consult the watchmaker, and consequently rob your watch of years of good service and also much of its former accuracy. The time-keeping qualities of a good watch are maintained and often improved by timely and skilful attention. If you have been one of the neglectful ones call around and see us.

SCHOOL SHOES THAT WILL DO FULL DUTY

WANTED—A RIFLE-RANGE

When Mr. Hall, M.P., threw some of his energy and persuasiveness into getting the Armouries for Peterborough did good work. But a provision should have been made for a rifle-range as well.

It can scarcely be credited by outsiders that the splendid 57th regiment has no rifle-range "Why! What do they shoot at?" asked an Omemee man. They dont' shoot. They just listen to the Big Noise. It's all they are getting out of it. We would suggest that so important and serious a matter be brought before the City Council and that a large deputation visit Ottawa for that seems to be the only way that the range is likely to be obtained. However if we can't have the rifle-range let us at least have the armouries lawn cleared of coarse weeds. The one is a calamity. The other is an intolerable eye-sore.

YOUNG MEN HAD NARROW ESCAPE

Had Rigged Up Sail on Skiff to Attend Church at Bobcaygeon —Upset In Lake

Bobcaygeon, Sept. 2.—What might have terminated in a very serious affair occurred last Sunday on Pigeon Lake. Two young men, Samuel and David Tate, in a very laudable desire to attend church at Bobcaygeon, rigged up a sail on an ordinary skiff and started. The wind being very high, they only got opposite Fair Oaks when over went boat, sail and likewise both boys. They, however, succeeded in getting on or hanging on the upturned boat. In this perilous position they drifted about three miles in a savage gale. Friends from the Cedars saw the accident and finally rescued them. A launch passed within a short distance but failed to notice the upturned boat to which the almost perished boys were clinging.

Another account of this accident states that Messrs. Wesley Tate and Stanley Parker, seeing that the Tate boys were in troubles, borrowed Mr. Crowe's skiff and went out to the rescue, nearly to Big Island. The launch, according to that account, saw the boys, but the bad language of one of the men in the launch frightened the women who were with them, and they could not get near the overturned boat to take the boys off.

May Build New Boat

Captain Coles, of Collingwood, a steamboat inspector, accompanied by Messrs. Elliott and Moynes, visited Sturgeon Point yesterday, and inspected the remains of the steamer Kathleen. Captain Cole pronounced the hull a complete loss, and also the engine and boiler. In conversation with the owners of the steamer this morning they stated that in all probability they will build a new boat during the coming winter and have it ready for service when navigation opens in the spring.—Lindsay Warder.

THEATRICAL

"Faust" On Saturday

The opening attraction at the Grand Opera House next Saturday, Sept. 11th, which will be Goethe's sublime "Faust," promises to be an excellent one, and one that no person should neglect to see. There is an exceptionally strong cast. Mr. George S. Trimble, as "Mephisto"; Miss Emma Taylor as "Zenlor" and Miss Edna Porter as "Marguerite." The company carry their own elaborate scenery, and the effects in the famous "Brocken Scene" are simply marvellous. No expense has been spared in the preparation of the setting of the play and the company has been highly spoken of all along the line.

The Opera House looks well in its new decoration, and many new comforts have been provided for its patrons, who will appreciate them greatly.

Miss McCabe will re-open her Piano classes at her studio over the Peterboro Music Co.'s Store, on Tuesday Sept. 8th.

PLANTS TAKEN FROM GROUNDS

Last night some person or persons entered the grounds of Ashburnham school and stole a number of plants from the beds. The earth was smoothed over again, with the probable idea that the theft would not become known. Considerable pains have been taken towards the beautifying of these grounds, and it is to be regretted that there are people with such small natures. The matter has been reported to the police authorities.

The steamers Water Lily and Monarch will run their regular trips on Monday.

In Grenfell, Saskatchewan

Mr. Peter Gardner, now in the Atlas Elevator Co's service, Grenfell, Sask., and formerly secretary of the Conservative Club here, writes good accounts of the yield of grain in that neighborhood. There were some narrow escapes from frost, however. He was to have been down for 7th, but will now be down for September 27th. He says that a large number of people are coming in.

SPORTING NEWS

TYRUS COBB HAS QUEER NOTIONS—NOT POPULAR

Ty. Cobb, the brilliant Detroit Tiger, whom nature, according to most critics, has endowed with large calibre, natural ability and a small-bore mentality, will make few friends outside of Detroit by his definition of his rights as a base runner. None will deny that a base runner is entitled to the lines as far as actual interference goes, but for a player to openly declare that a player who happens to get in the way of his ready feet does so at his own peril—an impudent insult to the sport-loving public, which likes to see fair play. Everyone likes a winner, but there are ethics to be considered besides mere victory, and no action on the ball field can be more contemptible than the willingness to injure an opponent. Instances are frequent in both big leagues where players have avoided collisions which might have brought victory to their side, rather than risk injury to an opposing player. Hans Wagner, of Pittsburg, last year had Chance at his mercy in the base line on one occasion, and slowed up enough to be put out rather than bowl over the Cub leader on the path when the latter was in a position where injury would surely result from a collision. Plenty of other cases could be cited. But Cobb, according to his own notions, is a law unto himself, and he bears a bad reputation along the whole league circuit for his "ready feet." Lee Tannehill, of the Sox, who knows what spiking means, wears a special protection beneath his socks, with Cobb especially in view. President Ban Johnson, of the American League, is justified in warning Cobb, and if warning does not suffice, in taking other measures to protect American League players from this self-important young man. Manager Hugh Jennings' retort to Connie Mac's protest, accusing the Athletics of being yellow, is rather entertaining than otherwise, to those who remember what color the Tigers showed in the first world's series against the Cubs.

LIST OF EVENTS FOR THE HOWDEN-EASTWOOD TROPHIES

Events Will be Run Off at Riverside Park Next Saturday—Two Extra Races for Which Good Prizes Are Offered.

The committee in charge of the Eastwood-Howden Trophies events met at the Y.M.C.A. last night and completed arrangements for the meet, which will be held on Saturday, Sept. 11th, at the Riverside Park.

Great interest by the competitors was manifested in the meet last year and the competition was keen and brought out the best athletes in the city. This year the competition and the number of entries promises to exceed that of last year.

The winner of the Howden trophy will be the one who scores the highest number of points in the following events:—

1—100 yard dash.
2—200 yard dash.
3—1 mile.
4—Putting 12 pound shot.
5—Running high jump.
6—Running broad jump.

The Eastwood trophy events will be open to all under 18 years of age. The events are as follows:—

1—100 yard dash.
2—220 yards dash.
3—One-half mile.
4—Putting 8-lb. shot.
5—Running high jump.
6—Running broad jump.

In addition to the trophies valuable second and third prizes will be donated.

In addition to the above list, two other events will be put on. The first is a half-mile race, which is open, but the second, a 1-4 mile go, is limited to those under 18 years of age.

Good prizes will be offered, and entries close on Friday, September 10.

The present holders of the trophies are: Eastwood Trophy, Mr. Harry Munro; Howden Trophy, Mr. J. E. Crough.

RUGBY

According to a report, the senior section of the O.R.F.U. will consist of Peterborough T.A.A.C., Parkdale Canoe Club, and another western team not yet announced. There is some talk of Dundas coming into the Ontario organization, and if they do, the four-club circuit will be a good one. Peterborough will likely have a junior team again this year.

Wesley Wallace, a sailor, had his leg pierced by a 300 pound sword-fish off the Boston coast.

SPORTING NOTES

Although baseball is still in the tapis, and the Rugby season is yet to come and go, the hockey enthusiasts are already talking of the outlook for the great winter game in Peterborough in 1910. There was a good team here last season, and it was given good support. The club finished the season with a nice balance to the good, and thus is in a position to start the new year under better conditions than in many a past season. That there will be a good intermediate team here in 1910 is practically assured. The majority of last season's team will be in action, it is said, and there is some good new material to draw from. It is understood that several good players have located in the city since last season.

To-day's lacrosse N.L.U. matches are Toronto at Capitals, Tecumsehs at Cornwall.

Toronto went down a peg yesterday through losing to Baltimore, and Rochester recovered somewhat by a double win from Providence.

Cleveland and the Tigers played to a 1—1 score yesterday, Detroit using four twirlers. Strange made a great catch of Ball's short pop, and while lying on the ground doubled Peery off first.

The City League game billed to take place to-day was postponed this morning.

MAKING WIRE.

The Method of Rolling and Drawing the Iron Bars.

Bars of metal four inches square are heated and passed while hot and plastic through rapidly revolving rolls, reducing them to wire rods which vary from one-quarter of an inch to an inch or more in diameter, depending upon the finished size of wire wanted.

These rods, which are formed into coils as they pass through the rolls, are dipped in acid baths to remove loose scale and provide a lubricant for drawing. Drawing consists of pulling rods while cold through holes of gradually increasing diameter drilled in steel plates. During this process the particles of metal become elongated and strained, making the wire harder and more brittle. To restore it to a proper temper it is necessary to heat or anneal it.

When a fine diameter is required there must be repeated annealings and drawings. This may be done until the bar, which originally was four inches square and four feet long, becomes reduced to a diameter of a single thousandth of an inch and extended 13,000 miles in length. Before so fine a size is reached the wire will cut into the steel of the die plate, so the usual die plates must be discarded and the drawing continued through holes drilled in diamonds, the diameter of these diamond dies decreasing by fractional parts of a thousandth of an inch. This wire affords a striking illustration of a material made more valuable by the application of labor.

From the time the bar of metal enters the furnace nothing is added to it. All the work is done with one article, which is passed through rolls and drawn through die plates until it is finished.—Chicago Tribune.

MODERN MARTYRS.

Those Who Entertain, but Who Suffer While Doing It.

"In a periodical the other day," says the amateur philosopher of the Providence Tribune, "I ran across a picture of what had evidently been a musical entertainment or musicale—I took it to have been a musicale for choice.

"The fiddlers had gone, and so had the soloist or soloists and guests. There remained in the foreground the deserted room and a waste of empty chairs, along with the open grand piano.

"The host's head was resting on his arms on a table. The hostess had removed her shoes and was on the verge of collapse. In the background a butler was looking on commiseratingly.

"Now, there's a good deal of that sort of thing first and last the country over. It was true to life, but I never could understand it—that is, nobody has ever explained to me why people who don't enjoy entertaining or being entertained persist in making martyrs of themselves, why anybody does something for pleasure that invariably gives pain?

"A person who puts himself out and wears himself out in the line of duty is comprehensible, but why you should sacrifice yourself when you're pretending to be looking for fun is beyond me.

"The woman who said that her idea of a perfect life from the social point of view would be to be asked everywhere and to go nowhere doubtless expressed the sentiments of thousands, but why go anywhere if you feel that way?"

Corroded by Water.

In a German village an underground lead water pipe was found greatly corroded and perforated. Investigation showed that the soil in which the pipe had lain was permeated by very impure water and consequently contained large quantities of ammonia, ammonium nitrate and other compounds, which had attacked the lead pipe, forming lead carbonate, nitrate, nitrite and chloride. All of these lead salts, except the carbonate, are more or less soluble in water. The carbonate is insoluble in pure water, but is soluble in water containing carbon dioxide. Iron pipes coated with asphalt should be employed for underground conduits. If lead pipes are used they should be imbedded in asphalt.—Scientific American.

Learn to laugh. A good laugh is better than medicine. Learn to tell a story. A well told story is as welcome as a sunbeam in a sickroom. Learn to keep your own troubles to yourself. Even if you are a bedridden invalid there is always something that you can do to make others happier, and that is the surest way to attain happiness for yourself.—Exchange.

Calve's "Screaming."

I could talk for hours about my country and my own people. I am so fond of both. On my birthday many of them came in procession to see me and I danced what is called the "bourree" with them. They say such quaint things. An old woman once, hearing me sing, asked, "Doesn't it hurt you to scream like that?" A peasant once told me he was sure the proprietor of the grotto would give me 5 francs a day to sing there.—Calve in London Standard.

Grand Trunk Pacific Railway

During the past month a party of editors representing some of the most important agricultural papers in the United States have been touring Western Canada, and on reaching Winnipeg on their return trip from Edmonton over the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, wired Mr. Chas. M. Hays, president of the Grand Trunk Pacific at Vancouver, who is also in the west on a tour of inspection of the new line, in company with Sir Charles Rivers Wilson, president of the Grand Trunk Railway System and party, as follows:—

"We believe that every foot of the land traversed by the road is eminently adapted to grain growing, mixed farming, or the keeping of live stock, and that it must soon develop into a region of prosperous homes. We also unite in expressing our admiration of the high character and the completeness in construction of the road and road-bed, which must soon give the road high rank among transcontinental railway systems."

The party consisted of the following:—Prof. Thomas Shaw, of the 'Orange Judd Farmer' and 'Dakota Farmer,' St. Paul, Minn.; Herbert Quick, editor of 'Farm and Fireside,' Springfield, Ohio; John Arthur Dixon, managing editor of the 'Home Life,' Chicago, Ill.; Philip Eastman, editor of Capper publications, including, 'Nebraska Farm Journal,' Omaha, Neb.; 'Missouri Valley Farmer,' Topeka, Kan.; 'Farmers' Mail and Breeze,' Topeka, Kan.; 'Topeka Capital,' Topeka, Kan.; E. E. Faville, editor 'Successful Farming,' Des Moines, Iowa; E. S. Bayard, editor 'National Stockman and Farmer,' Pittsburg, Pa.; C. P. Reynolds, editor of 'Prairie Farmer,' Chicago, Ill.

The party was accompanied by Mr. Herbert Vanderhoof, editor of 'Canada West Monthly,' Winnipeg, Man., and Mr. R. C. W. Lett, travelling passenger and colonization agent, Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, Winnipeg.

Freight Hits Wagon.

Williamsburg, Sept. 4.—Nineteen persons were severely injured, two probably fatally, Thursday night, when the hay wagon in which they were being taken to a corn roast was struck by a freight engine at the St. Clair crossing of the Williamsburg branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Dorothy Henderson and Edna Snively of this place were caught in the upset wagon and dragged a great distance. Both were injured internally, and their condition is critical.

The seventeen others, all young women and men, were painfully cut and bruised.

Garage Collapses.

Brantford, Sept. 4.—Owing to building operations being conducted on Dalhousie street, by the Brantford Realty Co., the building known as the Brantford Garage collapsed at 7 o'clock last evening, burying five automobiles in the debris, including a new Russell car. An excavation next to the building it is thought caused the collapse, and the two employes, by good fortune were outside at the time. They had a narrow escape. The loss will be heavy.

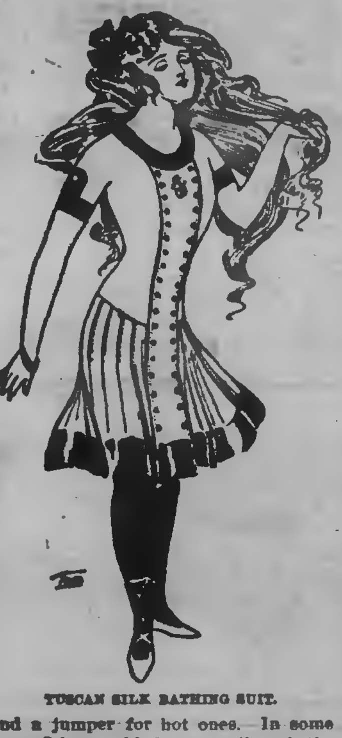
Summer Frocks Turned Out by the "Little Seamstress."

MODISH PIQUE FOUR-IN-HANDS

Fascinating Effects In Swiss Negligees. A Conservative Though Smart Bathing Suit—"Swish" Sticks For Seashore Board Walks

My Dear Elsa—For the last two weeks I have been up to my eyes in dressmaking. A "little seamstress," as the French call the undercrust of the couturiere class as distinguished from the great artists, has been here, making under my supervision some charming wash frocks. One is obliged this summer to have so many of these dresses, for it is going to be a muslin season, and is there anything more refreshing on a broiling day than a tub frock spick and span from the laundress? And in most of these frocks one's conscience is not troubled about the expense of doing them up, for the average home belle of the tubs can turn them out in fine form at short notice, as a number of the best styles are buttoned down the entire length of the front and open out in one solid piece like a sheet. You know the kind of one piece frock I mean that is so smart in linen and in the heavier wash goods. Several of my linen frocks have two waists, for you know how much longer a skirt keeps clean than a waist, and for this reason I have made two, a shirt waist for cool days and a jumper for hot ones. In some cases I have added a coat, though the fashion for top wraps of extra thin cloth has rather put the coat to the frock out of commission.



TUSCAN SILK BATHING SUIT.

As braiding is the keynote of almost every gown of the summer, I have developed soutache into all kinds of fanciful contortions. I am particularly happy over my success with a pale gray linen gown en princesse that has panels of braided white soutache that start under the arms, beginning at each side of the armhole and extending nearly to the knees. This is the very latest note in trimming arrangement, and I must tell you that the design is an Egyptian affair that looks intricate, but is nothing more than sharp pointed triangles placed close together—that is, as closely compact as they can be sewed together. To relieve the grayness of this gown there is a tiny touch of orange in the collar and about the cuffs, both of which have been braided. Worn with a big gray chip hat faced with orange and trimmed with shaded marigolds, I hope to outdo the queen of Sheba and make her glory pale into insignificance.

Another smart little gown I am sure you will be interested in is of natural colored pongee with a plaited skirt, one of the new models that are perfectly tight fitting and gored to the knees, where a kilted flounce finishes out the skirt. The waist is a Gibson affair and perfectly plain save for a fastening of brown satin covered buttons and simulated buttonholes made of the satin put on decidedly on the slant. Another new wrinkle that is appearing on coats and dress bodices and not alone is the satin button confined to unwashable materials, but seen on linens as well.

As we shall be spending one month of the summer at a Maine coast resort, I was obliged to have a new bathing suit. It is carrying coals to Newcastle to tell you that the one piece fad in gowns is repeated in bathing suits. This is a model becoming to a slender figure, giving a lithe, mermaid effect, unusually attractive. These suits, however, should be developed in inconspicuous materials and colors, although there is no doubt that we shall see them in startling effects on the beaches, for there are certain types of women who are not content unless they are the center of attention. My suit is of navy blue tuscan silk, a new variety that sheds water splendidly, and the only touch of color on the suit (I wonder whether white is a color) is the Dutch collar of Irish crochet lace. The effect of the white lace against the neck is very dainty and gives a distinctiv feminine touch to the pleture. The sash, which you will see in the sketch I am sending you, is another note introduced this season and is draped loosely about the waist and tied low at one side with short ends. I have the pattern of this suit if you would like to have it, and I think the kilted skirt with front panel and close fitting bodice would be becoming to your figure.

Blue silk stockings and white canvas shoes are to be worn with the bathing suit, and I have not quite decided what to wear on my head.

Perfectly sweet is the white swiss negligee which we have just finished. The swiss is fine and has a small dot. The negligee is made in two pieces, put together on one belt, which is covered by a broad sash of pale green satin. The coolest thing you can imagine! To be exact, the negligee is high waisted at the back, and the sash finishes at the left of the back with a large rosette and two long ends. The neck is open in V shape, and about it is a deep ruffle of lace (Valenciennes) and a bow of satin at the back. The tight elbow sleeves have deep ruffles of lace and bows of satin.

If you will listen a moment longer to a recital of the smart pique ties I have been making I will let you off from the dress subject. Pique four-in-hands are very smart this summer, and the fad is to wear them in violent contrast to the color of one's frock. I cut the pattern of mine from a tie of Dick's. The ends can be finished in any shape, but I prefer the oval outline edged with a tiny buttonhole scallop, in the center of which I put a small dot done in satin stitch. An oval medallion of dots I worked on the inner part of the ends with a few scattered dots above it reaching to the half inch projection. These ties can either be made double or turned back in a narrow hem and stitched on the machine in a color to match the embroidery. With my gray linen morning frock I am going to wear a four-in-hand in a bright green with dots of the gray cotton.

At Brighton Beach recently I came across several women who were carrying something resembling a riding crop. Upon asking the reason why I was told that they were the latest caper of fashion. So if you happen along the boardwalk while at some seashore place this summer and notice some smartly gowned young women twirling abbreviated canes that look like riding whips don't be surprised and imagine they are going on a canter. They are not. They are simply demonstrating the fad of carrying "swish" sticks. Sometimes this stick is gray, sometimes red or perhaps a walnuty brown. The top may be of horn, silver, or perhaps it will have a topaz, ruby or some gem sunk in a little silver cap just big enough to sparkle and yet not be conspicuous.

Mademoiselle it seems may find plenty of uses for one of these sticks, for she can use it as a riding crop or to keep her small pet in order when she takes "doggie" for a walk. It will hold her hat in place on a windy day, or she may simply carry it to afford employment for her little hands, but whatever particular use she has for the stick, serious or otherwise, if she wants to be down to the minute she'll have one. And so, I reckon, will you, but not yours devotedly.

Given Up To Die

No. 100 George St., Sorel, Quebec.

"I suffered from womb disease for seven years, with dreadful pains over the front of the body, over the back and down the legs. I had indigestion and chronic constipation and the constipation was so bad that I went sometimes for ten to fifteen days without any action of the bowels. I was ill in bed for one whole year. At one time I was so low that everyone thought I was going to die, and the last Rites of the Church were administered to me. I was treated by six different doctors without any benefit.

MADAME JOSEPH LIRETTE

Then I got a sample of "Fruit-a-tives," but I had no faith in them at all, and I would not have taken them only my husband begged so hard for me to try them. As soon as I began to take "Fruit-a-tives" I grew better, the bloating was relieved, the sleeplessness was cured, my stomach acted, and the bowels were moved, but above all the fearful womb pains were made easier.

I have taken eighteen boxes in all and I am now perfectly well again."

SENATOR FERGUSON IS DEAD

Passed Away at His Home in P.E.I. Last Night—Father of Mr J.H. Ferguson of This City

Mr J. H. Ferguson, manager of the local branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia, received the sad intelligence last night of the death of his father, Senator Ferguson, which took place at his home at Marshfield, Prince Edward Island. He had not been in the best of health for the past two years. His vitality became lower gradually and he sank quietly to rest. The late Senator Ferguson was well-known in Peterborough, and his death will be received with deep regret here. He visited his son here several times and made many warm friends by his quiet manner and many good qualities of head and heart. He addressed a meeting in St. Andrew's church last winter and also was one of the speakers at a meeting of the Peterborough Canadian Club at the National Hotel. Senator Ferguson had a long and useful public career, and was well known throughout the Dominion.

The late Senator Ferguson was of Scottish descent, and was born at East River, P.E.I., in 1839. He received his early training in the Public schools and by private tuition. He was for a short time collector of inland revenue. He was elected to the Provincial Legislature in 1878, and retained his seat till 1891, during which time he held the portfolios of Public Works, Provincial Secretary and Commissioner of Crown Lands. On retiring from the Government he contested Queen's for the House of Commons, but was defeated. He was appointed to the Senate in 1893, and entered the Cabinet of Sir Mackenzie Bowell without-portfolio the following year. He occupied the same position up to the retirement of the Conservative Government in 1896.

In 1873 he married Elizabeth Scott, of Charlottetown. To this union were born three sons and two daughters—Howard, manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, Peterborough; William, professor of Greek at Harvard University; Colin, actuary of the Great-West Life Insurance Co., Winnipeg, and two daughters, Helen and Cora, at home.

It is not likely that Mr. Ferguson of this city will be able to attend the funeral.

WHAT ARE THEY WORTH?

Are the eyes worth at least five hundred dollars per year to any man, woman or child? You would spend five dollars per year upon them if necessary, would you not? How much do they cost you? How much do you spend for your feet, your hats, your teeth, etc.? Some wait until they must see about their eyes and would give hundreds of dollars, but find it too late. Many parents bring their children that we may examine their eyes and see whether or not they need glasses. In childhood is the time to both remedy and prevent eye troubles. Again we ask what are your eyes worth to you and what to the child? We devote exclusive attention to the fitting of eyeglasses and artificial eyes.

PEARY SENDS MESSAGE THAT HE HAS REACHED THE POLE

Message Was Sent From Point in Northern Labrador—It Was at First Thought to be a Hoax, But Duplicate Messages Were Sent.

New York, Sept. 7.—Peary has reached the North Pole, though the details won't be known until the intrepid explorer reaches Chatham, Nfld., to-day.

The first announcement was flashed from Indian Harbor, Labrador, by wireless via Cape Bay and Port aux Basques, Nfld.; Canso, N.S., and New York, to the Associated Press, being received at 12.30 p.m., saying:

"Stars and Stripes nailed to the pole."

The despatch was duplicated to Reuter's News Agency, London.

The first belief that someone was attempting a hoax was dispelled when Herbert L. Bridgman, secretary of the Arctic Club, New York, received a private cipher message, saying:

"Pole reached. Roosevelt safe."

The Roosevelt was the vessel which the exploring party utilized for the expedition.

Another message to The New York Times said:

"I have the pole, April 9. Expect to arrive Chateau Bay, Sept. 7. Secure control wire for me there and arrange expedite transmission on big story.

A message to his wife at South Harpswell, Maine, said:

"Have made good at last. I have the old pole. Am well. Love. Will wire again from Chateau."

To this she replied: "All well. Best love. God bless you. Hurry home. (Sgd.) Jo."

Peary left Sydney, N. S., July 17, 1908, on the steamer Roosevelt, on his third attempt to reach the North Pole. His last remark as he went on board the steamer was that he expected to accomplish his purpose. He arrived at Cape York, Greenland, July 31. On Aug. 11 the Roosevelt was at Etah, which point he left Sept. 26. He had a good supply of Eskimo dogs and provisions.

The last information concerning Commander Peary indicated that he was on the polar ice north of Cape Thomas Hubbard, about 560 miles from the pole.

Peary's friends have for several weeks past been expressing a belief that he had already reached his goal and that the news was delayed only by the difficulties of transmission. The receipt of the massage at New York is taken to mean that the relief ship Jeannie, which left a month ago, has reached Etah, Greenland, and established communication with Commander Peary at that point. It is possible, however, that Peary sent word by a chance whaler.

In reaching the North Pole, Commander Robert Edwin Peary has achieved the ambition of a lifetime. As a boy his day dreams were of an unexplored land far to the northward and such printed matter concerning the polar regions as fell into his hands was read with absorbed interest. He was born at Cresson, Pa., May 6, 1856, but in his early youth the family removed to Maine. He graduated from Bowdoin College in 1877, and entered the United States navy as civil engineer, Oct. 26, 1881. Three years later he was appointed an assistant engineer on the board which surveyed the route of the Nicaragua Ship Canal.

In 1886 he was granted leave of absence to visit Greenland, on what proved to be the first of seven expeditions to the north, which challenged the admiration of the world, and brought unstinted fame. In 1906 he attained his farthest north.

Peary's expeditions have had scientific and geographical usefulness. He has won the medals of the American Geographical Society, the Royal Geographical Society of London, and the Scottish Geographical Society. In the navy he won the title of "commander." In 1903 he was made president of the American Geographical Society.

Commander Peary's domestic life has been so happy that absence from his family has been one of his greatest hardships. In 1888, two years after the return from his first visit to Greenland, he married Miss Josephine Diebitsch, who upon different occasions accompanied her husband for a considerable distance northward.

Upon one of these trips a daughter was born to them, who has always been called by her father "The Snow Maiden," and held for a time a notoriety rivalling that of the commander, as the only white child known to have been born within the Arctic circle.

In 1902, after Peary had been absent four years and hope of his arrival had been abandoned by many, Mrs. Peary accompanied a relief expedition which met and brought him home.

When asked if he would try again, he replied: "Undoubtedly. I have made my last attempt. My time is up and I am going back to my work in the navy."

However, the polar lust again gripped him. Funds were forthcoming, and his last and successful expedition may now be anticipated. In fact, it was announced more than a year ago that Peary had planned a national American expedition for the exploration of the south polar regions, but that his interest was only in getting it under way.

Cook Said "I am Glad."

Copenhagen, Sept. 7.—It is doubtful if history furnishes a more dramatic episode than the breaking of the news to Dr. Cook that Peary had realized the goal of his life's ambition and repeated struggles. Dr. Cook was seated at a dinner surrounded by explorers and correspondents in the gilded ballroom of the Tivoli Casina. Around his neck was hung a garland of pink roses, according to the Scandinavian method of honoring heroes, which the explorer wore blushingly and with visible embarrassment. Several speeches acclaiming him, had been given and repeated toasts to him drunk with clamorous cheers.

Amid this scene a whisper went around that Peary had planted the Stars and Stripes at the pole. Cook was perfectly cool and unmoved. He made a striking speech, in which he paid high tribute to the work of Sverdrup, who sat near, to whose discoveries he largely owed his success, to John R. Bradley, who had financed the expedition, to "the intelligence, endurance and faithfulness of the Eskimos who have assisted in the preparations and those who had accompanied him.

The whole story of the expedition, he said, has not shown and will not come out for some time; nor will it come in instalments, but only when it is completed.

Dr. Cook did not permit the whispers which came to his ear of Peary's success to move him in the least, but when he had finished he was surrounded by correspondents who looked for some sign of emotion, but the explorer said, smilingly, "I am glad."

ALLAN LINER LAURENTIAN ASHORE NEAR CAPE RACE

Sixty Passengers on Board Were Landed in Safety—The Accident Happened at Daybreak and During the Morning the Steamer Broke in Two.

St. John's, Nfld., Sept. 7.—The Allan line steamer Laurentian, from Boston, Sept. 3, for Glasgow, is a wreck off Cape Race.

The steamer ran ashore at daylight yesterday, in a dense fog, and Nos. 1 and 2 holds soon filled with water.

The 60 passengers were safely landed.

During the forenoon the steamer broke in two, which renders hopeless a chance of refloating her.

The Laurentian belongs to the Allan Line Steamship Co., Ltd., of Glasgow, and ran regularly between Boston and Glasgow. The steamer was 400 feet long, 42 feet beam and had a tonnage of 2,837. She was built at Greenock in 1872.

She was laden with flour in sacks and corn in bulk.

For the last three or four days the Nova Scotia and Newfoundland coasts have been enveloped in a thick curtain of fog. Her officers being unable to take any observations because of this, the treacherous current that swirl around the southwestern Newfoundland coast swept the steamer away inshore. When Capt. Imrie thought himself miles off the coast, the steamer was right in on the cliffs, and the first thing known of their position was when the vessel's bow crashed into the rocks.

Fortunately the sea was very calm and all the passengers and crew were taken off safely in the ship's own boats. Had there been any sea running, serious loss of life would have attended the wreck, as the cliffs are almost perpendicular, and to land through the surf there is almost impossible.

Originally she was the Polynesia, but some time after her launch she was rebuilt and re-engaged, and then her name was changed to the Laurentian. Originally she was queen of all the Allan Line, and made many fast passages across the Atlantic. In 1900 she conveyed the Royal Canadian Artillery from Halifax to the South Africa war, and made the fastest passage of any troopship between Canada and the Cape.

PROMINENT LAWYER DROWNED IN THE LAKE NEAR TORONTO

A. H. Marsh, K.C., Had Gone for Regular Evening Swim Half an Hour Later His Body Was Found Floating in the Water.

Toronto, Sept. 7.—Alfred H. Marsh, K.C., of the legal firm of Marsh and Cameron, 23 Toronto street, was drowned whilst bathing at Centre Island yesterday evening. The deceased gentleman, who was well-known throughout the city, resided at 164 Jarvis street, and had a summer residence at 3 Clandeboye avenue, Centre Island, at which latter address he had recently been staying with his family. At 6 o'clock yesterday evening he left home for a swim in the lake at the foot of Clandeboye avenue, a short distance away. Although there were a number of people about at the time and workmen were employed 50 feet away, nothing unusual was noticed until 6.30, when his body was seen floating up right in 12 feet of water, about 25 feet from the shore. A man named McEroy, in the employ of Miller and Cummings, brought the body ashore, and J. M. Whitfield of 104 Lake Front, applied the usual methods to restore animation, for half an hour, but without success. When a doctor arrived he pronounced life extinct. W. Marsh, who was 56 years of age, was a strong swimmer, and knew the water well at the spot where he met his death; in fact, it was a frequent practice of his to bathe there in the evening.

He is survived by his wife (nee Miss Proudfoot, daughter of the late Chief Justice Proudfoot), a sister, Mrs. Frank Roberts of Lake Charles, Louisiana, and five daughters, Miss Marion G., Ottawa; Mrs. Bessie M., Brewery, New York; Miss Jessie K., at home; Miss Louise, at St. Luke's Hospital, N.Y., and Miss Mildred, at home.

THIS LOOKS LIKE MURDER ; BODY FOUND ON TRACK AT GRAFTON IS IDENTIFIED

Cobourg, Sept. 7.—The body found on the railway track near Grafton on Sunday has been identified as that of Alex. Bunyon, who was for two weeks an employe of the Provincial Steel Co. of Cobourg. He left Saturday.

Provincial Detective Miller arrived yesterday and, due to his work, a vagrant, who had been arrested on principle, was identified as George Thornley, who escaped from Toronto Asylum several days ago. There are some stains on his clothing which may or may not be from blood. He was remanded until next Monday on the vagrancy charge. Detective Miller, in examining the man's apparel, concluded that he had been an inmate of some institution, and as he was plainly insane, the detective communicated with Supt. Clark of the asylum, and identified the man.

That Bunyon was not killed for robbery is evident as $8 was found in his pocket. A man, said to have been in his company lately will be hunted up.

Coroner Latta of Colborne opened an inquest yesterday which will be resumed next Monday. Meantime a post mortem will be performed to make certain that death was due to a bullet wound. There are some bruises on the man's forehead and his clothing was still wet with blood when he was found.

BOY SHOT BY DRUNKEN MAN NOT LIKELY TO RECOVER

Toronto, Sept. 7.—Johnny Kelly, a lad of 13 years, of 211 Lansdowne avenue, is lying at the point of death in the Hospital for Sick Children as the result of drunken dare-devilishness on the part of one of his companions. He was shot with a 22-calibre rifle while on a siding near the railway bridge beside the lower end of Lansdowne avenue at 2.30 yesterday afternoon.

The siding is apparently the rendezvous of a number of youths and men who are averse to work. According to boys who were there, eight men secured a keg of beer early yesterday morning and carried it, covered with a bag, to an empty box car on the siding. The crowd of boys went over and some of the oldest were given liquor. Among them were Gus Cullen, aged about 17, of 28 Wyndham street, and John Travers, aged 16, of 38 St. Clarens avenue. Cullen is the owner of a 22 calibre rifle.

At about 2.30 the Kelly boy said he was going home. With several of his boy friends he turned and walked away.

After he had got about fifty feet from the other group, Travers, who had the rifle, called after him, "If you go home, I'll kill you."

Kelly and his companions turned. When he saw Travers point the gun at him he stopped. The other boys ducked. Then Travers pulled the trigger and Kelly dropped.

The boys ran to his assistance and picked him up. They wanted to carry him home when they found he had been shot, but he would not let them.

"No, I don't want to be carried," he said. White-faced, and supported by his friends, he walked home.

Dr. J. H. McConnell of 625 Dundas street, was called in and he administered first aid. After examining the wound, he ordered the boy to be removed to the hospital.

Kelly was put under an anesthetic at the hospital and Dr. Charles B. Shuttlecock of East Bloor street removed the bullet. It was found that it had twice penetrated the small intestine and had finally lodged in the omentum. At first it was feared that it had passed through the kidney, as it entered the back near the kidney.

The doctors think he has but small chance for recovering.

SHOT WIFE FOR BURGLAR

Charleston, S.C., Sept. 7.—Mistaking her for a burglar, William A. Avent, a prominent planter of Georgetown County, Sunday night shot and killed Mrs. C. C. Bigham, who had accompanied her husband, a physician of Harpers, a small town in the same county, on a professional visit to Avant's home, "Sunnyside" plantation; on Murrel's Inlet.

Dr. Bigham and Mr. Avant were sitting on the front porch of Avant's home after supper when they saw in the darkness a figure pass the house and go towards a nearby creek. Not being answered when they hailed, they got a shot gun and followed. They saw the figure apparently crouch near the creek bank and hearing no reply when they called, Avant asked Dr. Bigham what he should do.

"Shoot it," said Bigham, it is alleged, and Avant fired both barrels at close range. Running back to the house they secured a light and returned to the creek bank to find Mrs. Bigham stretched there dead, the contents of both barrels having taken effect in her back.

"Ex." Visitor Run Down.

Toronto, Sept. 7.—Mrs. Sarah Gamble of Paris, Ont., an Exhibition visitor, was run down by a rig at College and Terauley streets at 4.30 yesterday afternoon and received a scalp wound.

She alighted from a car and walked in front of the rig, which was going at a fair rate of speed. She was taken to St. Michael's Hospital in the police ambulance.

Two Auto Guests Killed.

New York, Sept. 7.—A tire on the automobile of Wm. Hobby, a wealthy resident of Mount Vernon, burst yesterday while the machine was running at high speed, throwing the car over an embankment, killing two musicians employed in a hotel at City Island, whom Hobby was bringing home. Hobby and his chauffeur escaped with bruises.

IMMENSE CROWD AT TORONTO FAIR

Toronto, September 7.—The exhibition management were careful not to hazard a guess as to the numerical strength of the great army which invaded the Exhibition grounds yesterday, but the public made up for official silence by busily conjecturing all day long on the subject. The surmises covered a wide range, but the consensus of opinion among the more expert calculators was that the attendance was around the 150,000 mark.

That all the former records would be ruthlessly smashed to atoms was apparent early in the day. The disagreeable weather of Saturday, which kept thousands away, made it certain that with reasonably promising skies the human tide flowing toward Dufferin street would be greater than last year, when the Saturday of the opening week was favored with the best of conditions. Even without this circumstance the exhibition's natural growth would have guaranteed a new high record; as it was, a height was attained which will be difficult to surpass in 1910.

BOY WAS SHOT IN THE THIGH

Toronto, Sept. 7.—Claude Brownscombe, aged 12, son of Albert P. Brownscombe, of 2 Kensington avenue, was shot in the thigh while out near the Humber River yesterday afternoon.

A party of about a dozen boys went into the bush to spend the day. They took with them a 22-calibre rifle. Several of the older boys left the rifle standing against a tree, and one of the smaller boys picked it up. He tried to eject the shell, but operated the wrong mechanism, namely, the trigger. The cartridge exploded and the bullet lodged in Claude's thigh.

He was taken to Grace Hospital, where the x-rays will be put on him and the bullet extracted. It is not thought to be a serious wound.

SHOOTING ACCIDENT RESULTS IN DEATH

Clarence Hicks Shot by His Friend While Out Shooting Yesterday Afternoon — Shot Gun Was Accidently Discharged.

Another life has been sacrificed as the result of the accidental discharge of a firearm.

The victim of the accident is Clarence R. Hicks, son of Mr. Lorne Hicks, 30 Park street. The second party in the regrettable affair is Clifford Chapman, a brother-in-law of the dead man. It appears that the two men decided to spend the afternoon of the holiday yesterday, shooting, and both went off in the direction of Jackson's Park. Their wanderings finally brought them to a point near the Quarter line, immediately west of the park and on the Omemee road. Noticing a number of squirrels running about, Chapman decided to try a shot. As he was taking aim, the squirrel jumped out of sight, and as Chapman was in the act of lowering his shot-gun, his finger touched the trigger and the contents of the gun entered the left leg of Hicks, who for some reason or other had stepped a couple of feet in front of his friend. The shot entered the muscles, below the hip bone and tore the flesh in a horrible manner, and causing the loss of a great quantity of blood, which caused him to become very weak. Chapman immediately ran to a farmer's house for help, but unfortunately, everybody was absent. Soon after, however, he espied a number of men at work in a field who rushed with him to the scene of the accident and the injured man was taken to Tully's farm house. This was shortly after four o'clock. Word was sent to the city and an endeavor made to get the services of Dr. Scott, but he could not be found until after six o'clock. When notified he hurried to the farm house and the patient, after his injuries had been attended to, appeared to be in a satisfactory condition, but as the evening lengthened he took a turn for the worse and death resulted about eleven o'clock.

The victim of the sad calamity was about twenty-nine years of age and had for some time past been engaged at Collier and Cunningham's. He was a tool-maker by trade, and was well known in the city.

Fierce Lion Gentle With Innocent Tot

Pittsburg, Sept. 7.—Conah, the most feared lion at the Highland Park zoo caused wild excitement when Lena Meik, three-year-old, placed her hand in the savage monster's cage and he jumped toward the baby. Women screamed and keepers stood stupefied for an instant when they say the lion affectionately licking and pawing the hand of the little girl.

The animal several years ago killed three of his guards and later a woman.

New Mount Blanc Record.

Geneva, Sept. 7.—Walter S. Bond of New York has climbed Mount Blanc from Chamonix in nine hours. He thus breaks the record of nine hours and a half, made by Morehead, an Englishman, in 1865. Mr. Bond has had mountain climbing experiences in the Rockies and the Andes.

Lynched For Brother's Crime.

Clarksdale, Miss., Sept. 7.—Unable to get their hands upon a negro, McDaniels, who is alleged to have shot and killed a policeman in a raid on a crap game on Saturday night, and who was captured by a posse at Duncan, Miss., a mob of hundreds of citizens caught McDaniel's brother, Hiram, at midnight and lynched him, stringing him up to a telegraph pole on the spot where young Marshall fell dead after being shot.

FORTY-EIGHT YEARS SINCE THEY LAST SAW EACH OTHER

Lieut. Col. Miller Had Not Seen His Sister Since August 31st, 1861 Till She Arrived Here on Wednesday of Last Week.

When Lieut.-Col. J. W. Miller, of this city, left his home at Rockport, New York State, on August 21st, 1861, to fight for the North against the South in the American civil war, he said good-bye to a sister from whom he was destined to be a long time parted. The colonel was then a barefooted boy, and the sister referred to was several years older. When he returned home after the war, he found that his sister had left for California. He came to Canada and located in Peterborough. On Wednesday of last week, the sister (she is now Mrs. John Murphy, of San Francisco, Cal.) arrived in Peterborough on a visit to her two brothers, Col. J. W. Miller, and Mr. William Miller. This was the first time Col. Miller had seen her since the 21st of August, 1861. Mr. William Miller saw her three or four years ago, when he was on a trip to California.

Mrs. Murphy is accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Gottschalk, and will spend several days here.

It was forty-eight years on the 21st of August since brother and sister had seen and spoken to each other.

KEEN RIVALRY BETWEEN ROADS

Vancouver, B.C., Sept. 7.—Engineering parties, representing the Canadian Northern and the Grand Trunk Pacific, are engaged in a neck and neck race to locate their respective routes in the vicinity of the summit, between North Thompson and Fraser River, northern British Columbia. Conditions for securing the minimum grade were found to be excellent.

The elevation at the summit is only 2,886 feet. The Canadian Pacific is very active on the lower Fraser River, having connected the line between Lytton and Yale, comprising the famous canyon. Another party is busy running location along north Thompson between Lytton and Kamloops. The Grand Trunk Pacific has so far done no work on this side of Kamloops.

It is expected that the end of the war will see the Canadian Northern line located between Edmonton and Vancouver, with every likelihood of construction work being started early in the spring.

HIS SKULL MAY BE FRACTURED

Toronto, Sept. 7.—On the way from the Exhibition last night Charles Swales of 9 West Murray street, Hamilton, was jerked from a car at the corner of Simcoe and King streets, and badly injured.

At Simcoe street Swales stood up before the car had stopped. It came to a standstill with a jolt, caused by the motorman throwing on the air-brakes full forces. Swales was not hanging on and consequently was thrown forward to the pavement on his face. He was picked up in an unconscious condition and removed to St. Michael's Hospital in the police ambulance.

He was accompanied by his wife.

Six stitches were put into the scalp wound. It is not known yet whether his skull was fractured or not. The doctors think his injury will not prove serious, though he is suffering from shock.

Sales Doubling Every Six Months

Wonderful Demand for a Wonderful Remedy.

During the past few years, the sales of "Fruit-a-tives" have doubled every six months. For the six months from January to July of this year, the sales of this popular medicine were more than twice greater than for any similar period since "Fruit-a-tives" was introduced to the public.

The National Drug & Chemical Company of Canada Limited, the largest wholesale drug house in the world—Lymans Limited of Montreal — and Lymans Brothers of Toronto — are buying "Fruit-a-tives" in 100 gross lots. 100 gross mean 14,400 boxes, which retail for $7,200.00. This gives some idea of the steady demand for these wonderful fruit liver tablets.

It is safe to say that "Fruit-a-tives" is on sale in every drug store and in departmental stores and general stores carrying medicines throughout the Dominion. Nor is the sale of "Fruit-a-tives" confined to Canada. In many parts of the United States, "Fruit-a-tives" is the standard family medicine and hardly a day passes that the Fruit-a-tives Company does not receive prepaid orders from our neighbors over the line.

The many testimonials, which have been published in the leading papers, are the most convincing evidence of the great value of "Fruit-a-tives".

DULL DAYS

Dull days in August and a shower of rain are not unwelcome. If the rain is needed it is double welcome. Fine weather day after day gets on the nerves. Our vital functions are kept active on the principle of reagency. Reaction is the joy of life. If it was not for the dull and occasionally sad days of life we should not appreciate the bright days. In some countries the weather is always bad, as we should call it. An ordinarily fine day, according to our standard, then becomes a "pet" day, as they say in Ireland. But it is all in the way you have been brought up. The Eskimo with Dr. Cook, thought the journey to the pole was a veritable picnic. Those of them who have come to lower latitudes have pined to get back again. The opportunities for rambling and drinking in the world's loveliness and for musing upon Nature and man's relation to the Creator come to one at this season of the year with a smile and a beauty all their own. We should bear patiently all we suffer and be thankful for life short of one of actual suffering. It may be a riddle, but it is not a dream.

A TRUST OF NATIONS

Would it not be feasible to have a trust of nations? Then we would have all countries, great and small, getting down to work on a business basis, instead of trying to do each other up in the way of commercial rivalry. Companies that now rival the beasts of prey in savagery would sink down into the placid quietude of a mid-summer night when "merged" or put into the form of a trust. There is no reason why this should not be the case with companies of nations. It is true that it is almost wholly business rivalry in the one instance, while racial rivalry is added to it in the other. But even that aggravating circumstance could be overcome if it were found to be to the real business interest of nations to keep quiet and behave themselves. If the warring steel-trades and the different centres of finance can pool their interests and their profits the way they have done it is surely up to the nations of the world to form a grand alliance, trust, merger, or what not, with a view to the better ordering of the world, and the peace, happiness and prosperity of humanity.

WILD DUCKS ON RICE LAKE

By M. W. G. Purser.

The duck shooting season of 1908 at Rice Lake was exceptionally good. This lake, which was visited by Champlain in September 1615, is quite romantic, is rich in legendary lore and abounds in scenic splendor. It is about twenty-eight miles long and some three miles across, and is situated midway between Cobourg and Peterborough. It is fed by the Otonabee and Indian rivers, is drained by the Trent river, and is one of the Kawartha chain. It is thickly dotted with islands, among which are: Stony, Grape Island No. 1, Long, Crow, Tick, Ghost, Black, Sheep, Sugar, Potash, Long Point, Sugar Island No. 2, Rack, White's, Grape Island No. 2, Balsam (Hickory), Foley, Otonabee, Alnwick and Margaret's. The last named island, which is situated near the foot of of the lake, calls up in its name a pathetic bit of local history. It appears that this island is named after Miss Margaret McIntosh, who was drowned near it in January, 1822. She and her father were crossing on the ice from the north to the south shore and both were drowned near the island which bears the lady's name. The lady in question was a connection by marriage of the late Thomas Bissard, M.P.P.

The islands afford many a point of vantage for the duck hunter, who, concealed in his hide with about forty decoys placed twenty-five or thirty yards from shore, experiences rare sport.

Two of these islands, namely, Sugar and Foley, are owned by the Indians, who are of the Mississauga tribe and have reservations in the vicinity at Hiawatha and Alderville. They are frequently met with and wage an incessant warfare against game and fish. So persistent have they been that they have almost depleted the maskinonge. In the autumn these Indians harvest the rice, which grows in abundance and offers great attractions to the ducks on their migrations southward from northern waters at the time when the Ice King begins to assert his supremacy. It is at this period that the knight of the gun is in his element and has great success bagging the newly-arrived birds, but after these flocks have been shot at they become very wary, will not easily decoy, and generally gather in large numbers in open water, where they are out of harm's way. The flocks are sometimes acres in extent, and when disturbed rise with a noise resembling thunder.

In the Indian tongue Rice Lake is called Peme-dash-cou-tay-ong, meaning "burning plain." It appears that it was the custom in the early days to keep a certain tract of land burnt over in order to facilitate securing of game. The Indian name for duck is she-sheeb. A black duck is called anin-shib.

The following are the kinds of wild ducks seen at Rice Lake, in the order of frequency, beginning with those that are most numerous: Bluebill, redhead, whistle-wing, black, goosander, hooded merganser, canvasback, teal, wood, butter-ball, mallard, pintail, ruddy, American widgeon and gadwall or grey.

During the season of 1907 an American widgeon was secured at Rice Lake and during the season of 1908 one drake canvasback and one mallard were secured, these being the only two of the kinds in a bag of sixty ducks, which may give some idea of their rarity.

The ducks mentioned in the foregoing are as dissimilar in the matter of characteristics as are the different peoples who inhabit the globe.

The bluebill is known as the American scaup. It is a very active duck, will dive at the flash of a gun, and will remain submerged for a long time. The redhead is also a good diver.

The whistle-wing is also called the American golden-eye, but the first name is the one by which it is best known at Rice Lake. This name is given it on account of the whistling sound made by its wings in rapid flight, which sound often heralds its approach before it is in sight. It is an active duck in the water, rapid flier, and generally pursues its course high in the air.

The black duck's quack resembles that of the mallard.

Of the hooded merganser it may be said that the male can rise and lower his crest at will. When he is excited he will rapidly open and shut it, like a lady might a fan.

The canvasback sometimes weighs four pounds. This duck increases the difficulty of securing it by diving when wounded and swimming out of range. As a table bird this variety is esteemed beyond all others.

Teal generally appears in flocks of about a dozen, and it is said that a single bird or two or three may be found in a flock of mallards, but the Rice Lake sport never has an opportunity of verifying the statement.

The wood may be styled the summer duck of Rice Lake, and only one or two pairs may be found in a locality. I was somewhat surprised when I first heard of its propensity for nesting in the hollow of a tree which characteristic it has in common with the hooded merganser. As to my notion the proper place for a duck to nest is on the ground, which was based on previous experience.

The butter-ball is also called the buffle-head, dipper, spirit duck, etc. The Indians call it the spirit duck, and its names have their origin in the rapidity with which it can submerge itself. Like the canvasback, this duck is found exclusively in North America. The buffle-head is ever on the alert, and like the bluebill, will dive at the flash of a gun. It may remain under the water for a considerable time. It is very rapid in flight, and when it alights in the water there is generally a splash. It can take to the wing from the water more easily than most ducks, and in this respect it resembles the loon, a bird that is occasionally seen at Rice Lake.

All our domestic ducks trace their descent to the mallard. It feeds in shallow water, by tipping up, on mollusks, grasses, etc.

The pintail is a timid duck, a vigorous swimmer, an exceptionally good flier and rather a poor diver, consequently it gets its food by reaching the bottom without submerging itself.

The ruddy duck is found exclusively in North America. It is called also the bumble-bee, coot, broad-bill, dipper, bull-neck and bristle-tail, these names having their origin in some characteristic. It is quite an active bird.

The American widgeon's head has a bald appearance, due to white feathers at the top, from which fact it has received the name baldpate. For table use this duck is esteemed almost as highly as the canvasback.

The gadwall or grey feed early in the morning or after dusk. For activity and noise they have no equal.

All of the ducks mentioned in the foregoing will decoy, but the bluebills decoy best of all. Next to these should be classed the butter-balls, and late in the season the whistle-wings.

Bluebills, redheads and canvasbacks are often found flocking together.

The mallard, teal, black duck, widgeon and pintail feed as domestic ducks. They help themselves to the celery which has been pulled up by the diving ducks.

The following breed locally on the lake: Black, wood, teal, merganser and mallard.

At Rice Lake large flocks of ducks are often noticed flying from east to west in the morning and from west to east in the evening. Small flocks, not larger than seven or eight, fly in different directions. It may be said that wild rice is the common food of these ducks.

Some of the ducks mentioned in the foregoing are destined to become extinct, like the great auk or dodo or the Labrador duck. This latter bird disappeared about 1875, and only a few specimens have been preserved by the taxidermist.

As I stated at the outset, there was good shooting at Rice Lake, but the season did not open under such favorable auspices. On September 1, when legal restrictions were removed, there were more sports than birds. Most of the sports would come under the category of novices and they wasted plenty of ammunition with but little result.

A duck is not the easiest game to secure, and it requires considerable experience and good tact and judgment to be an expert duck hunter. The hide on the shore, and even the garb of the sportsman should thoroughly harmonize with the natural environment as to color. It should ever be borne in mind that, in a flock of say twenty ducks there are forty eyes ever on the alert to discern the least irregularity that betrays the presence of the man with the gun.

Moreover, it is difficult to get the birds to come within reasonable range. They are much harder to kill than partridges, which bird can be readily killed at a distance at which a duck's feathers prove to be impervious to shot. The breast feathers afford quite an armour, even at close range. If, however, the sportsman is fortunate enough to have the flock fly over his head and can discharge both barrels into it he may look for surprising results.

The best shot is No. 4 or 5, and a good gun properly loaded with it will bring a duck down often at sixty-five yards.

Of course there are guns that will do good execution at a longer distance. For instance, two well-known sportsmen, one of whom ranks as one of the crack shots of the lake, had their decoys out one morning, when a couple of black ducks came in sight. After considerable waiting it was decided that they would not come within reasonable range, and both men gave them the contents of their double-barrels at seventy-five yards. The result was that the ducks dropped, only wounded, and only one was secured after eight shots had been fired, the other rising and flying away.

In conversation with a gentleman who annually goes to Rice Lake for his shoot, I gleaned from him that he is much opposed to the new restricting the shooting of ducks from hides in rice beds. He says there were large flocks, acres in extent, out in the middle of the lake. If the law were changed one would be able to secure some of the ducks. The flock would be disturbed, and there would be better shooting from the points on the islands and the mainland. He thinks the law may be all right where islands are close together and there is not an open expanse of water, but on Rice Lake he favors petitioning for a change.

This same gentleman in unbosoming as to some of his experiences, asserted that the novices had a great deal to learn, and I think if he had his way they would all be banished from the lake. His ground of complaint lies in the fact that they blaze at ducks almost any distance from them, and only succeed in frightening them and making them wary of the points. He went on to say that when a duck is flying with the wind it appears to be much closer to the novice than it really is. If the bird intends to alight, it will turn and come against the wind and be much closer. —Rod and Gun.

HUNTERS

Something About Moose and Deer

It is now pretty well known among hunters that the best deer hunting country in Ontario is on the line of the Canadian Northern Ontario and that hunters receive special attention. Mr. C. Price Green, Passenger Agent of the line is a hunter himself who goes right with the parties and looks after them, in fact he located most of them. This year the line will be opened north of Sellwood into the midst of the Moose Country, they are reported very thick, the Engineers say that they have never seen anything like it, the Moose season up there opens October 15th, fifteen days before the Deer. We have something special on a new place that will take three parties of deer hunters.

CONSTABLE AT HAVELOCK HAS BUNCH OF DUTIES

Besides Being Village Constable He is Street Foreman Tax Collector, Sanitary Inspector and Town Hall Caretaker—Railway Village Has Recovered From Big Fire of Year Ago.

Special to the Review.

Havelock, Sept. 6.—August 26th was the anniversary of the great fire of a year ago, that, within a very short time wiped out $40,000 worth of property and left a large cleared space on George street, where the day before a very large business section was situated. It was thought that it would be a great drawback to Havelock, but the village has recovered and is going ahead as before. On the scene of the fire Mr. S. S. Joyce has erected a large double store, while A. E. Barret & Co., have built a much larger general store as has Coon & Chibar, in whose building Mr. James Fowler has also situated his jewellery shop, the Standard has also rebuilt and have a larger and better equipment than ever. As the result of the fire Mr. James Thompson has erected a double store in which McGregor's bakery and McKay's tailoring establishment is situated. There are very few towns that in such a short time would recover from such a disastrous fire.

The local train running between Tweed and Toronto is scheduled an hour late running east during the Toronto Exhibition. The noon train is run in two sections as is also the west afternoon train, one section coming from Montreal and the other from Ottawa.

The electric lights were out for a short time on Tuesday evening causing a little inconvenience, but matters were quickly fixed up.

NOTES OF THE DAY

A. J. Nixon, of London, has been appointed chief of the new branch of the Railway Commission.

Sir William White, K.C.B., F.R.S., speaking at the Canadian Club of Winnipeg, on Britain's naval supremacy, said the recent German scare was unnecessary, undignified and contrary to national character. Britain's present position was quite secure, and would be secure for the next three years.

Sir James Whitney, Mr. Curry and Mr. Davidson, while fighting the fire in the Legislative Building, Toronto, had a narrow escape from death. A falling beam crushed the Premier's hat, and the two latter were knocked down and badly bruised.

POULTRY TRAP NESTS.

Easily Constructed and Warranted to Give Good Satisfaction.

The illustration marked A represents a trap nest constructed by students in the poultry course at the Pennsylvania State college. It is made out of an orange box.

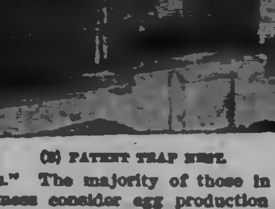
All that is required to make these trap nests are a frame and tilt, as shown in the figure. The tilt is balanced. On the hen entering the nest at the rear of box her back touches the tilt, which drops forward and confines her till released. This trap nest gives good satisfaction and can be made very cheaply. "Ideal" trap nests, shown in figure marked B, have also been used and found quite satisfactory. They have the advantage of occupying small space.

(A) TRAP NEST MADE OF ORANGE BOX.

When one is anxious to build up a certain strain of birds, either for egg production, special, fancy or exhibition stock, the trap nest, if looked after, will show which hens lay and which hens lay certain eggs, thus enabling the breeder to know exactly what he is doing. They require considerable time in the way of keeping records and releasing the hens after laying.

Each hen has her own individuality. Certain hens lay eggs that are nearly always hatchable. Some hens lay well. Their eggs are nearly always fertile, but will not hatch either under hens or in incubators. The chicks will develop to a certain size, often fully formed, but die in the shell. A few hens lay eggs that are seldom fertile.

In selecting birds one has several objects. The saying is often heard that "the hen that lays is the hen that pays." The majority of those in the business consider egg production the best end of the business. It is often the surest. There is much less risk attached to it. Then if the production can be increased from five to ten eggs a hen per year you are doing a good business. The average hen does not produce over eighty eggs a year. At the Maine station, where the trap nest system has been in use some years, the record last year was between 125 to 140 eggs per hen, which shows a considerable gain over previous years.



(B) PATENT TRAP NEST.

New Land For Fruit.

Fruits of all kinds do well upon cleared woodland, provided, of course, that the location and mechanical condition of the soil are suitable. But it is not wise to plant trees on such land until it has been thoroughly plowed and is in a condition to be conveniently cultivated. In planting an orchard upon stumpy land stumps should not be allowed to remain in proximity to the newly set trees. The stumps will not only interfere with cultivation, but greatly endanger the trees by bruises from horse or plow.

Among small fruits the strawberry thrives especially well on recently cleared land. Upon such soil it makes a most satisfactory growth and fruitage, and much less labor is required to keep the weeds and grass down, as the ground is not impregnated with foul seed. This immunity of new ground, compared to old land, from weed and grass infestation is a most important factor not only in strawberry culture, but in all gardening or trucking operations.

Creating a Food Supply.

Burbank has estimated that a single kernel of grain added to each sheaf of wheat grown would be sufficient to supply the navy of a civilized country. It is well known that he has done more than this. He has in most of his products generally doubled their production. In this connection what makes his cactus immensely valuable to the stockman is that it can be grown and need not be used for fodder for two or three years and when cut is just as good as ever.

Setting Posts.

Any timber will last quite well if set in this way: Dig a square hole about a foot deep, throwing the dirt well back. Sharpen the post and drive well into the bottom. Then put a flat stone against each side and a chunk against the post, the boards holding it the other way. This prevents their rotting off at the surface of the ground, as they always do.

The cigarettes manufactured in Canada last year totalled 356,189,380, a decrease of 28,304,667.

FRESHNESS OF FOOD.

Simple Scotch and English Methods For Preservation Explained.

Consul Maxwell Blake, writing from Dunfermline, says of the simple methods used in Great Britain to keep fruit and eggs fresh:

"A correspondent in Stirlingshire writes me that he has recently conducted some successful experiments in reference to the packing of fruit for transit without the aid of refrigeration, his method being simply to pluck the fruit at height of sun, to avoid all adhering dampness, and immediately pack in prepared cases containing granulated sugar. Care must be taken that the sugar utilized for the purpose is also quite devoid of moisture, and the cases should be so constructed as to be as nearly as possible impervious to atmospheric vapors. Both the sugar and the cases, as may be inferred, should be designed for and admit of constant reuse.

"The great fluctuation in the price of fresh eggs in Great Britain, ranging from 15 cents a dozen in summer to from 60 to 75 cents a dozen in winter—and produced with difficulty even then—gives popularity to the economical practice of artificially preserving them during the cheap season, the most successful method employed by the householder being as follows:

"'Mix together in an earthenware jar nine parts of boiled water, which has been thoroughly cooled, and one part of glass water. Glass water is obtained by fusing two parts of quartz sand with one of sodium carbonate, adding one-tenth part of small coal. Place the cool cleaned eggs into a jar and cover well with the liquid, continually adding sufficient liquid to keep the eggs entirely covered as others are added. Water glass can be purchased in this country from chemists and generally bears on the labels the exact proportion to be used, varying from 3 to 10 per cent. Eggs preserved in this way are less brittle in the shell than those preserved in limewater and will sometimes boil without cracking if a small pin point aperture is made in them.'

"The proportions used for the lime preservative in Scotland are twenty gallons of water, four of lime and one of salt. Allow to stand for a few hours, then pour it over the eggs in the same way as the water glass. A little lime should be added from time to time during the period of preservation; otherwise the solution will lose its strength. The eggs preserved in this way become rough and brittle and must be handled carefully when taken out for use.

"The popular method of preserving eggs by cold storage in the United States is not at all general in this country, and it is rather surprising that more has not been done along these lines.

"When eggs are only required to be preserved for two or three months they keep very well packed in dry salt or bran. The meat of the egg may shrink and rattle within the shell when shaken, but its edibility is not impaired. Coating the egg with vaseline or butter will also keep it for a short time, or any application which effectively seals the pores of the shell and excludes air will prolong the freshness of eggs. If it is even momentarily submerged in boiling water the albuman thereby becomes sufficiently coagulated to prevent the entrance of air."

Meal For Hogs.

The following meal mixture for hog feeding is recommended by a contemporary: Oats, finely ground, 50 per cent; barley, finely ground, 20 per cent; shorts, 20 per cent; oilmeal, 20 per cent.

Poultry Pointers.

A cellar cave is the best place for the incubator if it is operated in hot weather.

Even with but a few birds it is worth while to use trap nests and know which ones are paying their board.

Bath water in abundance is as good for ducks as dust bath for hens. Breeding ducks especially should be amply provided.

Encourage the fowls to follow the plow when breaking the sod. They will pick up many worms and bugs that would otherwise injure the crop planted and convert them into eggs.

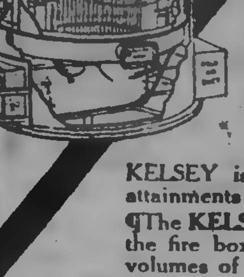
More careful attention should be given to the dressing, packing and shipping of poultry on the farm than is generally done. Uniformity is one great thing with market poultry, and generally the most salable is the medium sized bird having a plump and shapely body.

Young turkeys are very delicate and must be handled very carefully in order to raise a good percentage of the brood. They are better cared for when away from the older birds than with them, since the older ones are such inveterate wanderers that many of the little ones are lost.

Plenty of exercise is necessary for little chicks, but it is not best to allow them to run in the tall grass before the dew has dried away. They should be kept in the coop until after 8 a. m.; then they can be turned out and allowed to run. If it is not desirable to allow the hen to run, stretch a long wire and tie the hen to a ring, so she can pass from one end of the wire to the other.

Not more than forty hens should be kept in run. Thirty would do much better. The larger the flock is the sooner they clear off the surface food. During the spring and summer, where fowls have the free range of the farm, there is plenty of room for a large flock, but when fowls are limited to their runs the flocks must be smaller. Unless other conditions are supplied a large flock will eat up the profits.

The excise revenue of Canada for the last fiscal year totals $15,046,459, a decrease of $929,073.



KELSEY
HEATING
Is your home warmed satisfactorily? If not, the chances are that it will pay you to discard the old apparatus entirely and replace it with a KELSEY.
The principles of hygienic heating and fuel economy are better understood now than when thousands of heaters in use were built. The KELSEY is the embodiment of the highest attainments of heating engineering.
The KELSEY Zig-Zag Heat Tubes of which the fire box is formed and by which greater volumes of air are warmed and FORCED to every part of the house than is possible in any other heater, saves you enough in coal bills to more than pay for the change, to say nothing of the comfort of having your house kept at just the right temperature from top to bottom all the time. Let us prove it to you.

REGIMENT WAS ROYALLY ENTERTAINED AT PERTH

Officers Received Splendid Reception From Citizens—Regiment Attended Divine Service Sunday Morning at St. James's (Anglican) Church—Bugle Band Held Cooks' Parade—Officers Were Guests at Garden Party Yesterday.

The 57th regiment returned to the city from Perth this morning at three o'clock, after having spent two very pleasant and enjoyable days in that town. The citizens and officials of the place never tired of endeavoring to do their utmost to make the visit one to be remembered, and their kindness at all times was a subject for much favorable comment on the part of the officers and men alike. The town was virtually given over to the visitors, and nothing was too good for them. There was no big display of decorations nor steamers announcing the fact that the town is yours, paint it red. Everything was done quietly, and in such a manner that all were made to feel right at home. Mayor Hall and Capt. de Hertel were busy men from the time the train pulled into the station to the time of its departure, which came all too soon. Both gentlemen were untiring in their efforts to please the guests of the occasion, and their many kindnesses will not soon be forgotten.

The regiment arrived in Perth at 3.30 o'clock Sunday morning, and was escorted to their quarters at the exhibition grounds. Here splendid accommodation and every convenience was found, and it was not long before the camp was in slumberland.

CHURCH PARADE

The weather in the morning although disagreeable, showed signs of a change for the better, and by the time the companies were given the order to fall in, Old Sol was shining brightly upon the scene below. Shortly after 10.30 the regiment, headed by both bands, left the grounds and marched to St. James' Anglican church, there to attend divine service. On the line of march the citizens were represented in large numbers, and the general appearance of the regiment and the music of the two bands appeared to meet with their approval. The large edifice was comfortably filled when the service, which proved to be of an interesting character, commenced. The morning lesson was read by Rev. Canon Davidson, and the rector of the church, Rev. Canon Muckleston, preached a splendid sermon, taking for his subject, "A good soldier of Jesus Christ." Before proceeding, however, he welcomed the regiment to the church and the city, and stated that he wished their stay would be a pleasant one. In the discourse which followed he appealed to the men to be manly men, and make endeavor to keep their lives pure and clean. In doing this each would be following in the footsteps of Christ, in whose life purity and manliness held sway over everything else, even when His friends forsook Him. At the conclusion of the service, the regiment marched back to the exhibition grounds and were dismissed for the day.

BAND CONCERT

In the afternoon at four o'clock a concert was given by the 57th band, at the exhibition grounds. A platform had been erected for the use of the members of the band in front of the large grandstand, which was filled with a very appreciative audience. Many who were unable to secure a seat in the grandstand, promenaded the grounds and listened to the splendid programme, each number of which they heartily applauded and frequently encores had to be given before the crowd would be quieted. The numbers on the programme were as follows:—

March—Semper Fidelis.
Overture—Poet and Peasant.
Scotch Patrol—Wee McGregor.
Song—Sweet and Low.
Euphonium Solo—by Bandsman Ed. Cronk.
Selection—Old Folks at Home.
March—Religioso No. 2.
Humoresque—Old Settlers on Parade.
Intermezzo—Rainbow.

The Town Hall, Perth

Sunday evening the officers of the regiment were the guests of Capt. and Mrs. and Mrs. Matheson.

ADDRESS OF WLECOME.

On arrival at the City Hall, during a parade of the entire regiment Monday morning, an address of welcome was read by Mayor Hall, on behalf of the citizens of the town. It was as follows:—

To Lieut.-Col. Stevenson, officers and men of the 57th regiment, Peterborough Rangers.

On behalf of the citizens it gives me great pleasure to welcome you to our town. On a former occasion we had the honor of your presence and we are pleased to see you here again. We are grateful to think that the old town of Perth has been again selected for another visit by the Peterborough Rangers. Some people say that Perth is an ancient town. We claim it to be even older than Ottawa, the present seat of the Government. I trust that the officers and men will thoroughly enjoy themselves during their visit here and I assure you all that the citizens of Perth appreciate the honor the regiment has conferred upon them in making this town the object of a second visit. I again welcome you and in doing so extend to you the freedom of the town. At the conclusion, hearty cheers were given by the regiment.

CAPT. F. W. HALL,
Mayor of Perth.

In the afternoon a large number of the regiment took advantage of the trip down the Rideau canal to Rideau Lake, on the invitation of the Mayor and the citizens. Two boats were furnished and the trip was greatly enjoyed.

COOK'S PARADE.

There have been many cook's parades, but for originality and fun, the one put on by the members of the Bugle Band yesterday afternoon was the limit. It caused more laughs than a circus would, and each of those taking part made a decided hit, their make-up being excellent. Space will not permit of full justice being done this performance, but the following list of those who took part and the characters each represented will give the reader an idea of what took place. Wm. Sharpe, Zulu Chief, (Cyboshi); G. Telford, Policeman; A. Rae, Washwoman; W. Fitzgerald, Clown; G. East, German; P. White, Dutchman; A. McWilliams, Clown; T. Sarginson and F. Miles, Giraffe; M. Drysdale, Dutchman; N. Dunsford, King of the Desert; J. Seymour, Topsy (fancy roller skating); A. Rae, Irish Woman; B. Miles, Policeman; H. Staunton, Highlander; R. Smith, Weary Willie; W. Gross, Miss Catharina; Al. Spenceley, Coon Trainer; W. Godfrey, Red Riding Hood; J. Minnicolo, Musician; W. Armstrong, Miss Fidgety; O. Wareham, Flower Girl; L. Patterson, Irishman; T. Thornton, Buffalo Bill; H. Clarke, Spieler; E. Mein, Tramp; J. Butcher, Jew; P. A. Weatherston, Whitewash Artist; A. Syemour, Missing Link.

At four o'clock in the afternoon, a garden party was held on the large and beautiful grounds at the residence of Mayor and Mrs. Hall and to which the officers of the 57th regiment were invited. Three hundred invitations were issued and the scene was indeed a pretty one. Tables and chairs were distributed about the grounds and refreshments served. At 5.30 all present sat down to a dainty repast which was served by the ladies and the remainder of the evening was spent in entertainment of a social nature. The 57th band under the direction of Prof. Glidden rendered suitable music for the occasion.

The commanding officer of the 42nd Regiment is Lieut.-Col. Balderson, K. C., and the officers who reside in Perth are Capt. J. E. de Hertel, Capt. F. W. Hall and Lieut. W. W. Walker.

Cressman's Department Stores

Capt. de Hertel was a visitor in the city at the opening of the new Armouries.

Rev. Canon Davidson received and accepted an invitation to preach at St. James' Anglican church, Sunday night.

There were only five members of the 57th band at Perth over the holiday, who accompanied the regiment to that place 16 years ago. They are Robt. Mein, F. O. Miller, Richard Shelton, George Chambers and R. M. Beach. Mr. Finch Miller was then the leader.

The splendid train service pleased the members of the regiment very much.

Prof. Glidden received many kind words of praise for the excellent music rendered by the 57th band.

And the bugle band also came in for their share.

The citizens of the town sympathized with the boys in their endeavor to have a good time and the result was splendid order throughout the two days' visit.

Mr. W. T. Dockrill, travelling passenger agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, accompanied the regiment to Perth. Mr. Dockrill has gone with the regiment on each visit for the past twenty years, when the C.P.R. line was used.

THAT WATCH OF YOURS

Is in many respects similar to a railway engine. Let an engine be run without oil or cleaning and before long it will stop dead. Upon examination it will be found that the friction and wear and tear has ruined the machinery, and it is fit only for the scrap iron heap. Likewise your watch. You put it in your pocket, and while there is a kick in it, you, in your mistaken economy, do not consult the watchmaker, and consequently rob your watch of years of good service and also much of its former accuracy. The time-keeping qualities of a good watch are maintained and often improved by timely and skilful attention. If you have been one of the neglectful ones call around and see us.

ENJOYABLE TRIP TO THE LAKES

Court Chemong's Excursion Was Largely Patronized on the Holiday.

About three hundred and fifty enjoyed the trip to the lakes yesterday on the steamer Otonabee under the auspices of Court Chemong, Independent Order of Foresters. The weather was ideal for the outing and the committee in charge had made most complete arrangements. Dinner was partaken of at South Beach and in the afternoon the boat called at Viamede and Mount Julian. Excellent music was supplied for dancing by Tucker's orchestra. Mr. D. Wallace was chairman of the committee in charge, Mr. W. G. McKee was treasurer and Mr. J. W. Buyers was secretary. Messrs. G. W. Powell and George Metcalfe also gave valuable assistance.

Mr. A. R. Moore was master of ceremonies for the dancing.

ANNUAL PICNIC MUCH ENJOYED

The annual picnic of the Park St. Baptist Church choir and teachers and officers of the Sunday school took place at Chemong Park yesterday.

The party assembled at the church about 8.30 a.m. and left in busses for Chemong, arriving at the park about 10 o'clock.

During the day a most amusing game of baseball took place. The Rev. Mr. Riddiford's bunch being opposed by a side chosen by Mr. R. Castle, ladies being included on both sides, and after a most enjoyable game, it ended in a tie—six runs each. Mr. Riddiford's side tied the score in the last innings, amid great excitement. The ladies were very smart in running the bases and some of our City League players could do worse than take lessons from them.

Boating, fishing and other amusements were also indulged in. The party returned home about 8 o'clock, after having spent a most enjoyable day.

DEATH OF MR. DAVID LEMAY

Was One of the Pioneer Business Men of Peterborough—Funeral To-morrow.

At the age of seventy years, David Lemay, one of the pioneer business men of the city, passed away last evening at ten o'clock at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. H. LeBrun. He had not enjoyed good health for several years, and his death was not unexpected. Eight years ago he had a paralytic stroke and had a second one within the last three weeks. The end came peacefully.

The late Mr. Lemay was born in Montreal and came to Peterborough when a young man. He was the proprietor of a confectionery establishment on George street for many years. About 1885 he left Peterborough and established a confectionery business in Watertown, N.Y. Five years ago he returned to Peterborough, and since that time had resided at Mr. LeBrun's. His wife died four years ago. Mr. Lemay is survived by two sons and five daughters. The sons are L. N. Lemaye, of Rochester, and Albert, of Cleveland. The daughters are Mrs. H. LeBrun, of Peterborough; Mrs. R. P. Gough, of Toronto; Mrs. F. Tilston, of Toronto; Miss Helaine, of Montreal, and Sister Heloise, of the Congregation of Notre Dame, Montreal.

The funeral will take place tomorrow morning at nine o'clock from the residence of Mr. LeBrun, to St. Peter's Cathedral, and thence to the Catholic cemetery.

Mr. Lemay's death will be learned of with deep regret by a wide circle of friends. He was an honorable, upright merchant of the olden days, whose politeness and charm of manner were much esteemed by the general public.

PEARY'S MESSAGE IS BELIEVED

Special to the Review.

Scientists and geographical men are convinced of the truth of Commander Peary's message, which flashed over the cables to England and America from the first point of civilization, at which he touched upon his return trip from the north pole. The skepticism which greeted the announcement of Dr. Frederick A. Cook that he had discovered the pole is unabated, however.

RECEIVED DISCHARGE FROM CANNON IN FACE AND BODY

Joseph Kerr Painfully Injured at Perth Yesterday Afternoon—Will Lose Sight of One Eye—Pte. Gibson of No. 4 Co. of the 57th Regiment, Also Burned.

A deplorable accident occurred yesterday afternoon at Perth, in which George Kerr, a married man, residing in the town, received a discharge of powder in the face and body, and will, as a result, lose the sight of one eye. His arms and face were terribly burned and lacerated from the effects of the discharged powder. Wm. Gibson, a member of No. 4 company of the 57th Regiment, who was standing close by, was also burned, but not seriously and his injuries were attended to by Dr. Eastwood. In the morning a number of the visiting soldiers had taken the cannon from its position at the wharf and hauled it about the streets of the town. Shortly after noon they returned it to its proper place and commenced discharging blank shots. This was kept up for nearly half an hour, on preparing to discharge the shot which caused such painful injuries. Kerr took the swab from another young lad and it was while he was engaged in plugging a quantity of paper into the cannon that it was discharged with the above results. The cause of the discharge may be attributed to the fact that the gun was being operated as fast as the caps and paper could be put into it, and those in charge did not take the proper care and see that all sparks were cleaned out. Kerr was taken to Dr. Hanna's office, where his wounds were dressed.

SCAFFOLD GAVE WAY AND PAINTER FELL THIRTY FEET TO THE GROUND

Harry Weir, who resides at 304 King street, was severely injured at two o'clock this afternoon as a result of the breaking of a scaffold at the new house being built by Dr Marshall on Hunter street, near Bethune street. Weir was employed as a painter by Mr. Uriah Hawley, and was painting the gable end fronting on Hunter street. The scaffold on which he was standing was about thirty feet from the ground, gave way, and the unfortunate man fell to the rough ground with terrible force. He struck the eavetrough in the descent and the place on the ledge where his body came in contact with it is marked by a large dint.

Dr Marshall attended to the injured man, and he was taken to Nicholls hospital in a cab.

The extent of his injuries was not known at the time of going to press. It is feared, however, that he is hurt internally.

GREAT FINISH IN THE BALL GAME HERE ON LABOR DAY

T.A.S. Won From Lindsay in a Ten Innings Struggle—Score Was 5-4—Local Were Two Runs Behind at End of the Eighth.

In a great ten-innings fight at Riverside Park yesterday afternoon the T.A.S. nine downed Bill Cinnamon and his Lindsay crew 5—4. It was one of the best games seen here in years. The home team pulled the fat out of the fire in the last innings, when they scored two runs and tied the tally. The winning run came across in the tenth innings after the Lindsayites had been blanked. When the eighth innings was over the visitors had a lead of two runs, the score being 4—2. Then came a timely single by Shaw, and a mighty three-base swipe by Quinlan that sent the Strathcona left fielder scurrying across the plate. Kendry had died before Quinlan had come to bat, and McFadden, who followed the trusty pitcher, struck out. Cahill was at bat and the excitement was intense. A throw to third to catch Quinlan off the bag started the works. The T.A.S. pitcher dashed for the plate and Langdon threw the ball to Cinnamon, and Cinnamon tossed it back to Langdon. All the time Quinlan was working towards the plate. The spheroid was tossed to Cinnamon and Quinlan slid under him with the run that tied the score.

The noise in the stand and along the fence could have been heard at Nassau. The winning run was brought across the plate in the tenth.

The game was the main attraction of the holiday, and about a thousand were in attendance. The stand was filled, and there was a long line of spectators along the fence. Many ladies were in attendance, and they joined in the rooting.

Aeroplane and Dr. Cook hats may come and go, but "Bill" Cinnamon goes on forever.

"How old is Bill?" someone asked at the ball yard yesterday.

"Not a day over fifty," was the answer from a Lindsay man standing by.

And talk as you likes Bill is still some ball player. He is hardly as frisky as he once was, but he still retains his batting eye, and hasn't forgotten any of the fine points of the game. He brought along with him a bunch of husky ball tossers and for a team that only had one or two practices they put up an article of ball that would be hard to beat. They fielded well and had all kinds of ginger. Menzies played a great game at short, and McGill showed class at the first corner. "Plug" Hopkins, who did the twirling, had a peculiar style of delivery, and his slants looked easy, but they weren't.

Quinlan was the mainstay of the home team. He fanned seventeen batters and worked himself out of several bad holes that the fates and the players supporting him got him into. In addition to his great heaving, the T.A.S. mound artist pounded out a home run in the second innings and a three-bagger in the ninth. Both were badly needed, too. The four-base clout sent the ball over the fence in left field, the first time that such a thing has happened since the fence was put up. "Tiny" Hopkins did some fast work in climbing the boards and getting the ball back to the diamond.

The visitors scored one in the second, fourth, fifth and eighth innings. In the second Workman hit for two bases and took a big chance and went to third. He would have been an easy out, but the ball got away from Cahill on the throw in, and the runner was safe. Menzies sacrificed, going out Flaherty to Quinlan, who covered first, and Workman beat the throw to McFadden. McGill and H. Hopkins struck out. In the 4th Cinnamon singled, stole second and went to third on Quinlan's wild pitch. He scored on Langdon's single. Workman struck out, Menzies went out Flaherty to O'Brien and McGill struck out. In the fifth McFadden missed the third strike and E. Hopkins was safe at first. He went to third on a wild pitch and scored on McFadden's error. Green struck out and so did Lennox. In the 8th E. Hopkins was safe on Flaherty's error. McMahon struck out and Lennox was safe on Flaherty dropping his fly. Hopkins scored on Cinnamon's single. Langdon struck out and Workman grounded out to O'Brien.

The T.A.S. got one in the second. After Kendrey had struck out Quinlan hit out a home run. McFadden was safe on McGill's error and was caught stealing second, Cinnamon to Workman. Cahill struck out. In the third Derocher flew out to Langdon and Wetlauffer struck out. O'Brien singled and stole second; Flaherty singled back of first base and O'Brien scored on a close decision. Shaw singled and Kendrey was out for bunting the third strike. There was nothing more doing till the ninth when two runs came across and tied the score.

In the tenth Wetlauffer was safe on McGill's error and stole second. M. O'Brien singled and Wetlauffer went out to third. Flaherty grounded out to McGill and Wetlauffer scored on the play. This ended the game amid shouts of jubilation.

Shaw, Kendrey and Wetlauffer, of the Strathconas, played with the T.A.S. team.

Decorated Book Covers.

A linen or crash book cover may be made to harmonize with the surroundings of any room. Measure your book carefully, allowing a sixteenth of an inch for slipping on and a quarter of an inch for turning in. As shown in the diagram, allow four inches for the inside fold. The other dimensions represent the size of an ordinary book and are given merely for basic measurements. Grayish white crash with a stenciled border in dull blue, green and brown is the design used in the cover illustrated.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Sept. 6.—(Special.)—The feature of the local export live stock trade during the past week has been the improved demand for ocean freight from Canadian shippers of ranch cattle, owing to the improvement in prices, and in consequence a more active business has been done. All the space for this week to all ports is about booked up, and Liverpool freight for the balance of the month has been in demand, consequently it is now somewhat scarce. The Glasgow space for September is also well booked up. The rate for this week is 35s per head, but for the balance of the month it has been reduced 2s 6d per head, to 32s 6d. Liverpool has been let for this week at 32s 6d to 35s per head, and for the remainder of the month it will be the same as Glasgow. A fair volume of business has been done in London space at 25s to 30s. The Manchester boat for this week has been let at 30s, and it is offering for the balance of the month at the same figure.

At the Montreal Stock Yards West End Market the receipts of live stock for the week ending Sept. 4 were 3050 cattle, 1500 sheep and lambs, 1725 hogs and 675 calves, while the offerings on the market this morning for sale amounted to 1235 cattle, 1025 sheep and lambs, 875 hogs and 400 calves. Altho the supply of cattle was somewhat larger than a week ago, a stronger feeling developed in the market, and prices were fully ¼c per pound higher. The gathering of local butchers was large and there were also some outside buyers and exporters present.

Cable advices from Liverpool on Ontario and ranch cattle were stronger, and prices showed an advance of ½c per lb. as compared with last week, sales of the former being made at 13c to 13½c, and the latter at 11¾c to 12½c per pound. At these figures exporters stated that they would make some money, and, therefore, they showed a disposition to operate a little more freely here this morning, and several loads were taken at 5¼c per lb. Choice steers sold at 5c to 5¼c; good at 4¾c to 4⅞c; fair at 4c to 4½c; medium at 3½c to 3¾c; common at 3¼c to 3½c; inferior bulls at 2½c to 2¾c; good bulls at 3½c to 4c, and canners at 1¼c to 1½c per lb.

Owing to the continued small supplies of hogs coming forward, and the keen demand for the same from packers and dealers, the undertone to the market continues strong, and prices have secured a further advance of 25c per 100 pounds since last Wednesday, making a net rise of 40c to 50c since this day week, and 60c to 75c since the 23rd of August; but the indications are that at present prices supplies will come forward more freely, if they are in the country. An active trade was done to-day, with sales of selected lots at $9 to $9.25 per 100 lbs., weighed off cars. Cable advices from Liverpool and London on Canadian bacon Saturday were very strong, and noted a further advance in prices of 2s to 5s per cwt.

There was a firmer undertone to the market for sheep and lambs on account of the increased demand for local consumption, and prices show an advance of ¼c to ½c per lb., as compared with those realized last Wednesday, but they are unchanged from a week ago. Supplies were larger than they have been of late, and an active trade was done. Sheep sold at 4c, and lambs at 6c per pound. The offerings of calves were fair for the season of the year, which met with a good demand at prices ranging from $3 to $15 each, as to size and quality.

UNION MASONS AND BRICKLAYERS QUIT WORK AT NEW LIBRARY

They Object to the Lowering of the Rate of Wages Below the Union Standard Recognized by Government—No Ill-feeling in the Matter.

All the union masons and bricklayers at work on the new Library, corner of McDonnel and George streets, "quit" yesterday because a non-union bricklayer was taken on and also because some of the union men on pay day did not receive the union rate of wages which is 40 cents per hour. The union men quit work after due notification of the contractor and quietly walked across to Central Park. Presently a policeman came up from the station to know if they meant mischief, but on being informed that the contractor was at liberty to do as he pleased, just as the union men felt at liberty to do as they pleased, the officer smiled and walked on. The union men say that they must keep up the rate of wages for competent certified men or else there is no knowing where the break will end. The result would be a rate decided by individual competition which would in the confusion, be very unfair and injurious to all honest working men who feel themselves entitled to a living rate of wage. The contractor has not made his side of the story known yet, but the above may be taken as a fair statement of the men's side of it. The union is quite willing that a non-union man shall work for a lower rate if he chooses, but the union men will not do so and for the reasons given. No disorder or ill-feeling is manifested and it remains to be seen what the outcome will be.

ASHBURNHAM WOMAN IN HOSPITAL SUFFERING FROM DOSE OF POISON

Mrs. Edward Carpenter, who resides at 52 Robinson street, Ashburnham, drank a considerable quantity of corrosive sublimate, which is a most powerful posion, yesterday afternoon, and is now in Nicholls Hospital. Her mouth and throat were badly burned, and while it is reported to-day that she is doing nicely, it was feared for a time that the case would have fatal termination. After taking the poison she rushed into a neighbor's house, and Drs. Halliday and Amys were sent for, and arrived as quickly as possible. The woman was taken to the hospital.

The woman's husband was in the house when his wife took the poison. He is a taxidermist and uses the corrosive sublimate in that business.

TRIBUTE FROM THE GLOBE

The Toronto Globe pays the following high tribute of appreciation to the memory of Senator Ferguson, father of Mr. J. H. Ferguson, local manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia:—

"Though Senator Ferguson, of Prince Edward Island, had reached the proverbial three score years and ten, he was not actually regarded as one of the "old" members of the Senate, and therefore the news of his death comes as a surprise to the general public. He belonged to a class and type of men who are becoming scarce in Canada; the farmers who preceded the introduction of the very modern methods of farming and did much to aid in their introduction. It is quite doubtful whether the highly factitious nurture and the comparatively unlaborious processes of modern agriculture will be able to produce such individual stalwarts as the teaching of experience and the incessantly strenuous toil of former days quite naturally evolved. To this class Senator Ferguson belonged, and he did it honor. On matters agricultural he did his own thinking and he always made others welcome to the benefits of his well-ascertained conclusions. In politics Mr. Ferguson was a staunch Conservative, and in public life he enjoyed the esteem of his opponents and the confidence of his associates.—The Globe.

A BUN FEED

The preacher said: "I regret to find
That the Maintenance Fund is a bit behind.
So few subscriptions have been received,
I must confess I am sorely grieved.
I made an appeal, you recollect,
But still the amount we did not collect.
The money we are impelled to get,
But there is one Christian method yet—
A bun feed!"

The Ladies' Aid was a-gloom with woe,
The carpeting fund has dwindled so.
A hundred dollars was needed quick,
And the treasury looked exceedingly sick.
The members had all paid up their fees,
And more demands would create a breeze.
The president sighed from her honored perch,
And said: "There's one way to save the church—
A bun feed!"

The Epworth League had a solemn air,
The face of the young chap in the chair
Was lined with worry and pale with woe,
What was the trouble which moved him so?
Their missionary in old Japan
Demanded money—the dear young man.
The league was broke, but one member bright
Suggested the scheme to put it right—
A bun feed!"

And who can describe the fiscal mess
Of the earnest, ardent W.M.S.
Which kept a preacher in old Chen Tu?
The members all were exceedingly blue,
For they needed money—a hundred bones—
And everyone talked in gloomy tones.
Then said Miss Alice de Mountjoy Drake:
"O, girls, I'll tell you what we can make—
A bun feed!"

A thousand sandwiches, ham and tongue,
A few with lettuce to suit the young.
Nine dozen cakes of oppressive weight,
Twelve lemon pies—we regret to state.
Potato salad with garlic in it;
A hundred gallons of savage tea,
A million dishes to wash—O, gee
A bun feed!"

WHAT ARE THEY WORTH?

Are the eyes worth at least five hundred dollars per year to any man, woman or child? You would spend five dollars per year upon them if necessary, would you not? How much do they cost you? How much do you spend for your feet, your hats, your teeth, etc.? Some wait until they must see about their eyes and would give hundreds of dollars, but find it too late. Many parents bring their children that we may examine their eyes and see whether or not they need glasses. In childhood is the time to both remedy and prevent eye troubles. Again we ask what are your eyes worth to you and what to the child? We devote exclusive attention to the fitting of eyeglasses and artificial eyes.

LORD STRATHCONA WAS HURT NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH

Was Out Driving When Horses Became Unmanageable and Dashed Down Steep Hill—The Carriage Was Overturned and Occupants Thrown Out

Vancouver, Sept. 8.—Lord Strathcona narrowly escaped serious injury in an accident near Vernon. Accompanied by Sir Edward Clouston, C. C. Chipman and Mr. Pollard, he drove out from Vernon to visit Lord Aberdeen's celebrated fruit farm, Coldstream Ranch. They were driven by W. R. Megaw, who is a prominent merchant and ex-mayor of the city.

On a steep hill near Long Lake, about three miles from town, the team became unmanageable and bolted down towards the lake. Megaw is one of the best whips in the country, but could do nothing to stop the animals, which were frightened by the whiffletrees striking their legs. At the foot of the hill is a sharp turn of road. The bank of the lake at this place is about twenty feet high. Seeing he could not make the turn, Megaw pulled the horses into a wire fence.

The carriage was overturned and all were thrown to the ground. Fortunately all escaped without serious injury except Megaw, who had a leg broken.

Lord Strathcona's right arm was bruised, but he made light of it. A telephone message to town brought out an automobile at once, and the party were conveyed to their car.

CHIEF HOWARD SEC.-TREAS. OF FIRE CHIEFS' ORGANIZATION

Toronto, Sept. 8.—The fire chiefs of Ontario met at Lombard street station yesterday and organized the Provincial Fire Chiefs' Association of Ontario.

The object is for mutual benefit in the cause of fire-fighting. The meeting elected W. B. Ten Eyck of Hamilton president, and W. A. Howard, Peterboro, secretary-treasurer.

The following were appointed to draft a constitution: John Thompson, Toronto; W. A. Howard, Peterboro; John E. Keyes, Galt; E. F. Earles, Milton; John Armstrong, Kingston, and J. S. France, Woodstock.

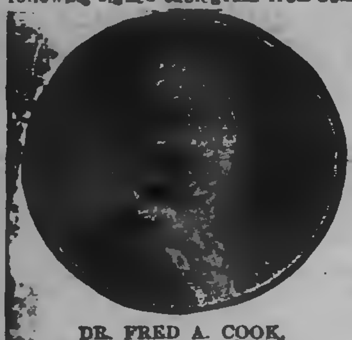
Chief Howard of Peterboro pointed out that one of the reasons for organizing a provincial association of fire chiefs was to enable them to give attention to local conditions. At the present time there was no uniform rule for the equipping of fire departments with the necessary appliances and the required number of men to man the apparatus.

"The matter of insurance rates is something that might also be taken up by this association. We find that some places that pay very little attention to their fire departments have as good a rating as other places that keep pace with the times. In my opinion this all important matter should be under the control of the Dominion Government."

PEARY SAYS THAT COOK'S STORY SHOULD NOT BE TAKEN TOO SERIOUSLY

Special to the Review.

New York, September 8.—The united press is to-day in receipt of the following signed cablegram from Commander Robert E. Peary, dated Indian Harbor, via Cape Ray, September 8th:



DR. FRED A. COOK.

To the United Press, New York: Cook's story should not be taken too seriously. The two Eskimos who accompanied him, say he went no distance north and out of sight of land. Other men of the tribe corroborate their statements.

"Signed PEARY."

Copenhagen, Sept. 8.—"I wont degrade myself by answering Pearys charges until the accusation is made upon scientific data,' said Dr. Cook to-day.

Pressed for a more explicit statement, Cook remained silent. He was clearly angered by Commander Pearys assault. Cooks statement is taken to mean that he will wait until the data obtained by himself and Peary is put to the test of a scientific analysis before entering a more formal denial to the Commanders charges. Commanders Peary's message created the the greatest sensation here since the initial news of Cooks discovery.

THRILLING SCENES AT THE WRECK OF THE LAURENTIAN

St. John's, Nfld., Sept. 8.—Thrilling scenes attended the loss of the Allan Line steamer Laurentian, bound from Boston for Glasgow, which piled up on the rocks near Cape Race during a dense fog at 6 o'clock Monday morning. When the ship struck she rebounded heavily, the shock throwing most of the sleeping passengers from their berths. They stampeded for the deck, without stopping to dress, and for an hour excitement prevailed. Capt. Imrie and his officers, however, succeeded in quieting all hands and persuaded every one to return to quarters and dress.

A stiff northwest wind banged the ship about and at 7 o'clock orders were given to put the boats overboard. Twenty-five of the passengers, mostly women and children, were placed in the first boat, but the bow tackle collapsed and several persons were thrown into the sea. Others were injured by the thumping of the small craft against the sides of the collapsing liner. Within 15 minutes those thrown into the water were drawn to the deck and the passengers in the disabled boats were rescued.

Six more life-boats were put over, but the passengers say that some of the seamen of the Laurentian did not know how to row and that they were obliged to handle the oars themselves. Along the iron-bound coast cliffs rise to a height of 50 feet.

After the boat had been adrift two hours, fearing to put in, a boat from a nearby fishing village was sighted through the fog, and finally it piloted the life craft to a harbor.

THE PROVINCE OF QUEBEC IS LOOKING FOR A COBALT

Montreal, Sept. 8.—Wanted a Quebec Cobalt. Such was the gist of Sir Lomer Gouin's speech at St. Johns, Que., Monday evening. To secure this he is sending expert engineers into the Chiboloms district, where prospectors have been going for years, and where it is claimed that the deposits of silver, gold and asbestos are extremely rich. If the experts bear out the claims of the prospectors the Government will build a railway into the camp. The nearest road now is a hundred miles away, and the hills are so bad that though two or three companies have had ore [illegible] for years, none has been taken out, and many of the companies have failed. Over three hundred claims have been staked for the past few years in anticipation of a railway. The G.T.P. will run about 70 miles from Lake Dore, the centre of the district.

Another announcement of the Premier was that the Government would build huge reservoirs on the St. Maurice River, so that the spring freshet water could be collected and the height of the river maintained at normal during the hot months by using the reservoir water.

Found Dead In Machinery.

Oil Springs, Sept. 8.—Harvey Wilkinson of Oil Springs, who was running the pumping rig on the Molson Bank property, became caught in the machinery yesterday. He was found dead with his head badly crushed.

Politician's Death.

Newburgh, N.Y., Sept. 8.—Col. Fox of New York City, for many years a prominent figure in the Republican politics of New York State, was killed here yesterday afternoon by falling from his automobile.

Little Boy Shot Himself.

Kenora, Sept. 8.—While playing with a small 22-calibre rifle here on Monday morning, Edwin Swanson, aged 7, was shot in the right temple and died shortly afterwards. A party of boys had been out shooting hawks and had just arrived home when, thinking the rifle was unloaded, one of them began playing with the gun.

PROBABILITIES.

LEAMINGTON MAN HAD A TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE

Wandered for Fifteen Days in Wild Tangle of Bush, Muskeg and Rocks, North of the C.P.R. Line Between Winnipeg and Fort William.

Winnipeg, Sept. 8.—A man, frightfully scarred about the face, hands, arms and legs, sat in the Tecumseh House yesterday morning and told a story of his adventures while he was lost for 15 days in a wild tangle of bush, muskeg and rocks north of the C.P.R. line, between Fort William and Winnipeg. He reached the C.P.R. track at 11 o'clock Monday morning, and was given a square meal for the first time in half a month by one of the foremen employed on the double-tracking.

During the time he was lost he subsisted, he says, solely on berries, which were bitter and, for all he knew, poisonous, but he took the chance.

The man, according to his story, was panic-stricken in his anxiety to reach human society, and states that he rarely ate more than one meal a day, drinking whatever water came handiest, whether it was from muskeg or lake. As he staggered on, day after day, he thought he would go insane. Yesterday morning, in the dead silence of the bush his heart leaped when there was faintly borne upon his ears the long-drawn whistle of a locomotive.

The man, who gives his name as Joseph Sherreh of Leamington, Ont., is 69 years of age, and his unkempt hair and beard, framing a gaunt hollow-cheeked face, which is bronzed and marked with red scars of healing wounds, gave him a pitiable appearance yesterday morning. He called upon Relief Officer Kerr at the City Hall and was sent to the hospital.

He is a widower and has two sons and a daughter living at Leamington. These have been communicated with. He says he was drunk when he got lost.

BAD OUTBREAK OF TYPHOID IN SILVER COUNTRY

Cobalt, Sept. 8.—The epidemic of typhoid in Cobalt has not been improving during the past few days, and if anything, has been getting worse. A poster just issued by the Cobalt Red Cross Hospital gives a clear idea of the hold that this dreaded disease has on Cobalt.

The number of new cases which have developed in the last few days is alarming, and the situation is very serious. For humanity's sake please take the following precautions:

1. Do not drink any water until it has been boiled.
2. Remove at once all garbage about your premises.
3. Use chloride of lime freely by scattering in places where there are bad odors.
4. Every building should be scrubbed inside with strong soap suds with small quantity of concentrated lye added.

All cases should be reported at once and help will be given.

EARL GRAY AGAINST RACE SUICIDE

Vancouver, B.C., Sept. 8.—That Earl Grey is a hearty supporter of ex-President Roosevelt in his anti-race suicide views is shown by an address he gave yesterday while inaugurating the Women's Canadian Club of Vancouver.

"Let your influence be ever on the side of fair play. You can never raise a great nation when the boys, for instance, do not play fair at their games," he said.

"I would close those few remarks by reminding you that the woman is rendering the greatest service of all to the state who rears the largest number of happy, healthy, righteous and God-fearing children."

LIVE STOCK AT BIG EXHIBITION

Toronto, Aug. 8.—The Exhibition grounds yesterday by comparison with Labor Day had almost a cathedral calm, although 69,000 people or thereabouts passed through the turnstiles. But if the 82,000 folks who were about on fruit growers and stock breeders' day, detracted from the busy animation of the scene, there were compensating advantages. It was possible to go through any of the buildings in comfort, and from a sight-seeing view-point, it was a satisfactory day. At the same time as the paid attendance was 6,000 above that of last year, the directors had no occasion for gloom.

Stock breeders from all over Ontario and no small number from beyond its boundaries were there, sun-tanned men who would give an off-hand calculation within a pound or so of the weight of a Hereford or Galloway. They saw everything that was to be seen, but the cattle pens claimed most of their time. The consensus of opinion seemed to be that the live stock this year is much above that of 1908, especially in the Jerseys, and that with the standard constantly rising as it does, exhibitors who carry off awards, in 1910 will have reason to congratulate themselves.

THESE ALDERMEN DEMANDED MONEY

Montreal, Sept. 8.—Ald. Lesperance, who has figured prominently in the proceedings of the royal commission, was mentioned yesterday when evidence was brought out that he had demanded $1,000 from a firm of contractors as the price of getting a contract. After some dickering, this was reduced to $600. The firm got the contract all right, but not having come to time the alderman is declared to have threatened that he would interfere with the contract unless he was paid. Another contractor claimed that he did not compete for a civic contract because he was given to understand that 5 per cent. would have to be paid to certain aldermen.

GEO. T. ECCLES, CANADIAN HERO, BURIED AT ALMONTE

As Wireless Telegraph Operator on the Steamer Ohio, Which Sank Near Alaska, Eccles by Sticking to His Post Succeeded in Securing Assistance, and Thereby Saved 200 Lives.

Almonte, Sept. 8.—George T. Eccles, the wireless operator, who sacrificed his life for others near Alaska, on August 27 last, was buried here, at his native place yesterday afternoon.

Eccles it was who stuck to his post during the sinking of the steamer Ohio, sending out wireless messages for assistance while the steamer was going to pieces. As a result other vessels came to the rescue in time, and nearly 200 were saved from drowning.

An incident never before published was learned yesterday from H. E. McIsaac, a very near friend of Eccles, that at the last moment Eccles went down a stairway on the sinking vessel to try and save "Doc" Hughes, a Seattle soldier, but was too late. Both he and Hughes were drowned.

Yesterday afternoon all places of business were closed, the bells of St. Paul's Anglican Church tolled solemnly, and the church was crowded during the impressive service. Rev. E. Saddington, Almonte; Canon Elliott, Carleton Place, and Rev. Farley, Clayton, Ont., conducted the service, the keynote of which was that "greater love hath no man than that he lay down his own life for his friends."

Mayor Metcalf and the members of the council attended. Flags were half-masted at the Town Hall and on many public buildings. The chief mourners included his wife and his children, aged 6 and 4; two sisters, the Misses Elizabeth and Mary Ann Eccles, Almonte; four brothers, Jas. and Arthur of Almonte, Marion of Ottawa, and William of Dakota; and his father-in-law, Mr. Barry of Winnipeg. There is a fifth brother living in Dakota, who was not at the funeral. The floral tokens were numerous and included a floral Maltese Cross from the Ottawa members of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America (also represented at the funeral by J. P. Kavanagh and P. A. Casey); two large pillars from the wireless operators of the Pacific coast, made of carnations and roses, and of which the words "S.O.S." and "30" appeared; wreath of lilies of the valley and roses from the telegraph operators at Winnipeg. A costly monument to Eccles will be erected in one of the parks at Seattle. Already both the Wireless Telegraph Co. and numerous companies there have subscribed $500 each towards it.

The Citizens' Band headed the funeral.

SCIENTISTS GIVE THEIR VIEWS OF DISCOVERIES

London, Sept. 8.—Sir George Nares, who commanded an Arctic expedition in 1875, in an interview finds difficulty in avoiding the conclusion that Peary's Eskimos at Etah must know that Cook crossed Smith's Sound and Etah last winter, and says: "Isn't it a peculiar fact that this coincidence occurs, in view of the possibility of the news having reached Etah of the success of one man, or the other? Wouldn't it be just possible that Dr. Cook has learned of Peary's success and was making an effort to reach civilization first with the prior claim of having discovered the pole?"

The Daily Telegraph, in an editorial, says: "Cook managed to get home a few days ahead. He has to bear the first brunt of scientific and amateur scepticism. On the other hand he enjoys the earliest taste of popularity, but though just beaten by a head, Peary is coming home assured of an unusually warm and enthusiastic welcome and doubtless is equally prepared to run the gauntlet of intelligent and unintelligent criticism."

The Graphic says: "What a pity the explorers did not meet. Chance is evidently a blundering artist. There will be but one opinion of Peary's achievement. It is a splendid reward for a life spent with rare intelligence and interpredity and already rich in stirring adventures and epoch-making discoveries."

The Standard says: "Happily, both are Americans, and one possible reason for bitterness does not exist."

Czar Off For Crimea.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 8.—Emperor Nicholas and the members of the Imperial family left St. Petersburg for the Crimea. The celebrations at Moscow and other cities on the way have been abandoned on account of the Empress' weakness and nervousness.

Unusual precautions have been taken, such as the patroling of the entire line by troops.

PLANS FOR THE QUEBEC BRIDGE

Montreal, Sept. 8.—Paul Wolfel of Philadelphia and P. Johnston of Montreal, consulting engineers, met the Quebec bridge committee yesterday and decided that tenders should be asked for a cantilever and suspension bridge, the class of structure to be definitely decided upon later on.

The bridge will be 150 feet above high tide, and 600 feet in length. The main bridge will be 25 feet wide, against 61 feet. The centre span will be reduced from 1,800 to 1,715 feet, this being made possible by the erection of a main pier 100 feet further from the north shore than the present pier. The old pier will also be reduced and strengthened.

Work will begin at once.

Workmen Win Strike.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 8.—Peace and quiet will again reign in McKee's Rocks. The costly strike, which has been in progress 53 days at the Pressed Steel Car Co., is over. The workmen, numbering over 5,000, have won a complete victory.

Soldiers Leave Glace Bay.

Glace Bay, N.S., Sept. 8.—One hundred and fifty soldiers are leaving to-day and two hundred will remain here, it is said, until the close of the strike.

SUFFRAGETTES AFTER PREMIER

Hythe, England, Sept. 8.—The militant suffragettes have pursued Mr. Asquith, the Premier, into his vacation privacy.

They climbed the windows of Lympne Castle Sunday while the Premier and his family were at dinner, throwing stones through the windows and shouting suffragist messages. Then they made their escape in the darkness.

The same afternoon while the Premier and Mr. Herbert Gladstone were engaged at golf in the neighborhood, suffragettes accosted and pestered them until, according to some accounts, a scuffle occurred and the ministers fled to their motor car.

Climbed Mount Robson.

Calgary, Alta., Sept. 8.—Mount Robson, the highest and hitherto unassailed peak of the Rockies, has been conquered by a Canadian, Rev. George Kinney, Methodist minister of Victoria. Kinney wires that he accomplished this remarkable feat, unaided, on Aug. 13, and that he has authentic proofs of the ascent.

Kinney started three months ago to climb the mountain. Prof. Coleman of Toronto University tried it twice—once in 1907 and once in 1908—but failed both times.

BRIBERY AND PERJURY

A briber to escape the penalty of the law must as a rule be prepared to swear falsely. Bribery and perjury are like twins that cannot be to depart. The election law, however, is older than the ancient maxim of the law, viz., that a witness shall not be compelled to say anything in the course of his evidence that will lay him open to a charge of prosecution and expressly protects him from all consequences so long as he tells the truth. If caught lying, he has made his original offence doubly punishable, and if the judge suspects him of lying he can there and then order him to be taken out of the box and indicted by the Crown. Courts will not be set at naught and the Ontario Government in whose jurisdiction the crown officers are will pursue the matter to the bitter end. It has been found necessary to do so in order to protects the administration of justice. Just as a member who has a protest against him is not allowed to resign since the law requires that he must gives every assistance to a complete investigation of the charges so it requires on the part of the witness a desire to tell the truth, and if he tells the truth he will escape all the consequences of a charge of being bribed or of bribing, or of any other act which he has laid bare to the court in his answers. Not only does false swearing destroy the hope of securing justice. It is worse than almost any other crime. Therefore the law and the courts say TELL THE TRUTH NO MATTER HOW IT MAY INVOLVE YOU AND YOU WILL BE PROTECTED FROM PROSECUTION.

The great enormity of bribery becomes apparent when we see the perjury and other crimes necessarily entails, and if perjury is nothing why stop at chastity? The next step is to regard religion, love, etc., as rubbish, and thus at one step we have reached the lowest depths. This is what those people do who encourage bribers. But besides all those objections, the man who would win by bribery would steal an election. It is so unfair that its meanness is obvious. That it has been hard to eradicate shows how dangerous it is even to men who are supposed to know better. But honour is most likely to be found amongst the poor, since it is usually hard to the rich and honest. There is no penalty for a man when he is honest. But the law is now making it disastrously severe for those who do wrong and try to lie out of it. The two years in gaol given a man recently, offhand by the magistrate in Toronto is an example of it. Witnesses who tell the truth to serve the ends and purposes of justice are not taken advantage of for so doing. They are rigidly protected from all prosecution.

WHAT J.J. HILL SAYS

Mr J. J. Hill [illegible] American railway magnate and developer of the American West, says that Canada need not worry about immigration since there is nowhere else on the continent for a farming population to go to but Canada. There is no doubt much truth in this statement, especially when we find Mr. Hill backing it up by developing his railways accordingly. It shows too how unnecessary it is for us to squander all we have saved or possess, and to ruin Eastern Canada's farming prospects by a frantic effort to "fill up the west." Headlong statesmanship is more harmful than helpful.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Le Nationaliste comes out very strongly against imperialism, and taking part in the defence of the empire. It is quite evident it is "no empire" for it.

Mr. W. T. R. Preston's suggestion that Sir Wilfrid Laurier would be a proper man to be the first governor-general of the South African union does not appear to have had any but Mr. Preston's own personality behind it.—The Montreal Gazette.

Of the death of Senator Ferguson, father of the esteemed manager of the local branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia, the Montreal Gazette says:—"The Senate of Canada has lost a worthy member by the death of Hon Donald Ferguson, of Prince Edward Island. Mr. Ferguson thought it was the duty of a legislator to work, and he did his duty, devoting to it both time and mind of good capacity."

It would be scarcely possible to state the case against protection more tersely than in the declaration of the News that "food taxation is the bug-bear of British free traders." That is the objection and really the only objection to the system—the fact that it would impose a tax to be paid by the people partly to the public treasury and partly to a privileged class—The Globe.

But in a country where there is no danger of a monopoly, such as Germany, Canada, etc., this argument necessarily does not apply.

MISSION OF THE LAND.

To Produce Commodities For the Service of Mankind.

The mission of the land is to produce and keep on producing food, live stock, lumber and other commodities for the service of man. He who owns land and is indifferent to this is guilty of a moral wrong, and he who takes good land out of commission and suffers it to lie unproductive and useless is guilty of a greater one. This is the only criterion by which we can properly judge of the right of an individual to own land in large tracts.

The good results attendant upon small individual holdings are natural. The purposes of nature in the upward evolution of man are usually better carried out in this way, and not because, as is so frequently argued, every man has an inherent right to its ownership. The lazy, the incapable and the densely ignorant assuredly have no such right, and land is too precious and its mission too high to be thus wasted.

If the owner of a great country estate can farm his land as well as or better than if it were in small holdings; if, following the precept of Swift, he made two ears of corn or two blades of grass grow where one grew before; if he supply his section with a better breed of horses, cattle or sheep, well and good. No one with any knowledge of economics could say he was doing any injury to the world or mankind. It is not the amount of land that he owns, but what he does with it for which he is morally responsible.—David Buffum in Atlantic.

The Invention of the Panorama.

The panorama was invented by a Scotchman named Robert Harker, who obtained a license in London in 1787 and erected a rotunda on Leicester square. He was associated with Robert Fulton, the practical inventor of the steamboat, who introduced panoramas into Paris in 1796, but resigned in favor of Thayer perhaps in order to give his attention to the application of steam to boats. Thayer raised a rotunda on the Boulevard Montmartre, whence comes the name of the Passage des Panoramas. Bonaparte caused plans to be drawn up for eight panoramas, in which his conquests were to be shown to the Parisians, whom he always tried to impress with the magnitude of the achievements in order to keep them faithful to his star. But these projects were never realized.

Something About Moose and Deer
It is now pretty well known among hunters that the best deer hunting country in Ontario is on the line of the Canadian Northern Ontario and that hunters receive special attention. Mr. C. Price Green, Passenger Agent of the line is a hunter himself who goes right with the parties and looks after them, in fact he located most of them. This year the line will be opened north of Sellwood into the midst of the Moose Country, they are reported very thick, the Engineers say that they have never seen anything like it, the Moose season up there opens October 15th, fifteen days before the Deer. We have something special on a new place that will take three parties of deer hunters.

$1 a Cake Could Buy No Better Soap

If you were to offer us $1 for a single cake of soap, we could make no better than our Infants' Delight.

For we have put our very best into this cake. We go to the gardens of France for pure vegetable oil. There we pay often double what we might pay. We bring cocoanut oil more than 12,000 miles from the isle of Ceylon. Then we mix these oils and boil them doubly long.

After this we send them through our own special milling process—one that we have perfected only in our 43 years of experience.

From here they fall like flakes of snow into huge bins and are then crushed under a weight of 30 tons to press out the moisture.

Then they pass through granite rollers and come out in miles of silky ribbons, after which they are dried eight times. The result is the most perfect and delightful soap.

It is so pure and clean that it leaves the skin fair as an infant's. So we call this soap Infants' Delight.

Order one cake today and see for yourself how different it is. Note the rich, creamy lather and see how it leaves the skin as soft as velvet and as smooth as silk.

Note the dainty perfume—it comes from Bulgaria and costs us $100 a pound. But it requires 3,000 pounds of rose leaves to make a single ounce of this Otto of Roses. The fragrance is simply exquisite. Please try it and see.

HOW TO CATCH LARGE FISH; EXPERIENCE OF AN EXPERT

A Review Representative Interviews Mr. Elcome—The Noted Taxidermist and the Big Fish—An American Expert Gives His Experience.

A Review representative found Mr. Elcome hard at work as usual yesterday. At the moment he was mounting a hawk, but an immense lunge hanging on the wall led the reporter to ask how big fish were caught.

"Well," said Mr. Elcome, "here's a letter from the man who catches most of the big St. Lawrence 'lunge."

The letter is as follows:

Broadway, New York,
July, 24, 1909.

Mr. E. Elcome—

Dear Sir,—In reference to your request to know about the tackle I used, I am perfectly willing to give you full particulars. I use a nine-ounce steel rod, usually a Bristol, but any good steel rod of about eight to ten ounces. I generally use a large Von Hofe reels, with a capacity of say 200 to 250 yards, although that size is not at all necessary. A couple of hundred feet of twisted Irish linen line, 12 or 15 thread, is strong enough, if handled expertly. I prefer a spoon which is large, and which spins close, more resembling the body of a sucker or large chub or pike. Some spoons spin out too wide and gleam in the water in a way that while they can be seen, do not represent any fish very accurately. Of course, sometimes any kind of a bright lure will be taken, but I believe in representing nature quite closely. A large fish will often take a small spoon, and I think as a rule, a minnow behind a spoon is better than a spoon alone, the spoon acting as an "attraction" and the fish getting near enough to know that the minnow is edible. Of course a minnow should be hooked so that it will not be continually taken off by small fish, and there are various ways of attaching the minnow, so that a hook will be near the tail of the minnow. This would be suitable for smaller fish, but for really large 'lunge I frequently use a spoon about three inches long, and behind it a perch about six to nine inches long. Of course I have to have a gang in that case, so that there will be a hook somewhere near the end of the perch. This is the tackle used now almost entirely at St. Anne de Bellevue, where some very large 'lunge have been taken, but which is now rather too well fished, though good 'lunge are taken there every year.

To fish with a spoon and a perch is naturally more of a nuisance and requires care in striking the fish. A light steel rod must be held almost straight back until the fish strikes, as otherwise there would not be sufficient resistance to sink the hook into the heavy jaw. Besides, at the first strike a 'lunge is liable to come out of water instantly, as you know, and can readily throw out a big bait of that kind unless carefully and skilfully handled.

A simpler bait, and one which has taken most of my big fish, is the spoon called the "Corbett Spoon." This spoon is made by Mr. C. B. Pike, of Whitehall, N.Y., who is the proprietor of the Buel Spoon Co., the oldest makers of fishing spoons in the country. Mr. Pike originally made up this spoon on ideas I gave him, and without my knowing it, gave it that name and have sold a great many of them. This spoon is handled by Art Ross, of Montreal, and is silver and white, and both fish I have just sent you were taken on that spoon. 4 to 4 1-2 in. blade, but light weight.

Many pike will strike this spoon running as low as two pounds in weight, and this year I caught a 2 1-2 pound bass on the same spoon, but that was most remarkable, and the only case in my experience. This is one reason this spoon would not be so good for your lakes, because you have such splendid bass there, and I think it would be seldom that a bass would tackle this spoon. It may be too large even for the smaller 'lunge in Pigeon and Sturgeon Lakes, etc., because I know the 'lunge there run smaller as a rule. They seem to be the same 'lunge that are in Chautauqua, and which have been caught up to 40 pounds, but in your neighborhood I convinced myself that while, of course they may occasionally attain a high weight, I think it is very seldom. In very big water the fish are liable to run larger. Your 'lunge are the plain or striped, rather than the spotted and while there is practically no difference, the 'lunge in the St. Lawrence average a great deal larger than they do in your lakes, from my experience. The 26 lb. fish I caught in Pigeon Lake and which you mounted for me ten years ago, was all encrusted around the head, apparently showing that he was an extremely old fish, although he put up a good fight. That fish, from all I could learn, was one of the largest ever taken from Pigeon or Sturgeon lakes, and as a rule, when fish or heads are sent in claiming to be a certain weight, I have have no doubt you have found that such weights are frequently grossly exaggerated. By careful investigation in different parts of the country I have found that it is generally safe to knock off 30 or 40 per cent from all reports received as to the weight of lunge. Fish that I have caught have been reported as weighing 60 pounds, when as a matter of fact the fish practically weighed 41 lbs. which you mounted for me, was the largest lunge I ever caught and the largest one I ever saw in any part of the country, with one exception, which was just about the same. I fished in Wisconsin, Michigan and various other waters for this fish, it being a hobby of mine to catch large lunge. Consistent trolling in grounds which are known to be good with about 75 to 100 feet of line, and with the spoon I have mentioned, is the surest way I know of, which is practicable for most fishermen to take large size lunge, but I believe on actual weight that it is very seldom that a lunge much over 30 pounds will be taken from Kawartha Lake. It would be interesting to see what results the large spoon I mentioned would bring, trolled in the best waters up there, because the spoons which they used when I was there last, were tiny affairs that looked like pieces of jewellery, and which certainly would not do at all in the waters I visit now-a-days, and I believe then with the same experience I have now, I would have done far better. In catching the 26 lb. lunge which you mounted from Bobcaygeon, I used a rig of my own by fixing up a patent spinner ahead of a spoon and making a much larger bait. The average tackle store must sell a spoon to catch the eye of the fisherman as well as the eye of the fish, and they are frequently entirely impracticable. On the other hand of course, the size may be overdone and be quite unsuitable for certain waters, and I am not sure that the Corbett spoon would answer in Kawartha Lake, never having tried it there, and it is so long since I have been there. I was a novice at catching lunge when I visited Bobcaygeon. A large phantom minnow, 6 or 8 inches long is alright, but it is a brutal affair and it tangles in everything besides twisting the line, and anyway is not as good in my opinion.

I shall always be glad to answer any specific questions, for I know you are a good sportsman, even if you do not take much time off.

I remain yours truly,
W. P. CORBETT.

Science Siftings.

The earth's atmosphere becomes at only a few miles from the earth's surface too thin to support any form of animal life.

The "fixed" stars are changing their positions at an appreciable rate, according to astronomers, who say that even the most familiar constellations have changed their forms since the time of the ancients who named them.

Many astronomers are of opinion that the famous star Sixty-one Cygni, which is a double star, is a binary system—that is, that the two stars composing it revolve round their common center of gravity and move through space together.

WHAT BEAUTIFUL HAIR

How often do we hear that exclamation of a certain woman's hair or a certain man's hair.

A prominent scientist and hair specialist emphatically states, and has proven, that any man or woman can have a luxuriant, lustrous hair, by using a famous prescription called Parisian Sage.

Parisian Sage is now made and sold in Canada. Wm. Madill, the druggist, is the agent in Peterborough, and the readers of the Review can buy it from him for only 50 cents a large bottle.

Wm Madill knows that Parisian Sage will beautify the hair, cure dandruff and stop falling hair, and for that reason he sells it under a guarantee to cure or money back.

If you cannot obtain Parisian Sage where you live, you can get a bottle for 50 cents from Giroux Mfg. Co., Fort Erie, Ont., express charges prepaid.

DISHES BOYS LIKE.

A Few Variations in Diet That Are Sure to Please.

Boys should be fed upon food that will give them strength, and yet at the same time mothers must remember that they sometimes like the dainty things as well as little sister does.

In making the rice pudding this week just for a change and to tickle the palate of the boys try this recipe: Wash well half a pound of dates and stone them. Chop fine and add to the usual plain rice pudding. Dates are nourishing, and all boys like them.

In making the usual dish of cornstarch, which is bound to appear on the table of all growing children once in so often, try this: In place of the usual amount of sugar added to it, sweeten with a cup of maple sirup, and the boys are sure to call for "more."

Banana Croquettes.—This is a nourishing dish easily prepared at a few minutes' notice. Peel and scrape ripe bananas. Cut each one in two pieces and cut off the sharp end, making them look like a croquette. Roll them in chopped nuts of any kind, either peanuts, hickory nuts or walnuts. Lay on a leaf of lettuce and serve with a little French dressing containing a great deal of olive oil. This is a splendid luncheon dish for the hungry schoolboy.

Roast Veal and Ham.—Purchase two medium thick veal cutlets rather small in circumference. On one of them place a thick slice of ham and cover with the other cutlet just as you would make a sandwich. Place in a roasting pan and cook in a hot oven at first to sear the meat, then reduce the heat to moderation. Baste frequently. The gravy of this dish is delicious, and the flavor of the meat combination is sure to appeal to the boys of the family.

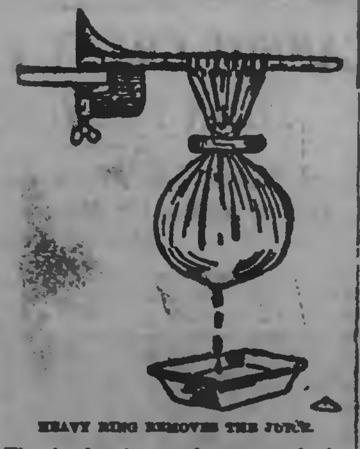
Meat Loaf.—Pass through the chopper sufficient cold meat of any kind, veal, beef, chicken or lamb, to make three cupfuls when packed. Season very highly. Add a teaspoonful of celery seed and some onion juice and finally half a cupful of stale breadcrumbs, a teaspoonful of chopped parsley and two well beaten eggs. Pack into a loaf and place on a shallow buttered pan. With a wooden skewer make holes along the top of the loaf and insert strips of fat salt pork, allowing the pork to project about half an inch above the surface, and be sure to pack the meat firmly back around it. Bake in a quick oven about three-quarters of an hour, set aside to cool and serve in slices very cold with relishes of pickles or catchup. This makes a splendid and substantial luncheon dish for the boys.

Indian Tapioca Pudding.—Many of the boys are tired of the old fashioned Indian pudding that grandmother used to make, but this is sure to please them: Soak five tablespoonfuls of tapioca for two hours in water enough to cover it. Pour four cups of scalded milk over four tablespoonfuls of Indian meal mixed with three-quarters of a cup of molasses. Add half teaspoonful of salt and cook in double boiler for twenty minutes, stirring occasionally. Add the tapioca, which should be drained free from all water, and three tablespoonfuls of butter. Turn all out into buttered baking dish and pour over it a cup of cold milk, but do not stir it through. Bake in a very slow over from an hour to an hour and a half. Serve hot with thin cream.

JELLY MAKING.

A Labor Saving Device For the Housewife.

The preserving and jelly making season has come round again, and every woman who has attempted the task is well aware of the muscular effort which is required to strain the cooked pulp of grapes, currants or other fruit to separate the juice for the making of jelly. After depositing the pulp in a strong cloth sack it becomes necessary to treat the latter in about the same manner as the washwoman treats a sheet which she has just taken from the water to wring.



HEAVY RING REMOVES THE JUICE.

The harder it can be squeezed the more juice will there be for making the jelly, and so no effort is spared to collect all that the pulp contains. Should the idea of a woman prove practical for this purpose the above described method of treatment will no longer be resorted to, as the new method is obviously easier than the old. The woman's intention is to suspend the cloth sack, filled with the pulp, from a rod clamped to the table, with a heavy iron ring around the neck of the sack. This ring by the sheer force of its weight gradually settles downward over the bag, compressing its contents as it falls and pressing the juice into a receptacle placed beneath for the purpose. A contrivance of this order could be easily rigged up by the jelly maker herself.

The excise revenue of Canada for the last fiscal year totals $15,048,-859; a decrease of $929,613.

DANGER FROM ICE.

No Article of Food Is So Carelessly Handled.

A writer in the Atlantic Monthly emphasizes one cause of the danger of infection from ice.

Scarcely another article of human consumption receives so much direct handling just before its use as does this food. Milk and water, tea and coffee are poured. Bread, meat and butter are cut. Bread, probably handled more than any other food on the list, has a hard crust which offers a rather unfavorable lodging place for germ life. Ice, on the contrary, washes the hands of every person who handles it and affords an ever ready liquid medium for the immediate absorption of the hosts of bacteria which hands may carry. The carelessness of the handlers of ice, their utter disregard of the resting places where it may receive infection, may be partly due to their lack of realization that ice is a food, as real a food as meat. Whatever the cause, few substances which pass through the digestive processes of man receive such treatment. Its surface contaminated by the passage of men and horses in the cutting, its sides and base fouled by muddied platforms and smirched straw, covered with the filth of black ice cars and dust swept freight stations, your cake of ice commonly receives its only cleaning just before it enters the ice chest. So far as the iceman is concerned, this is generally a hasty brush with a time worn whisk broom well filled with the dust of the street and blackened with constant use. According to the personal testimony of various icemen, not even the precaution of a momentary washing beneath the faucet is ordinarily taken.

Calve's "Screaming."

I could talk for hours about my country and my own people. I am so fond of both. On my birthday many of them came in procession to see me and I danced what is called the "bourree" with them. They say such quaint things. An old woman once, hearing me sing, asked, "Doesn't it hurt you to scream like that?" A peasant once told me he was sure the proprietor of the grotto would give me 5 francs a day to sing there.—Calve in London Standard.

PROPOSITION TO CITY TO HAVE WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY

Company Offers to Erect Station Here at Once if City Will Contribute $2,500—Referred to Finance Committee.

Peterborough has an opportunity to have a wireless telegraphy station. A proposition to have a station located here has been made to the City Council, the city to contribute $2,500 to the cost.

The matter was referred to the Finance Committee.

The proposition has been received in the form of a letter from the Lepel Wireless System, which is in part as follows—

The company asked the city to consider the installation of a wireless telegraph system for Peterborough.

Some predominant features in favor of the Lepel Wireless System are:

A low tariff rate for messages, they being able to supply services to any point in the Dominion and to a large number of stations in the United States at a rate of one cent a word up to 25 words and one cent for every two words above that number, this rate being general and applying to service between two stations of the company, irrespective of distance.

Lepel wireless service is absolutely free from interference on account of weather or atmospheric conditions, there being no wires or poles to maintain and service being equally efficient under disturbed conditions of atmosphere as well as on clear days.

On the point of cost, the cost of installing the Lepel Wireless station, capable of sending and receiving 20,000 words per day of twelve hours, being from $1,500 to $2,500.

The company stated that if the city was prepared to spend that amount of money they would install the station at once.

WORK WILL LIKELY BE STARTED ON ISOLATION HOSPITAL THIS FALL

Specifications are to be secured for the new Isolation Hospital and it is probable that work on it will be started this fall.

At the meeting of the City Council last night Ald. Bradburn presented a report from the Property Committee recommending the adoption of the plans prepared by Architect Blackwell, the estimated cost being $12,000.

The report was carried on motion of Ald. Bradburn and Ald. Turner.

Ald. Hicks said he knew an isolation hospital was needed but he was not so sure about spending $12,000 on it. The fixed assessment of the city is increasing too rapidly and he would rather see a cheaper building put up at the present time in order to keep down the fixed assessment.

In reply to Ald. Hicks, Ald. Bradburn said he agreed with what Ald. Hicks said regarding keeping down the fixed expenditure. However, the Property committee had gone into the question very fully and had come to the conclusion that it would be cheaper in the end for the city to put up a good building at the present time. The cost of maintenance would be the same for a poor building as a good one. Speaking for the Property Committee, Ald. Bradburn said they would be willing to consider any suggestion that a member of the Council might make.

Ald. Hicks said he was not going to oppose the proposition, but he thought the expenditure should be considered.

The Mayor called on Dr. McPherson, Medical Health Officer, to outline what it was proposed to do. Dr. McPherson said the hospital was necessary and it would cost no more to maintain a good good building than it would a poor one. A better class of patients would be secured if the city had a good hospital and this class of patients would mean considerable revenue. There would be little revenue from the patients who would be sent to a poor isolation hospital.

Ald. Duffus asked what the cost of maintenance would be.

Dr. McPherson said this was a hard question to answer. It all depended on the number of patients. As to the equipment, it would cost around $2,000 to start. More could be added as it was required.

Ald. Morrow asked the Medical Health Officer if he were satisfied with the plans prepared.

Dr. McPherson—"Yes, we will have a very satisfactory hospital."

It was then decided to have specifications prepared at once.

J. B. GIBSON, V. S. WAS PASSENGER ON BOARD THE STEAMER "OHIO"

Which Went to the Bottom of the Pacific on August 26th—Had a Narrow Escape—Tells Peterborough Man of Disaster in Letter.

J. B. Gibson, who is well known in Peterborough, having been a student with Dr. Johnston, V.S., until he graduated from the Ontario Veterinary College a few months ago, was one of the passengers on the ill-fated steamer "Ohio," which struck a reef and went to the bottom of the Pacific Ocean on August 26th. G. F. Eccles, the Canadian wireless operator, who stayed at his post of duty till it was too late for him to save himself, was one of those who perished in the wreck. The "Ohio" went down on the edge of Millbank Sound, 250 miles south of Ketchikan. Dr. Gibson was on his way to Alaska, and had a narrow escape. He had been appointed veterinary inspector of a large contracting firm, who are doing work in Alaska, and was bound to the north when the wreck occurred.

Dr Johnston has received a letter from Dr. Gibson in which he tells about the wreck. He has also forwarded a copy of the Seattle Times in which an account of the disaster appears.

Part of the letter is as follows—

"I am alive all right, but I lost all my instruments and diplomas and clothes and all I had when it went down. It was an awful experience, and I hope never to have such a one again. When I got out of my bed at the call it made my hair stand on end. At 1.30 a.m.—it was rainy and very dark—the ship hit a rock. There was a panic and a rush for the lifeboats. They kept her going till 1.48 and then ran her ashore. At 2.15 she went down. There were four or five lost. I got into a boat, and we started for no one knows where. It was so dark that we felt like blind men groping about. At last the boat struck shore, and we landed on a desolate island. There we remained till we were picked up late the next day. It is easy to sit and write this, but I hope I never again see such a wreck."

The City Council was in session last night for three hours, and transacted considerable routine business. All the aldermen were in attendance except Ald. Duncan and Ald. McIntyre. It was nearly ten o'clock before the Council met in regular session, owing to the long discussion on the proposed thirty year agreement with the Peterborough Light & Power Co.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The following communications were received and dealt with;—

From the Board of Railway Commissioners of Canada, notifying the council that their application to construct a sewer under the G.T.R. tracks at Reid street had been granted.

From Sam Moore, applying for position of janitor of the new Public Library.—Property Committee.

From George W. Webb, applying for the same position.—Property Committee.

From R. H. Hunter, who is building a residence between London and McDonnel streets, on George street, contrary to the building by-law, asking to be allowed to proceed with work as at present. He pointed out the injustice of the fire by-law.—Fire, Water and Light Committee.

From Weir & O'Brien, coal and wood merchants, complaining about being taxed for street watering on Robinson street, and that street is not watered.—Board of Works.

From the Peterborough Cereal Company, enclosing the declaration which is required by the city before the fixed assessment is allowed.

From Mrs. John Cadogan, notifying the council that the sewer in Ward 5, which empties into the cesspool, was leaking into her well, and the water was not fit to use. If not remedied at once she would take action against the city for damages.—Board of Works.

From Charles McNeil, of Cavan, as follows;—

To the Mayor and Aldermen of the City of Peterborough.

Dear Sir,—I have learned with the deepest regret that you have decided not to make an appropriation to assist in the construction of the 14th concession road of Cavan. The council of the township of Cavan has spent a large amount of money to make this road feasable, and that too, with the assurances of assistance from your city. You cannot form an idea of the benefits your city derive without seeing for yourselves. What I would suggest is that the mayor and council fix a date to visit the work and notify the Cavan council and representatives of that body will meet you at Dunlop's Corners and show you what has been done already in the swamp. I feel sure that such a visit would be of interest to your honorable body as well as enabling you to form a more correct idea of the benefits the city will derive from this work. The Cavan Council will, I feel sure, defray the expense of such a trip, I mean the livery hire. Trusting that you will consider this matter favorably.

I remain,

Yours truly,
CHAS. McNEIL.

No action was taken on Mr. McNeil's letter.

BUILDING BY-LAW.

In reference to Mr. Hunter's letter, Ald. Turner said that the building by-law should be revised. He considered Mr. Hunter's claim a just one as it was not necessary to have the walls of a moderate sized dwelling as thick as called for in the by-law.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Ald. Morrow presented the following report from the Finance Committee;

The report was adopted.

Before the report of the Finance Committee was adopted, Ald. Turner asked, would it not be possible to grant the Peterborough fair more than $300. The Society had assumed certain liabilities of the Turf Club and needed all the assistance the city could give them.

Ald. Morrow said that $300 was the amount set aside for the fair in the estimates, and it was not possible to give them any more. The fund for special grants was exhausted. Ald. Morrow stated that two members of the exhibition board were on the Finance Committee, and one of them had moved, and the other seconded making the grant $300.

This ended the discussion on this matter.

After Ald. Phelan had read the report of the Board of Works, Ald. Morgan wanted to know why the sidewalk on Charlotte street between Park street and Maitland Avenue, had not been built, and why the sidewalk gang had not yet visited Ashburnham as instructed.

Ald. Phelan said the instructions were to build the sidewalks referred to by Ald. Morgan this season. The city clerk confirmed Ald. Phelan on this point.

A number of by-laws were passed and some other routine business transacted.

THAT WATCH OF YOURS

Is in many respects similar to a railway engine. Let an engine be run without oil or cleaning and before long it will stop dead. Upon examination it will be found that the friction and wear and tear has ruined the machinery, and it is fit only for the scrap iron heap. Likewise your watch. You put it in your pocket, and while there is a kick in it, you, in your mistaken economy, do not consult the watchmaker, and consequently rob your watch of years of good service and also much of its former accuracy. The time-keeping qualities of a good watch are maintained and often improved by timely and skilful attention. If you have been one of the neglectful ones call around and see us.

WEDDING BELLS

THORNTON—DAWE.

A quiet wedding took place this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. D. D. C. Dawe, 479 Gilmour street, when their youngest daughter, Nettie Gladys, was united in marriage to Mr. Wilbert Everett Thornton, son of Mrs. M. Thornton, by the Rev. G. H. Henderson, pastor of Charlotte street Methodist church. Both of the contracting parties were unattended, and the guests only included the immediate relatives. The bride looked pretty in a dress of cream silk eolienne, trimmed with embroidered chiffon and she carried a beautiful bouquet of roses and lilies-of-the-valley. At the conclusion of the ceremony, all present sat down to a wedding repast which had been prepared by Mr. T. Hooper, the tables and rooms being decorated with smilax and asters.

The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and useful presents, evidencing the high esteem in which she is held by a large circle of friends.

The groom, who is identified with the Dominion Express Company, is popular amongst his associates, and is a member oof the Belmont Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Thornton left on the 4.38 C.P.R. train for Detroit and points west, and on their return to the city will reside at 366 Rubidge st. The bride's going away suit was of amethyst cloth with hat to match.

KINGSCOTTE—NOYES.

A wedding of interest to the many friends of the contracting parties was solemnized at St. John's church this morning at 7.15, when Miss Carrie Noyes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Noyes, 224 Munro avenue, Ashburnham, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Charles Harris Kingscotte, son of Mr. Alf. Kingscotte. The Rev. Canon Davidson officiated at the ceremony. The newly wedded couple left on the eight o'clock C.P.R. train for Toronto and Niagara and on their return to the city will reside on Park st.

The bride received many handsome presents from her friends and relatives.

PETERBORO' AT TORONTO FAIR

Several local firms have excellent displays at the Toronto Fair, and the showing made is quite the equal of any on the grounds and in the buildings.

The Peterborough Canoe Company show several launches of the styles they are now offering. The modern finish, fittings of the boats are thoroughly up-to-date, and in every respect carrying the indications of thorough work. In addition the display of canoes, in several lines of the many for which this company is famous, were much admired. The exhibit is in the hands of one of their own people, and literature descriptive of the excellencies of the launches and canoes is distributed. The exhibit is one of the most noticeable in the new transportation building, where the space secured is ample to show the line to best advantage.

In a corner booth in the Process building is a capital exhibit of the familiar Quaker Oats. The passing crowd, coming in sight of the display invariably exclaim, "Oh, there's Quaker Oats." Sure enough. The familiar packages are piled up in attractive form and decorated with oats in the sheaf. The lettering of the sign is worked out in straw, trimmed with oats in the head. The sample packages given away are largely claimed and the display is doing good work in keeping before the public this standard breakfast food.

The Brinton Carpet Co. have come into the field as exhibitors and make a very fine showing. The experience of half a century's existence in Kidderminster, England, has been brought to the Canadian factory of the Brinton Carpet Company, of Canada, and shows in their display in the Manufacturing building. Many admiring comments have been made on the handsome display of soft, velvety carpets and rugs, the designs of which are of the highest excellence.

Turner & Sons, the well known sail, tent and awning men, have, as usual, an exhibit that well sustains their reputation. This year they have the lines of goods in larger number, showing the standard makes of tents. Also a novelty in a silk tent for mining and prospecting, which combines lightness and durability. A camp outfit attracts attention, as well as a complete set of signal flags. A feature of the exhibit is one of a consumptive hospital tent, constructed along the lines laid down as affording the maximum of comfort, and yet all the advantages of almost perfect outdoor life. These tents are coming into use in the treatment of cases of incipient and even acute consumption.

The G. Walter Green Co. have a very fine exhibit in the east end of Machinery Hall. The firm sent up a car load, including examples of sawmill, shingle mill and lath mill machines. These are shown in motion and attract much attention. They are much encouraged over the prospect of doing considerable trade as the result of this, their first showing at Toronto fair. While the expense of making the exhibit is heavy, the general publicity gained is well worth the outlay. Several orders were closed, and in addition, negotiations are going on for further sales.

Canners report that the Fraser river pack will not exceed 420,000 cases.

"ACCIDENTAL DEATH" WAS VERDICT OF NORWOOD JURY

Special to the Review.

Norwood, Sept. 7.—"We, the coroner's jury, after considering the evidence, find that Stella May Willoughby came to her death from being shot by Thomas George Willoughby accidentally and that Thomas George Willoughby died from paralysis of the heart, caused from the shock of said shooting."

The above is the verdict arrived at this afternoon by the coroner's jury at the adjourned inquest into the double tragedy which occurred at the Willoughby home, in the township of Dummer, about one and a half miles from this place, on the afternoon of Aug. 17th. The proceedings to-day were of a very brief and formal character, less than twenty persons, besides Coroner Gray, County Crown Attorney Wood, Constable Johnston, the two physicians, Drs. Sutton and Pettigrew, who conducted the postmortem examination, and the jurymen being present.

Dr. Sutton read the report of the analyst in Toronto who is acting for Dr. Ellis, during the latter's absence in England, which was as follows:—"I have made a chemical examination of the stomach, liver and other contents of the two jars you sent, according to your letters of the 18th inst., being from George Willoubgy, and find no indication of any poison."

Dr. Sutton stated that the examination made by Dr. Pettigrew and himself revealed a condition of paralysis of the heart, resulting from the shock which they considered to be the cause of Willoughby's death. The case was then given to the jury who returned in about fifteen minutes with the verdict as above.

THIEF GETS AWAY WITH A NORWOOD MAN'S MONEY

Special to the Review.

Norwood, Sept. 7.—Mr. Wm. Lennox, of King street, east, Norwood, had the misfortune a few nights ago to have $35.00 taken from his pocketbook while he was asleep at his home. Mr. Lennox, interviewed by your correspondent, said he retired to bed about at his usual time on Friday night the week before last, leaving his trousers with his pocketbook in the pocket lying over a stand in his bedroom with his window partly closed but not fastened. He did not miss the money until Saturday evening, when he was going to pay for something. He put his hand into his pocket to get his purse, and on opening it found it empty. He went home at once to investigate, and found traces of someone having entered his window, as some vines had been pushed aside. He made careful investigations and inquiry, but could find no clue to the perpetrator of the theft. He is, however, convinced that the thief is not a stranger to the village. His watch hanging to his suspenders, and a one dollar bill lying loose in his pocket, were untouched.

HUNTER HAD EPILETIC FIT IN LINDSAY JAIL

Lindsay, Sept. 7.—Joseph Hunter, the Bobcaygeon hotelkeeper, now in the county jail awaiting trial for murdering his wife some weeks ago at the Royal Hotel, Bobcaygeon, suffered an epileptic fit to-day while in jail.

The fit came very suddenly on Hunter, and may lead to very important results. The symptoms, according to medical authority, were obviously those attendant upon epileptic fits, and restoratives were at once administered, the man recovering shortly afterwards.

The attack was not a serious one, but he will be closely watched in the event of further attacks of this kind developing. Otherwise Hunter is in apparently good health.

Epilepsy is usually known as the "falling sickness," and the victim falls to the ground suddenly, going into paroxysms at intervals, and sometimes into unconsciousness for a short time. Convulsive motions of the muscles also characterize an attack from the disease.

SENT BACK TO THE COMMITTEE

Aldermen Want Some Changes in Agreement With L. & P. Co.

The City Council did not adopt the proposed agreement between the city and the Peterborough Light and Power Company at last night's meeting. In committee of the whole the agreement was taken up for two hours and it was decided to send it back to the Manufacturers' Committee. Some of the aldermen want a few minor changes made. The committee will go into the agreement further with the city solicitor and have a by-law drafted to be taken up by the Council at a meeting to be held for the purpose.

"BLACK FAST" TO BE OBSERVED

By Members of Catholic Cuhrch on Friday of This Week

On Friday next members of the Roman Catholic Church will observe what is known as a "black fast," so called because of the severity of the rules for its observance. The fast is to be observed as an offering of the whole people of the Church to ask Divine blessing on the Plenary or National Council of the Catholic Church in Canada, to be held in Quebec next week. The faithful are prohibited from eating meat of any kind, cheese, eggs, milk or butter, leaving them only fish, tea, coffee, bread, rice and cereals. The last black fast in Canada was held in 1901, the year of the Pope's Diamond Jubilee.

HOW LABOR DAY GAME LOOKED TO THE FANS FROM LINDSAY

Lindsay papers have the following comment in their reports of the T.A.S.-Lindsay game on Labor Day:—

THE WARDER.

The Lindsay team of baseball experts went to Peterborough yesterday and were beaten 5—4 by the T.A.S. team of that city, leaders of the City League.

Ten innings had to be played, and the score in the first half of the ninth was 4—2 in favor of Lindsay. Peterborough made a whirlwind finish and won out. At that, they had to work overtime and were exceedingly lucky to get away with the win at all.

A SURPRISE PACKAGE.

Lindsay's untrained outfit was a surprise to Peterborough. Not a solitary game has been played in this town all summer, but the instinct to play ball is latent in the inhabitants of this town.

Herby Hopkins showed speed, curves and brains in pitching for Lindsay. Quinlan was the only opposing batter to solve his delivery and he leaned against a couple of Hopkins' shoots for a three-bagger and a home run.

A DUMB PLAY.

Quinlan, the Peterborough slab artist, was not hit hard either, and the game was practically a pitcher's battle. A "dumb" play in the tenth at first and third lost the game for the Lindsayites.

It was hard luck and a sore handful of Lindsay fans saw the game slip away in the last when it should have been tucked away in the bat bag.

THE POST.

St. Peter's T. A. S. ball team, of Peterborough, received a bad scare Monday, when a scratch team from Lindsay played that organization a friendly game on Riverside Park, when the temperance advocates had to go ten innings to pull out a victory, the score being 5—4.

The T.A.S. team are champions of the City League and the members dish up a fair quality of ball. Quinlan, their slab artist, is the pick of the outfit. He pitches pretty good ball, but had the locals been in shape they would have been pounding him yet.

"Yebby" Flaherty held down second bag, and was warmly greeted by his Lindsay friends.

Lindsay had the game safely pocketed from the start, and the spectators began to look blue and did not relish the possibility of the locals defeating the abstainers. However, a couple of juicy errors turned the tide, and the joy in the T.A.S.' camp knew no bounds.

It was fortunate for the winners that the locals were not in shape or the slaughter among the "water waggon advocates" would have been terrible. Lindsay can pick up a team any time that can trim the Electric City bunch to the tune of ninety. Peterborough may not think so, but we can do it, nevertheless.

The boys were treated handsomely by the T.A.S. The crowd at the game treated the boys fairly, and while they would like to have pulled out a victory, still they were satisfied in having given their opponents a pretty stiff argument.

Mr. Danny McCabe, another old veteran of the Midland League, acted as umpire, and was called upon during the game to give several close decisions. He was generally satisfactory.

GOOD PRIZES ARE BEING OFFERED

For the Howden and Eastwood Trophy Competitions on Saturday

Much interest is being taken in the Howden and Eastwood trophy competitions which take place at Riverside Park on Saturday afternoon. The Howden cup is now on exhibition in the window of Henderson's jewelry store and the Eastwood trophy can be seen in the north window of the Peterborough Hardware Company. The following good prizes are offered in addition to the trophies—

Second place, Howden competition—Gillett razor.

Third place, Howden competition—Watch fob.

Second place, Eastwood trophy—Fountain pen.

Third place, Eastwood trophy—Sweater.

First place, men's half mile, open—Coat sweater.

Second place, men's half mile, open—Military hat brush.

First place, boys' quarter mile—Pair of skates.

Second place, boys' quarter mile—Pair running shoes.

Send in entries at once to the Y.M.C.A.

SPORTING TALK

Lindsay seems unable to purge itself of the village type of journalism. We were beginning to think better of the Lindsay scribes when along comes the Warder to-day with the following choice sample:

"A decision in the first made by Cross-Eyed Dan McCabe, erstwhile umpire, aroused Bill Cinnamon's ire and the wrath of all fair exponents and followers of baseball who witnessed it. Otherwise Dan was only fairly rotten."

Comment is unnecessary.

The teams in the Eastern League are good stickers, as far as position in the league race is concerned.

The T.A.S.' likely journey to Lindsay the latter part of the week and play a return game with Bill Cinnamon's outfit.

What is being done in Rugby circles these days? Nothing like getting a good start.

The game between the T.A.S. and West Ends, which had to be called off last Saturday, may be played at the Oval this coming Saturday, as the Riverside Park will not be available.

The entries are coming fast for the events which will be held at Riverside Park on Saturday. Some good running will make an agreeable change, just at this time of the year.

TERRIBLE DEATH OF YOUNG MAN

Nineteen Year Old Warsaw Youth Killed in Mill at Bridgeport

Warsaw, Sept. 8.—News was received here yesterday of the tragic death at Bridgeport, near Berlin, Ont., of Harold Payne, son of Mr. S. R. Payne, of Payne & Taylor, the local milling firm.

The young man was employed in the flour mills of Shirk & Snyder, of Bridgeport. He was drawn into the shafting by a belt making 200 revolutions per minute. The body was horribly mangled, the legs being severed below the hips.

The deceased was nineteen years of age and was well known in this district, as well as in Peterborough, where he attended the Collegiate Institute. His many friends will be deeply grieved to learn of the accident.

He is survived by his parents and one sister, in Warsaw. He was a first cousin of Mr. Ernest Payne, druggist, of Peterborough. The funeral will take place on Friday.

HAS SENT IN BILL TO CITY FOR $50.00

Thomas Mitchell, lessee of the city farm, has sent in a bill of $50 to the city council for damages sustained as a result of the small pox tents being located on the property which he has rented. The bill was presented at the meeting of the council last night and it was referred to the City Trust Commission. The Medical Health Officer, Dr. MacPherson, acting on the advise of the Mayor, has two qualified men go into the matter with a view to getting an opinion as to the justice of Mr. Mitchell's claim.

CANADA TIED HAND AND FOOT

London, Sept. 4.—In reference to the reported decision of the Canadian Government to refuse to support an Imperial cable service, the "Nation" says this has caused consternation among the Imperialists. Regarding the Times Canadian correspondent's suggestions that private business interests have tampered with the Government and that Sir Wilfrid Laurier is genuinely distrustful of all forms of public ownership, and has allowed their arguments to prevail with him, the "Nation" thinks the recent revelations of the power of commercial and financial companies to influence and direct the expenditure of the public resources of Canada will undisputably tend to the continuance of such explanation of the decision.

FRED JOPLING LEFT HOSPITAL

Returned to His Home in Bridgenorth Yesterday---Is Out of Danger

Fred Jopling, the young man who has been in the hospital here, suffering from blood poisoning, and who, it is stated, was implicated in the trouble at Chemong Park, which had such a fatal climax, was taken to his home at Bridgenorth yesterday, and his condition is very favorable.

The inquest, in connection with the death of Arthur Bollard, will be resumed Monday night.

Boy's Eye Was Put Out.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Sept. 8.—Playing in a barn yesterday afternoon, Leslie, the 13-year-old son of Edward Mears, found a cartridge and to test it he hammered it with an axe. The cartridge exploded and so severely injured the boy about the eyes, that it is thought he will lose the sight of one eye. He also sustained several wounds on the face and body. He was taken to Buffalo last night to an eye specialist.

Faith Cure Failed.

Welland, Ont., Sept. 8.—Ruth, the five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bechen, Crowland, is dead.

The child was taken ill, and last Tuesday Dr. Colbreck was called to diagnose the case, which he pronounced a bad case of diphtheria. The parents are members of a sect known as "Saints," and believe in prayer instead of medicine. They refused to have medicine or antitoxine for the child.

Port Hope, Ont., Sept. 8.—For failing to stop their automobile while passing a funeral, F. G. Kay of Pittsburg and A. E. Hamilton, his chauffeur, were fined $5 and $4.25 costs each in the Police Court.

The law requires that in the country the machine must stop and turn down a side street and the auto in question passed the funeral very slowly.

Philadelphia, Sept. 8.—Altberger, superintendent of the Philadelphia district of the Western Union Co., was arrested here last night and held in $5,000 bail on charge of diverting private information from the Western Union Co.'s wires.

Canada's Claim Good.

Ottawa, Sept. 7.—In official circles the view is expressed that even Peary's performance in again planting the Star and Stripes at the North Pole does not affect Canada's claim to all land lying to the north of the Dominion and east of Greenland. The idea was expressed by an eminent European authority the other day that the islands to the north constitute the Canadian Hinterland, and that is the argument advanced in support of Canada's claims.

Conductor Killed.

Kingston, Sept. 8.—Percy Treherne, aged 25, a street railway conductor, died yesterday from a fracture of the skull, sustained by a fall from his car Monday night.

Mexico City, Sept. 8.—It is believed by the authorities that the total casualties in northern Mexico from recent floods, will reach a total of not less than 3,000, making the record of deaths at Monterey and other points second only to the Johnstown disaster.

President Brown of the National Railway says the damage wrought is the worst in the history of the republic. One-third of the damaged section has not yet been heard from. The monetary loss to the residents is placed at $2,000,000, and this figure may be doubled when all the sections are published.

Mr. Reville Declined.

Brantford, Sept. 8.—A surprise was caused here yesterday when the announcement was made that F. D. Reville, recently appointed sheriff of this county, had declined the position, and that W. W. Ross, a local insurance underwriter, had been appointed. Mr. Reville will continue as editor of The Brantford Courier. The new appointee came here a few years ago from Hamilton.

Market In Newfoundland.

Ottawa, Sept. 8.—Canada's trade commissioner at St. John's, Nfld., J. E. Ray, is in Ottawa.

He states there have been some changes in the Newfoundland tariff. A reduction from 45 to 20 per cent. has been made on metal roofing and shingles. The rate on soap is changed from 40 per cent. ad valorem to 1 1-2 cents a pound.

There is an excellent market in Newfoundland for cordage. Agriculture is developing in Newfoundland, and there is a growing demand for Canadian agricultural implements. There is a growing demand also for cement.

To Offset the Starch.

Eleanor's mamma disapproved of her daughter making an entire meal of potatoes, because, she explained, there was so much starch in them. One day Eleanor was putting a great deal of butter on her potatoes. Her aunt remonstrated.

Eleanor said: "I have to. Mamma says they are too stiff."

"Why, Eleanor," said that lady in surprise, "I did not say so!"

"Why, yes you did," she replied. "You said there was too much starch in them."

A NEW EMBROIDERY.

Rope Stitch Designs Smart on Dressy Summer Frocks.

USED ON ALL MATERIALS.

Explicit Instructions For Doing the Rope Work—Braiding Patterns May Be Used For Embroidery Purposes. Mistakes Easily Remedied.

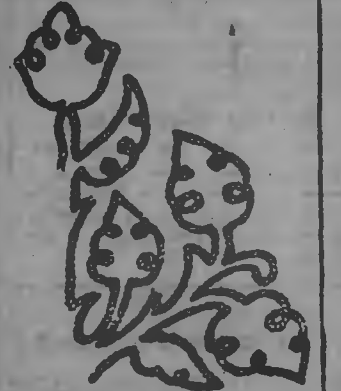
Embroidered dresses are again to be very much the fashion, and happy are those who know how to do them themselves, for when purchased ready embroidered the cost is not small.

Every one knows how to braid dresses. It is perfectly easy when once you have the pattern traced or ironed off on your material. Begin and end your braiding by pushing in the end with a large eyed needle and let the stitches made in running on the braid be firm.

But braiding patterns can be used for other than braiding purposes, and in our illustration you will see how well a transfer design looks when worked in a very simple stitch instead of braid.

In adapting a transfer design to the make of your dress you should study the pattern carefully and cut it out to fit the part you wish to embroider. Then pin it on the dress very carefully and iron off. If you make any mistake, however, and wish to get the tracing off, you can do so easily with benzine.

The rope stitch, which is illustrated, is the stitch used here. It is preferred to braid for many reasons. It comes cheaper than good silk braid and wears extremely well. Once you learn how to do it, as you easily can by studying the illustration, you can [illegible] and method of working to all kinds of materials and purposes.



ROPE STITCH EMBROIDERY.

For working rope stitch thread your needle and bring it out from the back to the front of the material.

Keep your thread under your needle and put your needle back where it came out from, bringing it out a little way down over the loop thus made.

You will then have formed exactly the kind of loop which is used for chain stitch.

In your next stitch you place your needle exactly as you see it in our illustration, behind the loop formed and not into it. If you were working chain stitch you would go into the loop. Please note the difference.

Your needle is put in at the left of the stitch and comes out a little below it.

Your thread is kept under your needle. Draw through and the stitch is done. Go on in the same fashion.

Tempting Dainties For Jaded Warm Weather Appetites.

A delicious vegetable salad was made of new potatoes, young carrots and celery roots boiled, drained and set aside until cold. They were then cut in thin slices, and thin slices of cold boiled tongue and tart apples were added. The dressing was made of olive oil and tarragon vinegar blended in the proportions of three tablespoonfuls of oil to one of vinegar. Salt, pepper and a little French mustard were added to season. A salad bowl was lined with crisp, new lettuce leaves, and the salad was turned into the bowl and sprinkled over the top with minced parsley. Toasted crackers and cheese were served with it.

Scrub the rough surface of cantaloupes until thoroughly clean and pack in ice. When they are chilled through cut in half, remove the seeds and pack the centers with vanilla ice cream. Put two or three whole maraschino cherries on the top and serve on individual plates with a paper doily under each and a nasturtium and leaf at the side.

A delicious French dish consists of French plums stuffed with whole almonds, dipped in olive oil and roasted on a broiler over the fire, then rolled in thin slices of bacon and grilled. They should be served piping hot.

Cold slaw served in green pepper shells makes a tasty and attractive luncheon dish. Take a small, firm head of cabbage and shred fine with a sharp knife. Add to this chopped hard boiled eggs. Mix with a dressing made of a cup of sour cream, a tablespoonful of sugar, salt and pepper and a cup of vinegar. Stuff the green pepper shells and serve on individual plates with hot buttered toast.

The Regimental Barber.

A major in an English regiment has a great contempt for incapacity of any kind and is somewhat impatient. A sergeant complained to him that he could get no man to undertake the duty of barber to the company.

"Is there no gardener in the company?" asked the major testily. "See if you can find one, and send him to me."

The man was duly sent, but on receiving orders to act as barber ventured to expostulate.

"Great guns!" cried the major. "If you can cut grass you can cut hair! Go and do it!"

A burglar entering a house by a ladder in a small Prussian town fell and broke his leg when making off with his booty. An inquiry into the accident revealed that, contrary to the bylaws of the town, the house owner's ladder was not provided with strong iron spikes at its base. The house owner was therefore ordered to pay all the hospital costs and further to give the burglar a substantial sum.—London Standard.

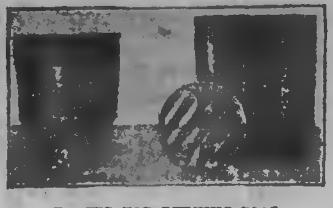
FIGHTING FROST IN ORCHARDS

Devices In Use by Fruit Growers In Colorado.

Frost season comes twice a year. The first is over; the last is in the future. But it is never too late to prepare for the next season. Early in the spring of the current year several Colorado fruit growers equipped their orchards with the so called California oil orchard heaters. One man who tried the pots bought enough equipment to protect ten acres. He was new at the work and did not have proper oil, so a portion of the time he was obliged to burn kerosene. But in spite of the fact that the thermometer fell to 23 for three or four nights in succession he was able to save the entire crop of apples on the protected area, while the fruit on the rest of his orchard which was not so protected was entirely lost. The expense for equipment and labor in this case was about $1,000, but it resulted in an $8,000 crop. This was certainly cheap insurance, and the pots are ready for future use. In another orchard the owner succeeded in saving an enormous crop of fruit, while just across a barbed wire fence in adjoining orchards the crop was an entire loss.



HEATER FOR BURNING COAL.

Since then a number of forms of heaters, both coal and oil, have been invented, and many people have equipped themselves with these appliances. The oil heaters, which were first used, are about the size and form of a ten pound lard pail made of light sheet iron. If the burning surface is much larger the heat produced is too great and the beneficial results are lost. These heaters will burn from three to five hours without refilling. In planning to protect the orchard in this way Colorado growers are using 100 of the oil pots per acre. It probably will not be necessary to use this entire number except in exceptional cases, but should that occasion arise they think it is a better plan to be ready. But for light frosts perhaps half of this number will be lighted at first; then as they burn out the other portion may be used. In this way the work of refilling can be accomplished without difficulty.

COAL HEATER.

Common forms of crude petroleum are not satisfactory, for the reason that when the oil and pots become hot the oil boils over, causing much waste and loss of heat. Growers find, however, that what is known as gas oil is fairly free from this trouble, and it is the form they are now using in Colorado. It has also been demonstrated that coal pots will answer the purpose just as well as oil, but whether they will be as efficient in practice remains as yet to be seen. Colorado coal is semi-hard, lights almost as easily as wood and is therefore quite different from anything that is found in the east.

Of course the conditions of climate in Colorado are very different from those found in the east, and it may be that the western methods must be modified, but there would seem to be no reason why something of this kind might not be devised which would be practical in protecting truck crops, small fruits and even large orchards if it were thought advisable. The illustrations are so simple as to require no explanation.

Culture of Chives.

The culture of this plant is simple, as it will grow in any ordinary garden soil. It is usually propagated by division of the roots, because it does not seed readily. The roots or clumps of roots may be purchased at moderate prices. The clumps should be planted in beds about nine inches apart in rows which are two feet apart. The planting may be done in either spring or autumn. The chives may also be planted in the border of the vegetable garden and make an excellent border. As a border plant the clumps should be planted about six inches apart. The leaves will grow thickly and form a dense green mat.

Agriculture Taught.

Oklahoma is the only state which requires the teaching of agriculture in all country schools. The courses include agriculture, horticulture, stock raising, fertilizers, dairying, drainage, irrigation and grazing.

Nutrition In Milk.

In nutrition a quart of milk is said to equal a pound of beefsteak or two pounds of bread. A pound of beefsteak costs from 10 to 30 cents and two pounds of bread from 10 to 12 cents.

The Wolf In Disguise.

Once upon a time a wolf who was going after the farmer's chickens took the advice of a fox and disguised himself in sheep's clothing.

"For," said the fox, "if the dogs see you they will take you for a harmless lamb and let you pass."

When the disguised wolf was near the chicken house he heard the dogs bark and saw them running toward him at the top of their speed.

"I am a fool," said the wolf. "For now the dogs think I am a lamb and have no fear of me. I will change my mind, get out of this incumbering clothing and make a winning fight."

But before he could get the garment off the dogs were upon him and took his life.

BOARD OF EDUCATION CONSIDER COMMUNICATIONS

Reports Read and Adopted at Last Night's Meeting—Report by Officer Who Inspected Collegiate Cadet Corps — Other Business.

The Board of Education held a short session last night, when different reports were read and acted upon. A number of communications were before the meeting, and these were dealt with as follows:

To the Chairman and Members of the Board of Education—

Gentlemen,—I wish to present, as briefly as possible, the following facts. We had a record first day's attendance this morning, of 340. We are overcrowded in the first forms. In I B we had 44, and in I C 50, and we will have more during the next few weeks. This congestion can be relieved only by the opening up of another room. Section 18, sub-section 4 C, of the new regulations reads as follows: "Schools in which any of the forms or classes are so large as to interfere with the efficiency of the teaching shall not be approved. In schools with five or more teachers the total number on the roll at any one time shall not exceed an average of 30 to each teacher."

The very first day we have an average of 84.

According to the Department Text Book regulations the editions of text books no longer authorized, which were in use before July 1st, 1909, and the continued use of which is recommended by resolution of the Board of Trustees on or before the re-opening of the schools in September, shall be deemed authorized for such school until their authorization is cancelled by the Minister of Education. I wish the Board to recommend the continued use of the Primary Latin book in the middle school, and the High School Arithmetic in Form II and Form 3 A. This will save the pupils the cost of the new books in these subjects in these rooms.

The same regulations say that the Board of Trustees shall provide in the school library a supply of the chemistry manuals sufficient for class use by the pupils who shall not be required to buy it. Forty copies will be required, and they cost twenty cents each.

We had last year 150 boys in the cadet corps. We have only 50 rifles. As the report of the inspecting officer says, the others should have rifles. These are supplied by the government, but racks will be necessary for them.

Arthur Rosborough won the Nicholls scholarship in the honor matriculation examinations, securing 740 marks on ten papers, an average of 74 per cent. Margaret Anderson won the Nicholls scholarship in the junior matriculation examinations, obtaining 1009 marks on 14 papers, an average of 72 per cent. The winners of the other two scholarships have not yet been announced by the department.

I should like the use of the armories for the boys' physical culture classes during September and October, as we have not suitable room in the Collegiate building.

I would also direct the attention of the Board to the following note in the new regulations 30, 2: "After August, 1911, a Collegiate Institute which has not provided a gymnasium satisfactory to the Minister of Education shall forfeit its status." Would it not be possible to arrange with the Y.M.C.A. authorities for the use of their gymnasium from November to April in the meantime?

Your obedient servant,
H. R. H. KENNER.

A motion was made to the effect that clause two of the above be acted on at once. The motion was seconded and carried.

Clause two recommends the continued use of the Primary Latin book in the middle school and the High School arithmetic in Form 2 and Form 3 B.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From C. W. James, acting Deputy Minister of Education, enclosing a report of the inspection of the Collegiate Cadet Corps by the inspecting officer, Lieut.-Col. T. D. R. Hemming, in June last. Every detail of the drill is reported excellently, and in the general remarks Lieut.-Col. Hemming states great progress has been made by the local cadet corps. The officers and section commanders are well up in their work, good word of command and lots of control. All ranks are very steady, and Col. Hemming speaks particularly of the good work of Lieut. J. E. Hodgson, who deserves very great credit for the organization and drill of the corps.—Received.

From the firms of McGregor & Reid and Adamson & Dobbin, stating their offers to instal drinking fountains in the King Edward School—No action was taken.

From Geo. W. Hofferd, Toronto, accepting appointment on teaching staff of the Collegiate Institute—Received.

From Misses E. H. Emmerson and Ethel Alford, accepting appointments on the teaching staff of the Public schools.—Received.

From Miss G. G. Davidson, teacher in the city kindergarten, asking for a year's leave of absence, dating from October 1st.

The Board did not feel disposed to grant this request are owing to the fact that the services of another teacher to fill the vacancy that would be made by Miss Davidson's absence could not be readily secured.

WHAT ARE THEY WORTH?

Are the eyes worth at least five hundred dollars per year to any man, woman or child? You would spend five dollars per year upon them if necessary, would you not? How much do they cost you? How much do you spend for your feet, your hats, your teeth, etc.? Some wait until they must see about their eyes and would give hundreds of dollars, but find it too late. Many parents bring their children that we may examine their eyes and see whether or not they need glasses. In childhood is the time to both remedy and prevent eye troubles. Again we ask what are your eyes worth to you and what to the child? We devote exclusive attention to the fitting of eyeglasses and artificial eyes.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 9.—At eleven o'clock last night detectives arrested Dr. George A. Fritch, No. 655 Trumbell avenue, charged with the murder of Mabel Millman, whose dismembered body was found in the Marsh on Monday.

He is a Canadian, his old home being at Drumbo, Ont., where his relatives still reside. He is considered wealthy.

The arrest was based on a story told the police by Martha Henning, and was only obtained after a gruelling inquisition.

The case may yet possess further peculiar Canadian interest, owing to the fact the the police are looking earnestly for William Desmond, a 19-year-old boy, whose home is in Toronto, and who disappeared at identically the same time as did Miss Millman.

Desmond, according to a story told the police by his brother-in-law yesterday, was deeply enamored of an Ann Arbor girl, and this girl left her home on this same day as Miss Millman, and started for Detroit to meet Desmond. Her name is not known.

By concealing the real purpose of her visit to Detroit, and deceiving her mother and intimate friends, Mabel Millman unwitting shielded her murderers. The Detroit authorities expect that the receipt for the registered letter she received at her home in Ann Arbor, will definitely disclose the identity of the person and persons responsible for her death.

During the two weeks that Miss Millman roomed with her chum, Martha Henning, in this city, she did not mention the secret trouble that is believed to have brought her to her death. Miss Millman and Miss Henning had been very close friends in Ann Arbor, and Miss Millman told her mother the day she started to Detroit, August 13, that Miss Henning had sent her the money to make the visit. This Miss Henning absolutely denies.

Dr. W. S. Grimes, county physician, who made the postmortem, says that the body was dismembered by a surgeon or an advanced medical student. The head was cut off evenly at the shoulders, at a slight slant and the arms were removed at the sockets. The body was then cut in two, an inch and a half below the ribs. The legs were amputated an inch below the knees and a saw was used to sever the bones. The cuts were sharp and clean.

The distorted features and the clenched hands indicate that the girls died either after a desperate struggle or in great agony. Dr. Grimes believed the girl died while under an operation.

POWER NOT UNLIMITED IS THE ANSWER OF SIR JAMES

There Was a Limit, Said Sir James, to the Powers of Any Government—He Would Withdraw Grant From Hospital Refusing Tuberculosis Patient.

Toronto, Sept. 9.—Sir James Whitney did not give an enormous amount of encouragement to a deputation of about forty representing the Association of Ontario Municipalities for the Betterment of Consumptives which waited upon him yesterday, asking that the Government establish two or more sanitaria where indigent patients could receive proper treatment.

Dr. Lockhart, Hespeler, introduced the deputation. He said that state sanitaria formed the best means for fighting the disease. They were anxious for the Government to take hold of the question, and if it did not think the suggestion of the association best, to adopt what it (the Government), was assured would be the best method of procedure. He thought there was wisdom in not acting too hastily. The difficulty appeared to him to be in the fact that indigent cases did not reach the physician until an advanced stage had been reached, and hospitals did not care to received advanced cases.

"There is no room for argument for the need of some improvement in the treatment of the disease," declared Sir James Whitney in reply, "but I think we can trust medical science to keep pace with the times. There is nothing easier for men or municipalities to say 'Let us get the Government to take hold of this thing'." He thought there was a limit to the powers of any Government. The Government must face the question from the standpoint of an ordinary business transaction. The Government is a trustee for the people and must not fritter away their money. Within the last five years many heavy responsibilities had been placed upon them.

"Supposing we have the means, where are we to stop? Why not open a sanitaria for smallpox?" the Premier continued.

A voice: "That is not a parallel case."

The Premier was in favor of withdrawing the grant from any hospital that refused to take in a tuberculosis patient.

"It has been suggested," observed Sir James, "that when a doctor finds tubercular in the system of a patient, he should notify the Government; which would send down—not to him—but to the patient, a mass of papers to be read by the women in the post-offices, that he may be boycotted in the neighborhood. It is monstrous, gentlemen!"

In promising consideration to the argument, the Premier concluded by saying that it would not do for them or the people of the country to run away with the idea that the Government had only to look at the disease, and then spend money without considering the finances of the province.

FARMERS' OUTLOOK IS BAD SAYS GRANGE PRESIDENT

Says Weeds are Increasing on Ontario Farms While the Number of Men to Cope With the Conditions is Growing Smaller.

Toronto, Sept. 9.—That Ontario is yearly losing ground as an agricultural province because farming does not receive the consideration given by the Government to other industries, was the somewhat jarring note struck by E. C. Drury, master of the Dominion Grange at the Farmers' Day directors' luncheon at the Exhibition yesterday. The guests included Hon. James Duff, Provincial Minister of Agriculture, and G. C. Creelman, president of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph. Vice-President J. G. Kent was chairman.

E. C. Drury, master of the Dominion Grange, said that while agriculture was a basic industry and the agricultural college was doing great work, he felt pessimistic over the outlook. Farming conditions in Ontario were not what they should be. General farming industry was not prospering as it ought. The majority of Ontario farms were not making a dividend equal to four or five per cent. on the capital invested. The majority of farmers were going back despite the excellent instruction. Weeds were increasing, while the number of men to cope with the conditions was growing less. It might be a surprise to many people to know that the agricultural population of the province was decreasing at the rate of 6,000 a year. This was not due to farming machinery, but because farmers were not able to hold their own in competition with other industries. In the interests of the country, it was time that the farmer should be given a square deal. Urban industries were protected by tariff and bonuses given iron and steel mines, and the farmer had to bear the burden. The great papers were not in touch with the farmer and the urban population took no interest.

FOUND DEAD IN BOX CAR

Colin Gordon Had Suicided by Drinking Carbolic Acid.

Toronto, Sept. 9.—With his cap pulled over his face and his hands clasped on his breast, as if in prayer, Colin Gordon, 10 Law street, ward seven, was found dead in a Grand Trunk Pacific freight car on the St. Clair avenue siding about 7 o'clock last night. Burns on his chin suggest suicide by carbolic acid.

The body was discovered by John Hyslop and William Henderson, employes of the Union Stock Yards, who went to the car to get some hay.

It is quite evident that the body must have been in the car since morning. Gordon's lunch basket, unopened, was by his side. Coroner Dr. Clendenan was sent for and after examining the body, had it removed to Speers' undertaking parlors. Deceased, who was 49 years old, leaves a widow and two children, a boy 16 years old and a girl about 5.

Two months ago Mr. and Mrs. Gordon's 16-year-old daughter died of typhoid fever, and the father has been in poor health ever since and complained of insomnia. His daughter's death seemed to have been a heavy blow.

It is a somewhat striking coincidence that within the last four years there have been two or three deaths in this family, and not one of the deceased persons died at home. A little over a year ago Mrs. Gordon's mother died while visiting in England, her daughter Edna died in the Toronto Junction Hospital on Pacific avenue two months ago. Now the father is found dead in a freight car.

Dr. Clendenan notified Chief Coroner Johnston, who will decide, after hearing full particulars, whether or not an inquest will be hed.

PROBABILITIES.

Moderate winds, fair, with showers during the night and on Friday.

PEARY COMING HOME SLOWLY

Red Bay, Labrador, Sept. 9.—Commander E. Peary, homeward bound on the steamship Roosevelt, arrived yesterday at Battle Harbor, just above the opening of the Straits of Belle Isle, and approximately 65 miles above this point. As the telegraph station at Chateau Bay 35 miles northeast of here is closed the "Roosevelt's" next stop will likely be here, although it was at first intended that she stopped at the former place.

Coal is direly needed on board, and it is reported, that part of the vessel's woodwork has been used as fuel.

AIRSHIP SKIMS ST. LAWRENCE

Quebec, Sept. 9.—News has just leaked out that Laureate Le Clerc, an employe of the Canadian Northern, is the inventor of an airship which made a flight from the Plains of Abraham across the St. Lawrence, landing at the drydock at St. Joseph de Levis, about five miles. Towards midnight the same night he ascended again and made a flight northwards towards Montmorency Falls, and doubled the Island of Orleans. This is said to be the seventh ascension. He proposes a more ambitious flight Sunday next.

FARMERS' DAY AT EXHIBITION

Toronto, Sept. 9.—Despite the note of warning not infrequently struck within the past few years that the agricultural community of Ontario is being depleted through the lure of the western wheat fields. Farmers' Day at the Exhibition overtopped last year's record attendance by 5,000, which seems to indicate that "Canada's Greatest" goes serenely on its march of progress in face of all circumstances.

The cold statement of cash receipts for the day was not ready last night, but they probably exceed $20,000, as against $18,800 last year. Treasurer Brintnall said the takings at the Dufferin street gate were greater than those of all the gates last year. Grandstand receipts were also in excess, a splendid crowd of at least 20,000 enjoying the performance with its especially liberal display of fireworks.

Among the visitors were: Hon. Charles Murphy, Secretary of State, and W. S. Calvert, M.P., Liberal whip. They were invited to remain for the evening, but had to leave early to catch a train for Ottawa.

Casualties were almost nil, not a single accident of at all serious nature being reported. The police and firemen also had an off day.

MADE A RECORD AEROPLANE FLIGHT

Aldershot, Eng., Sept. 9.—During a dead calm at an early hour yesterday morning, Capt. F. S. Cody, the American aeroplanist who has been in the service of the British army for a number of years, achieved what is believed to be the world's record for a cross-country flight in an aeroplane. In the big and cumbersome machine which is his own invention, Cody remained in the air for one hour and three minutes, covering over forty miles. His machine at times rose to an altitude of 400 feet, and traveled occasionally at the rate of fifty miles an hour. Cody had to land because his fuel gave out.

MISREPRESENTATION IS THE ALLEGATION

Hamilton, Sept. 9.—George S. Kerr, acting for R. S. Morris, yesterday filed the particulars in the charges of bribery, corruption and misrepresentation in his action to restrain the city from entering into a contract with the Hydro-Electric Commission. None of the names of those who were bribed or corrupted were given, but T. J. Stewart, M.P., and Ald. A. J. Wright, are charged with misrepresentation in their addresses before the public before the bylaw was submitted. The alleged misrepresentation consisted in stating that the city would not be put to any expense in taking power from the commission; that the Cataract Co. was using within six per cent. of the total amount of water, it was allowed by the Government to generate power, and that the street lighting contract made in July 1908 was not binding on the city. Mr. Stewart stated, when acquainted with the charge made against him, that be would back up his statements.

A clause in the will says: "To my wife Matilda I give and bequeath one-third of the proceeds of the sale of my house and lot in Richmond Hill as soon as possible after the sale thereof; also one-third of the net proceeds of the sale of my farm, as aforesaid stated, if at that time she is still my widow, and has up to that time lived a consistent life; also a wood cook stove and a small heating stove."

SCOTLAND GETS THE CONTRACT

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 9.—The local Government have accepted the tender of Thomas Nelson and Sons of Edinburgh, Scotland, for supplying the primer, and first and second readers, which books are now being distributed free to the school children of Manitoba. Theirs was lowest and most satisfactory tender submitted. The contract is for ten years, and also provides for supplying third and fourth year readers, if the Government decide to place these books on the free text list.

All the well-known publishers in the Dominion submitted tenders. One of the conditions was to state the price f.o.b. Winnipeg, and even at this the Scotch firm was away the lowest of them all.

SAT ON TRACK; WENT TO SLEEP

Detroit, Sept. 9.—A Traverse City, Mich., special says:

Sent back to flag an approaching passenger train and protect a freight train, which was trying to make the side track, John A. McClurg, aged 25, a Grand Rapids and Indiana Railway brakeman, went to sleep on a side track and was struck by the north-bound passenger train. He was brought to the hospital here in a serious condition.

McClurg says he was worn out from overwork and sat down on the ties to rest. The passenger engineer saw the man on the track, but could not stop his engine in time to avoid hitting him.

As had he not been seen on the rails, the passenger train, which was running at a high speed, would have crashed into the freight just around the curve.

He then drove to town in the buggy, and it is alleged, forged and cashed a check for $60. He left the horse and buggy at a livery stable, said good-bye to a number of friends and took the train east. Roper informed his friends that he was going to Montreal, but he left the train at Winnipeg, where he was arrested.

Beverly, Mass., Sept. 9.—Commander Peary yesterday delivered the North Pole to President Taft, who replied, congratulating the explorer, but declaring he did not know exactly what he could do with the pole. The message read: "Have honor place North Pole your disposal."

Taft replied: "Thanks for your interesting and generous offer. I do not know exactly what I could do with it. I congratulate you sincerely on having achieved, after the greatest effort the object of your trip, and I sincerely hope that your observations will contribute substantially to scientific knowledge. You have added lustre to the name 'American'."

The Daily Review

THURSDAY, SEPT. 9, 1909.

LITTLE CANADIANISM

The Examiner touched a raw spot in the feelings of the great majority of empire-building Canadians when it called all those not in favour of a wholly Canadian navy, our own and always under our own control, little Canadians. But the little Canadian is not he who wants to see a great British Empire, of which Canada shall form a part and take her share in the world's affairs, but he who is so scrupulously regardful—or pretends to be—of Canadian autonomy—i.e. independence—that he will not bind Canada to take part in an imperial war. If that is to be Canada's attitude, what share can she possibly take in the empire's development? No empire is possible under such conditions. Such conditions make for little Canadians of the rankest type. And what is more, such conditions do not form the gist of Canadian public opinion. The Examiner has broached the real issue now arising before the people. Are we to say to Great Britain: "We will not take part in imperial wars," or shall we say: "Always ready and willing in defence of the Empire!" We do not say that "the Empire forever!" is the rallying cry of the Conservative party, but we do say that is the rallying cry of all good British-Canadians.

A GREAT WORK

The C.P.R. has issued a most artistic booklet entitled, "Welfare Work." As its name implies it has to do with the welfare of the 70,000 men employed by it. It is defined by the company as "the efforts of the management on behalf of the employee over and above the payment of wages, in making him more comfortable and contented with his work and robbing old age of its terrors by means of a pension-fund."

The C.P.R. finds that care, discipline and kindly attention pay. The class of work done by any of the employees is higher on this account than it would otherwise be. Although this great railway has an excellent reputation with its men for fair treatment, still it is an interesting phase of the modern theory of efficiency that a man must not only be competent, but happy. A discontented workman is no help to any company. Nature prompts him to get back at those who treat him unjustly, and while some men will always be found who do not appreciate decent treatment they are very few and do not by any means represent the "public opinion" of workers.

German "efficiency" has become a proverb. The French and Americans are imitating it and it is infecting Britain and Canada as well. Work well done is an education in itself, both mental and moral. However Jack must have his off hours and even these the company provides for. Home-life for the employee becomes something worth while. It is a great and pleasing advance towards the goal in Canada of fair-play and decent treatment. When the stock-gambling capitalist is removed from the scene as a nuisance and a curse to legitimate trade the acme of efficiency will be reached. It is necessary also that religion should be provided for the workers, not as an expensive luxury on which the designing money-bags keeps a string by means of his hand-outs, but as an atmosphere of "sweetness and light" in which all will in the end wish to dwell and rejoice.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The new beer-tax in Germany has driven the people to—milk.

We would advocate, as Dooley might say, the buildin' of a new shed, in place of the "palace" now in use at the Central Exhibition.

His Majesty, King Edward, is pronounced by his medical adviser to be in perfect health. May he live to be the first head of a United Empire!

Reports show that the auto has practically driven farmers' wives and daughters off the road altogether and deprived them of much pleasure.

"The Australian Premiers have," says the Daily Chronicle, "met in conference and passed resolutions the effect of which will be a sweeping industrial revolution in the Commonwealth. Wages Boards are to be universally established throughout all the districts of each State, and the Commonwealth Parliament is to establish an Industrial Tribunal of Appeal with power to adjudicate on the awards made by the local boards when these produce unfair inter-State competition. It is, however, uncertain whether an amendment of the Constitution will not be necessary to complete the industrial powers of the Australian Federation. Mr. Deakin describes these resolutions as the greatest advance made in the path of social reform for a decade. Tasmania, which up to the present time possesses no Wages Boards will introduce legislation with the object of establishing them this year."

A NEGLECTED DETAIL.

An Old Custom That Should Be Systematically Broken Up.

There's one much neglected detail in the general routine of kitchen work—so few housekeepers ever take it into consideration at all—the rinsing of dishes. They make the demand of their servants that dishes be rinsed, and they even provide the second large dishpan or waiter for the very purpose. Perchance they extract a promise from the lately hired domestic or their confidence in a tried and true one bridges the difficulty.

But have you happened to see this done, this rinsing, in some well regulated households?

The extra pan is used or the waiter—even both may be called into service—but to what purpose when every dish as it is washed is turned right side down to drain, an old, old fashioned custom which seems to have firmly fastened itself upon the average household assistant.

Does the rinsing not take place eventually? Oh, my, yes! The scalding water is religiously poured over the dishes, cleansing the undersides of them and reheating them so that they are perfectly easy to polish. The conscience of the promiser is easy as well, but it remains for the housekeeper to suggest the upturning of her dishes.

Things Worth Knowing.

Salts of lemon will remove ink stains from wooden floors. Use two tablespoonfuls to a quart of water and use no soap.

A flat trunk tray kept in the laundry will prove a great convenience. The napkins, doilies, lunch cloths, etc., may be laid out on it in neat separate piles.

Cut flowers may be preserved for an unusually long time if a little saltpeter or carbonate of soda is added to the water. Salt also helps to keep them fresh.

HURT BY A FLYING COW

Pontiac, Mich.—Louis Barton lies in a critical condition as the result of a most unusual accident. While driving cows across the Northwestern Railroad tracks, one of the cows was struck by a train and thrown three rods. During its flight through the air, the cow struck Mr. Barton, who is now suffering from concussion of the brain.

It is the unexpected that happens. Mrs. R. C. Small of Ottawa, Ont., says: "I suffered from Rheumatism for years and did not expect to be free from pain, but I tried "Fruit-a-tives" and they cured me".

Hundreds of others write similar stories. After suffering for years, paying heavy doctor's bills, and trying all sorts of remedies without benefit, they are cured by "Fruit-a-tives".

For Stomach, Liver and Bowel Troubles, Headaches and Backaches, Neuralgia and Rheumatism "Fruit-a-tives" may be depended upon to effect a speedy and permanent cure.

50c a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial size, 25c.—At dealers or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

White paint when dirty should be washed with milk, which will effectually remove the dirt. Colored paint may be treated in a similar way with cold tea, which is an excellent solvent.

Clean mahogany with cold drawn linseed oil and polish with clean cloths.

Marble should be washed with ammonia and water rather than with soap and water.

White veils dipped into skimmed milk and pinned upon a sheet will be as fresh and crisp as new when they dry.

Kerosene will polish zinc if it is rubbed on with a soft cloth until clean and the zinc is then washed in boiling water.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Sept. 8.—(Special.)—At the Canadian Pacific live stock market this morning the offerings were 900 cattle, 500 sheep, 600 lambs, 1000 hogs and 250 calves. There was no important change in the condition of the market for cattle since Monday, prices being well maintained at the advance noted then, owing to the fact that the demand was good from local buyers, of which the gathering was large, and on the whole a very active trade was done. Choice steers sold at 5c to 5¼c, good at 4½c to 4¾c; fair at 4c to 4¼c; medium at 3½c to 3¾c; cows at 3c to 4¼c, and canners at 1½c per lb.

There were no new developments in the hog situation, prices being firm at the late advance. The supply was only fair, for which the demand was good, and an active trade was done, with sales of selected lots at $9 to $9.25 per 100 lbs., weighed off cars. Supplies of sheep and lambs were larger, but, as the demand was ample to absorb them, a steady feeling prevailed in the market, and prices showed no change. Sheep sold at 3¾c to 4c, and lambs at 6c to 6¼c per lb. Calves met with a fair sale at prices ranging from $3 to $8 each.

HUNTERS

Something About Moose and Deer

It is now pretty well known among hunters that the best deer hunting country in Ontario is on the line of the Canadian Northern Ontario and that hunters receive special attention. Mr. C. Price Green, Passenger Agent of the line is a hunter himself who goes right with the parties and looks after them, in fact he located most of them. This year the line will be opened north of Sellwood into the midst of the Moose Country, they are reported very thick, the Engineers say that they have never seen anything like it, the Moose season up there opens October 15th, fifteen days before the Deer. We have something special on a new place that will take three parties of deer hunters.

LINDSAY AFTER NEW INDUSTRY

Firm is Seeking a Location and Lindsay Wants the Factory

Lindsay, Sept. 8.—Lindsay may secure a new industry. A firm manufacturing corrugated steel pipes for culverts and drainage purposes is seeking a location in this part of Ontario. This firm has a factory in Stratford.

Mr. Jas. Fleury, of town, met an agent of the firm in Toronto and suggested Lindsay as a most suitable town in which to build a factory and received the promise that the town would be visited anyway. An exhibit will be placed at the fair here this fall.

Mayor Begg, who is in Toronto today, will look the agent up and discuss the matter with him further. It is hoped the culmination will be that a new factory will be erected here.

THE PRETTY GIRL IN BUSINESS

(New York World.)

Does the pretty or homely girl succeed better in business?

Most women would reply that in business controlled by men the prettiest girl would be selected from the applicants for a job, and after she was employed she would have the speediest promotion. This feminine answer would be because most women knew men better socially than in a business way, and the social preference of men is for pretty girls.

This answer overlooks that men are in business to make money and not for pleasure. A pretty girl is often an office distraction rather than a help, and the average homely girl will do more work with less complaining.

One of the biggest differences between men and women in business is that what social life a man combines with his business is planned to help his business affairs while a woman, especially when she is young and in the first years of her employment, is inclined to use her business connections to her social advantage.

This feminine tendency inclines men employers to prefer the homely girl. As the head of one big department store says:—"What we want is efficiency. In most cases the plain girl is brighter and more intelligent. She will wait on customers more promptly."

A pretty girl too often relies upon her looks rather than the faithful performance of her work. She receives so much flattery and attention in her social life that she expects more consideration and attention in her business life than does the plain girl, who must rely for success upon tact and fidelity rather than upon what the looking-glass shows.

To few men does the idea ever occur of using their business facilities to make possible matrimonial acquaintances. No man after a job considers where he would meet more marriageable women. The man considers first the pay, the work, the hours, and the opportunity for advancement. A girl after a job frequently places first the social opportunities.

That is one of the causes of the servant problem; young women think that at service their social opportunities are not good. Many girls whose associations would lead them to work in a factory take lessons in stenography that they may get into an office where the pay is a third less. A maid in a private house can get as much money in wages as do thousands of shop girls, besides her lodging and meals free. Yet in many cases she prefers the social opportunities of a big store.

Social Hints for Young Girls

In visiting your girl friends, whether formally or informally (says a writer on social amenities for girls), do not disregard the hours for meals in their homes. It is not good form when you have not been previously invited for the meal to linger on to the luncheon or dinner hour. If you do so, you are likely to place your friend or her mother in an awkward position. Either she asks you to remain because she feels it courteous to do so, or she has the meal delayed, waiting for you to take your departure. It is as well to carefully avoid putting yourself in the position of allowing either of these alternatives to occur. No housekeeper likes her routine interfered with, and unexpected guests are not apt to be popular.

In all well-regulated houses the table is as conventionally laid for luncheon as for dinner, and to rearrange it at the last moment necessitates considerable change, accompanied by special orders to the kitchen, all of which mothers avoid if possible. Therefore, they do not encourage inviting the girl visitor at the last moment to stay.

If you are really wanted you should understand that you will be asked during the early part of your call. Suppose you go about eleven to see a girl friend. If she wishes you to remain to luncheon she will slip away in a moment to consult her mother about it, and if her mother consents she will return and ask you immediately, while you, if you wish to stay, will accept without hesitation, remove your things, and settle down for a nice long visit.

But if she does not ask you in this spontaneous way, do not embarrass her by staying right up to the last moment the meal is announced and forcing her either to ask you under protest or feeling uncomfortable because she does not invite you. Keep note of the time and start away a good half hour before the meal hour. And when you take your departure, "stand not upon the order of your going," but get off with dispatch. Some girls take a most astonishing time to say good-bye. It would seem as if all the most engrossing topics of conversation occurred to them at the last moment, and they will chatter on even after they have said good-bye, forgetting time or meals, or the fact that others may be waiting for them.

All girls should wish and strive to be popular with their elders, who are not only deserving of every consideration, but have it in their power to make things very delightful for the young people whom they like. And they do not like girls who delay their meals, either by loitering when they should go or by being unpunctual when present as house guests.

ASKED CITIZEN FOR THE PRICE OF A PORK CHOP

Robert Carruthers Made Happy by Being Told to Get Out of the City—Said Arm Was Maimed, But Officer Didn't Think So.

Robert Carruthers wore a pleased expression on his countenance this morning when he was told by Magistrate Dumble to get out of the city as soon as possible. Carruthers was remanded last week on a charge of vagrancy and begging on the street in order that his past record might be ascertained. Considerable evidence was heard this morning, but the Magistrate granted the request of the defendant, that he be not sent to gaol, but stated that if he ever appeared on a similar charge he would be sent to the Central for six months.

P. C. Newhall said he arrested the prisoner on Wednesday night of last week after he had tried to stop a citizen on George street. He used bad language during the journey to the station, and also struck him with his left hand, which was supposed to be maimed. He gave his name as Fred Watson at first, by later as Carruthers, and had 10 cents in his pocket.

Dr. McClelland stated that the prisoner had come to his office trying to sell court plaster, saying he was a poor cripple. He had also called at several other houses, and had stopped in a lane-way and appeared to be looking over the ground.

Two young men said that they had been stopped by the prisoner on George street and invited to have a drink. Both declined, giving as their reason that they were too young, but afterwards they went into a hotel for a cigar, but the bartender refused to give Carruthers anything.

Wm. Anglesey also met the prisoner on George street and had been asked for the price of a pork chop. Other people were stopped, but no attention was paid by them to Carruthers.

FOUR BOYS EACH FINED $3.00 FOR BREAKING WINDOWS

There must have been a small attendance of pupils at the schools in the south end of the city this morning, owing to a police court case in which nine boys were charged with doing wilful damage to property, belonging to the Canadian General Electric Co. A number of others were present as witnesses. Three of the accused pleaded guilty, and the other was proved so. Each of these were fined $3, and must remain in custody until the amount is paid. The others were discharged.

According to the evidence of an employee of the C.G.E., there has been 63 panes of glass and 10 locks broken in three houses on Albert street, but he stated that the names of the guilty parties were unknown to him.

The three who pleaded guilty were Herb Sweeney, Garnett Powell and Oliver Taylor. Charles Jones was proven guilty on the testimony of Arthur Frost, who stated that he was nearby when Jones broke one window.

Those who pleaded guilty said that they had only broken one window apiece, and did not know who broke the others.

The magistrate gave all the boys a good lecture on the subject of misbehaving themselves and destroying other peoples' property, and it is not likely that any more windows will be smashed, on Albert street at least.

MEMBER OF LOCAL GUN CLUB RECEIVES PRIZE

The secretary of the Peterborough Gun Club has just received from Montreal the trophy donated by the "Nobel's Powder Co." for competition by the local club, to be shot for at five regular shoots, during the past season. The member making the highest score in the five shoots to be the winner. Mr. H. Routley, who is the fortunate man, receives the prize to-day and is to be highly congratulated on his success, this being his first year as a member of the club. The trophy is a sterling silver watch fob, bearing the emblem of the Dominion Cartridge Company, with the inscription presented by the Nobel's Power Co., of Montreal, and was offered on condition that the Dominion Cartridge Co. ammunition, loaded with Nobel's powder, be used throughout the competition. This ammunition has given splendid satisfaction and all members are highly pleased with the shells.

UNDERTAKE TO ARBITRATE COOK-PEARY CONTROVERSY

Special to the Review.

Washington, Sept. 9.—The U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey will undertake to arbitrate the Peary-Cook North Pole controversey providing Dr. Cook requests that it should do so. In view of the fact that Peary has been operating under the direction of the Survey it will become the duty of that institution to compute the commander's notes without requests from any one, and Acting Superintendent Perkins said that if Cook should so desire that the Survey would go over his papers also.

THE OUTLOOK NOT CHEERFUL THERE

Trenton Complaining of High Assessment and High Taxes

The Trenton Advocate says:—The merchants have had a hard winter and a poor summer, and then in the midst of it all comes the tax notices, and they find that the rate is not only 25 mills on the dollar but they are assessed up to the highest notch. On top of this we have a new school being built which will add a couple more mills on, and then looking around find the School Board with its demands racing away up.

One business man told us he had four families come to him and offer him their homes if he would buy, on account of taxes.

We have two business men leaving town next month on account of the taxes and assessment. There should be a big change soon.

OBITUARY

MRS. SAMUEL N. MUNRO.

On Sept. 9th, 1909, at 556 Roslyn avenue, Westmount, Emma Davidson Munro, beloved wife of Samuel N. Munro, and eldest daughter of William Davidson, Peterborough, passed away peacefully to the home eternal.

She possessed a sweet, gentle manner, and was a devoted wife and mother, the light of her home.

She fell asleep, leaving a husband, daughter and son, who, with her father, mother, sister and brothers mourn her loss. Her resignation and self-forgetfulness were beautiful to see. Her sick room was full of cheer as if the sunshine had left its rays lingering with her to brighten and cheer others.

PASTURES ARE IN GOOD SHAPE

And Supply of Milk Keeps up Remarkably Well

According to Ald. G. A. Gillespie, the supply of milk at the cheese factories is unusually large for this time of the season. The pasturage is much better than at this time last year on account of the copious rains during the past few weeks. A year ago the pastures were burnt as a result of the long drought, and the flow of milk was very small. It is expected that there will be a large offering at the next meeting of the Peterborough Cheese Board.

THAT WATCH OF YOURS

Is in many respects similar to a railway engine. Let an engine be run without oil or cleaning and before long it will stop dead. Upon examination it will be found that the friction and wear and tear has ruined the machinery, and it is fit only for the scrap iron heap. Likewise your watch. You put it in your pocket, and while there is a kick in it, you, in your mistaken economy, do not consult the watchmaker, and consequently rob your watch of years of good service and also much of its former accuracy. The time-keeping qualities of a good watch are maintained and often improved by timely and skilful attention. If you have been one of the neglectful ones call around and see us.

OBITUARY

WILLIAM EDWARD COOK.

An old resident was lost to Peterborough by the death of Mr. Wm. E. Cook, at his late residence, 92 Douro street, yesterday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock. The deceased had been ill during the past three months and slowly sank until it seemed to his family and friends that the end could not be far off. The late Mr. Cook was in his 74th year and was born at Cape Rich, Gray County, near Owen Sound. Forty-six years ago he was married at Harwood to Miss Anne Cain, and forty years ago they moved to Peterborough, where they have resided continuously ever since. The surviving family is the wife and following children, one daughter, Mrs. Ed. Wease, Mark street, Ashburnham, and the following sons, Edward, Fred and George, all of Peterborough. Other relatives are the late Mr. Cook's brothers and sisters as follows:—Samuel, of Vancouver; John, of Harwood; Garrett, of Midland; Mrs. Vanatto, of Parry Sound. The deceased was a member of the Mark street Methodist church and a member of the Orange Order, Nassau Lodge, No. 457. The funeral will be held on Friday at three o'clock, from the family residence, 92 Douro street, to the Little Lake cemetery. The funeral will be conducted by the Order, and all members of the Order and visiting brethren are apprised of the funeral.

WHEN WAS SHE TAKEN THERE?

A few days ago there appeared in Peterborough police court a girl who was charged with drunkenness. She gave her home as Lindsay, but it has since been learned that she is a resident of Orillia. It is bad enough for Lindsay citizens to be guilty of going to Peterborough, and we decidedly object to the "soiled doves" from other towns claiming Lindsay as their home when they fall from grace.—Lindsay Post.

We always were aware that the natives of Lindsay eventually make their home at or are taken to Orillia.

GATHERING WAS PLEASANT ONE

A very pleasant gathering took place at the home of Mrs. Wm. English, Water street, last evening. A number of St. John's church workers assembling to wish Miss Hazel Dean success in her new sphere of work in Belleville, and to congratulate Miss Daisy Mills on her approaching marriage. Both ladies will be missed from the Sunday school, Miss Dean having for the last three years accomplished sterling work in the infant department. As a slight token of esteem presents were presented to Miss Dean from the Chancel Guild Girl's Auxiliary and Sunday school teachers in the form of a handsome presentation copy of Tennyson's poems and to Miss Mills a pretty fern pot. The Rev. Canon Davidson and Mr. R. J. Devey voiced the feeling of regret at losing the valuable help of both ladies and expressed a hope that it would not be for long.

Dainty refreshments were served by the Misses English and the pleasant evening came to a close about 10 o'clock, after conveying hearty thanks to the hostess of the evening.

WHAT IT IS TO BE SEASICK

A widely-known clergyman was one afternoon pacing the deck of a steamship that was bringing him back to this country, when he chanced to observe a pair of individuals more than usually seasick. One, the woman, reclining in her steamer chair, exhibited the pallor of mal de mer that betrays utter despair and indifference to whatever may come; and the other, a man, just as ill as the lady, was crouched at her feet with his head in her lap, looking for all the world like a poor friendless dog that had sought comfort of the nearest living being. So deeply touched by this unhappy spectacle was the good divine that he approached the wretched couple and inquired of the woman in his most sympathetic tones whether there was any assistance he could render. The woman shook her head sadly, murmuring: "There is none, thanks." Then, after a moment's pause, the clergyman suggested: "Perhaps, then, I may be of some service to your husband here?"

Without so much as moving her head, the unfortunate merely glanced indifferently at the head in her lap. Then, in a tone indicating her complete lack of interest in her companion in misery, she replied faintly: "He isn't my husband. I—I—don't know who he is."—Argonaut.

Finis For Summer

Out in the fields, where heated asphalt and cramped, starved roots do not affect the trees, foliage is as richly green as ever—but with an exception. Here and there, at far intervals, but still visible, a red branch like a banner is seen—an advance promise of the coming autumn display. Blackberry bushes beside the road show brown and rusty, their year's work being done. Fall colors appear in the flowers of August—yellow goldenrod and sunflowers, purple asters and ironweed. The songbirds are silent, but the harsh "sawing" of the locusts and the needle-like sharpness of the katydid's refrain fill the air. Corn blades are green, but the ears along the stalks droop heavily; their summer growth is over and their ripening days are at hand.

Choir Practice

The members of the choir of St. Andrew's church are requested to meet to-night at eight o'clock for the weekly practice.

COOK CREATIONS ARE POPULAR

The Cook cocktail has reached New York, and will, it is stated, soon be enjoyed in Peterborough. When Dr. Cook announced his discovery of the Pole Chicago milliners at once designed something new in headwear—the Cook hat. Now there is the Cook cocktail which is strained through ice to give it the Polar flavor.

THE HOOK

Get away with that straw hat.

You better keep on the sunny side.

The Peterborough Fair directors should secure the north pole as an attraction for the exhibition.

Although aeroplanes often take a drop, the price does not seem to come down very much.

We were presented with a cigar today and when we "lit up" we found it was made of Manitoba alfal and saltpetre.

The sporting editor writes from New York that the Great White Way is a little busier than George street.

You show the worst taste in the world when you walk down George st. with an overcoat and a straw hat on.

Dr. Cook is the kind of cook who would make a Wellman sick.

DETROIT TIGERS ARE POOR ONES ON THE ROAD

Says the Cleveland Plain Dealer editorially:—

After the exhibition offered by the Detroit Tigers in Cleveland last Saturday there can remain no lingering doubt that it would be a setback to baseball and particularly to the American League for this team again to win the championship. Easily outclassed by the Clevelands a team barely managing to keep out of the tail end division, the Detroit players cried like spoiled children because the Clevelands played their best, and really tried to win. Ridiculous and wholly unfounded charges to the effect that Cleveland had not attempted to beat Philadelphia, Detroit's nearest rival, led to a fracas in the Cleveland club house, where the Detroit players had been received through the courtesy of the Cleveland management.

It would be difficult to find half a dozen Detroit sympathizers in Cleveland. Such actions as that of Cobb, who is alleged to have viciously assaulted a hotel watchman in the early hours of the morning, and the general conduct of the players on the field have contributed largely to the unpopularity of this team. But the chief reason why Cleveland and nearly every other baseball city hopes for Detroit's defeat is to be found in the miserable showing made by these players when contending against the champions of the rival National League. For two years the Detroit team has been ludicrously outclassed by the Chicago club of the National League, and there is every reason to believe that it would make no better showing against the Pittsburgs, who are now in the lead in the 1909 race.

The Detroit team is almost invincible on its home grounds, where it has the support of a violently partisan crowd. It seldom shows so strongly on the road. If, during the next five days Cleveland can manage to take a majority of games from these unworthy champions, there is good reason to hope that the Eastern clubs can do the rest, and depose them from the position of eminence which they have for two years held without credit to themselves, and to the detriment of the league of which they are members.

RUGBY

Hamilton, Sept. 9.—Although it is not yet known what players will turn out this year, the general opinion is that Ben Simpson will be appointed captain of the team if he can be persuaded to play again. Ben is the recognized crack punting half back of the "big four" and his presence on the team would greatly strengthen the Tigers' chances of landing the Earl Grey cup. He is cool and steady when the battle is in the thickest and would certainly make an ideal captain. It is to be hoped that the schoolmaster can see his way clear to play one more season at least.

Dr. Thompson has been persuaded to remain as president of the Tiger club this year.

Changing the Rugby rules so as to protect the half-backs has been advocated for some time, and the idea is an excellent one. When the rules are left so open that a man like Ken Williams, of Queen's, or Pete Flett, of the Argonauts, may be legitimately (?) put out of the way in nearly every game he appears in, there is certainly room for improvement. Changing havees, especially when following up a free kick, is what must be eliminated this year, if the game is to continue in the enjoyment of such wide popularity as it has now.

The first game in the Interprovincial will be played either on the last Saturday in September or the first Saturday in October.—Ottawa Journal.

RUGBY EXECUTIVE TO-NIGHT

The executive of the Rugby club will meet to-night in the orderly room at the armories at eight o'clock. Matters of importance will come before the meeting, and all members of the Executive Committee are asked to be on hand in good time.

SPORTING TALK

Ottawa, Sept. 8.—The first intimation of the expected scramble for star hockey players next winter comes from Marty Walsh, Ottawa's prodigious scorer in centre ice. Haileybury is out after Walsh and has made him an offer the ordinary player would grab at hook line and sinker. Marty, however, is booked to take up his residence here shortly, and there is little chance of him playing from the capital.

Kaufman and Johnson fight ten rounds this afternoon at San Francisco. The negro is a 10 to 4 favorite.

The Ontario Rugby Football Union are hot after the Parkdale Canoe Club. They want the Paddlers to enter their senior team in the senior series along with the Peterborough and T. A. A. C. teams, forming a three-club district. The Canoe Club say, however, that they will be in the intermediate series of the Inter-Provincial, as the treatment accorded them last year by the Big Four was all that could be desired.

Medicine Hat has won the championship of the Western Canada Baseball League. Winnipeg is second.

An International Marathon race will be held to-day at Laughlin Oval, Brooklyn, says the New York World. A field of 25 will face the barrier, including Archie Sinclair, of England, and Will Smylie, of Scotland. So with the first tinge of fall to the air the Marathon fever crops out again. I guess its days of being an epidemic have passed away. Notice, Dr. Powers is not prescribing it of late.

BASEBALL

The Eastern League season has twenty more days to go, the official ending taking place on Tuesday, September 28.

It looks like a sure thing now that Rochester will win the pennant. They have 23 more games to play, and if they can win 12 of them, which is a much smaller average than they have made all season, they will be the champions, unless Newark wins 18 out of the 24 games they have to play. Should this happen the record at the end of the season would be as follows—

	Win	Lose.
Newark	90	64
Rochester	89	65

The probabilities are, however, that the Bronchos will win more than 12 games, and if they do they are reasonably sure of the championship, no matter what Newark may do. The Grays are still possibilities, but not probabilities. They are not doing as well at home as they expected.

Toronto appears to hold fourth position safe, and may go up a peg if they can maintain this week's stride. They have no chance for the pennant, however, unless all the Rochester and Newark players break their legs.

FOUR CLUBS IN SENIOR SERIES

Of the O. R. F. U.—Meeting Held Last Night

Toronto, Sept. 9.—The semi-annual meeting of the O.R.F.U. was held last night at the Iroquois Hotel, with First Vice-President Scott in the chair. There was a good representation of the various clubs.

N. F. Culverhouse was appointed junior representative, but the elections of a president in place of J. C. Sherry, who is now located in the silver district, and a vice-president, was left over for the present.

There will be four clubs in the senior series. This is definite. They are T.A.A.C., Peterborough, Parkdale and Dundas, a strong O.R.F.U. quartette. Eighteen teams are entered in the junior series, which will be divided into five districts, two of them in Toronto. There will be no intermediate series.

Another meeting will be held shortly.

OFFICIALS FOR SATURDAY'S MEET

The following officials have been appointed for the Howden-Eastwood trophy games at Riverside Park on Saturday afternoon;—

Judges—Mr. J. H. Howden, Mr. V. Eastwood, Mr. H. R. H. Kenner.
Timers—H. Clarke, R. M. Glover.
Referee—D. B. MacRae.
Starter—Dr. A. W. MacPherson.

GOLF

Yesterday afternoon the Ladies Golf Club held their annual competition. The weather was all that could be desired. There was a large attendance. In the handicap medal competition Miss Anderson won the prize presented by Mrs. W. H. Hill, Miss H. Davidson won Miss Edwards prize for driving, and Mrs. Matthews won Mrs. Goodwills prize for approaching and putting. Mrs. Gardiner, the captain, entertained the ladies at tea.

On Saturday, Sept. 18, there will be mixed four-games at 2 oclock sharp.

SATURDAY'S GAMES

To the Sporting Editor of the Review:

Sir.—Could you give us the programme of the athletic sports for Saturday? Is there any admission fee to the grounds? What time do the sports start? How is it that there is never a hurdle race in the sports held in Peterborough?

ATHLETE.

The programme for the sports at Riverside Park Saturday afternoon is as follows—

The winner of the Howden trophy will be the one who scores the highest number of points in the following six events—

100 yard dash.
220 yard dash.
One mile.
Putting 12-pound shot.
Running high jump.
Running broad jump.

The Eastwood trophy events will be open to all under 18 years of age. The six events are as follows—

100 yard dash.
220 yard dash.
One-half mile.
Putting 8-pound shot.
Running high jump.
Running broad jump.

In addition to the trophies valuable second and third prizes will be donated.

In addition to the above list two other events will be put on. The first is a half-mile race, which is open, but the second, a quarter-mile go, is limited to those under 18 years of age.

We do not know why hurdling races are not more popular in Peterborough.

WRESTLING

WHAT ROGERS IS THIS!

Spectators at the Palace last evening witnessed another interesting bout between two fast wrestlers who are showing there this week. The men went after each other in strenuous fashion and secured a fall apiece, while the third round resulted in a draw. Tom Montferent took the first fall from Rogers after about six and a quarter minutes of hard work. The next went to his opponent in about half that time. The following round went the full time and neither of the wrestlers' shoulders were forced to the mat.

To-night promises some good entertainment for local followers of the sport. Tom Hickey, of Port Arthur, will be matched against Montferent, who, failing to throw him, will forfeit 25 bucks. Captain King, an old-time champion at the catch-as-catch-can style, will officiate.—Fort William Times-Journal.

TURF

At the races in Cobourg on Monday it took seven heats to decide the winner in the half mile trot and finally Sparkle, owned by Dr. Johnston, of Port Hope, took first place. Lulu Grimes, owned by E. Jones, of Peterborough, was second. Lady Gothard, Martin Connors, Peterborough, 3rd; Bessie W., L. G. Bennett, Port Hope, 4th.

FATAL CUPIDITY.

A Tragic Case of Treasure Hunting in Egypt.

A certain Egyptian native discovered the entrance of a tomb in the floor of his stable and at once proceeded to worm his way down the tunnel. This was the end of the man. His wife, finding that he had not returned two hours or so later, went down the newly found tunnel after him. That was the end of her also. In turn three other members of the family went down into the darkness, and that was the end of them.

A native official was then called, and, lighting his way with a candle, penetrated down the winding passage. The air was so foul that he was soon obliged to retreat, but he stated that he was just able to see in the distance ahead the bodies of the unfortunate peasants, all of whom had been overcome by what he quaintly described as "the evil lighting and bad climate." Various attempts at the rescue of the bodies having failed, we gave orders that this tomb should be regarded as their sepulcher and that its mouth should be sealed up.

According to the natives there was evidently a vast hoard of wealth stored at the bottom of this tomb, and the would be robbers had met their death at the hands of the demon in charge of it, who had seized each man by the throat as he came down the tunnel and had strangled him.—A. E. P. Weigall in Putnam's.

John Collier, of Crumlin, Ont., had his lower lip almost bitten off by a horse.

FOR PICNIC LUNCHEONS.

Good Things to Eat to Pack In the Outing Basket.

The sandwich, which is the backbone of the cold luncheon, admits of wide variation so that all tastes will be satisfied. The bread may be white or brown, Boston, whole wheat or corn, rye or pumpernickel. It may be rolls or biscuit, cold gems or a loaf, but the filling must accord with the "binding."

The bread should be cut thin, but not necessarily crustless, and the butter will spread evenly if first creamed. After making the sandwiches wrap at once in paraffin paper, and they will keep moist for hours.

Sandwich Fillings. — These indeed are legion. A hearty and most delicious sandwich has chicken salad for its filling. Butter the bread lightly. Put a layer of tender lettuce on each slice for a binder to the salad, which should be plentifully moistened with mayonnaise. For a chicken salad filling the meat and celery should be cut finer than for the salad when served alone. Wrap each sandwich separately in paraffin paper. A delectable sandwich filling is made of equal parts butternuts, English walnuts or pecans ground fine and cream cheese moistened with sweet, thick cream and seasoned with salt. Grated American cheese may be used in place of the cream cheese and melted butter be employed to blend the ingredients. Slices of tomato and lettuce with dressing make a good filling, as also slices of Swiss cheese cut wafer thin.

A good hearty sandwich is made of Boston brown bread with minced corned beef seasoned with made mustard and rubbed to a paste with a little butter for the filling.

New Potted Things.—Cheese filled with chopped nuts now comes put up in glass jars for sandwich fillings; also a paste of chicken and truffles to be spread thinly on bread and butter, while boneless imported sardines, domestic sardines put up in mustard, Holland herring, bloater paste, caviare, boneless anchovies, each and all add variety and piquancy to the feast.

Picnic Pointers.—At a family picnic recently the piece de resistance was beefsteak broiled over the coals. A fire was made, and then, when burned down, beefsteaks cut in generous pieces were given each one, who put his portion on a forked stick and tended to his own broiling. Unlimited bread and butter, with radishes for the relish, made a most enjoyable repast.

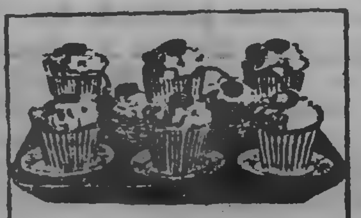
When carrying coffee to an out of door meal where it is to be cooked tie the ground coffee into a square of cheesecloth. This saves the necessity of using eggs to clear the coffee or of straining it when made.

Celery Stuffed With Gorgonzola [illegible] one of the most [illegible], whether served at a picnic, a "finger and thumb dinner" or even a state dinner or wedding breakfast. To prepare them take wide pieces of tender celery and fill each one with any of the following mixtures: Gorgonzola cheese mixed with salt, pepper and chopped olives, green or ripe; cream cheese and walnuts or chopped olives, sardines mixed with yolks of hard boiled eggs or caviare and lemon.

THE POPULAR SUNDAE.

It May Be Made at Home With Little Trouble.

Sundaes, the popular summer refreshment, may be made at home with just a little extra trouble. Freeze vanilla ice cream in the usual way and when ready to serve put a liberal sprinkling of fruit on each portion and top it off with whipped cream. Berries, sliced bananas, shredded pineapple or cut peaches make a delicious sundae, either together or singly. If preferred you may lift the lid of the freezer before the cream becomes stiff and add the fruit, giving a few extra turns. Serve with whipped cream, with a few pieces of fruit or some finely chopped nuts sprinkled over the top.



PEACH SUNDAE.

Fooled Him.

Katie, who had been taught that the devil tempts little girls to disobey, was left alone in a room for a time one day with the admonition not to touch a particularly delicious plate of fruit that stood on the table.

For awhile she bravely withstood the temptation. Finally, however, her resolution wavered, and she took a big red apple from the plate. She walked away with it, but before putting it to her lips her courage returned, and she quickly replaced the apple on the plate, saying as she did so: "Aha! Mr. Devil, I fooled you, didn't I?"

THE SILENCE CURE.

Beauty Specialist Says Women Talk Entirely Too Much.

JOKE ON BOOTH TARKINGTON.

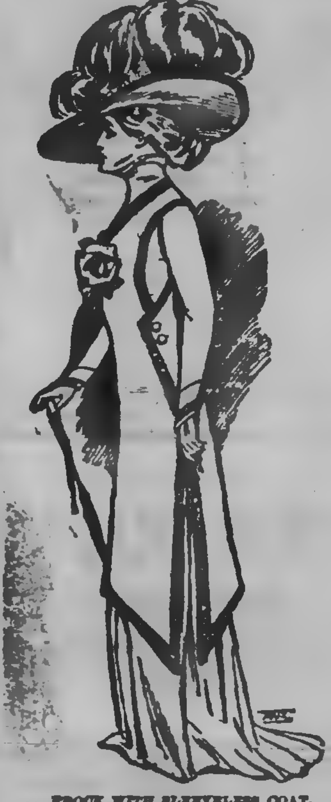
Some Hints on the Successful Canning of Vegetables—Straight Sided Jars Are Best to Use For Asparagus and Beans.

My Dear Elsie — Dick has always made a lot of fun about my talking so much; calls me the babbling brook and all kinds of uncomfortable things, and now some horrid beauty specialist has come along and issued an edict against talking, or at least against talking overmuch.

It's bad enough to go without mashed potatoes and hot biscuits in the service of the exacting goddess, but when it comes to shutting down on talking—well, the course of true beauty never did run smooth, and that's all there is to be said about it. It's a hard world for the devotee of good looks.

"Too much use of the facial muscles produces untimely wrinkles," says this odious beauty specialist. But there it is again—what's the use of being beautiful if you're going to be considered stupid?

And in reply to this question the beauty specialist merely shrugs her shoulders. "It's all right to talk," she will tell you, "but one needn't talk with her whole face, and, besides, it isn't a sign of stupidity to know how to listen, at least part of the time, is it?" she will add, a little ironically.



FROCK WITH SLEEVELESS COAT.

"Most of us talk too much," the specialist finished. "We say the same thing over and over. We say things that might better be left unsaid. If we all took pains to preserve intervals of silence we'd add to the peace of the world, we'd talk to better purpose when we did talk, and last, but not least, we'd avoid wrinkles."

It really does look as if some beauty doctors know more than powders and lotions when they suggest that some people say things too many times.

The woman with the wrinkles in her face and a tired look never stops to realise how much energy she wastes by saying things over twice or even thrice which were adequately expressed with a single utterance.

According to this beauty specialist, there is still another insidious enemy to good looks.

"Grievances," she says, "fancied or otherwise, are very bad for beauty, and the too loquacious woman frequently is the one who is apt to have a grievance. She never meets one that she hasn't something to unburden; somebody has been doing something on purpose to annoy her, and with each fresh grievance the corners of her mouth go down a little farther, her nose gets sharper, the downward tendency lines in her face get deeper, and she loses a little more beauty." Now, my dear, my friends surely will acquit me of being a talker with a continual grievance. A rather amusing thing happened recently when I was going over to Philadelphia. "All the latest popular novels!" sang out the train boy. Then, holding out a copy of "The Guest of Quesnay" to a prosperous looking passenger, he urged, "Buy Booth Tarkington's latest work, sir?"

The man looked annoyed. "No. I am Booth Tarkington himself."

"Then buy a copy of 'Marriage a la Mode,'" persisted the boy. "You ain't Mrs. Humphry Ward, too, are you?"

Apropos of Mrs. Ward, have you read "Marriage a la Mode?" In this her latest novel the author has turned her trained intellect upon the state of the divorce law, which many good critics have denounced as a disgrace to civilization. In her treatment of this vital human problem Mrs. Ward is truthful and direct. With delicate, unerring touch she describes American society as it exists, with its present laxity of regard for the marriage bond. "Daphne; or, Marriage a la Mode," is the story of an international marriage—of a young Englishman's love for a bright American girl of wealth and the failure of their married life through misunderstanding and jealousy. With all her crying faults, Daphne Floyd, the heroine, is an interesting character—one of the best delineations of a peculiar type in recent fiction—and human in every word and action. The remaining characters are Rogers Barnes, the husband; Captain Boyson, the American naval officer, whose denunciation of the laxities and enormities with regard to marriage allowed in various states of the Union reflects the opinion of New England; the tragic Mrs. Verrier, the mischievous Chloe Fairmile and others. The whole story leads up to the scene in the last chapter between the divorced husband and wife, and by it Mrs. Ward is content that her book should be judged.

It is all very interesting, though a bit overdone, but I am sure you will enjoy reading the story. I don't spend all my time perusing novels, though. The last few days I have been canning, and the following screed of a newspaper writer is responsible for my having turned my attention to canning vegetables. To quote my authority:

The successful canning of vegetables depends largely upon their freshness. If you are forced to depend upon the markets, try to get them when first received. If you can secure vegetables fresh from your own garden or the country, so much the better. Before beginning canning be sure that your cans are absolutely clean, that the tops fit perfectly and that the can rubbers are new. More canned fruit and vegetables are lost through a mistaken idea of economy in trying to use old rubbers than in any other way. Now having fresh vegetables and scientifically clean cans, wash the asparagus, trim it of the large variety to equal lengths and pack neatly, heads up. The straight sided jars are better for this purpose.

Having filled the jars full, hold under the cold water faucet and let the water run in with force until the vegetables are covered and no air bubbles show. If there are doubts about the water being pure you had better boil it, then cool before using. In this case pour into the jars from a pitcher, filling full. Now adjust the tops without the rubbers and stand in a wash boiler or large kettle, protecting them from the bottom by a rack and from each other by a coil of clothesline or hay. Now fill the boiler or kettle with cold water and set over the fire. The water should reach about halfway up the cans. Bring quickly to the boiling point, cover the boiler and cook steadily an hour and a half from the time the water in the boiler commences to boil. Then scald the can rubbers, lift out the cans one by one, put on the rubbers and quickly screw down the lid and stand back in the boiler. Cook fifteen minutes longer. Some good cooks prefer to repeat the cooking three days in succession, unscrewing the top each day when put into cold water, then tightening it when it reaches the boiling point. This is not necessary, however, and simply adds to the work. Asparagus and string beans are more easily preserved than peas, which contain sugar and are likely to ferment.

String beans may be canned in the same way as asparagus, either cutting them in pieces, as for the table, or stringing and cooking whole. The asparagus looks awfully good, and I'm just wild to have winter come again so I can open a can and see how fine it really is.

What do you think of my new frock with its sleeveless coat? These wraps are among the smartest things of the season. Sincerely yours, MABEL.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Belleriver, Que.—"Without Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I would not be alive. For five months I had painful and irregular periods and inflammation of the uterus. I suffered like a martyr and thought often of death. I consulted two doctors who could do nothing for me. I went to a hospital, and the best doctors said I must submit to an operation, because I had a tumor. I went back home much discouraged. One of my cousins advised me to take your Compound, as it had cured her. I did so and soon commenced to feel better, and my appetite came back with the first bottle. Now I feel no pain and am cured. Your remedy is deserving of praise."—Mrs. EMMA CHATEL, Valleyfield, Belleriver, Quebec.

Another Operation Avoided.

Adrian, Ga.—"I suffered untold misery from female troubles, and my doctor said an operation was my only chance, and I dreaded it almost as much as death. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured me without an operation."—LENA V. HENRY, R.F.D. 3.

Thirty years of unparalleled success confirms the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases.

She Will Decorate Governor's Home.

To Miss Marie Irvin of Boise, Ida., has been awarded the contract to decorate and furnish the new official mansion for the governor of that state. It is one of the few contracts of the kind that have been won by women in this country. In that city there are several women who have found furnishing and decorating a profitable profession, but most of their commissions have come from women's clubs or other women's organizations. It is a line of work for which women are especially well fitted. Miss Irvin studied in art schools there and in Chicago, returning to Boise a little more than a year ago. She arranged the decorations for the last inaugural ball in Idaho, and it was her success then that led to the award of the present contract. Miss Irvin aims at simplicity in all her work, which when attained means the best artistic expression.

FIRST PLAYING CARDS

They Seem to Have Sprung From the Naibis of the Saracens.

INVENTION OF A VENETIAN.

The Evidence Appears to Prove That Games With Cards Originated Toward the End of the Fourteenth Century—The Cards of Charles VI.

The earliest direct mention of playing cards discovered so far is in the "History of the City of Viterbo," says the New York Telegraph. The author quotes Covelluzzo, who wrote about the end of the fifteenth century:

"In the year of 1379 was brought into Viterbo the game of cards, which comes from the country of the Saracens and is with them called naib."

It is worthy of remark that Covelluzzo did not write at that date he mentioned, but a century later, in 1480, and it is quite possible that he may have been mistaken in attributing the cards to Saracenic origin or may have simply been quoting a popular tradition. The Saracens were familiar with naibis, the predecessor of cards, but they did not invent the game of cards, of which naibis were only a part.

The earliest date about which there can be no dispute at which playing cards are directly mentioned by a writer as a matter of his personal experience is that discovered in the register of the court treasurer of France, in the reign of Charles VI. The entry is under the date of Feb. 1, 1392, as follows:

"Given to Jacquemin Gringonneur, painter, for three packs of playing cards, in gold and various colors and ornamented with several devices, to carry before the lord our king for his amusement 56 sols of Paris."

This is the foundation upon which is based the popular notion that playing cards were invented for the amusement of a crazy French king. Critics have pointed out that the amount paid is simply for the hand painting and decoration of the cards. There is nothing in the entry that gives ground for supposing that the cards themselves were new.

There are on exhibition today at the National library in Paris what are supposed to be seventeen of these cards that were painted for Charles VI., and this has strengthened the impression that they are the original model from which all playing cards have been copied. Unfortunately for the fame of the exhibit, it has been proved that the cards shown in Paris are really very fine Venetian tarok cards and are part of an edition made at least as late as 1425.

During the twenty years that follow this date of the royal treasurer's (1392) literature is full of references to playing cards. Almost every author that mentions games of gambling paraphernalia particularizes one or more games of cards. But before that date no allusion has been found to a game that could be construed as a card game, although there are several writers who might reasonably be expected to mention cards if they were acquainted with them.

Hugh von Tymberg, who wrote in the second half of the thirteenth and the beginning of the fourteenth century; Petrarch, who wrote in the first half of the fourteenth century; Chaucer, who wrote in the second half of the fourteenth century, made no mention of cards, although in the writings of all of them there are references to gambling tables and implements.

In the Escurial library there is a manuscript composed by order of Don Alphonso the Wise, dated 1321, which gives the rules for a number of games, especially chess and dice, but does not contain a word about cards.

But one naturally asks if the earliest mention of cards is to be found in the register of the royal treasurer of France where did cards come from if they were not a new thing to him?

To go back a little, it is well known that there existed long before the date of any mention of playing cards a series of emblematic pictures called naibis, which were used by gypsies and others for the purpose of fortune telling and sorcery. It is probably these naibis that were brought to Europe by the Saracens, and perhaps they were supposed to be of Saracenic origin.

Authorities seem to be pretty well agreed that toward the end of the fourteenth century some inventive genius, probably a Venetian, selected a number of these naibis or pictures and added to them a series of numeral cards so as to convert them into implements by which the excitement of chance and the interest of gaming might be added to the amusement afforded by the original naibis.

The principal reason for assuming that cards originated in Italy and not in France is that the names of the cards themselves and the names of the earliest known games played with them are all Italian and that these Italian terms were carried all over Europe. If they were of French origin the nomenclature might be expected to be French.

There is an abundant evidence that the playing cards which rapidly found their way all over Europe were made in Venice. As each country got to making its own cards the emblems of the suits were changed to please the national fancy until there is nothing left today of the original faith, charity, justice and fortitude which were represented on the first Italian packs.

DON'T NARROW YOUR LIFE.

The Fuller the Life With Kindly Interest the Happier.

A woman said: "I'm getting so I just hate to meet strangers. I would rather walk around the block a dozen times than meet some one whom I would have to talk to for half an hour. I like my family and friends, but I don't want any outsiders about."

She was only about thirty, but she was acquiring an earmark of age. And that is unwise for any one and particularly the woman in business.

The matter of making new friends and acquaintances has two sides, and it is a subject not to be dismissed lightly.

No one can afford to give all her time even to friends, and to fritter it away on casual acquaintances is deplorable. Time is the gold that is given us freely.

But, on the other hand, it is unwise to shut oneself away entirely from making new acquaintances, to live so content with one's present circle of friends that no message from other worlds can reach you.

The woman who does this is going to narrow her life. Whether she is the mother of a family, a business woman or a young girl just facing the world, she will shut out interests that may mean help, inspiration, happiness. Every life is a little world, and you do not know what message may come to you from the stranger you welcome to your gates.

One grows or stagnates. Stagnation is not good for any one. To be in touch with the progress of the world one must keep in touch with the life that makes it progress, and every man and woman plays some part in this.

One may not make a friend of the casual acquaintance. One may not have time for all who cross one's path, but to deliberately shut out every one is unwise.

If there is the least inclination to do this the tendency is apt to grow on one until it becomes a fixed habit. It may come in the beginning from inertia, from morbidness. Whatever the cause, if you find you are facing in that direction pause awhile and see if you want the narrow, isolated, few interests life to which it will surely lead you.

The fuller the life with human kindly interests the happier. Few have such resources within themselves that all the riches of this wonderful life are theirs in their own experience.

WILL BERNIER BE THE THIRD?

Philadelphian Expects Him to Nail the Canadian Flag to the Pole.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 10.—Capt. Jos. E. Bernier is expected by Henry C. Wetherill to startle the world at any moment as third claimant to the honor of discovery of the North Pole.

"Captain Bernier," said Dr. Wetherill, at his laboratory yesterday, "is a distinguished Canadian explorer, and is a member of the various Arctic exploration and geographical societies. He has been absent for a year or more, ever since he went to the coast of Labrador to establish his base of operations. He has done noble work for the Dominion Government. He is an intrepid, experienced navigator, observer and explorer, and his record and his plans are well known to the Arctic clubs.

"I should not be in the least surprised to get a telegram that he has nailed the British flag to the pole."

RAIN MARRED EXHIBITION

Toronto, Sept. 10.—Americans' Day at the Exhibition was marred by a downpour of rain, which beginning about 7.30 p.m., an hour after the grand stand entertainment had started, threatened to bring it to an abrupt termination. Hundreds of people on the unprotected lawn in front of the stand hurried through the east gate, and the enclosure soon took on a deserted appearance.

To prevent the fireworks being ruined by the dampness, it was necessary to set them off, as expeditiously as possible. Although the rain came down intermittently during the whole evening, the performance proceeded. The air was damp and raw, but comparatively few of the occupants of the stand left during the scurry of the less fortunate, unsheltered public.

The attendance of 68,000 was several thousands larger than last year. The increase would have been larger had the weather been finer, as a sprinkle of rain soon after 6 p.m. probably deterred many from visiting the grounds at night.

THIS MAN MADE MANY APPEALS

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 10.—James Kinsler, a crippled ex-U. S. soldier, has lost in a struggle against extradition to Canada, and was taken from the county jail in Detroit yesterday by Detective Mahoney of Windsor and lodged in the Windsor jail on a charge of stealing $6 worth of lumber from a firm above Walkerville.

An alleged accomplice of Kinsler is now serving a six months term in Toronto.

Kinsler's costly resistance will go down in court annals as most unique. He first appealed against his arrest to the Supreme Court at Lansing and lost; next came an appeal to the United States District Court, and one to the United States Circuit Court, both of which were rejected. Two appeals were then filed in the Appellate Court in Cincinnati, but they were lost. Appeals were then sent to President Taft, U. S. Secretary of State Knox, and to both Houses of Congress.

BOY WAS SHOT BY A STRANGER

Welland, Sept. 10.—Gordon, the 10-year-old son of Edward Kramer of the air line, came near losing his life and, as it is, he is badly maimed.

The lad was shot full in the face and chest by an unknown man, who was shooting squirrels.

He was returning from school and when near home was getting through a fence, when the sportsman fired. The boy screamed with the pain and the blood gushed from scores of wounds.

The man with the gun saw what he had done, turned and ran into the wood without waiting to see the extent of the injuries.

The boy was able to get home and he received prompt medical treatment. In all seventy grains of shot have been removed.

WESTERN CROPS ARE EXCELLENT

Winnipeg, Sept. 10.—Not in ten years, said one of the best known local grain dealers yesterday, have conditions been so eminently favorable for harvesting and saving the crop. Practically the entire wheat crop is now in stook, and safe from frost, while some farmers are making good progress with their oats. Barley is harvested and will be of fair quality and color.

The warm weather of the past few days has brought along late oats at a surprising rate, and it now looks as if a good many thousand bushels will be threshed off grain put in so late that farmers expected nothing but green feed.

PROMPT ACTION SAVES MAN FROM DEATH OF HORROR

Charles Recard, a Waiter from New York, While Drunk, Started to Drive a Team of Horses Madly Towards a Two-Hundred-Foot Embankment—Constable Risked His Life to Save Him.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Sept. 10.—From horrible death by being dashed over Niagara precipice, Charles Recard, aged 26, was saved yesterday afternoon.

With a drunken driver and a horse out of control careering down hill, death was very near to horse and man when Chief of Police Kimmins dashed after the horse and threw it back on its haunches a few feet from the 200-foot bank.

Recard is from New York, where he was a waiter at a leading hotel. He was going to start in a new position at a Buffalo hotel. He spent yesterday here and was drunk when he asked a hackman to drive him to the depot, flashing a bunch of notes and promising double fare.

The hackman left the rig to call the attention of the police to the man, and Recard started to drive himself, and whipped the horse into a frenzy. Down the hill the horse sped toward the cliff, when Kimmins dashed after it and, grasping the lines, arrested its progress within a short distance of the gorge.

Recard spent the night in a cell.

WINNIPEG MAY FACE TIE-UP OF ALL BUILDING TRADES

Meetings To-night of All the Unions Concerned Will Decide the Question of General Strike in Sympathy With the Carpenters, Who Are Now on Strike.

Winnipeg, Sept. 10.—Notices have been sent out to the various unions affiliated with the building trades' council of Winnipeg, for a general mass meeting of organized labor to be held to-night at which time the question of a general sympathetic strike, to assist the carpenters, will be discussed.

The unions will meet separately and a referendum vote will be taken behind closed doors. The sentiment of the unions will be learned, and the members will later meet in general assembly to come to a decision.

It is estimated that about 3,000 union men will be affected in the event of a general strike.

Yesterday the carpenters asserted they had received no official notice of the 40 cents per hour ultimatum, said to have been made by the employers Wednesday night.

The carpenters say that the employers have been at work for some time gathering up men in England, and that about 1,500 carpenters will be brought over to Winnipeg in case the strikers do not accept the final offer, but this is denied by the builders' exchange.

HARRIMAN IS DEAD; HIS GREAT WEALTH

United States Greatest Railway Magnate Has Passed Away—Was Worth Probably One Hundred Million Dollars—It is Believed That Death Was Kept Secret for a Couple of Hours to Prevent a Panic on the Stock Market.

Arden, N. Y., Sept. 10.—Edward H. Harriman, the greatest organizer of railroads the world has known, met the only lasting defeat of his active life yesterday at the hands of death.

Secluded in his magnificent home on Tower Hill, surrounded by members of his family, physicians and nurses, he succumbed to an intestinal disorder yesterday afternoon after a fight against disease which will rank for sheer grit with his remarkable struggles in the financial world.

The exact time of his death is known only in the limited circle of relatives and associates who had so effectively shielded Mr. Harriman from all outside annoyances during his last illness.

The time was given to the world as 3.35 p.m., but Mrs. Mary Simons, sister of Mr. Harriman, said last night that the end had come at 1.30, more than two hours previous.

Whether this apparent discrepancy has any bearing on the current belief that every effort was made to lessen the influence of the financier's death on the New York stock market is problematic; but it is significant that the time of his death as officially announced was just 35 minutes after trading had ceased on the exchange in New York.

Mr. Harriman died peacefully, and almost to the end his brilliant mind retained its integrity. After a relapse on Sunday he sank steadily and soon after the noon hour yesterday, there came a relapse which marked the approach of the end. His wife, his two daughters, the Misses Mary and Carol, and his sons, Walter and Roland, assembled at the bedside and Mrs. Simons entered the great silent house in time to be present at her brother's death.

No spiritual adviser was at hand. The swiftest automobile in the Harriman garage had been despatched for Rev. J. Holmes McGuinness, an Episcopal rector of Arden parish, and Mr. Harriman's personal chaplain, but Dr. McGuinness was not at home. When found later, although rushed up the mountainside at breakneck speed, he did not arrive until death had come to Arden House.

With the secrecy that has been maintained at the Harriman residence unbroken to the very end, news of Mr. Harriman's death was conveyed to New York before it came to Arden and the valley below. Then by way of New York the report that death had arrived at the great estate on Tower Hill spread quickly and confirmation was sought at the residence by telephone. During the past ten days rumors have been so persistent and variable that little credence was at first given the report, and it was a shock when a voice on the hill replied: "Yes, that is correct. Mr. Harriman died at 3.35 p.m."

The speaker was evidently an employe. Soon afterwards the hundreds of workmen on the uncompleted estate learned of their master's death, when a page came out on the lawn and announced simply: 'You may all quit work. Mr. Harriman is dead."

Orlando Harriman, a brother, whose home is in New York, discussed the funeral arrangements briefly last night. He said that Mr. Harriman would be buried in the family plot in the little graveyard behind St. John's Episcopal Church at Arden. He will rest beside his oldest son, Edward H. Harriman, jr., who died twenty-two years ago, soon after the family first came to Arden.

A shaft of bluestone, quarried from the steep sides of Tower Hill, marks the grave of the baby Edward, and it is possible that a similar stone of modest size will be erected over the last resting-place of his distinguished father. The service will be held at 3.30 on Sunday afternoon next, and it is understood will be strictly private.

Outside of his business, Harriman found time or cared for little but his family, and a single hobby—the building of a great estate. The metamorphosis of his place at Arden from a rocky country forest into a king's park, with a palace atop its crest is well known.

By a strange coincidence a wedding party set forth from the Harriman residence yesterday afternoon, while the master lay dead. George Murphy, chief engineer of the estate, was the bridegroom, and the bride was Mary Spaulding, a parlor maid. They alone of all the employes on the estate were not apprised of Mr. Harriman's death until after the ceremony had been performed. The wedding was held in St. Mary's Catholic Church at Arden, and as it was Mrs. Harriman's expressed wish that her husband's death should not interfere with the plans and the happiness of servants, they drove forth from the estate in Mrs. Harriman's own wagonette.

Recent estimates of Mr. Harriman's personal wealth have varied all the way from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000. He was, of course, a large holder of securities of the various corporations with which he was identified, including in addition to the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific systems, over a score of smaller or tributary properties, not only in America, but in Mexico as well.

No Proofs of Peonage.

Washington, D.C., Sept. 10.—As the result of a conference at the Department of Justice yesterday, it was announced that there have been no clear cases of peonage nor any violation of the federal labor law at the Pressed Steel Car Co.'s plant to warrant Federal prosecution.

ACCIDENTS ARE NUMEROUS THERE

Galt, Sept. 10.—William Paddock, Puslinch Township, tried to throw off a drive belt on a thresher before the speed slacked and was caught by the arm and thrown against the machine and probably fatally injured.

The C.P.R. express yesterday afternoon ran into a herd of cattle at Wallace's Crossing, near Dumfries station, killing five outright and mangling others. The passengers were badly shaken by the collision, but none were seriously hurt.

William Hodge, while driving a load of dry slabs to a hop field at Preston lit his pipe and threw the match carelessly behind. The load took fire, and, not noticed by the driver, only for the assistance of nearby farmers, the whole outfit would have been destroyed.

G.T.R. CONDUCTOR DIES SUDDENLY

Toronto, Sept. 10.—Thomas Miller, conductor of the International Limited, Grand Trunk Railway, was stricken with apoplexy early yesterday morning and died at Grace Hospital a few hours later.

Miller was about 55 years of age. He has been in the employ of the G.T.R. for the last 35 years. He ran the first International Limited train, which is now one of the finest trains on the system.

He had the attack shortly after arriving from Detroit. He was in the Walker House, where he lived while in Toronto. His home is at 113 Quelette avenue, Windsor. Two children survive him. The remains will be sent to Windsor for burial.

SEPARATE SCHOOL WINS IN CELEBRATED FIGHT

North Bay, Sept. 10.—The celebrated claim of the Separate School Board of Sturgeon Falls against the Public School trustees of that town for half of the taxes paid by the pulp mill in an assessment of $40,000, dating from 1899, was arbitrated yesterday by Judge Valin, who was sole arbitrator under the Michaud Act.

He found the Separate School entitled to one-half the taxes on the pulp mill for the years 1899 and 1903 inclusive, and 1907; for the years 1904, 1905, 1906, 1908, the taxes not having been paid by the pulp mill, no award could be made, but when paid the same ruling, he thought, should apply.

Mr. McFarlane of Toronto represented the Public School; J. M. McNamara, K.C., of North Bay, the Sturgeon Falls Council, and G. A. McCaughey of North Bay, the Separate School.

Strong arguments were placed before the judge by the Toronto counsel as to the act being ultra vires, but the judge ruled that it was within the powers of the Legislature to pass the act.

The decision is important, as it raises the right of the Separate Schools to share in a portion of the taxes levied on a limited corporation carrying on business in the municipality.

It is intimated that the case may go to the Privy Council.

EIGHT MEN WERE FINED

Ingersoll, Sept. 10.—Before Police Magistrate John Morrison yesterday eight men were charged with assaulting Provincial License Inspector Ayearst and two deputies several days ago. They were all found guilty and fined as follows:

Charles Cameron and Geo. Bowers, $20 and costs.

Wm. Murray, Wm. McLean, Daniel McMullen, Ewart Bell, Fred Barrow and Charles Barrow, $10 and costs.

The costs in each case amounted to about $12.

R. N. Bell, K.C., prosecuted and the men were defended by Jos. Gibson, Jr., and Col. Hegler.

Several special constables were sworn in to preserve order, but there was no indication of trouble.

CARTOONIST MAKES LIBEL CHARGES

New York, Sept. 10.—Thomas F. Powers, the cartoonist of The Evening Journal, has brought suit for $100,000 damages against Henry Ridder, publisher, treasurer and manager of The Catholic News, in which periodical a statement was published on August 7 last, purporting to show that one of Mr. Powers' cartoons was "an insult to the faith of Catholics."

Mr. Powers declares in his complaint, filed in the Supreme Court, that the allegation is false, wicked and defamatory, and that the cartoon which the defendant chose to construe as representing Pope Pius X., was in reality, and quite obviously, a representation of the Shah of Persia.

STRUCK BY IRON BOLT

Kingston, Sept. 10.—There is a mystery surrounding the case of George Snowden, who was severely injured at the locomotive works Wednesday afternoon. He was struck on the head with an iron bolt and is now in the general hospital in a dangerous condition.

Two stories are given of the affair. One is that Snowden had threatened another workman, McManus, whose brother interfered, and that later he took the boy by the throat again. The lad resented the assault and picked up an iron bolt and struck Snowden on the head.

The story given by the locomotive works staff is that the missile was thrown in jest and accidentally struck Snowden, who is suffering from a scalp wound and concussion of the brain. The doctors hold out small hope for recovery. He is a married man with one child.

MRS. GOLDWIN SMITH DEAD

Toronto, Sept. 10.—The death occurred last night of Mrs. Goldwin Smith, wife of Prof. Goldwin Smith, 26 Grange road.

On August 31, Mrs. Smith took a slight chill, but nothing more than extreme age was the immediate cause of her demise. No importance was attached by the doctors to Mrs. Smith's illness until Sunday last, when she suddenly became worse. From that time she gradually lapsed into a state of unconsciousness, which lasted until death.

The late Mrs. Goldwin Smith was born in Boston, Mass., in 1824. She was the daughter of Thomas Dixon, a knight of the Order of the Netherlands and of the Order of the Lily. Her maiden name was Harriet Elizabeth Menn Dixon. Miss Dixon was first married to William Henry Boulton of the well-known family of that name of Moulton, in the County of Lincoln, England. He sat in the local Legislature as member for Toronto, and was also mayor of the city.

Belleville, Sept. 10.—A call from Brandon, Man., to Rev. R. S. Laidlaw, for some years pastor of St. Andrew's Church, this city, has been accepted and was ratified by Kingston Presbytery.

TWO YEARS IN PENITENTIARY

Belleville, Sept. 10.—Sydney Keech, a telegraph operator, express agent, etc., at a small station in North Hastings, was charged with embezzling a sum of money belonging to the express company.

Keech said he put the money in the waste basket and his wife put the basket contents, including the money, in the stove and burned it.

He was tried before Judge Deroche, found guilty of theft, and sentenced to two years in penitentiary.

TWENTY-FIVE PRIESTS HAVE BEEN SUSPENDED

Montreal, Sept. 10.—When the Roman Catholic College at Marieville, Que., was burned some time ago, the fathers in charge desired to remove to St. Johns, but the Bishop of St. Hyacinthe refused permission. An appeal to Rome had no beneficial effect, so the college authorities moved without the necessary authority, and the bishop has placed Canon Lemieux, a relative of the Postmaster-General, and the twenty-five priests under him, on the suspended list. They are not permitted to have any clerical communication with the faithful, and are debarred from all priestly functions.

PRINTER'S INK

A writer in a recent Catholic periodical charges through the medium of editorial comment that Dr. Grenfell has made it appear by the use of printer's ink by himself or others, that he is the hero of Labrador. We know Dr. Grenfell and his history, and we feel called upon to deny that. As against the supposed triumph of Dr. Grenfell in printer's ink is opposed the claims of Father Sears, who as a Labrador missionary, is held up to no doubt, thoroughly deserved admiration. That either man should have the vanity of a worldly ambition in religious matters at his door, God forbid. There is no desire on the part of Dr. Grenfell to boom himself. Protestants are just as capable as anybody else of knowing when a man is the real thing and when he is only a bluff. The native instinct of humanity may be allowed to "smell out" the pretender. That Dr. Grenfell is a pretender we cannot for one moment admit. But to sneer at Dr. Grenfell is not to exalt Father Sears nor vice versa. A nicer thing for the Register to have said would assuredly be that neither man is working for his own glory. The Register is bitter. Insofar it cannot be said to exemplify the virtues of Christianity, or indeed of ordinary forbearance. It is a great paper, the leading and representative Catholic journal under the patronage and direct guidance, as advertised, of the leading ecclesiastics. We have had more than one occasion to complain of its language, and while it might well be supposed to be an example to the poor creatures of a merely secular press, it has adopted another role and is much more vehement than convincing. Both Father Sears and Dr. Grenfell are worthy of every man's highest regard and the sneer at Dr. Grenfell we may be sure, is not made by Father Sears. We must necessarily presume that some of the judging will be left for God Himself, and in that event we venture to hope that all good men and women who have striven for the benefit of humanity and the uplifting of the world will receive some slight recognition as a child of the Father in Heaven and worthy of that Father's forgiveness and care even if he is a little astray in fine points of doctrine.

WHY WAS IT DONE

A well-planned loop-hole in the Criminal Code may be pleaded as the primary reason why Ontario is degraded to the rank of "a wide-open town" for race track gambling that begins in spring and continues on week days throughout the whole summer and early autumn.

EIGHTY DAYS OF RACE TRACK GAMBLING is the dose Ontario has to swallow at the instance of a Dominion Parliament which enfranchises race track gambling with the right to live.

EIGHTY DAYS OF RACE TRACK GAMBLING is the dose Ontario has to swallow at the instance of a provincial Government which refuses to cancel gambling charters and neglects to tax horse racing as a business off the face of the earth.

Twenty days' racing per annum would abundantly meet all the needs of horse racing as a sport in this province.

"EIGHTY DAYS' RACE TRACK GAMBLING" means that Ontario's good name is being trampled underfoot to the profit of horse racing as an alien-owned business. It means Ontario's degradation, to rank as a shelter for continuous racing, a form of the gambling traffic that is outlawed by all the Anglo-Saxon communities on the continent except the provinces of Canada.

From the disgrace and degradation of Ontario's position as the home of continuous race track gambling this province could be rescued by Sir James Whitney's use of the taxing power, or by Hon. W. J. Hanna's cancellation of the charters which permit horse racing as a business at Yankee-owned tracks as he cancelled the charter which permitted horse racing as a business at Dufferin Park.—Toronto Telegram.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Senator Ferguson, who has just died was one of the most distinguished members of the Upper Chamber. — La Patrie.

The expansion of trade and securities in the U. S. is so enormous as to make Canada seem a toy in comparison.

Sir Joseph Ward, Premier of New Zealand, who is now in Canada, is a zealous member of the Catholic Church. He visited Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Premier of Canada, the other day at Ottawa, another Catholic Premier. Sir Edward Morris, Premier of Newfoundland, another Catholic Premier, is expected in Canada to see Sir Wilfrid any day now. It appears that one's religion is not a bar to the high places any longer. This is well. When we have the material we don't want the religious test applied to keep us from our own.—The Catholic Register.

Presumably the Register would not endorse the application of "the religion cry" in seeking an office. The doctrine is sound.

Some mischievous prints are busy arousing national antipathies to the detriment of religion in Canada. They are no friends of religion in Canada. They are even canvassing the relative strength of French and English-speaking bishops in the council. There will be no French or English bishops in the Council. They will all be Catholic bishops occupied with the sole thought of serving the Church and spreading the kingdom of its Divine Founder in this favored part of the globe. Purely national interests will have no place in their deliberations. There will be many other things to consider. Neither creed nor human intrigue in the past ever diverted the Church from the constant pursuit of the end for which she was established—the salvation of souls—the minor and mercenary considerations are not going to do so here. To restore all things in Christ," the watchword of the Pope, is the watchword of the Council.—Catholic Register.

Can it be that the Register is "abusing Quebec"? We may expect to see some of the "prints" in that province burst into a flame at the attack upon their nationality. It looks very much as if our brethren who dominate the whole eastern coast are determined to reject the English-speaking Canadian altogether. A nice prospect this.

The following reply by Mr. Peter Ryan, Toronto, to the editorial remarks of the Catholic Register, is of interest to those who follow Irish affairs:—

Here is a letter just received from a Toronto gentleman interested in Irish politics:

Toronto City Registry Office,
Eastern Division.
Peter Ryan, Registrar.

Editor Catholic Register:

Sir.—In your issue of the 2nd inst. you make a very ungenerous attack on Mr. John Dillon and those whom you call his allies. The Bishops and clergy of Ireland know the wants of the Irish people better than the politicians. But surely the services of John Dillon to the cause of the common people and his sacrifices on their behalf during many gloomy years should shield him from being referred to by your journal as a "shyster politician." John Dillon has spent a life of singular devotion to the cause of Home Rule for his native country and has never bartered the interest of the people for the smiles and frowns of Dublin Castle. If you have any proof to present of John Dillon's perfidy or shyster politics please present it, that we may know the value of your reference to one of the bravest of brave. Please don't forget that it was largely to the men of John Dillon's stamp, lay Irish politicians, that the independence of the Catholic Church in Ireland was preserved. Catholic ecclesiastics are practically prohibited from active leadership and agitation in political movements, hence men like John Dillon must lead the democracy if it is to live. Surely you can find other men on whom to pour your unwarranted editorial abuse and sneers than on that tried Irish patriot, John Dillon and his associates, who have labored long to uplift their nation and people.

Pray publish this, together with your evidences of John Dillon's shyster politics or admit that you "bore false witness against your neighbor."

PETER RYAN.

Toronto, Sept. 4, 1909.

It would be a great saving of the editor's time and somewhat of a saving of his stock of patience, if the fire-eating portion of our community would read carefully such of our editorial notes as they decide to attack. Space we freely try to give them but why waste it on what is useless? Will Mr. Ryan forget his indignation long enough to once more glance over the reference to Mr. Dillon? He will note that we wrote what follows: "The priests and people of Ireland have given Mr. Dillon and his allies whatever measure of respectability their organization possesses." Mr. Ryan will scarcely cast doubt on the truth of that statement. Neither Mr. Dillon nor Mr. Redmond would dare to do so. We also said that "shyster politicians always object to bishops and priests meddling in matters affecting the temporal welfare of their flocks." Now, if Mr. Dillon is one of the few Irish anti-clericals of this kind he may wear the cap his Toronto friend seems anxious to fit to his head. If he is not of this queer class he does not come under our criticism in any way, shape or manner. Neither have we, Mr. Ryan, any reason to believe the general statement of "The Presbyterian" that the Irish Parliamentary party is taking on an anti-clerical complexion. Our remarks were for the benefit of a hopeless minority of Irish politicians and amongst whom we would much regret to see numbered either the great John Dillon or that generous package of combustibles labelled "Peter Ryan, Registrar."—The Catholic Register.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, Sept. 9.—The railways reported 121 carloads of live stock at the City Cattle Market for Wednesday and Thursday, consisting of 1463 cattle, 2435 hogs, 3264 sheep and lambs, 231 calves and 3 horses.

Exporters

A few medium light weight exporters sold at $5 to $5.65; bulls, at $4 to $5 per cwt.

Butchers.

George Rowntree was the heaviest buyer of fat cattle, having bought about 300 for the Harris Abattoir Co. at the following prices: Butchers' steers and heifers at $4.20 to $5.15; cows at $1.50 to $4.50 and export steers, at $5 to $5.65, and bulls from $2.25 to $5.

Feeders and Stockers.

Harry Murby reported many prospective buyers, amongst the large number of visitors at the market, but very few bidders, altho their presence had the effect of boosting prices, as there was not a large number of feeders or stockers on sale. Prices for all classes of feeders were higher, but the common advanced more than the best when quality is considered. Good cattle will sell well is Mr. Murby's opinion, but the present prices for common grades will not hold should there be a heavy delivery. Mr. Murby bought 120 cattle at the following quotations:

Best, 900 lb. steers, $3.60 to $3.90 per cwt.; best 800 to 900 lb. steers, $3.40 to $3.75; best 600 to 800 lb. steers, $3 to $3.50; fair to medium light stockers, $2.75 to $3; common light stockers, $2 to $2.40.

Milkers and Springers.

Trade was good for choice quality of forward springers, better than for milkers. Prices ranged from $35 to $65 each, but the bulk of the cows offered sold around $40 and $50 each for medium to good. Choice cows sold as high as $65.

Veal Calves.

There was a fair trade for the best vealers. Prices are quoted from $3 to $3.25 per cwt., but extra quality new milk fed calves will bring $6.50 and sometimes a very choice calf will bring $7 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Deliveries of sheep and lambs on this market were heavy, which had a decided tendency to weaken prices. Export ewes were quoted at $2.50 to $4 per cwt., or an average of about $3.25 per cwt.; rams, $2.50 to $3 per cwt.; lambs were quoted at $5 to $6 per cwt., or an average price of $5.65 per cwt. Light weight lambs are cheap.

Hogs.

The railways report 2435 hogs from all sources, for the two days, which is a larger number than for several markets. The high prices no doubt have had the effect of bringing every available hog fit for sale to the market. Selects sold at $8.00, fed and watered, at the market, and $8.25, f.o.b., cars, at country points. These are the quotations given by nearly all the dealers.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

Veals—Receipts, 300 head; active and steady.

Hogs—Receipts, 3400 head; fairly active; heavy, 5c lower, light, 15c to 25c lower; heavy, $8.75 to $8.80; mixed, $8.70 to $8.80; yorkers, $8 to $8.70; pigs, $8; roughs, $7.50 to $7.40; stags, $6 to $6.75; dairies and grassers, $8 to $8.60.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 5400 head; slow; mixed sheep, steady; others, 25c to 40c lower; lambs, $5 to $7.60; yearlings, $5.25 to $6.50; wethers, $4.25 to $5; ewes, $4.25 to $4.50; sheep, mixed, $2 to $4.75; Canada lambs, $7.25 to $7.50.

Something About Moose and Deer

It is now pretty well known among hunters that the best deer hunting country in Ontario is on the line of the Canadian Northern-Ontario and that hunters receive special attention. Mr. C. Price Green, Passenger Agent of the line is a hunter himself who goes right with the parties and looks after them, in fact he located most of them. This year the line will be opened north of Sellwood into the midst of the Moose Country, they are reported very thick, the Engineers say that they have never seen anything like it, the Moose season up there opens October 15th, fifteen days before the Deer. We have something special on a new place that will take three parties of deer hunters.

72 Days of Dish Washing

You spend two hours every day washing dishes. That's 720 hours a year or 72 days of ten working hours each. This means that half the time is wasted. For with Taylor's Borax Soap you finish your work in one hour instead of two.

Isn't it worth five cents to have 36 days a year to yourself—to have cleaner and sweeter dishes than ever before with less than half the work?

Taylor's Soap

This wonderful soap is unlike any other you have ever known. It digs into the corners of dishes and loosens the dirt almost like magic. It cuts away grease and leaves the surface clean and polished.

Hard water makes hard dish washing, but Taylor's Borax Soap softens the hardest water and so makes the work easy. But it does more than soften the water—it softens the hands and leaves them even whiter than before.

With this soap you save all the bother of rubbing and most of the scouring. You simply have no idea of the work this soap can save—it is the greatest surprise you have ever known.

The glassware has a lustre that fairly sparkles with brilliance. The china ware looks as fresh and inviting as new. Yet you work only half as hard with this astonishing soap.

No soap could be purer than this, for during the boiling process we run thousands of gallons of clean water through the soap. Thus every impurity is carried away and the soap is absolutely clean.

Borax also sterilizes and sweetens. It kills every germ and leaves no possibility of contagion. It destroys all odors and leaves a clean scent that is simply delightful.

FARMERS FOUNDING BANKS.

Interesting [illegible] Movement Which Goes on Extending.

The farmer-banker is becoming an important factor in the interior towns. In literally hundreds of little towns, some with not more than 150 population, have been started banks during the past three or four years. Many of these have farmers as stockholders and officers. Some of them are practically owned by farmers, only one or two stockholders being from the town.

These banks get large deposits because they draw from farming sections that have been prosperous during the past decade, and the fact that leading farmers are stockholders gives prestige to the institution. Indeed, this is so well understood that most new banks in the farming sections try to secure as many farmer stockholders as possible. It is not uncommon to find small banks with nine or eleven directors nearly all of whom are farmers, placed there because of the benefit to be derived from the advertising.

The influence of this is directly toward conservation. The farmer believes in making the bank safe; hence he looks with doubt on commercial paper and ties his faith to farm mortgages and similar investments. If nothing offers he keeps the money in the vault until at times banks have 65 to 70 per cent of their deposits in cash and sight exchange. He likewise has a well defined doubtfulness of everything that savors of Wall street and cautions his officers to use great care. This is particularly true since the flurry of 1907, and it results in tying up a great deal of money that should be working. The farmer-banker is being educated, but at present he is a factor to be considered in the estimate of interior bank conditions.

The bank commissioner has found a new scheme in bank promoting. He discovered that in the small towns of the central and western counties of the state men are organizing banks as speculations. The promoter goes into towns that have already more banks than needed and easily finds investors ready to put in money because of the banking craze and the advertising they get from being bank officers and stockholders. To push the matter the names of leading men of the state who are said to be interested are used without their knowledge. The promoter puts in very little money and usually manages to get that out as soon as the bank starts. Incidentally he sells bank fixtures, safes and stationery, from which he reaps a commission of $500 or more. He moves on to a new town and works the plan over again. This has become so common that the banking department has aired the plan and has exposed some specific instances, hoping it will put a stop to the practice.

What Becomes of the Corn.

People often wonder, particularly those who have traveled for hundreds of miles through the corn belt, what becomes of corn which is grown every year. In the year 1906, when the total crop was 2,666,000,000 bushels, 241,000,000 bushels were consumed in flour and grist mill products, 8,000,000 bushels in the manufacture of starch, 9,000,000 bushels for malt liquors, 17,000,000 bushels in the production of distilled liquors, 40,000,000 bushels for glucose, 190,000,000 bushels for export and 13,000,000 bushels for seed, making a total of 518,000,000 bushels, or 19.3 per cent of the entire crop. The remaining 80.7 per cent, or 2,118,000,000 bushels, seems to have been used almost entirely for feeding.

A Wonderful Blackberry.

Although the planting season for many fruits is gone, it is not too late to mention a species of blackberry known as the Logan. It is very successful in England and can be adapted to some climates in our country. It yields wonderful crops. While the plants are perfecting their fruits new canes, somewhat like those of the raspberry, spring from the base. This is the next season's fruiting wood and must be attended to. The Logan berry makes a very free growth, and winds soon twist the shoots, which must then be supported. After the crop has been gathered the old fruiting wood is cut out, and the new shoots from the base take its place. The plants fruit in July and August and do well on a north wall or high fence or may be trained to wires or iron hurdles. The fruits are esteemed for preserving. Much the same culture is required where the blackberry is grown in the garden. The wineberry is an excellent fruit for preserving or for tarts and is prolific. It makes a strong growth and requires a similar treatment to the Logan berry. It is welcome in the shrubbery or on a fence, and it makes much wood. Other berries such as the berberis are grown for garnishing and generally as bushes in shrubberies.

FOR THE ENGAGED GIRL.

Pretty Ways of Announcing the Great Secret of Her Engagement.

Usually an engagement is announced by the young woman writing notes to her friends, her fiance to his. It is becoming more and more the fashion to "break the news" to one's friends at luncheon or dinner.

This can be done in a formal way by the girl herself or her mother, but it is less embarrassing and more clever to convey the news with a unique touch.

The dessert course is a good time for the announcement. One girl had the ices served in the shape of small wedding bells. Stuck into the top was a tiny heart shaped envelope which contained the names of the girl and her fiance. Each name was written on a small silver paper heart joined by a silver paper arrow piercing the two.

Another girl had a tray passed at the close of the luncheon with a single red rose for each guest. Coiled in the heart of the rose was a crumpled heart of white paper with the names of the engaged persons bracketed together.

A third young woman had suspended from the chandelier over the center of the table a large bomb shaped decoration made of snowballs. From it white ribbons were attached to the plate of each guest. When the table was being cleared for dessert each person was asked to pull her ribbon. The bomb burst, scattering rice and small envelopes, which on being opened were found to contain the announcement in the shape of a limerick.

A clever announcement at one luncheon came in the form of a telegram brought by the maid to one of the guests in the secret. When opened it was found to contain the news of the betrothal amusingly kept within the usual ten words. It was read aloud at once, creating much surprise.

MONEY IS WELL SPENT, SAYS CHAIRMAN BULLER

Discussion at Meeting of Fire, Water and Light Committee, Last Night, as to Whether City is Benefitted by Expense Incurred in Sending Delegates to Fire Chief's Convention—Chief Howard's Report.

At the meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee held last night, the chairman read the report of Chief Howard, regarding his trip to Grand Rapids, during the recent Fire Chief's convention. A discussion started by Ald. Turner, as to whether the expenditure of money in this way, met with substantial returns or not, followed. The chairman, Ald. Buller, gave as his opinion, that the sending of a delegate was of vast importance to the city, as he himself had gained much information, which would be of benefit to him as chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, but stated that in future one delegate, from the committee would be sufficient.

The report was in part as follows;

We arrived twenty-four hours before the regular meeting time, and were accordingly permitted to make a careful examination of the different exhibits of fire fighting apparatus before the crowds arrived. Fifty-six manufacturers were on hand to exhibit their products and latest inventions. The motor-driven fire appliances were very much in evidence, and it is generally conceded that in the very near future the automobile apparatus will supersede our present horse-drawn vehicles.

There were several motor chemical engines, which would be most suitable for Peterborough, and I would respectfully request that your committee make provision for the purchase of one of these machines for next year.

The third day of the convention was given over entirely to demonstrating gasoline fire engines, chemical engines and other large apparatus.

The meeting was the most successful of its kind ever held. There was nearly double the attendance from Canada of any preceding year, and fifteen active chiefs from the Province of Ontario with their associate delegates. About twelve hundred persons in all registered at headquarters, with five hundred and forty-eight chiefs in active service.

The number of topics and papers presented were exceptionally interesting.

On August the 18th at 8 p.m., a special meeting was called at headquarters, of all the Canadian delegates for the purpose of forming provincial associations to work in conjunction with the international association. The Ontario delegates were in accord with the other provinces, and acted accordingly. Officers elected were Chief A. B. Ten Hamilton, president; Ald. T. L. Church, Toronto, hon. solicitor; Chief W. A. Howard, Peterborough, sec.-treasurer.

Ald. T. L. Church, chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, Toronto, extended an invitation to the Ontario delegates to meet in Toronto at the City Hall on September the 7th, as the guests of the city.

I have sent out eighty-seven notices extending the invitation to the chief of the fire department of each city and town in the province, together with an invitation for the mayor and chairman of the fire committee of each municipality.

A printed report of the proceedings of the Grand Rapids convention in book form, will be issued from the office of the international secretary, and sent out to each municipality represented within a month from date.

I wish to thank the gentlemen of the Council for permitting Ald. Buller and myself to attend, and also for the appropriation. It was undoubtedly time and money well spent.

Your obedient servant,
W. A. HOWARD,
Chief Fire Dept.

SMITH TOWNSHIP FARMER HAS FINE BED OF GINSENG

W. A. Boyce, who is farming on the 11th concession, Smith township, about eleven miles from Peterborough has a thriving bed of ginseng that he is growing as a commercial crop. Four years ago he started with 100 plants, and now has 4,000 plants and 14,000 seeds undergoing the first process towards producing plants. His old plants have been growing for seven years, and are now matured and ready to market, and Mr. Boyce is looking for a buyer. The price ranges from $4 to $10 per lb., the exporter who has the most direct connection with the Chinese market, where it is all consumed, being able to pay the best price. The plant is grown under plat houses, and the culture, though simple, is little known. Shade is necessary, as the plant will not thrive where exposed to the open sunlight.

Mr. Boyce is not the only one engaged in the growing of the profitable plant in this part of the country, and all are making a success of the experiment.

A BLACKLISTER ASKED A CURIOUS QUESTION

Wanted to Know if He Would be Arrested for Having Liquor in His Possession if He Handled Kegs of Beer During His Work—Was Discharged.

"During my work through the day I have had occasion to handle kegs of beer. Can I be arrested for having liquor in my possession?" asked a blacklister of the magistrate this morning.

"The best thing for you to do," answered his Worship, "is to keep away from it altogether."

The defendant had been arrested and charged with having been found with liquor in his possession last Tuesday, but was remanded until this morning to receive a hearing.

His version of the affair was to the effect that on Tuesday he was around the city with a man who had since gone to the west. In the evening they were in the market arcade, and he was in the act of fixing a cork in a whiskey bottle for his friend when the officer arrested him. He had not drank any of the whiskey.

Chief Rosset said this story did not correspond with that of the officer, who said that the blacklister was about to take a drink and the other man was watching to see that anybody did not come around.

The magistrate was in favor of giving the man another chance, and accordingly allowed him to depart.

REPORT THAT CITIES MAY SECURE ALL LIQUOR MONEY

It is reported that there is a movement on foot to transfer the proceeds of the liquor licenses from the government to the municipalities.

The matter was taken up at the recent meeting of the Ontario Municipalities' Convention, and a resolution, asking the government to make the transfer, was passed without opposition. It is also stated that a number of the municipalities will bring pressure to bear upon the members of the legislature, to induce them to support the change.

Such a thing would certainly be of importance to Peterborough, but some are inclined to believe that the government will not consent to such a move as this.

There is one thing sure, and that is that if the money came into the hands of the city, much public work could be done. The revenue could be used in several directions. Ald. Phelan, chairman of the Board of Works, who has been crying out for money to fix up the streets for a long time, could, no doubt, be made very happy, with a portion of it, and Ald. Buller, chairman of the Property Committee, would not mind taking his share. Ald. Buller could very easily spend the money in securing equipment for the fire department, and the members of the Finance Committee, if they could secure the money, would feel a good deal better.

ENTRIES POURING IN FOR THE PETERBOROUGH FAIR

All that is wanted is fair weather to make the Peterborough Industrial Fair on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week the most successful ever held in the city. The entries are literally pouring in and the secretary, Mr. Hall, is one of the busiest men in the city. A number of men are at work putting the grounds in shape and everything will be in ship shape when the exhibition opens next week.

The poultry show promises to be an excellent one. The Peterborough Poultry Association are working to have a large number of entries from Peterborough and district. This morning Secretary Hall received a big batch of entries from Lindsay and the prospects are that there will be several exhibits from outside towns.

Among the leading attractions at the fair will be the concerts by the full band of the 57th regiment, military manoeuvres by the 24th Field Battery, high class programme in front of the grand stand, excellent horse races, etc. The fair will be open on Friday night when all the attractions will be in full swing.

That there will be a fine exhibit in the main building is practically assured. Many of the merchants of the city have applied for space and will make exhibits of their goods.

With fine weather there should be a record attendance on Friday and Saturday.

Fred Johnston, a union moulder, was arrested for trespassing on the property of Burrow, Stewart & Milne, of Hamilton.

THAT WATCH OF YOURS

Is in many respects similar to a railway engine. Let an engine be run without oil or cleaning and before long it will stop dead. Upon examination it will be found that the friction and wear and tear has ruined the machinery, and it is fit only for the scrap iron heap. Likewise your watch. You put it in your pocket, and while there is a kick in it, you, in your mistaken economy, do not consult the watchmaker, and consequently rob your watch of years of good service and also much of its former accuracy. The time-keeping qualities of a good watch are maintained and often improved by timely and skilful attention. If you have been one of the neglectful ones call around and see us.

A MATTER FOR THE COUNCIL

We would again respectfully suggest to the Mayor and City Council the extreme desirability of getting the Dominion Government to establish a rifle range for our city regiment and others to practise upon. At the present time our soldiers might as well be without rifles. They are anxious to put in practice at the butts. It is a long time since the old rifle-range had to be given up. Surely the absurdity of being without a range is sufficiently apparent not to require a petition from those who would use it. And here, let it be observed, arises that very point. The regiment as a regiment must bear their disgrace in silence and leave the blame where it belongs. We would, however, venture to go further in our suggestions. If, after the Council's deputation visits the Government, the latter will do nothing, then why should not the city itself buy the required ground and provide our splendid regiment with means of learning the most essential part of its training. It is needless to say that the men feel their position keenly. Since the regiment cannot take the matter up it is obvious that the Council should. This seems to be the general opinion.

INTERESTING CASE AT NORWOOD

Plaintiff Awarded $100 for the Procuring of Supplies Necessary for Young Child

An interesting case came up before Judge Huycke at Norwood Wednesday, in which a farmer residing in the township of Belmont, brought action against a young man also of that township to recover the sum of $100, the said sum being used to procure necessary supplies for the illegitimate child of the defendant.

After a lengthy trial the judge held that there was sufficient proof to show that the defendant was the father of the infant and that the sum sued for was payable by the defendant to the plaintiff and he gave judgment accordingly.

Mr. F. D. Kerr conducted the case in the interests of the plaintiff.

OMEMEE DOCTOR TO RESIDE HERE

Departure of Dr. and Mrs. Rogers Regretted at Omemee

Dr. Rogers and family are removing to Peterborough this week, where the doctor will pursue his professional practice.

Our village regrets their departure, yet at the same time, wishes them greatest prosperity.

A number of the ladies of the E. V. W. I., evidenced their high appreciation of Mrs. Rogers on Monday evening when they met at her home, and presented her with a handsome souvenir and the following address;—

Omemee, Sept. 6, 1909.

Mrs. Rogers, Omemee.

Dear Madam,—We, representing the Omemee Branch of the E.V.W.I., have assembled here to-night to express to you our sorrow in parting with you and also to wish you "God speed."

For four years you have acted as secretary to our branch and it is owing in a large degree to your untiring efforts and your enthusiasm, that we have to-day such a good branch in Omemee. Your place will be hard to fill. We will miss you in our meetings.

And now, in wishing you and yours success in your new home and field of action, we would ask your to receive in the spirit in which it is given, this chair. Ma you often rest in it and when so doing, remember the Women's Institute.

Signed on behalf of the Branch.
Mrs. Cottingham, President.
Mrs. McQuade, 1st Vice-President,
Miss Parsons, 2nd Vice-resident.

Mrs. Rogers, who was feelingly affected by the honor paid her, replied in suitable terms, and thanked the Branch for its remembrance, which she would treasure as a memento of pleasant days in Omemee. — Omemee Mirror.

Thief Entered House at Corner of George and Dublin Sts. and Took Carpenter's Tools

Mr. Fred Pearson, who is at present doing the carpenter work on a residence at the corner of George and Dublin streets, had a number of tools stolen from the house on Wednesday night. The offender secured an entrance by getting in through the cellar window and the tools taken are one set of bits and brace, two smoothing planes, one rabbit plane, and one coping saw. The guilty party will avoid a police court case by returning the stolen articles to the owner at once.

POMOLOGICAL CONVENTION

The Pomological Society of America will hold its biennial conference at St. Catharines, Ontario, September 14th to 16th, on the invitation of the Ontario Fruit Growers' Association, the Niagara District Fruit Growers' Association and St. Catharines Horticultural Society—one of the largest in Canada—and with the approval of the Ontario Government.
